Whereas, the People's Gas and Coke Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, and having its principal place of business in the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, by a deed of trust dated September 1st, 1906, recorded October 12th, 1906, in Book 2472, Page 172 of Trust Deeds, in Book 1493, Page 47 of Mortgages, and in Book 139, Page 14, of Chattel Mortgages, in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, California, did grant and convey the premises therein and hereinafter described to the TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY (herein sometimes called "Trustee"), as trustee to secure, among other things, the payment of a bonded indebtedness of said People's Gas and Coke Company in the sum of $5,000,000, evidenced by 6000 bonds amounting in the aggregate to $5,000,000, dated September 1st, 1906, due and payable thirty years after date, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, in Gold Coin of the United States of America, interest payable on the 1st days of March and September of each year, and represented by interest coupons attached to said bonds, principal and interest to be paid at the National Bank of Commerce, Los Angeles, California, American National Bank of Pomona, California, or the Hanover National Bank, New York City, N. Y., and

Whereas, That $227,000 par value of said bonds and no more have been issued and bonds of said issue to the amount of $227,000 were on the 1st day of September, 1908, and are now outstanding; that G. Rieder had come here two days ago, accompanied by his wife and four children, to secure medical treatment. He was born in Germany forty years ago, and lived in America about nineteen years. He was an expert horticulturist. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Overholtzer-Mills Company. Burial will be in Inglewood Cemetery.

Residence District Asks Relief.

Now that the Chief of Police has rid the business section of the city of the "barkers" at the doors of cheap shows, the people begin to fully realize what a nuisance the thing has been, and what a bad impression it must have made on strangers in the city. Complaints are now heard from the residence section, where the "barkers" who sell fruit and vegetables on the streets, have been making themselves obnoxious. A resident of West Fourth street said yesterday that the neighborhood of Fourth and Rixel has been made almost unbearable, especially for anybody who is sick. He says the hawkers do not only call their wares, but that their raucous voices can be heard for several blocks in every direction, and they come one after another, all day long.

Mr. Folk has accepted a luncheon engagement with the City Club for tomorrow noon, will see the sights of the city in the afternoon, and at Simpson's Auditorium in the evening he will lecture under the auspices of the Entre Nous Club.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Those calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 80,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

CURFEW.

POLICE ACTIVITY CONGESTS HOME.

DETENTION INSTITUTION OVERCROWDED BY YOUTHS.

Youngsters Who Refuse to Remain Home at Night Compelled Now to Sleep in Chairs—Chief of Police Determined to Enforce Curfew Laws.

In his determination to rigidly enforce the curfew laws and to keep children off the streets after 9 o'clock at night, Chief of Police Dishman is taxing the Detention Home at Railroad and Main streets to its utmost housing capacity. So many boys and girls found by the police on the streets at night have been sent to the home in the past two weeks that the institution is overcrowded. In the last week thirty-two youngsters have been sent to the home from Central Police Station after 10 o'clock. So crowded is the home that Wednesday night when the police sent seven boys to the institution, the authorities notified the Police Station that no more could be accommodated, and Lieut. George Williams, in command of the station, issued general orders to the night force not to arrest more youngsters, but to take them to their homes or arrange that they be taken home. Last night eight more boys were arrested. When they were sent to the Detention Home word came immediately to the Police Station that there were no accommodations for the lads and that if they remained at the home they could not be given beds and would have to stand or sleep in chairs through the night. Upon receiving this information police orders were issued that the parents of the boys should be found and the boys turned over to them. Last night it was stated by the Detention Home authorities that more beds had been ordered and that in a few days all juveniles sent from the Police Station would be cared for. Chief Dishman issued orders two weeks ago that all patrolmen should take into custody all children found on the streets after 9 o'clock, and last night declared that he would keep the order in effect no matter what condition exists at the Detention Home. He declared that a larger Detention Home could be procured at less cost by the city than at the risk which would be run by allowing children to roam the streets by night at will. The Chief is determined that the curfew laws shall be enforced and obeyed rigidly. In his orders to patrolmen he demands that discretion be used in making arrests and that children be detained only when they are palpably remaining away from their homes after the curfew hour and without the consent of their parents. The boys taken into custody last night were Hyman Shoenog, Solomon Myers, Walter and Gus Klages, Gerald McGehee and James and Francis Brown.

WAS NOAH A DRUNKARD?

Mayor Rose of Milwaukee Quotes Bible to Support Contention Against Prohibition.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PEORIA (Ill.) May 20.—Was Noah a drunkard after he left the ark? He certainly was, declared Mayor Rose of Milwaukee in a debate here tonight with Daniel R. Sheen of Peoria on the prohibition question.

Mayor Rose quoted from the Bible to uphold his assertion, and in an effort to prove prohibition a failure, he declared that the divine mandate regarding the apple in the garden of Eden did not prohibit Adam from eating it, and argued that since that time the laws against the use of intoxicating beverages had been no more successful.

Mr. Sheen, arguing for the affirmative, said the apple incident in the garden was the first instance of established prohibition. Since then, he said, prohibitory legislation had been passed and had been more or less effective.

No Useless Notes on the Cecilian Piano
The New Model Plays Them All

The Cecilian Piano is now equipped to cover the entire range of the keyboard, thus effectively disposing of the only possible criticism of any consequence to this, the greatest pleasure-producer on earth. Instead of the compass being limited to 65 notes, (true of the majority of Player Pianos,) necessitating the transposing and altering oftentimes of the original compositions of thousands of selections for reproductions on the Player Pianos, the Cecilian Piano mechanism embraces the entire scope of the keyboard, enabling the rendition of every selection with true and faithful precision. This addition practically means the relative advantage of a typewriter with a full alphabet compared to one with several letters eliminated. This is but one of the many features in the new model. Drop into our store and see, hear and play this remarkably artistic piano, which any one can play. Cecilian Pianos are made with both the old-style wood action and the metal valve castings—the new 20th Century idea.

POMONA SEEKS SEATTLE MAN.

New Head of College May Be Dr. E. L. Smith.

Now Pastor of Large Church in the Northwest.

Expected Here Soon to Look Into the Situation.

Information has leaked out that the Pomona College Trustees contemplate offering the presidency of that institution to Rev. Edward Lincoln Smith, D.D., pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church of Seattle. This is the first intimation as to the intention of the Pomona trustees since the presidency was declined by Dr. William Horace Day of this city. A member of the Pomona trustees, when questioned on the subject by a Times reporter, denied authoritatively that the presidency has been offered to anyone since. He admitted that Dr. Smith's name has been prominently mentioned, but refused to make any statement as to contemplated action by the board.

It has been learned from members of Dr. Smith's congregation in Seattle that he mentioned a call to Pomona as a possibility, and that he left Seattle some days ago with the definite intention of stopping at Claremont and looking over the situation.

Dr. Smith is a graduate of Yale, having been a member of the Yale band of ministers who went into the Northwest in the last pioneer days. For some years before going to Seattle he was engaged in ministerial work in Walla Walla, where he was married to Miss Rosalie Baker of the wealthy Baker family of that place. Mrs. Smith is understood to possess several millions in her own right.

As head of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, the second of that denomination in Seattle, Dr. Smith has the record of having been since its founding in 1900, when he was called to the pastorate, one of the most popular and prominent ministers of that city. Under his charge the Pilgrim Church has grown to be one of the largest in Seattle, with a membership of well toward a thousand.

MAN OF MYSTERY DIES.

Kern County Prospector, Supposed to Have Hoarded Fortune, Fails to Rally After Operation.

John Bolan, an old prospector and miner, of Piute, Kern county, who is believed to hav hoarded a fortune, died Wednesday night in a sanatorium at No. 1035 West Seventh street, of peritonitis, following an operation.

Bolan was a man of mystery and as such he died. He was born in Kentucky sixty-eight years ago, and served in the Union Army. After the war he came to California, and during his thirty-five years in this State he prospected in various fields. He was never married, so far as any acquaintances know, and led the life of a recluse. Occasionally Bolan visited Los Angeles, and was always plentifully supplied with money, though he never made any display of it. He never confided in any one. His personal affairs were a sealed book.

Many years ago he engaged Dr. J. H. Johnson in a professional capacity, and after that he came to him frequently for medical treatment. Several days ago he appeared, suffering from an obstruction of the bowels. When Dr. Johnson told him his case necessitated an operation he said he had not come prepared, and would have to go back to Piute for more money. His condition was so desperate that the trip was impossible, the only chance, and a very slender one at that, being an immediate operation. Bolan never rallied after the operation.

The body was taken to the W. H. Sutch undertaking establishment on South Figueroa street, where it will be held until relatives or friends can be located, if possible.

MANGLED, LIVES AN HOUR.

Laborer's Legs Ground to Pulp Under a Passenger Train Which He Attempted to Jump.

John Benidetti, a laborer, residing at No. 616 Alpine street, who came here three months ago from Italy, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon by falling under the wheels of a south-bound Southern Pacific passenger train on Alameda street, near First. Both legs were ground to a pulp by the several trucks which passed over him. Despite the terrible mangling, Benidetti lived an hour after he was taken to the Receiving Hospital. The remains were taken to the Bresee morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

According to witnesses Benidetti and a companion attempted to jump on the moving train. The other was successful, but Benidetti was thrown. His companion remained on the train, and up to early this morning had not been located by the police. Benidetti was a foundry worker, and had been living here with two brothers. His other relatives live in Italy.

CHECKERED CAREER.

RETURNS FROM THE AQUEDUCT TO DIE.

COL. EDWIN R. FOX died last evening at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan, as a result of a general breakdown. He had been ailing for a number of months, and several weeks ago went up on the Owens River aqueduct in the hope that he would benefit from the mountain and desert air. The trip was too trying, however, and a week ago Saturday night he was brought to Los Angeles in an unconscious condition. From the time of his arrival in the city his decline was steady until death came last evening. No arrangements have been made for the funeral, pending word from relatives in the East.

The colonel was well known throughout Southern California as a writer and civil engineer. During the later years of his life he took largely to letters, and wrote for a number of eastern magazines. Many of his writings related to engineering. It was the love of his profession that led him to the aqueduct when he felt his health failing, that he might be near the work to which he had devoted his energies in his prime. The colonel was 65 years of age, but was robust and energetic until his fatal illness seized him.

His life history contains many interesting chapters. When only a young man he graduated from the University of Rochester, N. Y. He had a bent for civil engineering and studied for that profession.

When the Civil War broke out he entered the army as a private in the Cavalry, and by his splendid record rose to the rank of colonel, when an unfortunate circumstance blighted his army career. While in command of his regiment he felt he had provocation to shoot a negro under his command. He was tried by court-martial and the body which sat in judgment on his case found against him and he was discharged from the army. This stain remained on his army record until a few years ago, when the President consented to the reopening of his case, and in the hearing which was given him, the blemish on his record was removed.

Several years ago the colonel came into prominence in New York by flooding the city with a pamphlet which attacked a well known physician of Gotham. The pamphlet was in defense of a niece whose name had been connected with that of the physician. As a result of circulating the pamphlet Col. Fox was made defendant in a suit for heavy damages brought by the doctor but when the case came to trial Col. Fox was victorious in the verdict. The niece was well known in both New York and Washington society circles and now lives in the national capital.

Following the New York litigation Col. Fox returned to Los Angeles and again made his home with his aunt, Mrs. A. deB. Mitchell at No. 951 Orange street, with whom he had made his home for several years. Mrs. Mitchell was formerly the Countess de Beerski. She and the Russian count are remembered by the older residents of the city as leaders in society here in the older days. Besides his aunt Col. Fox leaves a sister in Washington and a brother in Boston.

SLEUTHS LOSE TO "POETESS."

Covers Up Woman Sought in Bennett Case.

Husband of Poison Victim to Be Here Today.

District Attorney Awaits the Reports of Chemists.

Routed by a "poetess," Detectives Browne and Duni, of the District Attorney's office, failed yesterday to capture a woman who is asserted to be a very important witness in the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Eugenia T. Bennett from alleged ptomaine poisoning on February 13.

The officers have been looking for this woman a long time, and believed they had located her yesterday. The reason given for wanting her so urgently is that she was an "affinity" of Harper E. Bennett, husband of the woman whose body was dug up Wednesday, that traces of poison may be sought by analyses.

Mindful of the old saying, "Look for the woman," the detectives have been investigating with a fine-tooth comb. According to the evidence they are said to have discovered they think they found her.

But between finding and getting her the detectives "took a tumble," and were forced to retreat from their skirmish with the "poetess," who is protecting the woman of mystery, with little satisfaction.

Back to the office of the District Attorney went the detectives, and still determined to lay hands on this woman, held a consultation regarding the efficacy of a search warrant.

A search warrant for a lively woman is an unknown quantity, however. By the time the premises authorized in the warrant are searchable the person sought is likely to be miles away.

Browne and Duni had no misgivings when they started for the home of the woman they want. But when they got there a strange female came to the door and refused to let them enter. She informed the officers that she is a "poetess."

Failing to pass the "poetess"—for they had no warrant to authorize force—

NEW "CLASSIFIED" DEPARTMENT.

It has been the constant aim of The Times to meet to the fullest extent the requirements of its patrons, both readers and advertisers, and the introduction of the new department in its "classified advertising" pages is in accordance with this policy. "For Sale, Merchandise" is the caption of this new department and in it will be found, day by day, the bargains in special lines offered by Los Angeles merchants. The bargains are ranged alphabetically and any man or woman in search of an article can see at a glance whether a bargain of that sort is offered on a given day. The seller and buyer will be brought together daily in the most intimate manner. With this clever and scientific arrangement it will be possible for the merchant to reach the eye of the buyer effectively and for that eye to catch the merchant readily. If you are looking for an apron, a baking pan or a refrigerator, or anything in the line of merchandise from A to Z, glance down the alphabet in the new department of The Times—"For Sale, Merchandise."

ATTACHER ATTACKED.

Quick Aid by Auto to Deputy Constable Results in Arrest of Trouble-makers.

A quick run in an automobile for help, a rush in which speed limits were fractured, and Deputy Constable David Wilson, of Constable De la Monte's office, was rescued from the predicament of being a prisoner in the office of the Carr & Krausse Company, in the City Market at Third street and Central avenue, yesterday.

The trouble followed the filing of a suit in Justice Stephens's court by the Cashier Cash Register Company against G. W. Carr and E. L. Krausse for $57 and costs. An attachment was issued, and execution placed in the hands of Deputy Wilson.

When Wilson entered the office of the firm the cash register was open. He informed those present that he was an officer, and then reached in and seized the money in the register.

The members of the concern grappled with Wilson, who is a cripple, and took the money from him.

At this minute some one, supposedly a rank outsider, evidently thinking it a case of hold-up, struck Wilson a stunning blow on the head.

A citizen jumped into his automobile in front of the market and made a dash for the Township Court. There he unfolded a tale of an officer being overpowered and nearly murdered, and offered to take help to the spot Chief Deputy Thornburg was sent out, and a few minutes later jumped into the office and arrested Carr and Krausse. They were arraigned before Justice Stephens, hauled over the coals, warned, and let go. But Wilson got the cash register, and secured $61 beside.

FOR SETTLERS.

Iowa Man Here to Represent a Number of Imperial Valley People in Federal Court.

Maj. John F. Lacey of Iowa is here and will make an argument tomorrow before Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court, in connection with Mr. Ward, Mr. Meserve, Mr. Trippett, and other local counsel. He has been employed by a number of settlers in the Imperial Valley land matters, whose rights are involved in the cases before the court. While the cases are in the form of indictments, practically they involve the validity of a large number, probably more than half, of the entries of land in that valley. Mr. Lacey, on account of his service of sixteen years in Congress as chairman of the Public Lands Committee, having aided in the preparation of the very laws that are involved in this transaction, has been employed by the settlers and has come here for the express purpose of aiding in making the argument.

SPRECKELS SIGNS CONTRACT.

John D. Spreckels, as president of the San Diego and Arisona Railroad, yesterday signed a contract with Robert Sherer & Co., of Los Angeles, for grading the first section of the road, which is the stretch from San Diego to the Mexican border line, fifteen miles. The contractors promise to begin operations in a week.

SECOND-STREET TUNNEL BOOST.

Promoters Will Give It at Meeting Tonight.

Many Big Property Owners Want New Bore.

Would Give Level Outlet to Wide Territory.

Now for the Second-street tunnel, from Hill street to Figueroa!

Two hundred property owners have signed a petition for the improvement, and a meeting of all persons interested will be held at 8 o'clock this evening at No. 210 South Fremont avenue to discuss plans which have been formulated.

The opening of a direct and level road from the great San Fernando Valley and from the west and northwest parts of the city into the business district is one of the principal advantages offered.

Third street, since the opening of the tunnel through the hill, has become greatly congested with traffic, much of which is to and from the district north and west of Figueroa street, Second street being the thoroughfare traveled beyond Figueroa.

It is asserted that the city's proportion of the expense would be offset in great measure by the increased taxes on property which would gain in value through the improvement.

PROMOTERS ORGANIZE.

The Second-street Tunnel and Improvement Association has been formed, its main object being the boring of the tunnel. Its officers are: President, William Riley; vice-president, J. H. Blanchard; treasurer, J. C. Benedict; secretary, N. D. Gleason. This organization will be in charge of tonight's meeting.

Among the large number who have signed the petition for the tunnel are F. B. Yoakum, C. W. Nicklin, Ramish & Marsh, W. M. Bower, William Riley, Mark G. Jones, Merchants' Bank and Trust Company, American National Bank, B. F. Coulter Association, Los Angeles Trust Company, Mrs. Elisabeth Hollenbeck, Bryson Estate Company, Witmer Brothers, Thomas Higgins and the Robert Mitchell Company.

From Hill street west, Second rises at a steep pitch to Hope street, then dropping about as abruptly to Figueroa. The climb from Hill street was

OIL IS STRUCK IN LOS ANGELES RIVER.

The "oil well" in the riverbed.

OIL has been struck in the Los Angeles River. The bed of the stream is a vast storehouse, not only of water, but of oil. For years city officials have sought to lay the blame of the oily pollution of the water to manufacturing plants along the banks, and particularly to the gas company. The excavation for the first pier of the new bridge which will cross the river at East Main street was started about a week ago, and after several days a large amount of oil was found filtering into the hole, disproving former beliefs.

As the excavation has progressed the oil seepage has become heavier, until at present, at a depth of from ten to fifteen feet, in a hole measuring about thirty feet in width and fifty feet long, the oil is pouring in at the rate of from five to eight barrels, or 210 to 335 gallons a day. To keep it and the water from completely filling the excavation requires two engines, working twenty-four hours every day of the week, to pump out the flow.

Oil experts have examined the seepage and declare it not strange, this entire district resting upon oil shale, as the many wells drilled in Los Angeles in past years have proved. The stratum along the river is at a depth corresponding to that at which oil is usually struck when the wells are further sinking of wells within the city limits, some of the well-known oil promoters would willingly seek to develop the river-bed territory.

Actual construction work on the new bridge has begun in earnest. Carl Leonardt, the constructing contractor started on the excavation of the piers just two weeks ago. The dredging is done by the only "orange peel" scoop shovel on the Pacific Coast. This has a tremendous capacity, removing as high as 350 yards of earth a day. While the shovel is doing the excavating, a large crew of men is placing in position the caisson, which will be sunk to a depth of thirty feet, this being the required depth of the piers, of which there will be two in the bridge. In addition there will be an abutment on each end, requiring deep excavations.

Mr. Leonardt said yesterday that if the work could be carried on without interruption it would be completed within five months. "The excavation is really the hardest portion of the job," he remarked. "The gravel taken from the excavations should be used by the city in the construction of roads. All of it is so heavily impregnated with oil that it would make excellent foundation for the city streets which are not paved, or which need repairing. The oil makes it impossible to utilize the sand for structural work, since it will not mix with cement."

The bridge will be built entirely of reinforced concrete. It will be used by street cars and general traffic and

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Fire Chief has asked that the Water Board change all fire hydrants attached to larger mains in the business district so they will have four-inch openings for better fire protection.

The will of George Mason, disposing of about $900,000 worth of property, was filed in the Probate Court yesterday. The estate is to be divided as the law provides among the wife and two sons, the share of a deceased daughter, Nellie Hart, going to her two children. The father, R. B. Hart, is to have no part of it.

Judge Willis granted the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Chester Smith, the attorney committed for contempt, and ordered the release of the accused. The commitment order of Justice Ling was declared faulty and void.

Cyrus C. Kester, a Nome, Alaska, miner, told in Judge James's court yesterday of having been drugged and induced to marry his cousin, Martha D. Kester. He sought an annulment of the marriage. Judge James took the case under advisement.

AT THE CITY HALL.

WANTS CHANGE IN HYDRANTS.

LARGER OPENINGS ALL OVER THE BUSINESS DISTRICT.

Fire Commission Approves Recommendation of the Chief and Asks Water Board to Make Alterations. Engine-House Sites Must Suit Department, Not Neighbors.

Asking an improvement in fire hydrants in the business district, Chief Lips told the Fire Commission yesterday that the cost of improvements he asks of the Water Board is better than an investment of $50,000 in any other improvement; and the hydrant changes he wants will cost only $7000, approximately.

In the district between the Plaza and Ninth street and Bunker Hill and Alameda streets the chief is asking that all hydrants now having 2½-inch openings be changed so that all connected with mains eight inches in diameter or larger will have two-way four-inch openings. This will mean, if the changes are made, that the entire business district will be practically protected by larger stream facilities.

The commission approved the suggestion and sent it to the Water Board with the request that it be granted.

The commission had Peter Keenan, a contractor, before it for a scolding. Keenan got the contract to build a fire house on Main street, near Vernon avenue, last August, and was to have completed it by December 15. It is not finished yet—in fact nearly half the work is undone. In the meantime equipment for the building has been purchased and firemen are ready to occupy it. The neighborhood has been anxiously waiting for the first appearance of readiness on the part of the company to make a run.

Keenan declared the heavy rains interfered with him. He found that he could not get through and he secured an extension until June 15 from the Board of Public Works. But the Board of Public Works says this is not true, as it stands the forfeiture clause of Keenan's contract has been in force since December and the commission would him to get busy or it will be enforced.

The practice of neighbors protesting against the placing of engine houses on the most favorable sites was seriously condemned yesterday in a letter sent by the commission to the Council. Whenever the Council and the Chief select a good site neighbors protest that the engine house will spoil a residence district.

"They always want engine houses," said the chief, "but they want them around the corner. In trying to please everybody the city now has a number of sites at the foot of hills and the Department must start to fires over heavy grades. To accommodate those who want protection the city has been taking undesirable land and it is time to cease. The fire department must work from advantageous locations."

The letter was sent because just now sites picked on Euclid avenue and Washington street are causing complaint. Both are corners, high and having direct access to the field of work for each company. It is expected the Council will agree with the commission and the chief and make a precedent of locating engine houses in the face of opposition.

A large petition from Pico Heights residents was submitted asking for a new, modern engine house and additional apparatus at El Molino and Pico streets. The commission will ask the Council to arrange for this location in the annual budget.

Richard A. Hamley and W. G. Abbott were appointed hosemen and the resignations of E. J. Johnson and Lewis A. Frazee, hosemen, were accepted.

Charges of intoxication were filed against Lieut. W. M. Mills of hose company No. 11 and he was cited for trial next Thursday. Mills, it is charged, returned to the engine house May 17, drunk, and created a disturbance. The report of Chief Lips laconically adds: "He is now in a hospital receiving treatment for a black eye." It is expected the testimony will disclose how Mills got the "black eye." It is said the disturbance caused another fireman to punch him.

City Hall Brevities.

The Council yesterday passed the resolution asking the War Department to decline to accept the 146-acre tract of San Pedro harbor offered for a site for a naval station.

City Attorney Hewitt left for San Francisco last night to present to the Supreme Court a suit by the city of Los Angeles against City Clerk Lelands, which is to test the new sidewalk law that has tied up improvements here and elsewhere.

A civil service examination for police to be held June 1 is expected to be a record-breaker. The eligible list is now almost exhausted and there are over 500 applications pending. The commission thinks over 200 will take the examination and preparations for that number are being made.

Trade That Pays.

Young men to learn to operate the linotype machine; a good trade that pays above the average. The Mergenthaler Linotype Company is installing over 100 linotype machines per month. That means just so many positions to be filled at good wages. Linotype Shop now open. The Los Angeles Times has installed a large auxiliary plant, to be used in case of fire or accident, and has placed in charge an expert mechanical and operator, making it possible for students who so desire to learn either trade (linotype machinist or operator) in from three to six months. For terms address THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY, or 'phone Main 8200, Home 1031, and ask for manager of the Linotype School.

LAYS WEDDING TO A DRUG.

RICH MINER SAYS WOMAN INVEIGLED HIM.

Nome Man Seeks to Have His Marriage Annulled—Says His Full Cousin Induced Him to Become Her Husband—Court Takes Case Under Advisement.

Cyrus C. Kester, a rich mining man from the Nome, Alaska, gold field, was in Judge James's court yesterday seeking an annulment of his marriage to his full cousin, Martha D. Kester. The wedding was on March 29, last. The amended complaint upon which the separation was sought, alleged that the marriage had been contracted while the plaintiff was drunk and had been made oblivious to his surroundings by the injection on the part of the woman who afterward became his wife, of morphia or some other narcotic. Kester on the stand made a frank statement of the matter, and the case was taken under advisement by the court.

The record of the court shows that the Kesters were married as he stated, on March 29. It also shows that Kester gave his age as 45, Pennsylvania as the place of his nativity, and stated that at that time he was a resident of Nome, Alaska. Miss Kester's age was sworn to as 36, with Pennsylvania as her native State, and Los Angeles as the place of residence, at the time the certificate was taken out by Kester. He signed the application for the license.

Kester said he had first met the woman who afterward became his wife on Twenty-second street, at a party given by his aunt. At a late hour he suggested that they come up town for supper, and the pair went to a café and saloon at the corner of Fifth and San Pedro streets, where they had something to eat and drink. Kester acknowledged that he was a drinking man but he said the whisky he drank had a peculiar effect upon him, giving him a sort of creepy feeling. He said that he soon became so that he could not control himself. He said he recollected being carried across the street to a hotel, where he remained three days before becoming conscious and that immediately he was again plied with whisky. He alleged that he could feel the woman punching holes in his arm with a hypodermic needle, supposedly containing some drug. He finally awoke from his stupor when his cousin suggested that they get married and he consented, going to the Courthouse and securing the license. He could not tell who married them.

After the ceremony his new wife asked that he get some money, and they went to the First National Bank. When Kester met the woman he had about $50 in cash and a draft for $900. The money was all gone, and when they went to the bank it was necessary for Kester to be identified, and this was done by Attorney C. C. Polk, who has an office in this city, who was associated with Kester in mining operations in Alaska, and who knew the latter when he (Polk) was county judge at Sturgis, S. D. Attorney Polk saw that Kester was the worse for liquor and induced him to draw only $100, but Kester said in his testimony that all of the $900 draft was drawn and spent. In a few days Kester was allowed to resume his normal self, and then he told the woman that he would not live with her; that he had been inveigled into the bargain, and that she was his full-blooded cousin. He did not believe in that sort of marriage, he said. Then they separated, and the wife is supposed to have gone to Seattle, Wash.

Attorney Polk testified as to his part in the affair, and declared that in his opinion Kester had been drugged. Kester's mining partner in Nome, John Lancaster, testified to the same effect. Judge James thought there were many peculiar points in the case, and said he would render an opinion later.

GEORGE MASON'S MONEY.

SON-IN-LAW CUT OFF.

The will of George Mason, who died suddenly in this city, April 24, was offered for probate yesterday. The petition was filed by Dean and Wayne Mason, sons, the widow, Harriet M. Mason, abandoning her right as petitioner and asking that her sons be appointed executors.

The value of the holdings of the testator are estimated at about $900,000. The will is very short. The estate consists of the following property: Mason building, Fourth and Broadway, valued at $480,000; lot at Second and Hill streets, $51,000; lot on Geary and Third streets, $10,000; lots on Seventh street, $60,000; office and store building, Whittier, $21,000; four lots, Santa Monica, $3200; an interest in fifteen and one-half sections of grazing land in Fresno county, $60,000; notes and mortgages, $40,000; shares in the Magno-Silicia Company, $2500; shares in the Central National Bank, $2000; shares in the Central Trust Company, $900; shares in the Whittier National Bank, $2000; shares in the Southern California Loan Association, $10,000; money on deposit, $83,000.

In regard to the distribution of the great bulk of the property, the will merely states that it shall be distributed according to law, except that part which would, under the law, fall to the daughters of his deceased daughter, Nellie Hart, and this part of the estate is held in trust.

The instrument provides that this share is given in trust to Dean Mason and Wayne Mason, sons, for the use and benefit of the two grand-daughters, Barbara and Rachel Hart. The trustees are to pay what in their judgment is proper for the children's education and maintenance during their minority. After that they are to pay the children such sums of money as the trustees may think proper for living expenses until the death of their father, R. B. Hart; also, to furnish them with good homes, including furniture and fixtures.

Whatever shall remain of the trust property she'll be kept in trust until the death of Hart, when it shall be divided between them. If both girls die before the father then the property reverts to the estate. A paragraph of the will follows: "It is provided herein, that R. B. Hart shall in no event have anything to do with the management, use and benefit of the property herein referred to." The daughters live in Springfield, Mo.

BUTTER DEAL.

FALSE CLAIMS CHARGED.

Whether it was possible to make two pounds of butter grow where but one pound existed before, was an experiment that cost L. Bleakmore a round $11,000, according to the petition he filed in the Superior Court yesterday. The defendants are Albert Ancker and Harry A. Marx, who are brothers-in-law, it is stated.

The plaintiff alleges that in June, 1906, Marx represented to him that he was the inventor of a process whereby he could make two pounds of butter out of one, but that he needed capital to develop the invention. He also represented that Albert Ancker, one of the defendants, was a merchant in Los Angeles, and a banker at Tehachepi, and that he had kindly advanced Marx $1997, for working up the idea, which was a lien on the process.

Bleakmore says he paid Ancker $2000 for his claim, not desiring that his friend Marx should be worried in regard to financial affairs while working out the great butter proposition. He also alleges that he invested $9000 for the purpose of establishing a plant for the making of the stuff at Anaheim, Orange county. In September, 1906, when work was booming at the factory, and after the butter had been placed on the market, the place was visited by the United States Marshal, who informed him that the alleged butter contained an adulterant and that its manufacture was a violation of the law. The consequence was that the shop was closed and has remained so. The plaintiff says he has since discovered that the butter contained corn starch and would soon become rancid. He asks for a judgment for $11,000, with interest.

VIOLATES PROBATION.

SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN.

William Huntoon, the swift witness against the police officers, in the matter of his employment as a stool-pigeon in the gambling and drinking resorts in the vicinity of First and Los Angeles street, was sentenced for two years to San Quentin yesterday by Judge Willis. The order for his probation was vacated, and he was punished under the original charge that set forth his experness in the matter of giving checks on banks in which he had no funds.

While it was admitted that Huntoon had been employed by the police to furnish expert information as to crap and poker games, it was also shown that he was a constant loafer about these places, and this fact alone was a violation of the conditions upon which he was released on probation. During his freedom he has failed and refused to care for his wife and children, who at the time of his first arrest lived in Burbank. The woman has been supporting herself and little ones by working for private families, while her spouse was sitting about the poker joints playing with the money furnished him by the police, and flying in the face of the orders of the court.

HINT OF COLLUSION.

DIVORCE COURT POINTS.

"My wife did not like Long Beach," said W. B. Martin in his testimony against his wife, Clara, in Judge James's court yesterday. "I was sick with pneumonia and she did not care for me properly; I told her what I thought of such actions, and she went away."

That was more than two years ago. They were married in 1897, and when the wife left she took one of the children, a boy, with her. The other is with the father. The decree of divorce was granted, but the court remarked so that all could hear, that it looked as if the couple had made some sort of an agreement in the matter.

Mildred Barker of San Pedro, said her husband was a longshoreman, and had a playful habit of throwing her out of doors, which she did not appreciate from an esthetic point of view. Besides he had an affinity she believed. She thought she ought to be entitled to a separation, especially since he had abandoned her in 1907. The court thought so too.

ESTATE MATTERS.

PROBATE PETITIONS FILED.

The petition of Frank Azro Howe was filed in the Probate Court yesterday, asking for the probate of the will of his father, C. M. Howe, who died in Long Beach February 21, last, disposing of property estimated as worth $13,500. Of this amount about $10,000 is in South Dakota real estate. Frank Azro Howe, and his wife, Gertrude Bennett Howe, are given most of the estate to be held in trust by them for their two children, Lulu Frances Howe and Mary Bickford Howe. Two other grand-children, Ernest Howe Hedges and Hiram Clark Hedges are each to have $2500 when they reach their majority.

The petition of Sarah Schweikert was filed asking for letters of administration upon the estate of her husband, Joseph L. Schweikert, who died in Los Angeles, May 16, leaving an estate valued at $29,017. Most of the property is located in Pasadena at Lamanda Park.

FRAUD ALLEGED.

IN BARBER SHOP DEAL.

Bessie R. Unger, who backed the Hoffman barber shop, is plaintiff in an action brought in the Superior Court yesterday against G. Wucherer, Mabel G. Porteus and Louisa Pfitzunmaier, alleging that she has been given the worst of a trade proposition.

The plaintiff alleges that on January 22, 1908, she entered a partnership with Wucherer and Porteus for the conduct of the shop, and that the arrangement continued until April 15, 1909, when the business was sold and the partnership dissolved. It is alleged that prior to the dissolution and ever since the close of the partnership, Wucherer with intent to cheat and defraud her, appropriated to his own use more than $3500, and has refused to account for the same. It is also set forth that Wucherer in order to cheat the plaintiff deposited the money in the name of Louisa Pfitzunmaier, his mother. An accounting is asked for.

DIVORCE FOR DESERTION.

DIFFERENCES IN RELIGION.

Judge Bordwell heard an action for divorce yesterday, and granted the decree for desertion, hinting strongly that religious differences had caused the separation of Mary V. McAtee and John McAtee, for years connected with the Old Dominion mines at Globe, Ariz. The hint was in the shape of a note left by the defendant, one morning in August, 1907, when, in her absence on a visit to friends at Long Beach, he left, and has not since been heard from.

For a number of years McAtee had an express wagon, and stood on the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue for business. While there he was known as John Hill, by his friends, and some of the neighbors out on Forty-ninth street called him by that name.

SMITH RELEASED.

COMMITMENT FAULTY.

Chester Smith, the attorney, charged with contempt by Justice Ling, won his case in Judge Willis's court yesterday, it being ordered that the writ of habeas corpus be granted, and the accused discharged from custody.

The action was taken by Judge Willis on the ground that the commitment issued by R. A. Ling, justice of the peace, and upon which the Sheriff held the defendant, was absolutely void, for the following reasons:

First—It contains no statement of the facts constituting the contempt. Second—It contains no statement that the defendant had been granted a hearing on any charge of contempt. Third—If the defendant was granted a hearing, the commitment contains no statement as to whether the defendant was found guilty.

Judge Willis said that he had also examined the record in the case, and found that it did not contain sufficient data, from which a valid commitment could be made, and for these reasons it would be useless to remand the case for further proceedings, and the defendant was accordingly discharged.

The court told Smith that the facts alleged in the affidavit constituted a very serious charge, and the insufficiency of the facts was not the ground for granting the writ, but that he was discharged solely by reason of the defect in the commitment. He advised Smith that the next time he was guilty of such an offense, the record might be made up right, and he would be called upon to act.

It was stated last evening that Deputy Dist.-Atty. North is preparing papers to submit to the Bar Association for the disbarment of Smith on the ground of conduct unbecoming an attorney. Justice Ling stated last night that if the complaint to the association is presented to him he will sign it.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

ASKS DAMAGES. Dr. Lucy L. Washington's suit against the Pacific Electric Railway Company, for $25,000 damages by reason of injuries received in a collision at Daly street and Downey avenue, November 13, 1908, is before a jury in Judge Conrey's court. The plaintiff asks an additional $400 for not having been able to pursue her profession since the accident.

TO CHANGE NAME. The Southwestern Mortgage Loan and Trust Company has filed a petition in the Superior Court asking permission to change its corporate name to the Bankers' Guaranty Loan Company, as being more in harmony with the objects of the corporation.

AFTER BORROWERS. Evan Lewis, receiver of the Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles, has begun the work of collecting the money due that institution when it was closed by order of the Bank Commissioners. Yesterday he brought an action to recover $555 from D. D. McLellan and his wife, Laura McLellan, on a note dated February 25, 1907.

THREE YEARS' PROBATION. Judge Davis yesterday suspended for three years the proceedings in the case of John J. Hildner, who had pleaded guilty to uttering a fictitious check. Physicians testified in behalf of the accused that he is suffering from the effects of an accident received in a street-car collision several years ago; that there is a depression in his head that affected his mentality, and to that extent he was not entirely accountable for his acts.

INCORPORATIONS. Papers for the following incorporations were filed in the office of the County Clerk, yesterday: Standard Timber Land Company, capital stock, $100,000, by L. F. Curtis, Sol. Davis, C. W. Pendleton, O. H. Myrick and Leon Kornfield; Beach-Fitzpatrick Mill and Lumber Company, capital stock, $25,000, by T. E. Fitzpatrick, R. W. Beach and Charles E. McKelvey; Oro Fino Dredging Company, capital stock, $500,000, by Edward Maag, A. F. Randall, Benjamin P. Maddox, H. E. Andrews and E. Andrews.

PETITION GRANTED. Judge Wilbur yesterday granted the prayer of F. E. Newberry and Company, for a change of name to the Newberry-Bowen Electric Company.

COMMITTED. The Lunacy Commission yesterday committed Mrs. Hattie Newton and Edward S. Dorr, to the State Hospital at Patton.

STILL ARGUING. Judge Rives spent another day listening to the arguments in the Robert Crawford Smith case, involving the validity of the will. Charles Cassatt Davis finished his address in behalf of the heirs, and he was followed by Bradner W. Lee, of the same counsel.

YEAR AT FOLSOM. John F. Waehrer, an Indianapolis youth, who claims to have lost lots of money trying to name the fast ones at the Santa Anita track, was sentenced to one year at Folsom, yesterday by Judge Davis. The prisoner said that he had spent about $1500 of his and other men's money in the past few months in gambling and other high living. His uttering of worthless checks was carried on in a wholesale manner, and several dozen were located. His arrest was on three complaints. When he serves out his sentence he will be placed under probation for five years with Rev. H. Brady, of St. Vibiana's Cathedral as his special custodian to whom the boy must report.

TRIAL SET. Judge Willis yesterday set the trial of C. H. Rankins, charged with a deadly assault upon T. H. Scott, April 26, last, for June 25.

CARLSON GIVES BONDS. W. H. Carlson, former president and manager of the Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles, gave two bonds of $1000 each yesterday, one on a charge of embezzlement and the other of making a false entry. The bonds are for his appearance in the Superior Court, to which he was held for trial by Justice Stephens on Wednesday. On one bond appear the names of Frank R. Strong and John E. Brink, and on the other those of Charles O. Nelson and Fred Barman. No date has been set for the appearance of Carlson in the upper court.

SUES ADMINISTRATOR. Maggie E. Tipton, et. al., brought an action against Charles N. Taylor, administrator of the estate of Madison A. Tipton, asking judgment against him for $4949. It is alleged in the petition that Taylor, in his official capacity, and under an order of the court, sold the patent rights on a Ways Pocket Smelter, as a part of the personal estate of the deceased, to W. D. Hamman, for $51, when the allegation is made that the property is worth not less than $5000, and that the defendant was interested in the sale. He tried to conceal the true value of the patent from the heirs, it is charged. Judgment is asked for the difference between what was received for the smelter and what it is said it was actually worth.

TWO HURT IN AUTO.

In a collision of a San Pedro-street car, south bound, and an automobile at Eleventh and San Pedro streets, yesterday afternoon, a man and woman were painfully injured. According to the statement of the motorman, the driver of the machine did not notice the approaching car until it was almost upon him. He then tried to stop, but was too late. The hood of the automobile was damaged, and the man and woman were thrown to the street. The woman sustained a small laceration of the scalp and numerous bruises. The man was bruised and cut about the hands. They refused to go to the hospital, and stated that their injuries were not serious enough to require medical attention.

W. H. Salway, manager of the Manhattan Hotel, which was raided two weeks ago by the police, yesterday pleaded not guilty to a charge of violating the liquor ordinance. His trial was set for June 17. He demanded a [illegible]

HOTEL MEN'S CONVENTION.

Possible That Next Year's National Meeting Will Come Here—Dead-Beats to Be Prosecuted.

Los Angeles will probably get next year's national convention of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association, according to reports made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Southern California Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association, in the red room of the Angelus.

The local association resolved at its meeting to prosecute vigorously all persons passing bad checks or otherwise defrauding hotels. This is a radical departure from the old custom, under which offenders were generally permitted to escape when the loss was made good to the hotel.

"We have bright prospects of getting next year's convention of hotel men," said John S. Mitchell of the Hollenbeck, president of the local organization. "S. J. Whitmore of the Alexandria is chairman of the Convention Committee. The association has just finished this year's convention at Chattanooga, Tenn., and the reports are that the members of the committee are thinking of Los Angeles very favorably. Probably 8000 would come.

"The hotel men held their convention in Los Angeles twelve years ago, and I can truthfully say that they have been the most faithful and effective boosters this city has had since that time. It will mean a great deal to Los Angeles to capture next year's convention, for we shall then make an even better impression than we did twelve years since."

The Los Angeles association will employ attorneys for the special purpose of prosecuting persons who victimize hotels, either by means of worthless checks, evading payment of bills, or in other ways. No proprietor or manager will be permitted, under the agreement, to show clemency toward the beats.

Among the out-of-town members attending the meeting were: W. L. Abdill, Arrowhead Hot Springs Hotel, San Bernardino; E. S. Thompson of Santa Catalina, E. W. Caron, Hughes Hotel, Fresno; A. F. Cronenwett, La Vista Grande Hotel, Manrovia, and L. J. Farris, Casa Grande, Pasadena.

TO IRRIGATE AND COLONIZE.

Local Men Have a Large Project in View on the Colorado River in Arizona.

Plans are under way for a large irrigation and colonization project on the Colorado River in northwestern Mohave county, Arizona, northeast of Needles. The promoters are Lucian Eaves and D. M. Martin, operating as the Eaves Engineering Company. They have organized the Rio Colorado Land and Irrigation Company, and have taken over contracts held by Mr. Martin with the Santa Fé for 20,000 acres of railroad land. This will be subdivided and disposed of to settlers. Beside putting in an irrigation system to furnish water to 30,000 acres of government land around old Fort Mohave, soon to be thrown open to the public.

Such in general is the plan as outlined to The Times yesterday. The promoters positively decline to talk about it, saying that everything is premature and nothing as yet certain; that, in fact, while, admitting that something of this nature is planned, all the papers are not signed, hence they do not know what will be done. The information is substantially correct.

The plan is for an enterprise along much the same lines as that in Imperial Valley. For some time there has been a dispute between the government and the railroad over lands which have been settled. The allotment to the Mohave Indians of forty acres per family has been made, and 30,000 acres will be thrown open to American citizens for settlement within six months, it is expected. This section will be under the Bull's Head dam, planned by the government, and known as the Needles project.

Eaves and Martin have an option on the old Mohave Milltown Railroad, a narrow-gauge route from Mellen, on the Santa Fé, into the San Francisco mining district, that has long been a joke to railroaders and miners. It will be torn up and relaid with new steel and ties as a standard gauge to the principal mines, including the Pioneer, with a branch up the Colorado River to Fort Mohave, to tap the agricultural lands. The benefit to miners of this railroad building will be very great, and it will be followed by extensive development.

The lands on the river are said to be very rich and capable of great agricultural development when a set of canals is prepared to put water on them. The intention is to put them out in blocks of 5000 acres at a time, selling them and getting them irrigated before placing the next.

CHARGE WAS STALE.

A night session was held by Justice Ling in the Township Court yesterday in the preliminary examination of W. M. Neibel of Long Beach, who was charged with adultery by his first wife for living with the second Mrs. Neibel. After hearing a great amount of testimony, Justice Ling discovered that the acts charged were alleged to have occurred about a year and a half ago, and as the law says a complaint must be filed in such a case within a year, he dismissed the case.

MINES AND MINING.

MOHAVE DRAWS BIG MAGNATES.

Pioneer Is Reported Under Option to Them.

Bradley of Alaska, Merrill of South Dakota.

Gold Roads and Tom Reed Doing Well.

Fred Bradley, who made such a success of the Alaska Treadwell mine on $2 ore, and Charles W. Merrill, who built and successfully operated the great Homestake mine and mill in South Dakota on $4 ore, are reported to have an option on the Pioneer Consolidated property in the San Francisco mining district, Mohave county, Ariz.

The Pioneer has leased the old German-American mines, fourteen patented claims, and has also five other patented and three unpatented properties. The company is owned by Carl F. Schader of Los Angeles and associates. It has developed two distinct shoots. On the 100-foot level drifting has gone 224 feet, in ore continuously, average width seven feet, average value $10. On the 200-foot level the station has been completed and drifting started to north and south in the same sort of ore. During the last six months there has been blocked and brought in sight on this property $400,000, with the expenditure of less than $50,000. H. G. Schader, United States deputy mineral surveyor, is in charge.

The sale of the Pioneer to Messrs. Bradley and Merrill will doubtless mean a still greater activity in an already active district. Besides the Pioneer there are two other big properties of prominence, viz.: the Gold Roads and the Tom Reed, formerly the Blue Ridge. The Gold Roads has blocked and in sight $4,000,000; its present depth is 800 feet and one shoot is 960 feet long, average width seven feet, average milling value $16. Its recent bond issue was over-subscribed among its own stockholders, and will be used to put in forty stamps and a modern cyanide plant. Amalgamation has been done away with entirely, as the gold is very fine, free and easily cyanided. A saving of 95 per cent. is guaranteed in the new plant. Two million dollars in bullion has been put out with a 90 per cent. saving. Mr. Bonzal is the cyanide expert in charge, with Engineer Phillips as manager. Mr. Phillips was formerly with the Rothschilds in Mexico. The owners are Los Angeles and French capitalists.

The Tom Reed, formerly the Blue Ridge, which was sold to satisfy creditors, has turned out to be a very remarkable mine and the best high-grade proposition in the district. At 50 feet depth it has opened a shoot several hundred feet in length, five to twelve feet in width, average above $20, with seventy-five to eighty feet going more than $100.

With a little old milling plant this company has produced enough bullion to pay for opening the mine to the 250-foot level, and is installing a modern 100-ton works very similar to the Gold Roads's, only that it will use amalgamation before the ore goes to the tube mills. One million dollars is in sight above the 250-foot level. Wiley Jones is manager.

The Desert Power and Water Company's plant at Kingman approaches completion. It has contracted to furnish 600 horse power to the Gold Roads for three years. It will operate a modern electric light and power plant at Needles to furnish the town and run branches to all principal mines of the San Francisco district.

Goldfield-Silver Peak.

G. S. Reynolds, president of the Goldfield-Silver Peak Mining Company, has just returned from the mines with a thirty-six-and-a-half-ounce gold brick, the first product of the company's mill. The average value was $20 an ounce, gold, with a little silver.

A thousand feet of development, 225 feet down in the shaft and balance drifts and stopes. Work has been in progress two years. The mill just started is a ten-stamper, with cyanide plant.

The officers and directors, besides Mr. Reynolds, are: J. J. Ramsey, first vice-president; W. O. McClintock, second vice-president; D. C. Teague, W. H. Bartlett and A. W. Lee, all of Los Angeles or Pomona and vicinity.

In the same district the Pittsburgh-Silver Peak has $1,500,000 blocked. It is taking out $125,000 a month, and has just installed a 100-stamp mill and a sixty-ton cyanide works and built a standard-gauge railroad from the Goldfield and Tonopah Railroad at Blair.

Gov. Johnson Says He Did Not Arouse Southern Senators of Being Under Influence of Railroads.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PAUL, May 20.—Gov. Johnson, when asked today if he had read the statement made in the United States Senate by Senator Bailey of Texas yesterday criticising the Governor for making alleged untruthful statements in regard to the minority in the Senate in its attitude toward the tariff bill, said:

"So far as Mr. Bailey is concerned, I do not care to make any denial of the charges he makes, but I do care to have other Senators in the South know I did not make the statements that the railways of the South influenced any of the southern Senators. Nor did I make any statements reflecting on any Senator from the South or any other section."

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

OLINDA'S GAS TO RICHFIELD.

SANTA FE WELLS SUPPLY NEEDS OF THE TOWN.

Fuel from Same Source Runs Twenty-five Rigs, Also Operates Electric Plant and Lights Homes. Great Activity Notable at Fullerton—First Rotary Tried in Field.

The Santa Fé has just completed a two-inch gas pipe line from Olinda to Richfield to operate the water works in the latter place. The entire gas output of its gas wells at Olinda is utilized by the Santa Fé for lighting and fuel purposes. Twenty-five boilers at as many pumping plants scattered over the field are fired by this gas. It is piped into the homes of all Santa Fé employés, furnishing light and fuel, and on Tuesday was turned into the pipes to run the water plant at Richfield. It has been used for some time to operate the electric plant at Olinda. The gas is of excellent quality.

The Fullerton field from Olinda to Brea Cañon presents an extremely busy appearance. As far as the eye can reach, new derricks rear their heads. Lumber and rigging are hauled in large quantities and the largest force in the history of the field is employed.

The Graham-Loftus Oil Company has just put No. 31 on the pump. It has been pumping about 100 barrels of water an hour for the past two days, but is expected to exhaust the water today. It was brought in at 2800 feet, oil running 18 to 20 gravity.

This company is preparing to put down three additional wells, has two derricks up, which are being rigged, and is hauling material for a third in Brea Cañon. It is expected to spud in a few days. Out on the flat, No. 27 is down over 2000 feet and still drilling.

The Santa Fé is running four strings. No. 54 has been drilled to 2600 feet, 350 of which is in the main sand. This is expected to be brought in with between 300 and 400 barrels daily inside of sixty days.

Nos. 56, 57 and 58 on the west end of the lease are down, the first 1000, the second 600 and the third 400 feet. Nos. 53 and 55 have been brought in recently at 2600-odd feet with a capacity of 350 and 400 barrels.

No. 51 has been flowing 550 barrels for eight months and No. 29, the deepest of the field, at 4310 feet, after producing 120 barrels a day for a long time, had the oil shut off by water and is at present producing nothing, though an oil showing has been made within the last few days. The well is to be plugged shortly.

The Santa Fé has fifty-five holes, drilling and on the pump, and is getting things in shape for rigging at No. 49. It is producing 95,000 barrels monthly. It has a modern plant for saving the waste oil which is skimmed and pumped from the water and used for sprinkling and fuel.

The company also operates a thirty-five-horse-power electric plant, generated by gas from its wells. This company plans to keep four strings in operation all the time and has a number of locations picked for new wells which will be started as fast as others are brought in. The capacity of the blacksmith shop is increasing and things generally are in first-class shape.

The Fullerton Oil Company is doing nothing at Olinda in a drilling way, but is pumping 12,000 barrels a month. At Brea Cañon it is running two strings.

The Fullerton Consolidated is drilling four wells and has just started boring with a rotary, the first in the field. Some of the operators fear this will seriously hurt the field by cementing the oil sand.

C. V. Hall, who is virtually the Fullerton Consolidated, has another rotary boring in the Coyote Hills, down to 1700 feet, and is preparing to put down a stovepipe casing with lead joints in an attempt to shut off the water. Little success has been met with drilling in these hills. In most of the wells a depth of over 3000 feet was reached.

The Olinda Oil Company is down 1700 feet in the first well it has attempted since it resumed work. The Olinda Land Company is drilling a well for oil and one for water.

The Puente is pumping 20,000 a month, running four strings of tools.

Over in Brea Cañon, drilling is active. The Brea Cañon Company has a derrick up and is rigging to start immediate sinking. A syndicate composed of the Union, Brae Cañon and Orange companies, is drilling a wildcat hole down 900 feet close to the main road, and while no sand has been entered, prospects are said to be favorable to success.

The Orange is producing 700 barrels from its well brought in two weeks ago, and the Fullerton at 2000 feet has brought in a well of 800 barrels, both flowing and of 24 gravity.

The Graham-Loftus is down 2500 feet in its well, with good showing, and several others are sinking at various depths.

The Union has just brought in a 22 gravity well at 2600 feet. It is just being put on the pump and its capacity is not known. No. 40 has been pumping for ten days at the rate of 500 barrels daily. No. 44 is down 430 feet and still drilling through the sand.

ALDRICH AND TARIFF BILL.

Wall Street Thinks Senator Will Worry Measure Through About as Originally Intended.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 15. — The general impression in Wall street is that Mr. Aldrich will gradually worry the tariff bill through the Senate about as he originally intended it to read. Something happens nearly every day now to recall that the whole bill was not reported all at once. The Senator from Rhode Island has not been engaged in this important part of the public business for years without learning that a tariff bill is useless if it cannot pass; hence one part of the programme, or the bill today, and another tomorrow, and the third next week, and "then some." In this way he shells the woods, as it were. He smokes out the insurrecto who wishes "his people" at home to think that he is raising the very devil with the standpatters, but who doesn't vote that way in the Senate except as a last resort. The familiar process of counting noses thus goes on daily, if not gayly, and one by one the items and the schedules are disposed of.

It is also pretty generally believed here that in the view of Mr. Aldrich and his associates, who apparently control the Senate organization as firmly now as ever before, that a better bill will come out of the conference if they resist certain reductions as they move the proposition laboriously along through the Senate. The one important fact which the Senator from Rhode Island probably knows a little better than anybody else, is that the bill or any schedule of it, or any item in a schedule, must have the votes. He does not control those votes in any sense, except that he makes it possible for the voters to vote one way—his way, if you please, supposing that you consider him shrewd enough to be a boss of the easy kind. There is, for illustration, a great contention between the shoe manufacturers who want free hides and "the others," whoever they may be—some say the beef trust and others the cattle men throughout the Western States—who want the duty. How will they come out with this? Why, if the Senators from States that want the duty outnumber those from States that want to oblige the shoe manufacturers, they will have the duty. That is all there is to it in any case, barring, of course, the fact that with reference to features of the tariff, which are not the subject of controversies quite so virulent, there is a chance for mutual concessions and readjustments—or compromises, as they are called so often.

The leader of the Republican organization in the Senate has one great advantage. He knows not only the whole subject better than anybody else, but the personal desires of practically every Senator. He knows where support may be looked for, and under practically what circumstances. He is also backed by a considerable business sentiment, which wishes the whole disagreeable subject—I had almost said unfortunate subject—disposed of with as little necessary discussion and delay as possible. That, after all, is probably the force which will pass the bill and get it out of conference by the middle of June, or certainly before the 4th of July.

UNIQUE DEPARTMENT ARCADE UNDER WAY.

GEORGE E. HUNTSBERGER and the Niles Pease Investment Company are building a unique department store on the north side of West Seventh street, just west of Figueroa street, to be known as the Seventh-street Arcade. The structure, which is to have a frontage of 210 feet and a depth of 60 feet, is to be one story, and will be divided into twelve large storerooms joined by a continuous series of arches set about ten feet back of the street entrances. This type of arcade store, while not unknown in many parts of the country, will embody a new feature in mercantile construction in Southern California.

Most of the storerooms have already been leased for a period of three years, a butcher shop, grocery, hardware store and dry goods department being among the businesses which have sought quarters in the building. According to the plans of the lessors, all the departments are to be under a single management for purpose of convenience where mutual commercial interests are involved. Each lessee is, however, to retain control of his own strictly individual business affairs.

Grading for the foundations was begun last week, and the contracts for construction call for the completion of the building on or about September 1. The front will be of white pressed brick, and the floors of cement. Other details are to be determined by the tenants themselves. The total cost of the structure will be about $20,000. Dennis & Farewell are the architects. The builders, who own the entire area back to Orange street, contemplate additional improvements on the property in the future.

LAST week a young man called on a Spring Street Merchant, who is well known for his hard common sense, and asked him to put on his hat and go with him on important business. The Merchant, not knowing what it was, complied. They took the street car to Gramercy Place, near Forty-eighth Street, in the College Tract, and walked down to a new five-room Bungalow, which had just been completed, and walked inside, and there the Merchant was astonished to find his daughter awaiting him. He was more astonished when the young man said to him: "You see this beautiful five-room bungalow? Well, it is mine, all paid for, and I bought it for your daughter, and we want your consent." The Merchant gasped, and ejaculated: "How did you manage to buy this home on your salary of $15.00 a week?"

"That is easy. I started in seven years ago putting $1.00 a week in the Los Angeles Investment Company. Today my $1.00 a week saved and the earnings have bought this beautiful home worth $2800.00, and it is clear."

The Merchant said: "A sensible young man like you is entitled to the best girl in the world, and you can take her; and I hope others will have good sense and follow your example."

A Chicago minister declares that it costs $5000 to rear a boy. Then he gets married and his parents must support him and his wife and family.

Pretty soon every Senator who desires to "defy" Senator Aldrich will have done so, and then the revised tariff will be on the statute books in a jiffy.

It might be interesting to talk with Mars, of course, but there are a lot of other mysteries right here on this earth that we ought to try to solve first.

A SERMON FOR THE H. H. ROGERS FUNERAL.

If The Times were commissioned to preach the funeral sermon at the obsequies of H. H. Rogers it would begin by asking this question: "Was it worth while?" It could not be said that Mr. Rogers was cut off in the midst of his days, and perhaps there should be some hesitation about saying that he died prematurely. Sixty-nine is not an early date for the termination of a human life. Yet when one reflects that this man of business was presumably in a state of pretty good health a week ago and is dead today from a stroke of apoplexy, the question, "Was it worth while?" is not inopportune.

The end came as soon as it did, probably, from excessive devotion to business. The millionaire's life has been one of very close attention to details which must have pressed upon brain and nerve all hours of all the days and often far into the night. Presuming that Rogers was a man endowed with average strength of constitution, then a less strenuous life and better attention to the laws of health would have insured him an expectancy of life reaching ten if not twenty years ahead of the date of his death. Of course it is not philosophical to measure a man's life strictly by the number of his days. In any way you may look at life, one man lives longer in a year than another in ten years or in a whole lifetime; and measuring the life of the dead man by what he accomplished by devotion to business, the results are more than satisfactory. Still the question, "Was it worth while?" will stick in one's mind. Would it not have been wiser, and on the whole better, if the brain had been taxed less with business cares, and if the enjoyment of the achievements of Mr. Rogers's life had been prolonged in this way for another score of years? For, after all, the difference of the enjoyment, real and not imaginary, that any man can get out of life in the possession of a million dollars, compared with a hundred million, does not weigh as much as one small hair.

There are in the business world today, all over the country, men of Rogers's type of character many years younger than he was when the hand of death was laid upon him, who are inviting a stroke of apoplexy and premature cutting off of their careers. It is to them that the question, "Is is worth while?" should appeal with most significance. Mr. Rogers's close associate and the head of the great concerns in which he was interested, John D. Rockefeller, is manifesting much more philosophy than his dead friend. Rockefeller has not devoted his strength to business affairs in such a way as to undermine his health and shorten his days for the last ten years or more. Many business men said yesterday and will repeat today that the financial and industrial worlds have lost a great deal in the death of H. H. Rogers. There is another way in which the question, "Was it worth while?" arises. The value of a life like that of men of this type to the rest of their fellow-beings is not to be lightly measured. Men like William E. Gladstone, Prince Bismarck, the first William of Germany and the late Pope Leo XIII extended the span of life to ages running as high as 90 years. The world was the beneficiary of these prolonged lives and would have suffered loss from the premature death of any one of them.

Under division No. 2 of the discourse to be pronounced over the grave of H. H. Rogers would come a consideration to be approached with some hesitation. There was a time, and not long ago, when upon the death of such a man the attention of all the youth of the country would be pointed to his career as an example. We are not speaking now of small details and, as it were, in quantitative chemical analysis. H. H. Rogers was born to poverty. The task laid before him in his early youth was to carve out a career for himself. No laurels were to crown his brow that were not to be of his own gathering, indeed of his own growing and of his own weaving into shape. His first essay in the business world was in the humble position of newsboy, selling the daily papers upon the streets. He made his own way from the start without influential friends. There was no pull to lift H. H. Rogers to the top of any ladder. He went into the oil fields of Pennsylvania at the very inception of the industry which has grown to such colossal proportions, and by dint of energy persistently applied, of the closest study of the conditions of the business he was concerned in, he slowly wrought out one improvement after another in the production of crude oil, in the transportation of the product, in the refining of it into illuminants and the various by-products, and in marketing these all over the world. We are directed with exhortations of admiration to the achievements of generals who conduct successfully great military campaigns, and to statesmen who earn places in the temple of fame. But in no sphere of life was there ever a call for greater energy, more steadiness of purpose, closer mental analysis of affairs, than in the work wrought out in the last half-century in the oil industry by men like Rockefeller and Rogers.

We have said that in times past such a career crowned with such achievements would have been pointed out to young men in all parts of America as in the main worthy of emulation. But there has come a change over the spirit and the philosophy of the times. There are a great many Americans living today who, if given an opportunity of expressing their opinion more or less sincerely, would not hesitate to condemn H. H. Rogers and to warn all young men from the thought of following in any of his footsteps.

But, trusting to the general intelligence and fairness which characterize the American people, we will risk the holding up of Mr. Rogers as a man whose life is worthy of careful study for the sake of stimulus, and in some respects of emulation.

We do this the more readily because there have been no times other than these in which we live when there were so many openings to follow a career like that of Rogers and to win success commensurate with his, and furthermore that the United States of America offers more such opportunities than any other country on the globe. It is not our belief that money is the main thing in life or should be made the leading ambition of any man. Perhaps it was not the money that Mr. Rogers followed so ardently, but "the game." Possibly he would not himself, if he were here to answer, measure the success of his life or claim any merit for himself on the ground of the figures with the dollar mark before them which stand for his fortune. He would perhaps point to the improvements in industrial affairs, the new principles for financial operation which he had been permitted to devise and work out, and on these things base his claim for consideration.

After a painstaking investigation a Kansas editor gives out the information that when a woman is completely dressed she wears fifty-seven different articles. And all this in the face of the fact that she is complicated enough with nothing but a Mother Hubbard on.

When Gov. Folk comes to Los Angeles to lecture he might tell a palpitating public how he allowed himself to be "gum-shoed" out of the United States Senatorship by Joel Stone. It is possible that the alleged reform movement in Missouri has spent its force.

Just before the strike all France was in a frenzy trying to solve the question: "When is a woman the handsomest?" It is a hard question to answer. In Abyssinia, for instance, a woman is thought to be the handsomest when she weighs about 340 pounds.

Pretty soon we shall hear those afflicted folks up in Oregon calling the referendum the referendamn.

THE BLOOD ON TURKISH HANDS.

A glance at the history of massacres in Turkey brings to light an awful reckoning for which the government of the Sultans has to answer. Without going back to ancient times when savage instincts governed the minds of others than Mohammedans we can find a tale of murders committed in Turkey during the last ninety years that is truly appalling. From 1822 to the present massacre in Asia Minor the ferocious Mohammedan bigots have slaughtered over 200,000 non-Mohammedans, people of other than the Ottoman race.

In 1822 the Turks slaughtered 50,000 Greeks; in 1850, 10,000 Nestorians and Armenians; in 1860, 11,000 Maronites and Syrians; in 1876, 10,000 Bulgarians; in 1894 to 1896, 100,000 Armenians, and in the recent uprisings, according to the estimate of Rev. S. R. Trowbridge, 23,000 Armenians and others.

If we went back to the founding of the Ottoman empire and came down to today we would find a river of blood following the footsteps of the Ottomans all the way from Central Asia to the Bosporus. It has been an almost continual slaughter along the whole course of their history.

WHO IS THE BOODLER?

Tariff revision downward was originally an exclusive political asset of the Democratic party. Years ago a gentleman known far and wide in America under the name of "Bill" Morrison, a Democratic statesman from the State of Illinois, reduced the Democratic doctrine to a combination of a fine art and an exact science. His way of revising tariffs was by a horizontal cut of so much per cent., the more the better. He changed his familiar name of "Bill" Morrison to the sobriquet of "Horizontal" Morrison.

The clamor on the part of Democrats for a downward revision has received much additional wind power from the bellows of certain falsely called Republicans in the Middle West during the last couple of years. But the tariff is now in the hands of its friends, and long may it stay there! The revision which we hope to have completed at least within the next forty days is not satisfactory either to the Democratic successors of "Horizontal" Morrison or to their allies among the Republican insurrectionists. There is a general bewailment that the party promises are not kept and that the country is grievously deceived.

Now let us see who is really to blame. Of course, Sereno E. Payne, a New York member of the House of Representatives, and Senator Aldrich, a Rhode Island Republican member of the Senate, with that sturdy old evergreen with the heart of an oak, Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, are made the scapegoats on which the sins of high-tariff Republicans are to be laid, and they, forsooth, are to be driven into the wilderness of private life at the next elections, according to the views of bogus Republicans like Cummins of Iowa and La Follette of Wisconsin. But really it is not upon their heads that the responsibility of the new tariff should be laid. However wrong the downward revisionists may think these gentlemen to be, there is one virtue that cannot be denied them. They are sincere. They are doing what they think to be for the best interests of the whole country. They do not play fast and loose, blow hot and cold, face both ways, seek to dodge responsibility.

New England and the Eastern States generally, with their vast, various and multitudinous industries, stand solidly for a tariff which will afford ample protection to all American industries and insure fair wages for all American toilers. Now, when we leave the outspoken stand-patters and go into the ranks of the downward revisionists, we find Colorado wants all the duties it can get, in fact higher duties than exist now, on lead, sugar and hides. Oregon, with its Democratic Senator elected by a Republican Legislature as a result of U'Renism, is just as clamorous for high duties, the higher the better, on fruit and lumber, as the Massachusetts Republicans are for high duties on shoes and cotton fabrics. Then comes Idaho, with Senator Borah working hand and glove with Senator Bailey of Texas for a tax on incomes in order to relieve imported goods from bearing so much of the expenses of the government, while Idaho is just as insistent for the highest duty obtainable on lumber and lead. Utah wants wool and hides protected; Montana, lumber, wool and hides; Washington, lumber and coal. Minnesota is very anxious to have full protection to barley. Missouri wants lead protected as highly as Idaho does. Down in the South among the Democrats the Texans are as earnest in their efforts to keep high duties on hides as Colorado.

We have some of these downward revisionists here in California, but did one of them ever raise a voice to say lemons should not be protected with a higher duty than the Dingley tariff provides? Not one. Did one of them ever propose to revise the duty on oranges downward, or on figs, or raisins, or prunes, or wines? Not one of them dared whisper in an undertone any such proposition.

So we shall get a new tariff law eventually, whenever Cummins and La Follette and Nelson will cease making campaign speeches for the next election to the people of their several States and when Mr. Bailey will cease talking low tariffs for the delectation of the Texan rangers—a tariff law which will be a compromise. In this compromise Pennsylvania will yield some of the advantages of excessive protection on iron. Maine will let go something on cotton fabrics, Massachusetts something on shoes, Rhode Island something on woolen fabrics, and the downward revisionists from the South, Middle West and Far West will get all they possibly can secure on the different products of their individual States.

"STANDARD" VERSE.

An angel has touched his lips while he slept and John D. Rockefeller has burst into song.

There are two ways to look at this new crisis. The optimist will shriek with triumph and say that at last the world has a chance to be revenged. The snarling pessimist, on the other hand, will say this is one more instance of the trust's brutal tyranny.

But, look at it as you will, the cold fact stands there to confront us—John D. has become a poet—either original or plagiaristic, no matter which. John D. always knew a good thing when he saw it.

It will be interesting to watch over and lovingly nurse the future of this shrinking new voice. We can imagine how, when the birds are nesting and the trees are budding and all nature is in song, Jawn D. will write out of a bursting heart:

"Oh, happy, joyous spring is here—
The birds are singing nice and clear,
All nature is on pleasure bent.
Feels just like oil had riz a cent."

Or, mayhap, his muse may have a more taciturn and gloomy mood, when John D. will turn out something sublime and melancholy like this:

"Here I sit in the twilight, alone,
Thinkin' of 29 million bone.
Oh, I luv the mountains, fair and fine;
But Kenesaw Mountain—nix for mine."

Yet the budding of this new genius has a more serious aspect. How is John D. going to act as a poet?

Will he sit in the editor's outer office, wriggling meekly on his chair and licking his tense, dry lips with nervous anxiety? How will he greet the editor's sarcastic smile? How will he receive the rumpled old dog-eared MSS. with the return slip: "Thanks for favoring us with your bum poetry," etc.?

Will Jawn D. march up, blushing, and skulk away with the rejected pome, muttering that he has a better one at home and did this one with his left hand just for practice. Or will he scowl at the terrified editor and yell: "Rotten, did you say? Here, how much is your old magazine? I'll buy it."

It may be, you see, that the old Standard Oil tyrant will be tamed until pretty near any editor can bully him round. But, on the other hand, we may be in for the worst oppression of the tyrant trust.

On the whole, we ought to be on the safe side. Before this thing has gone any farther, a commission ought to be appointed to confer with Jawn. For instance, the public might be willing to pay 2 cents more for gasoline if John will call off the rest of his poetry.

AN UNDEVELOPED GOLD MINE.

The greatest literary gold mine yet undeveloped may be found in the history and romance of the early days of California. Heaven knows there has been enough written about those days that can by no charitable impulse be called literature. Near-authors as unnumbered as the sands of the sea have made jabs and stabs at the subject, but we have as yet had nothing that could be called a classic—absolutely nothing.

There is only one book dealing with the early romance of California that is even nationally known, in a popular sense, and that book is "Ramona." It is a pretty story, and by far the best we have had. But it is not a classic. Yet the people of America have bought "Ramona" by the hundreds of thousands, thus proving with what fascination the subject grips them.

It is to be greatly feared that when the epic of California is written it shall be written by an outsider—some alien genius wandering here to dig up the gold that our own writers failed to see, though it glistened before their very eyes at every turn of the road.

We sincerely hope that these few lines will not result in an avalanche of "In the Footsteps of the Padres," "Old Mission Trails" and all that. That isn't what we mean. We want a classic. Is there any hope?

HOROSCOPE.

BY COZETTE.

Hid in the earth's brown breast wealth doth await
The fortunate touch that shall unbar the gate.

The moon is in greatest libration westward on this 141st day.

Venus is on the ascending node. Mars, in trine and benefic aspect with the moon, rules buoyantly for energy and pluck, especially if displayed this day in fields of science or mechanical contrivance.

Saturn, in sextile, is also in benefic aspect with the moon and rules with great favor over things of the earth, favoring produce, cattle, minerals, metals, building and planting.

Mercury, in benefic aspect with the moon, rules clever and ingenious persons, schools and education, manufacturing, advertising and traveling with high favor in these twenty-four hours.

The sun enters Gemini. This sign rules the United States. The ingress, accomplished near the new moon, is under circumstances that are favorable to prosperity.

The hour of 1:30 o'clock p.m. today is named by herbal astrology as the time when azales, savery, valerian, parsley, fennel, lavender, fern, licorice, endive, dill, lily of the valley, marjoram, oat, carrot and myrtle are potent under Mercury.

Persons born between this date and May 27 are children of the cusp of Taurus-Gemini, whose influence is toward making their subjects artistic, resolute, kind, but intensely proud and sensitive. The astral color is pale yellow. The governing planets are Mercury and Venus.

Women and men with this birthdate are likely to profit from leading an active and busy life. They are not adapted by nature to be dull and quiet.

Children born today are under a sign that promises love for home life and high idealism and artistic temperament. They may be irritable in early youth and will need calm, equable, kindly treatment, as scolding and fussing only increases the sensitiveness of these natures.

SILVER THREADS.

BY UNCLE WALT OF EMPORIA.

Sing a song of long ago, now the weary day is done, and the breeze is sighing low dirges for the vanished sun; sing a song of other days, ere our hearts were tired and old; sing the sweetest of old lays, "Silver Threads Among the Gold." We who feebly hold the track in the gloaming of life's day love the songs that take us back to life's spring time, far away, when our hope had airy wing and our hearts were strong and bold, and at eve we used to sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Then our hair no silver knew, and these eyes, that shrunken seem, were the brightest brown or blue, and old age was but a dream; but the years have taken flight and life's evening bells are tolled; so, my children, sing tonight, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

RUDE AWAKENING.

SIGN HERE INTRODUCTION.

FIRST BUSINESS HANDED NEW CABINET OFFICIALS.

Usual Result Generally Follows the Heroic Attempt to Know All About the Doings of a Department. Swamped by the Daily Mass of Official Documents.

[Washington Correspondence Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

"Sign here, sir."

Those are the first words a new Cabinet officer hears after he has passed around the cigars, shaken the last congratulatory hand, banished the bouquets of admiring friends from his desk, and settled into his chair. He looks up to see an obsequious departmental messenger at his elbow, standing respectfully at attention and holding a rocking-horse blotter in one hand. The Cabinet officer looks down at what was a perfectly clean desk and there before him is a chin-high pile of letters and documents awaiting his signature. This is a shock for each new Cabinet officer who invariably has a sort of hazy impression that the business of his department is to begin all over again with his advent. Here is all the grist of yesterday's grinding awaiting the stamp of his approval.

"Sign here, sir," says the deferential messenger.

"I'll be hanged if I do," asserts the new-fledged dignity in nine cases out of ten. "Sign this stuff without knowing what it is? Without even reading it? Well, of all the—of all the why, double qualified dash your impudence. Get out and let me look over this mess."

"Yes, sir," says the unperturbed messenger, and withdraws.

He has heard that sort of thing before. He knows that his new chief is making mental notes of the messenger's face in order to have him fired for impudence. That doesn't worry the messenger, either. Most of the government messengers entered the service directly after the emancipation proclamation, and others before it. The messenger regards the new Cabinet officer as the veteran top sergeant looks upon the raw recruit. As soon as the fledgling statesman has finished the usual speech to his subordinates with the usual assertion that he intends to run the department, and expects their loyal cooperation, and the subordinates have struggled politely with the usual yarns, the messenger brings in that first batch of correspondence and dumps it on the new chief's desk, repeating at the same time, the motto of the Washington bureaucracy:

"Sign here, sir."

The one mild excitement of the placid departmental life is to watch the struggle of the Cabinet officer with the "sign here" system. Cabinet officers come and go. President Roosevelt had seven heads of the Navy Department in seven years. The subordinates stay on forever and then, at the last, agitate for a service pension because they haven't taken the trouble to save their money. By years of study and experience with it, they know the gordian knot of government red tape down to the last and most complicated tangle. They wind and weave it all around and about a new Cabinet officer at the outset of his career with them.

It is usually late afternoon when the new Cabinet officer gets clear of his ceremonial taking hold and feels the first coils of red tape fall about his neck. He starts to wade through that first batch of correspondence like the business man or lawyer that he is. He soon finds that he can't make head or tail of it, that it is written in a language new to him on topics of which he is ignorant. He can't sift important papers from trivialities. He begins to push buttons and summon the bureau chiefs, whose initials decorate the pages, to tell him what it is all about. After they tell him he has a curious and helpless impression. He doesn't know them, nor whether or how far he can trust them, personally, politically, professionally. He signs a few letters with a feeling that they are probably the wrong ones and that any one of them may cut his political throat or rise to blast his reputation during some future departmental scandal. It is now long past his dinner hour, and he is being made to feel, in some subtle way, that he is hindering the business of his department. Finally he takes what is left of the pile, and it is by far the bigger half, home with him to destroy his night's rest.

"Sign here, sir."

That is his morning greeting when he brings the still substantial bulk of yesterday's unfinished mail down to the department in the morning. The same messenger stands at his elbow with the same rocking horse blotter. Before him rises a fresh mountain of letters, all initialed and ready for his signature. A mass of trivial and routine stuff is shrewdly mixed with large contracts and important decisions. So the bitter business begins all over again.

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

A. L. Dennis, being duly sworn, declares that he is and has been for ten years superintendent of Circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above detailed statement of circulation for the month of April, 1909, is correct, and shows the actual number of papers printed for each day of the month named.

A. L. DENNIS.

Superintendent of Circulation, The Times.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 5th day of May, 1909.

[Seal] T. L. CHAPIN,

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

NOTE—The loss in April circulation for this year, compared with the same month of 1908, is attributable to the fact that many thousands of extra copies of The Times were sold and distributed on account of the fleet being here during April of last year. At that time an enormous gain over 1907 was shown. The Times did not hope to this year equal its April, 1908, record, because the extra sale both before the warships arrived and during their stay here was phenomenal, and, with the exception of the time of the earthquake in San Francisco, the largest in the history of the paper.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

Miss Jean Webster, author of several clever novels, the latest of which is the popular "Much Ado About Peter," is having rather an amusing experience all on account of her given name, which the commissioner of jurors of New York State insist is a masculine one.

Miss Webster resides in the pretty and picturesque village of Fredonia in Western New York. A short time ago she received a formal notice informing her that she must appear at the office of the commissioner of jurors in New York City before a certain date and show cause why "Jean Webster" should not serve on a jury. Miss Webster is a niece of Mark Twain and has quite as keen a sense of humor as her distinguished uncle. She thought the commissioner of jurors would appreciate the joke as much as she did, so she got out her most feminine, pale-tinted and violet-scented stationary and wrote as follows to the august official: "If you really wish it, I shall be delighted to serve on the jury. I have always thought that it would be an interesting experience, but had never hoped to be invited. The opportunity is very apropos, as I am thinking of having a courtroom scene in my next story, and it will be an excellent chance to study local color. Thank you so much for asking me. I am going to the country in June, so that I should not be able to serve then, but any time in May would be convenient, except Saturday, which is my day at home."

In Miss Webster's opinion her letter was its own explanation, but a few days later she received a formidable communication which informed her that she was to appear in court on a certain day and the following letter of advice: "My Dear Webster: It is difficult to evade jury service, and, as you know, we cannot trifle with the mandate of our Supreme Court. Considered from the viewpoint of the good citizen it may be that the individual should welcome the call to serve the State and parcel justice to the oppressed."

Her lawyer is now busy trying to straighten out the tangle and convince the commissioner of jurors that "Jean Webster, author," is a woman and therefore ineligible to serve as juror—at least until New York State recognizes the right of feminine suffrage.

Some Serious Problems.

Some of the queries solemnly propounded—and as seriously answered—in the women's magazines of the day are enough to make the ordinary woman shriek with glee or shrink with disgust. For instance, I cull these at random from the columns of the current number of Edward Bok's Ladies' Home Journal.

This first is a gem. "My 4-year-old son has a most annoying habit of falling out of bed. Kindly inform me of some good method that will prevent him from doing so."

The solemn woman physician in charge of this particular department of the journal carefully explains to the puzzled mother that the easiest thing to do is to put the child in a crib and its sides will prevent him rolling to the floor. How wise! How original!

In the "Pretty Girl Questions" another physician explains that the reason for manicuring is to prevent finger nails from growing too long and thereby harboring germs in the shape of dirt.

An expert on good manners and good form takes up such intricate situations as the proper leave-taking of the young man caller and advises Molly, who lives in a second-story flat, that it is not the proper thing to go downstairs to the entrance door with him as he makes his exit. In the same issue of this "ladies" journal, there is a half-page editorial denouncing women's clubs as not only foolish and worthless, but absolutely vicious in their effect on home life. One cannot wonder that Mr. Bok is unable to appreciate the value of the club for intelligent women if he places them on the low plane of mental capability that the various "questions and answer" department of his journal, as above cited, would indicate. What Mr. Bok most needs is education in a thorough, up-to-date co-education college. A fund should be raised to put him through the curriculum of such an institution. Just imagine, if you can, the fun the "co-eds" would have with him.

Seen in the Shops.

Some very attractive and substantial steamer baskets for fruit are shown in the window of an oriental shop. For the friend who is going on a journey, nothing is more pretty or practical than one of these baskets filled with a variety of choice fruit, which may include dates and figs and candied fruits as well as fresh.

One of the big stores is making a specialty of the sale of bath towels guaranteed to wear and of a most absorbent and frictional quality, the little nubs acting like hundreds of sponges thirsting for water and offering at the same time an exhilarating friction. Athletic associations from the big colleges and from country clubs all over the country have adopted these bath towels.

The latest pepper and salt shakers for the table are both novel and convenient. Pepper kernels are placed in the tiny silver pepper mill and a turn of the handle grinds the pepper as you use it. For filling the salt shakers there are diminutive silver funnels. These make odd and appreciated little wedding gifts.

Then there are the silver salt and pepper sets consisting of eight pieces, put up in handsome satin-lined cases. These sets include a pair each of individual salt and pepper dishes, a mustard jar and spoon and a pair of salt spoons.

The prettiest rattles for the babies born with silver spoons in their mouths are the mother-of-pearl crescents carved like the face of the man in the moon and with a couple of silver bells attached. Others have the Mother Goose figures chased on them. These playthings are not expensive either, when one considers the quality.

If you are tired of salted almonds and want a change why not try the salted pistachio nuts. I noticed a window-full of them just imported from Syria, in a Spring-street confectioner's shop. They have a delicious, delicate flavor and would harmonize delightfully with a dinner whose color scheme was green for the nuts, after the paper-like shells are removed, have a delicate green tinge.

Some Don'ts for the Dutch Collar.

The Dutch collar has its drawbacks, chief of which is the fact that fat and thin alike are equally unbecoming. Also it is distinctly inimical to the low, square-cut neck, insist upon wearing it. I saw one the other day on Spring street that actually made me shiver. The matron who wore it should have been gently but firmly led to the nearest dry goods shop and there have been fitted to a tailored waist with a well built-up neck. The Dutch collar is charming and girlish for a young miss who, by her youth and beauty, can stand such a severe and unadorned neck arrangement—but it was never, never intended for these others. Avoid it as you would a plague.

The Graduating Gown.

That graduating dress. Yes, I know, it's bothering lots of girls and mothers just now, who are twisting and turning to make both ends meet in the way of commencement expenses. There are the photographs—of course the girl graduate must have her picture taken—then, there's the little gifts you want to make to the members of the class who are your special chums and who have gone through the four years of study with you, and there are the numberless little social affairs too, which just now are filling up the calendar incident to commencement, and each and every one means some extra expense—and then, last and more important than any of these others—is the dress itself. It's simply wonderful though, girls, what marvels can be evolved in the way of charming commencement frocks from a few yards of inexpensive mull or batiste. I searched in vain yesterday through the shops for a simple little white gown and was shown dozens of elaborate "creations" of lace and embroidery and tucks and frills that—to my idea—are about as unfit for a girlish graduating gown as kid gloves are for two-year-old babies. It is said that what a Paris dressmaker can't do with seven yards of 10-cent muslin and three yards of ribbon is something yet to be found out. A charming princess frock can be made from the simplest material—even if you're not a French dressmaker, mother. Such perfect patterns may now be had with ample directions for cutting and putting together, that the average woman, if she is at all clever with her needle, can accomplish some wonderful results.

After all, the commencement gown is but the setting for the fair, girlish figure who adorns it and the simpler it is, the more perfect the taste of her who fashioned it.

Some Accessories.

The amethyst is undoubtedly the favorite stone of the moment.

Short skirts are to remain in favor as the favorite for walking.

Pretty little rabat bows are made of colored eyelet embroidery.

Skirts gathered at the hips tell the story of tomorrow's styles.

The new straws are soft, highly finished and very light in weight.

Though skirts are by no means wide as yet, wraps are of good width.

The motor veil has become one of the most cherished adjuncts of beauty.

For walking costumes the petticoat is made ankle length and very simple.

There is a new "devil" collar, like those of the winter, but made of linen.

The immediate idea in renaissance is a harking back to the early Victorian days.

Paris reports an effort to launch wider skirts, often with panier effects.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Smart and beautiful was the garden tea presided over yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Robert Marsh and Mrs. Louise Pratt, who entertained about 700 guests in the spacious grounds surrounding the Robert Marsh residence in Westchester Place. The beauty of the garden where choice flowers run riot over the rustic arches and wide spreading trees cast soft shadows was completed by the charming color schemes of the silk and chiffon gowns worn by the dainty maids and matrons. Tea was served in the tennis court, inclosed with canvas and banked with wild mustard. The center table was attractive with a handsome lace cloth and coffee was poured from a large brass Russian samovar. Arend's orchestra stationed in the pergola played popular airs and a group of colored musicians sang plantation melodies. A pretty arrangement was the assortment of hanging baskets which were hung from the shrubs and branches. Mrs. Marsh wore an imported creation of embroidered net over silk and chiffon, and Mrs. Pratt's gown was of white silk embroidered crepe de chine.

They were assisted by Mrs. Nicholas Milbank, Mrs. S. M. Goddard, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Viola Kennedy, Mrs. R. W. Burnham, Mrs. Joseph Patton, Mrs. Egelhoff-Rundel, Mrs. Lawrence Burch, Mrs. Richard Mercer, Mrs. Nicholas E. Rice, Mrs. Joseph Call, Mrs. Willetts J. Hole, Mrs. H. M. BALLOON ON A RIP.

Wind Tears Hole in Captive While High in Air, But Occupants Are Unhurt.

A fierce gale in midair tore a big hole in the captive balloon "American," at Chutes Park, yesterday afternoon, but the big gasbag was landed and the pilot, Capt. Mueller, and one companion, escaped without injury.

It has been the custom to tie down the balloon during the windiest portion of the day, but yesterday a lull came, and Capt. Mueller made an ascent. He reached the end of the 1000-foot cable before encountering the gust of wind. Then the balloon, under the force of the wind and through the rapid condensation of gas, began to sink rapidly.

Settling over the aerials of the wireless station, Capt. Mueller threw out a bag of sand. The balloon rose again, but as it did there was a sudden rip of a seam in the canvas. The rip widened and the balloon settled down into left field of the ball park, and the big crowd of ball fans thought the big bag was about to come to the ground, but it rose again, and started for first base. Capt. Dillon and a Portland runner scurried for the side lines to get away from the demon of the air, but the ballon rose once more and soared back over the fence to its hitching post.

Capt. Mueller and his assistants were preparing to lower the gas-bag to repair the rip, when a final gust of wind seized the torn place and ripped the seam clear around the balloon. The gas escaped immediately, and the bag collapsed.

The rip will be sewed up today. No more trips will be made when the wind is high.

CREEL AT OCHOA FUNERAL.

Governor of Chihuahua Charters Special Train to Take Him to Bier of Friend.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To drop a tear of sympathy on the bier of his lifetime friend, Ynocente Ochoa, the Governor of the State of Chihuahua and former Mexican Ambassador to the United States, Enrique Creel, came up in a special train from Chihuahua today to be present at the funeral of the aged Juarez resident this afternoon.

Gov. Creel heard of the death of Señor Ochoa yesterday afternoon and immediately arranged for a special train to go up for the funeral.

Deceased was a friend of the father of Gov. Creel and knew Creel when a lad. He is said to have given the Governor his first employment. Creel's father was a Kentuckian and married a Spanish woman in Mexico.

TRAIN LEAVES TRACK.

ABERDEEN (S. D.) May 20.—Eastbound Coast train No. 6, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, was derailed four miles west of Roscoe, S. D., last night. Two of the coaches were overturned and two passengers were injured.

DROPS BABE FROM WINDOW.

Mother, Terrified by Flames, Then Leaps from Fourth Story of Burning Apartment-house.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 10.—Twenty or more persons were injured, some of them seriously, by dropping from second-story windows in a fire starting from a gas explosion, which destroyed the Toledo flats, Sixty-fifth street and Minerva avenue, here today.

The property was damaged to the extent of $75,000. The first explosion occurred in the basement, and was followed by others in various parts of the building. Those in the building were thrown into a panic.

A woman rushed to a fourth-story window, holding her baby in her arms. Screaming and leaning far out of the window, she dropped her boy, who fell safely into a dozen upstretched arms. The mother then climbed out and dropped. She was seriously injured.

Ambulances were sent to the scene from three different Police Stations, and the injured hurried to hospitals.

FLYER DERAILED ON CURVE.

VINITA (Okla.) May 20.—"The Meteor," a fast passenger train on the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway, east-bound, was partially derailed at midnight, twenty-two miles west of Vinita, while rounding a curve at high speed. An unknown tramp was killed and two passengers were injured, neither fatally.

Mothers of croupy children should always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy handy. It will save them many anxious nights. Children like it.—[Adv.

"AUNT ADA'S" J. O. C. GIRLS.

Spreading Organization to Hold Convention.

Y.M.C.A. Scout Goes to See Lay of the Land.

German Conference Now in Session Here.

The fourth annual "J.O.C." convention will be held in the First Congregational Church, this city, on May 23. The organization had its birth in Los Angeles, in the First Methodist Sunday-school, and of its own volition spread into all denominations and into perhaps a dozen States. Mrs. Ada Bryant has been the national president since the holding of the first convention four years ago, and it was the inspiration reflected from her enthusiasm that caused the society to spread. Probably every society organized in an Eastern State was started by a young lady who had spent a winter in Los Angeles and had come in touch with Mrs. Bryant's remarkable class of girls and its unique "J.O.C." organization. There are now in this city twenty or thirty class organizations of the "J.O.C." in many different denominations, and there is one or more organizations in almost every town in Southern California.

On the day of the convention, the reception of delegates for registration will begin at 11 o'clock a.m. in the First Congregational Church, and lunch will be served in the social hall at 12. The convention will open with a devotional service at 1:30, conducted by Miss Jennie McKenzie of Santa Monica. Reports of officers will be read, delegates will report on their home societies, and letters will be read from many States.

At 5 o'clock another lunch will be served, and two and a half hours spent in a social way. In the evening an address will be delivered by Dr. Charles Edward Locke, and the new officers will be installed by Rev. Hugh C. Gibson. In order to make it convenient for the delegates, the lunches will be served in the social rooms, at a cost of 10 cents each. All delegates who cannot return to their homes after the evening service will be entertained at the homes of city "J.O.C.'s."

SCOUT TO JAWBONE.

Y.M.C.A. AFTER INFORMATION.

The Young Men's Christian Association has earnestly taken hold of the work for the benefit of the laborers on the Owens River aqueduct. It has enlisted for a practical campaign, and yesterday made the first move. It sent a scout into the field—John E. Berry, a young man acquainted with such activities. He has started for the Jawbone division of the aqueduct to spy out the land and report.

Mr. Berry has come here from Houser Lake, Mont., where he had charge of the Y.M.C.A. cause in a great camp of laborers. He has been employed for several years in helping men in industrial camps, in the employment of the International Committee, and knows how to get at the men. He will come back to this city Monday night in order to present information to the City Council at its meeting on Tuesday, and will then return to service on the aqueduct.

The Y.M.C.A. is proceeding with caution linked with aggressiveness, and hopes to convince the Council that it can well afford to aid in this campaign for the general good. As to details, the committee in charge will be largely influenced by the recommendations of Mr. Berry.

GERMAN GATHERING.

EVANGELICAL CONFERENCE.

The California conference of the Evangelical Association met yesterday, in the Evangelical Church, at Twelfth and Hope streets, Bishop S. P. Spreng of Cleveland, O., presiding. Rev. Dr. Sachs of New York preached last night, Bishop Spreng will preach tonight, and the Young People's Alliance will hold a special service on Saturday night. At 10:45 Sunday morning the bishop will preach the ordination sermon, and the service of ordination will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Dr. Smalle will preach on Sunday night. All the services will be in the German language. Bishop Spreng will preach in Bethel Church, Fifty-second Place and Central avenue, on Sunday evening, and Rev. W. A. Mittman of Napa in the morning. These services will be in English.

EDUCATIONAL DIRECTOR.

Rev. Wade Crawford Barclay, who is well known in Los Angeles, and who for the last four years has been pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago, has just been appointed educational director of the Methodist Sunday-school board. The membership of this board includes prominent ministers and laymen throughout the United States. Chicago will be the headquarters of the new director. Rev. Mr. Barclay, who is a graduate of the University of Chicago, was married in Los Angeles eight years ago, to Miss May Hartley, daughter of Mrs. T. A. Hartley of this city.

BRIEF MENTION.

R. L. Truitt, who spent eleven years in Japan, is teaching a Japanese Bible class at the Y.M.C.A. every Friday evening, which is largely attended. They are taught English and English literature as well as the scriptures, and when necessary to make things plain, Mr. Truitt speaks to the class in the Japanese language.

Rev. J. R. Pratt of Albany, N. Y., will deliver a special address on missions this afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Bible Institute.

A strawberry social will be held this evening in the Vermont Square Methodist Church, at which there will be an entertaining programme of music and recitations.

New classes in the automobile department of the Y.M.C.A. are being formed today, and all interested persons are invited to attend the free lectures at 4 and 7:15 o'clock this evening.

HIGH SCHOOL ORATORS.

The schools of Compton, South Pasadena, El Monte, San Fernando and Whittier, will be represented. Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker will present the prizes, which will be: First prize, $25; second prize, $15.

BANK CLERKS' MEETING.

At a meeting of Los Angeles Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, held last evening in the Exchange building, an address was delivered by Joseph Scott.

commercial school also has proved a drawing card for visitors.

The school of English entertained Wednesday evening with a programme of original composition. A paper, "School of English Gleanings," was presented by the editors, Mabelle E. Driesbach and Mary Tomlinson. Two original poems, "A California Twilight" and "Consolation," were recited by Katherine Barnewall. The same young author wrote the little play called "A Family of Talent," presented by the following students: Mary A. Graves, Esther Mendenhall, Bertha Herrling, Ethel Garber, Winona Durkee, Nellie Stowell, Myrtle Williams, Celia Perry, Grace Bonine and Bess Osborn. Music for the evening was furnished by Miss Juanita Hodgman, Miss Hazel Dessery and Miss Beatrice Warhanik.

The educational week opened Monday evening with a recital by the Mandolin and Guitar Club and the members of the expression classes. Last evening the work of the Choral Club, under the leadership of Mrs. L. J. Selby, was shown to unusual advantage in a recital.

There will be a recital this evening by the orchestral clubs, and Saturday evening the week will close with an educational party.

The Educational Committee has arranged for the opening of a summer school.

A meeting of the Oregon Society is to be held next Tuesday evening at the office of Charles F. McDonald, No. 516 Byrne building, to arrange for the annual outing on Oregon Day, June 11.

Half an Hour Before the Coming of the Guests.

Thursday-morning Cooking Class of the Y.W.C.A. preparing luncheon yesterday for members of the Chamber of Commerce.

MY! MY!

FAIL TO KISS PRETTY COOKS.

MEN GUESTS WOEFULLY REMISS AT Y.W.C.A. DINNER.

Thursday Morning Class in Domestic Science Makes Hit With a Tempting Menu—Many Other Features of Demonstration and Exhibition Week at the Association.

They forgot to kiss the cooks, those gallant men of the Chamber of Commerce who were entertained at luncheon yesterday by the Thursday Morning Cooking Class of the Young Women's Christian Association, in the blue dining-room.

Perhaps the guests did not know that such was the custom, or did not know how pretty the cooks are, for the young women who prepared the feast with the domestic science director, Mrs. Susan E. Pearce, remained in the background.

The men responding to the Educational Committee's invitation were Willis Booth, Joseph Scott, George H. Stewart, Louis M. Cole, J. V. Vickers, Harry R. Callender, George E. Bittinger, Maynard McFie, S. A. Butler, Arthur W. Kinney and Carl E. McStay. Covers also were laid for Mrs. Frank A. Dewey, president of the association; Miss Cora L. Tatham, general secretary; Miss Whiting, educational secretary, and the hostess, Mrs. E. J. Marshall, chairman of the Educational Committee.

The long table presented a charming color scheme, with baskets of yellow coreopsis resting on the white cloth, and swinging from the chandeliers. The place cards were adorned with etchings of the inner court of the Y.W.C.A. building.

An ideal luncheon of four courses had been prepared. Even the bread sticks were a perfect success, as well as every other difficult detail of the culinary art. The menu included cream of corn soup, bread sticks, boiled fish with celery sauce, currant jelly, asparagus on toast, potatoes on half shell, tomatoes and cucumber dressing, snowballs and strawberry sauce, hot rolls and coffee, salted almonds.

The coterie of cooks included Mrs. A. J. Bryant, Mrs. B. Hermanson and the Misses Margaret Bell, Mary Campbell, Helen Brown, Leila Coulter, Lizzie Goode and Margaret Hogan.

The luncheon was one of the crowning features of the demonstration and exhibition week, showing what this great Y.W.C.A. educational factor is doing.

The head of the millinery department of one of the local stores visited the exhibit of trimmed hats in the big workroom on the seventh floor.

"I regard this exhibit as equal to the best that my own department can offer," he declared.

The sewing exhibit also was greatly admired by those who have thronged the building since the opening of the display on Monday. Not only new gowns of faultless lines were exhibited, but old materials fashioned anew proved the benefits of economy and ingenuity that have been inculcated in these classes.

Gymnasium demonstrations have been given during the week under the direction of Miss Ella Stevers.

The arts and crafts department, with exquisite stenciling, hammered brass and other applied art work, attracted more attention than at any previous exhibit. The work of the

APPRAISE LAND BY SQUARE FEET.

VALUATIONS DIFFERENT ON ESPEE PROPERTIES.

Company Representative in Contention With Experts Testifying for the Associated Jobbers—Declaration About "Rotten Hypothetical Question" Causes a Smile.

Whether land in the vicinity of River station is worth $1.50 or 83 1-3 cents a square foot was the basis of an interesting tilt between Attorney W. H. Debrow, representing the Southern Pacific, in the "switching case" hearing yesterday, and Robert Allen and Lee A. McConnell, experts, testifying for the Associated Jobbers.

These two fixed the value of land in this neighborhood at the former figure, while Debrow offered to produce a man who had been hawking a corner lot at College and San Fernando streets, opposite the station, at the last-named price for the past year without a buyer. He asked Mr. Allen if he would be willing to purchase it at his price. Allen retorted he had heard bluffs of this kind made before and asserted his willingness to take an option at that sum. He protested, however, that be willing to purchase it at his price, piece of ground, and that there are special and peculiar conditions that depreciate its value.

Mr. Allen qualified as a real estate expert, and showed he had represented various parties as appraiser in condemnation and other matters involving particularly railroad lands and rights of way.

McConnell and Allen were employed by the jobbers to prepare an estimate of the value on all of the land owned by the railroads in Los Angeles occupied by team or industry tracks. They were on the stand practically all day. In the course of their testimony Mr. Debrow inquired mildly of Mr. Allen if he thought the Southern Pacific had gotten all that was coming to it in a certain case of condemnation wherein he acted as one of the appraisers.

A laugh was caused by Mr. Allen, who retorted that "This is the first time I have ever heard it seriously questioned that the Southern Pacific does not get all it is entitled to in California. It always gets what's coming to it."

Witnesses asserted that Santa Fé team track land is worth $2.25 a square foot; Southern Pacific $1.50; the Salt Lake not quite so high, but more valuable than industry track area, which they fixed at $1 down.

In the afternoon Trainmaster R. T. Burdette of the Southern Pacific was put on the stand to contradict testimony from witnesses the railroad attorneys termed "detectives," but who on protest of Mr. Kuster, principal attorney for the jobbers, and a suggestion by the examiner, were changed to "air-brake inspectors." Mr. Burdette was heard relative to the amount of work done in segregating and spotting industry cars and others. His records disclosed errors in the report of these employés of the jobbers. The direct examination of Mr. Burdette was concluded just before adjournment, and he will be on the stand for cross-examination this morning.

The hearing is dragging along, much time being consumed in hypothetical questions, one asking, "What value would you consider these lands if the railroads were removed from California?" causing a witness to term it "a rotten hypothetical question," at which even the examiner joined in the smile.

J. D. Ledderman, an attorney of San Francisco, designated by the commissioners to hear testimony, indicated an intention of holding night sessions to hasten proceedings, and it is likely this will be done if the case is not ended by tomorrow night.

MEXICAN SUBSIDY.

C. E. Pani, government inspector of railways, of Mexico, has gone to the west coast to accept sixty-nine kilometers of the Southern Pacific work just completed between Mazatlan and Rosario in the State of Sinaloa. The Federal subsidy installment for this sixty-nine kilometers amounting to $862,500 will then be paid. Train service will be extended to Rosario from Mazatlan and a mixed train will be operated as soon as necessary permission is granted.

MAN SHOOTS SKYWARD.

Saves Himself from Death by Clutching Big Hook at Top of Smokestack.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edward Schneider, seated in a small swing, was shot at terrific speed 150 feet up into the air today, and was saved from being hurled out into space and death, only by grasping a hook at the top of the smokestack at the Union Electric Light and Power Company's plant.

Schneider and Charles Kinsey are painters, and are employed in painting the smokestack on Washington street. This morning Schneider was to go to the top of the stack and paint downward. Schneider seated himself in the swing and Kinsey stood by the "nigger" to operate it. At the word from Schneider he started the machine, but his glove got caught in the mechanism and turned it on to full speed.

Instantly the swing shot upward. When it reached the top of the stack Schneider was jerked out like a pea from a boy's shooter. Instinctively he threw his hands out. His fingers clutched a hook at the top of the stack over which ropes are thrown. His hands were mangled by the sharp metal, but he held on and was rescued.

SHEEP KILLED IN RANGE WAR.

Herders and Raiding Cowboys Clash in Colorado—Three Thousand Head Slain.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) May 20.—As a result of a battle between sheep men and cowboys on a contested range near Atchee, Colo., yesterday, 3000 head of sheep were killed and two sheep men were injured. The sheep, which belonged to Taylor Brothers of Montrose, were grazing on a range near the hamlet of Carbinero.

The cowboys dashed in upon the herders and tied them to trees and then rode out and killed the sheep. They first cut the telephone wires. Several hours later, the sheep herders were liberated. The authorities of Garfield county have been notified.

The range in which the crime was committed has long been a contested range and several murders have resulted from quarrels over it.

REPEATER.

CAUGHT AGAIN ON BAD CHECK.

Attorney Blaine Taylor at Liberty One Day.

Takes Client's Money; Gives Worthless Paper.

Declares Sister Will Again Come to Rescue.

Blaine Taylor, the young attorney and nephew of former Gov. S. R. Van Sant of Minnesota, who was arrested Tuesday on the charge of uttering fictitious checks and was released Wednesday because his victims would not lodge complaint against him, was rearrested late yesterday afternoon on a similar charge preferred by Robert J. McCulloch, an insurance agent with offices at No. 215 South Broadway. Immediately after his arrest Taylor was arraigned before Police Judge Williams and held for examination today. Bail was fixed at $500, which Taylor was not able to furnish. Last night in Central Police Station, in speaking of the charges against him, Taylor said:

"Some time ago McCulloch retained me as counsel in an action brought by his wife for divorce. Saturday McCulloch was compelled to pay her $15. I told him I would pay the money to George P. Adams, her attorney. I took $15 from my own pocket, deposited the money with the Broadway Bank and Trust Company, drew a check for $15 against the account and left it at Adams's office. That same afternoon McCulloch gave me $15 to reimburse me for the amount I had advanced.

"This afternoon McCulloch came to me and asked why I had not paid the $15 to Adams. I told him that I had given Adams a check for $15. He told me the check had been returned to Adams marked: 'No funds.' I telephoned the bank and they told me I had only 5 cents to my credit. I then told McCulloch that I would square it with Adams, which I intended to do. About an hour later McCulloch returned with Adams and told me he had had sworn out a warrant for my arrest. The officers took me in custody a short time later.

"When I drew the check in favor of Adams I believed I had $15 in the bank, but evidently some check outstanding against me came into the bank in the meantime and swept aside my account. As it stands Adams has no action against me, as any worthless check I might give to him would not cancel my obligation to him; he would get nothing by such a transaction. The obligation would still stand. McCulloch would perhaps have an action for embezzlement against me.

ADMITS BAD CHECKS.

"I admit I have given a number of worthless checks, but at the present time I have no more than $60 outstanding against me in fictitious checks. Some of the checks I gave when I was drunk and did not know what I was doing. At other times I gave checks when I knew I did not have funds in the bank, but had expected to make deposits the next day.

"My enemies have greatly exaggerated the amount of money I have squandered since the death of my father. It is not true that my brother Lewis will be deprived of his education at Stanford. Enough money remains to take care of him in that regard and to meet other expenses of the estate. I do not believe that I and my brother Ralph spent more than $500 of the $10,000 life insurance left by my father.

"Neither are the reports true that because of my recklessness with money that my sister, Miss Olive, has forsaken me, and will refuse to advance money to pay my debts. She was with me when I was arrested and avowed that she would stand by me. She declared that she would take up checks and notes issued by me whenever presented. Naturally, she is much upset by the exposure of my actions, but still stands by me. It is not true, either, that I went on another round of dissipation as soon as I was released on Wednesday.

WON'T DISCUSS HAWLEY.

"As to Mr. Hawley or his claims on me I do not care to say anything. I have not seen him since I was released after he had me arrested Tuesday night. He holds only about $80 worth of checks, which he has taken up for me. He also holds some notes signed by my brother, and myself, and I have borrowed some money from him. All told, my obligation to him is about $600. My other debts around town are small, and are mostly gambling debts. It is true my sister has taken up many checks and notes which I have given. She and my other sister were teaching school before my father died, and reports that they have been compelled to teach because of my expenditure of the estate funds are not true. Neither is it true that I have practically wrecked the estate, though I have to admit I have spent several thousand dollars of the money. My obligations are more in the nature of notes than checks, however."

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, May 13.—Members of the G.A.R. Post and Veterans of the Spanish-American war will attend worship on Sunday, the 30th inst., at the Congregational Church. The sermon will be by Rev. R. B. Larkin. On Monday forenoon, at the Methodist Church, the Memorial Day oration will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Kemper. Both parades from the hall to the churches will be led by the Cornet Band, and in the one on Memorial Day the young ladies will act as color guard, while the States and Territories of the Union will be represented by forty-eight school children. A joint service of the post and corps will be held at Oak Hill Cemetery, Monday afternoon.

Efforts of the school and other officials at San Marcos to capture the person who set fire to the $4000 schoolhouse have been unsuccessful. The insurance company is still resisting the payment of the policy of $1600.

Juniors Now Appear.

Alvin Palmer, Jr., is the name of a new company launched in San Francisco with a capitalization of $2,000,000. It has not the slightest connection with the Palmer whose name it has borrowed. The names of the incorporators are Albert Raymond, Alexander W. More, Henry H. Hart and Aaron Spiro. Its articles authorize it to deal in and develop oil lands and carry on a general oil business, but the accounts published do not say where the operations are to be. Presumably, from the name taken, it is somewhere near Santa Maria or Cat Cañon.

POMONA SEEKS.

Besides being one of the most influential Congregational ministers of the Northwest, Dr. Smith has been prominent also in public life, having served two terms on the Seattle School Board, and held other minor public offices. He has a remarkably strong personality, and is still a comparatively young man, having just turned 40.

As Dr. Smith has repeatedly declined calls that would have taken him away from his Seattle work, in which he is deeply interested, his friends have doubt about his acceptance of the presidency of Pomona, unless from a sense of duty. When he was recently offered the presidency of an Oregon congregational college, his congregation held special meetings to frame resolutions entreating him to remain in Seattle, making every effort to keep him with them.

FOR MERGER.

POMONA TRUSTEES TO ACT.

Interest in the proposition to unite Pomona and Occidental colleges is growing, and the movement will soon take definite shape. The trustees of Pomona, will hold a meeting next Tuesday, and will consider the matter. Rev. Dr. A. C. Smither, the chairman of the board, expressed himself yesterday as strongly in favor of a merger. He believes that with the resources and backing of the two colleges combined for one strong institution, greater and better work could be done, the united faculty could be strengthened and the effectiveness of collegiate training in Southern California could be immensely promoted. He declares that with such a college opening its doors to young men and women, many who are now sent by their parents to outside institutions would be kept at home and would find here all the advantages which they now seek in larger colleges and universities. Dr. Smither says there are no sectarian difficulties in the way, and that the sentiment of the Pomona board is in favor of the merger. Several of the Occidental trustees take kindly to the idea, but the board has not committed itself. The question of location probably will prove the most difficult snag to overcome. The fact that Pomona College is now without a president adds to the timeliness of the proposition.

HOSPITAL CASE PUZZLES.

Man Confined in Insane Ward in the County Hospital Upsets the Doctors' Theories.

Physicians at the County Hospital and some of the best known neurologists of the city are puzzled by the case of a man known as George E. Chandler, now confined in the ward for insane at that institution. Chandler was found dazed at Main and Second streets, taken to the Receiving Hospital, and transferred to the County Hospital April 24.

Detectives who investigated the case later learned that the man had been in a fight in a saloon, and it was thought he might have been sandbagged, as there was no mark of violence.

Although Chandler was registered at the City Jail as a "drunk," it soon became evident that he was suffering from mental aberration, and it was attributed to some injury on the head, possibly received in the saloon brawl. Believing that relief might be afforded by trephining the skull, the hospital physicians called in expert neurologists to study Chandler's case with a view to locating, if possible, the point of lesion in the brain, preparatory to an operation.

All theories in the case have been upset, however, by examinations and observation of the patient. All known tests have failed to show that his mental condition is due to any injury.

When Chandler was brought to the County Hospital he was placed in the medical ward, but he became so obstreperous that he was removed to a cell. Apparently he has no friends or relatives here. He is believed to have been a railroad brakeman, but he has told so many contradictory stories that no reliance is placed in any information that he has given about himself. Once he said he came from Springfield, Ill., and the next minute said his home was at Springfield, Mo. At one time he said he worked on the Santa Fé, and at another he said he had been with the Southern Pacific. Chandler is apparently about 40 years of age, and has a fair education.

FIRM IN INSULT TO MEREDITH.

LONDON, May 21.—The dean of Westminster's refusal to permit the ashes of George Meredith to be interred in the Abbey appears to be final, and he declines to give any reason. No effort has been spared to induce the dean and chapter to reconsider, but in vain.

A DAINTY KITCHEN SINK.

The kitchen sink can be kept as clean and dainty as a tea cup—and why should it not be?

A epic-and-span housewife insists that her sink shall be as clean as the china washed in it.

The problem is simple; merely rinse the sink thoroughly with warm water and Gold Dust, after each dish-washing. Make this suds in the dish-pan, and thus remove the last particle of grease from that much-used utensil.

Gold Dust has the peculiar quality of dissolving and "cutting" grease. It is, therefore, valuable, not only for keeping the sink and pans sweet and clean, but for keeping the sink "trap" and pipes clear.

These will never become clogged with grease if Gold Dust and plenty of hot water be used for washing the sink each morning and evening.

Watermelons

And so you thought the business of a railroad was to haul freight and passengers from one place to another?

Dear! dear! how old-fashioned your notions are!

The chief business of a railroad is market-gardening, and the fruit is a luscious type of melon which the owners cut up for themselves.

A melon crop worth $400,000,000—perhaps more—has rewarded the gardening efforts of James J. Hill and his associates.

Charles Edward Russell tells how two very able Boston lawyers got into Mr. Hill's history and laid bare every transaction in his remarkable melon-growing record. The results will make you gasp. For the first time in the history of giant corporations the whole process of stock watering is here set forth in clear, understandable style.

If you are interested in grocery or clothing bills—or if the cost of living affects your peace of mind—you need to read this article. It will help you learn why prices keep going up.

DIABOLICAL.

FIEND SLAYS LITTLE CHILD.

Outrages Young Schoolgirl, Then Murders Her.

Body Is Found in the Brush along Los Feliz Road.

Posse Scouring Country in Quest of Brute.

A score of officers and hundreds of enraged ranchmen are scouring the country in the neighborhood of Griffith Park, Tropico and Glendale for the fiend who assaulted 9-year-old Anna Poltera late Monday afternoon and then murdered her. It was one of the most diabolical crimes ever committed in this section.

When the news of the finding of the body spread yesterday morning, men stopped their work in the fields, a number of small manufacturing plants turned out their employes and a host of ranchers joined the Sheriff's officers and police on the case.

If the murderer is caught there undoubtedly will be a lynching. One look at the determined faces of the men engaged on the hunt is enough to convince the officers that they will never be able to lodge the fiend in jail.

Several clews were brought to light yesterday afternoon. The discovery of an abandoned camp in the mustard brush not more than a hundred yards from where the body of the girl was found offers a probable solution of the mystery. Hidden from the road by a screen of bush and sheltered by the low wall of a wash, this camp tells a sinister story of the character of men who until a day or two ago occupied it.

CLEWS FOUND IN CAMP.

Twelve sticks of dynamite were found there, wrapped in newspapers and covered with an old gunny sack. Two new frying pans showed that two or more men lived there. Two candles, an old box and scores of dried tamale husks also were found.

Anna Poltera, the little daughter of Joseph A. Poltera and his wife, Marie, lived with her parents near Griffith Park on a small chicken ranch. Every day she walked the three miles between her home and the Los Feliz school. Every day she stubbed her little shoes in the dust of the road and had no fear of the men and women she met on the way. Innocent and happy, she was the friend of every workman and rancher along the route.

Monday she did not return after school hours. She occasionally stayed with a friend near the schoolhouse and for that reason her parents were not alarmed at her absence. Her father made occasional inquiries, but, according to his statement, thought his little daughter was visiting her friends, and paid no great attention to her absence.

DISCOVERY OF BODY.

Yesterday morning Jasper Shaffer, an employe at Griffith Park, went to the rear of brick vent No. 1 of the water system to cut away some of the mustard scrub there. As he parted the brush he noted the figure of a human being lying on the ground.

One look was enough to convince him that death had set its mark upon the body. He immediately notified the park officer, who in turn telephoned to Sheriff Hammel and Coroner Hartwell. Both officers hurried to the place in their automobiles. They had been informed that the body was that of a woman. Little were they prepared to view the pitiful sight that awaited them.

Lying on her side, one tiny arm resting beneath her head, the soft brown eyes, motionless in death, half showing through the drooping eyelids, the little girl looked as if she might have crawled into the bed of mustard to sleep.

A hideous gash across the throat told the story of the crime. The little maid's death must have been a terrible one. Her little red sweater, a present from her stepbrother, was spattered with her life's blood.

The skirt and underskirt had been literally torn into ribbons. The limbs showed the brutality with which the fiend had treated her.

THE PITY OF IT.

Then he had pinned down the curly headed girl, scarcely more than a baby, and had driven the knife into the slender throat, until the point came through the soft flesh beneath the ear. The steel had been turned and the flesh hacked and haggled, a final rip severing the head.

The murder had evidently been accomplished at some point distant from where the body was found.

As in the case of Claudie Besold, who was murdered by her husband, Anton Besold, in the Temescal Cañon, two years ago, and the body thrown into the brush, the body of the little girl had been dropped down into the mustard, and branches from a nearby elder tree had been torn off and thrown upon it.

Three nights and two days the body had remained there.

It was this sight that greeted the officers and, accustomed as many of them were to tragedies, there was an ominous tightening of the lips and hardening of the muscles of face and neck that showed the determination to work unwearyingly until the brutal slayer had ben taken into custody.

The father, a native of Switzerland, drove up just as the officers reached the place.

"I am looking for my little girl; she has not been home for a few days, and I want her," he explained, his tired old eyes gazing wistfully out over the brush and scrub of the river bed.

He was thinking of the curly brown head that bobbed up along the path to greet him when his day's work had been finished; of the lithe little figure that danced here and there among the bushes when his baby played, and he wanted her. A few days' absence had taught him a little lesson of the great love he held for his little girl, and he was just a bit heart hungry.

"Your little girl is dead," said Sheriff Hammel, softly.

Poltera turned gray beneath the deep tan. His hands dropped limp at his sides and for a moment he seemed frozen to the seat of his wagon. His step-son, who accompanied him, gave a low sob and, leaping from the wagon, ran rapidly in the direction of his home.

Poltera left the wagon. He staggered as he tried to go toward the huddled mass in the mustard brush, all that was left there of his baby, now a mutilated, outraged little figure, cold and silent. A great sob shook him as he took a step forward. Then the Sheriff interposed and led him away. The figure in the brush was not good for that father to look upon.

Simply Poltera told the story of his daughter's actions so far as he knew them, and then he was permitted to trudge his weary way toward the distant cottage, his chin dropped forward on his breast, his eyes glassy with the grief that gnawed at his heart, and his lips muttering the name of his baby girl.

AWFUL BRUTALITY.

The body was brought to Los Angeles and sent to the Pierce morgue. An autopsy was performed there yesterday afternoon. The investigation brought forth a report from the physicians to the effect that the assault must have been accomplished by the most degraded of perverts, or by an insane man, because of the brutality that attended it.

Following of the meager clew was started immediately. Chief Dishman sent every available man from his department to assist the Sheriff's deputies. The hidden camp was discovered during the afternoon by Loring MacKaye, a Times reporter. MacKaye knew every foot of the country intimately. He followed the back trail to the spot where the girl had last been seen, more than half a mile from where her body was found.

While searching along the road he saw a break in the brush. The spot bore evidence of having been trampled. It was hidden from the road by a clump of elder bushes. MacKaye entered the brush and after following the narrow path a short distance came upon the camp. He stumbled over a sack, and upon investigating found that it contained twelve sticks of dynamite, two having the appearance of being fresh from a store. Two new frying pans were there, also a quantity of tamale husks.

DESERTED HASTILY.

The place looked as if it had been deserted hastily. Sunday night the store of Noble Bros., at Glendale, was robbed. It is believed that the robbers were hidden in the retreat discovered yesterday afternoon. It was on the Glendale road, and an ideal place, so far as secrecy was concerned. The remnants of a torn check on the Broadway Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles were found, also two check stubs, upon which had been scribbled, in a very shaky hand, "Joseph Nazarene."

The camp is in a direct line with the place where the body was found, and intercepts the road midway between Vent No. 1 and the spot where the little girl was last seen.

M. Bumister, a teamster in the employ of A. Moore, who lives near Tropico, was the last person to see the little girl. Bumister had delivered a load of hay at Ivanhoe, and was returning along the Los Feliz road. He noticed Anna Poltera at the spot where the road turns into the valley, half a mile from Vent No. 1. He stated yesterday afternoon that he noticed a Mexican walking a short distance ahead of the girl at the time.

TRAMP SUSPECTED.

The Mexican was evidently a tramp, roughly dressed, and carried a small bundle done up in a bandana handkerchief. From time to time he looked back toward the girl. He is described as being of medium height and build, and had a small black mustache.

The possibility of a negro having been implicated in the crime has not been overlooked, and a list of teamsters who have worked near the park during the past few days has been secured, and is under investigation.

Mrs. Chapman, a ranch woman of the vicinity, gave another possible clew. She told the officers that on Wednesday evening she was walking along the Los Feliz road, near the place where the little girl's body was found. A white boy about 19 years of age jumped from the brush at the side of the road and attempted to seize her. A wagon came into sight farther down the road, and the boy turned and fled.

Officers and ranchers today will search every foot of brush on both sides of the road along the entire course from the school to Vent No. 1, in search of the spot where the assault was committed.

The Poltera girl carried a little brown lunch box and some school books at the time of her disappearance, and these are eagerly sought.

COAST RECORD INTACT.

L. B. Harvey of San Francisco, in a Rambler Roadster, Again Fails to Break Road Record.

L. B. Harvey of San Francisco, tried to break the Los Angeles-San Francisco automobile road record yesterday but failed. A broken spring forced him to give up the run at San Luis Obispo after he had passed the worst parts of the road.

While crossing the San Marcos grade in one of the most dangerous spots on the course the Rambler dropped into a deep rut and the spring snapped. In spite of this handicap Harvey kept on to San Luis Obispo arriving there at 12:45 o'clock where the run was abandoned.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning Harvey left The Times Office for his run up the coast. He had planned a sixteen hour schedule. He wanted to break the record of Fernando Nelson in the White steamer, which made the run in 17 hours and 17 minutes.

Harvey says he will keep on trying until he lowers the mark. He is confident that he can make the run in sixteen hours or less.

THIRD OPERATION PREVENTED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was so sick that two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation. I had already had two operations, and they wanted me to go through a third one. I suffered day and night from inflammation and a small tumor, and never thought of seeing a well day again. A friend told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, and I tried it, and after the third bottle was cured."—Mrs. Alvena Sperling, 11 Langdon Street, Chicago, Ill.

If you are ill do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until an operation is necessary, but build up the feminine system, and remove the cause of those distressing aches and pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

ible entry—they got away as gracefully as they could. Later it was decided that a search warrant would be an unsatisfactory affair under the circumstances. They have not given up, and it is probable that the person wanted will be arrested as a vagrant to permit the officers to hold her, temporarily at least.

No further step can be taken in this strange case by the District Attorney until reports are received from the chemists who are making an examination of the contents of the stomach and other organs of the dead woman. While awaiting these reports, other clews are followed, and a mass of so-called corroborative evidence is being collected. If Mrs. Bennett was really poisoned through criminal intent there will be no delay in getting out a warrant for the arrest of the alleged murderer.

H. E. Bennett, the widower, is secretary and treasurer of the H. E. Bennett Company, (incorporated,) doing a real estate and insurance business and handling stocks and bonds, with offices in the O. T. Johnson building. This company, of which L. M. Johnson is president, and J. H. Tipton is vice-president, is still doing business in the same offices, which have not been closed. An asistant janitor in the building was mistaken in his statement Wednesday evening that the offices had been closed for three weeks.

Bennett himself is now living in San Diego, and L. M. Johnson, president of the company, was in communication with him yesterday by long-distance telephone. His address in the southern city is No. 1255 University avenue.

Bennett left San Diego on the Owl for Los Angeles last night, and will arrive here this morning. He announced before starting that he is ready to meet the officers, to answer any questions, to answer any charge, according to a message from the San Diego police.

Anty Drudge Writes a Letter.

My dear niece Dorothy:

Don't be discouraged about your housework. Now that Monday washing, for instance, which you say is such hard work. You have been doing it the old-fashioned hard-rubbing way, you foolish girl. In the future just you use Fels-Naptha according to directions on the wrapper, and it will be more like play than work. Then your week will be started right and everything will go well.

Affectionately,

Anty Drudge.

Wash day used to mean a long day's drudgery with hot fires and steam and nasty smells. Fels-Naptha has changed all that. Fels-Naptha has made wash day as pleasant as any other day, because Fels-Naptha has made washing easy.

More than a million women are washing clothes with Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing. Washday has no terrors for them. And the drudgery of household cleaning is lightened, too, by Fels-Naptha. It whitens floors, brightens paints, brings out the colors in linoleum, takes dirt off varnished surfaces without dulling the varnish, removes grease spots and stains in carpets, rugs and upholstery.

Be sure to follow directions on the Fels-Naptha red and green wrapper.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

EARLEY'S PLAN TO BE FOUGHT.

WATERHOUSE PARTY OBJECTS TO HIS PROPOSAL.

Forces Are at Work to Delay Matter—Strange Coincidence of Dreams. Chicago Banker to Retire from Active Life and Reside in Crown City—Trade Board Candidates.

Office of The Times, No. 75 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, May 21.—M. H. Weight, Victor Marsh, Charles Grimes, Edmund D. Barry, Walter Simons and other prominent leaders of the opposition in the fight for municipal water, all made public yesterday opinions in opposition to Mayor Earley's plan. From statements quoted it is clear the leaders of the Waterhouse party have already held a caucus on Mayor Earley's communication and have decided on a definite line of action. The stand which they will take is that the city should bring a friendly action in the State Supreme Court to settle the question of who owns the water, and wherein the title is vested.

Mayor Earley, when interviewed last night, said: "I do not desire to answer that phase of the question until I have received a response from the committee of twenty-two. I appointed that committee in order to make good the offers of my letter of acceptance. I am strongly opposed to any so-called fight in this matter. What we want is municipal ownership of water, and we want it as soon as it can possibly be obtained. All actions which will tend to hamper the issue or delay it are wrong in purpose. In addressing the leaders of the opposition I have recognized them, doing so with the purpose of asking their assistance, and I do not see how they can very well attempt to block the issue.

"Under the city charter it is necessary to wait one year before bringing another bond election, which means that we have from now until September to prepare for it. I sincerely hope that by that time a proposition will have been formulated which will meet with the favor of the people, and it is only to that end that I have asked these gentlemen to take action in the matter."

It is an admitted fact that forces are at work to delay the next bond issue or the purchase of the plants by the city as long as possible. This is the reason that close friends of Mayor Earley stated yesterday that the attempt to bring the matter of water title before the courts, is simply to block proceedings.

If the Waterhouse faction refuses to accept Mayor Earley's proposition in regard to the committee of five, it is understood the Mayor and the City Council will handle the matter themselves, unassisted.

WILL ASK DAMAGES.

W. Wray Freeman will bring suit for damages against the Pacific Electric Railway Company, for injuries which he and his wife sustained in the wreck of a south-loop car at the corner of Los Robles and California street, Tuesday night.

Freeman stated yesterday that his wife is in a serious nervous condition as a result of the accident. Mrs. Freeman was hurled from the outside front portion of the car through the door into the interior of the car when it jumped the track at the corner, turned over on its side and smashed into a tree and telegraph pole. The tree was broken, which demonstrates the force of the impact and the top of the car was ripped off by heavy guy wires of the pole.

While Mrs. Freeman was able to limp to her home but a short distance from the scene of the accident, she suffered a nervous collapse upon her arrival and her physicians say that it may be weeks before she will be able to leave her bed. Her body, they say, is badly bruised and one of her legs and an arm were severely wrenched. Freeman was cut in several places by flying glass.

"I have been waited upon by adjusters of the railway company," said Freeman, "but I do not care to settle until I know the full extent of my wife's injuries."

COINCIDENCE OF DREAMS.

Miss Naomi Freeman, aged 16 years, daughter of W. Wray Freeman, dreamed Tuesday night that her mother had been killed in an accident. She awoke with a scream, jumped from her bed and rushed into her mother's room to find it empty. A few moments later the young girl was nearly prostrated when her father entered the house, all but carrying Mrs. Freeman in his arms. His face, hands and clothing were smeared with blood and it was some time before the daughter could be persuaded that her mother was not really dead. Freeman asserts that as near as can be estimated, his daughter had the horrible nightmare at the very instant the accident took place.

Coincident with Miss Naomi's dream is the strange fact attested to by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wilhite of No. 103 South Hudson avenue. Their little daughter, Bonnie, aged 7 years, has been a frequent caller at the Freeman home, No. 369 Franklin avenue. Wednesday morning this child came downstairs to breakfast and said to her mother, "Mamma, is Aunty Vie (Mrs. Freeman) dead?"

"Why no, child, what made you think that," answered Mrs. Wilhite.

"'Cause I dreamed last night that Aunty Vie was dead," said little Bonnie.

The facts occasioned much comment among the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman yesterday.

COMING TO PASADENA.

A Chicago financial newspaper states that "Thomas P. Phillips, vice-president of the American Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, and a director and stockholder in a number of banking institutions, is preparing to retire from active life and will reside in Pasadena the greater part of the time. He will resign the vice-presidency of the American Trust and also many of the directorships, but will retain his stock interests in the various banks. He has not been in good health for some time, and while he has not been active in business affairs since he sold the Federal Trust and Savings Bank to the American Trust three years ago, he has retained his executive position. He is president of the Dolese & Shepard Company, president of the First National Bank of Naperville, president of the South Chicago Savings Bank, head of the First National Bank of Amboy, Ill., and a director in the Hinsdale State Bank and the bank at Gary, Ill. He is an owner of 900 shares of stock of the American Trust and Savings Bank, in which institution he is one of the three vice-presidents and a director, though his activity in this bank has been entirely nominal. He had organized the Federal Trust and Savings Bank."

He has purchased a beautiful site and for a home near this city.

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL.

It is understood that J. W. Wood, Frank V. Rider, J. O. McCament, Dr. C. J. Tracey and W. L. Green, directors of the Board of Trade, will refuse to have their names submitted for re-election.

Among the men suggested for positions are Dr. Rudolph Schiffman, Harry Gochegan, George F. Kernaghan, William F. Knight, Frank Long, Ed T. Off, Dr. F. C. E. Mattison. The annual meeting is to be held at the Board of Trade rooms Monday evening.

It is probable some expression of the sentiment of the board in regard to the municipal ownership of water will come from the meeting. In the past the board has always favored the municipal ownership of water and the water plants.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Arnold have returned from Washington, D. C., where Dr. Arnold was with the United States Geographical Survey for six years. He intends to sever his connection with the government. He will reside with his father, Delos Arnold.

J. D. Thompson of Cleveland and J. W. Howard of Williamsport, Pa., yesterday purchased adjoining lots on Oakland avenue, south of California street. Each will build a handsome home.

Tomorrow is to be Redondo day in Pasadena. The Redondo booster special will arrive in the morning.

It was stated at the Burdette residence last night that Mrs. Burdett's recovery would undoubtedly be slow, but that it is believed by her physicians that all danger is passed and that she is on the road to recovery.

Pasadena District Women's Foreign Missionary Society opened a two-day convention yesterday at the Lake-avenue Methodist Church. Last night Rev. Jean F. Loba, who spent some time in India, talked on the condition of women there.

George E. Mallory, in an endeavor to avoid running down a small boy, who turned directly in front of his automobile, was forced drive the big touring car over the sidewalk and into the front of Taylor's grocery store at Colorado street and Marengo avenue, yesterday afternoon. The front of the machine was clogged with mashed fruit and vegetables.

Austin Harris, son of Elijah Harris, who at one time owned the old Harris ranch south of Downey, was sentenced to thirty days in jail yesterday for vagrancy.

BEEBE GETS BIG 'UN.

President of Catalina Light Tackle Club Captures Large White Sea Bass With Three-Six.

AVALON, May 20.—While fishing with three-six tackle at Goat Harbor from the launch Swastica, A. L. Beebe, president of the Catalina Light Tackle Club, caught a white sea bass weighing 46½ pounds. This is the largest fish ever taken upon a six-ounce rod and a six-strand line. For almost one hour after the strike was made the battle waged fast and furious. L. D. Baker, who was Beebe's fishing companion, was also successful in securing a catch large enough to admit him as a member of the Light Tackle Club.

A remarkable fish, locally known as the "angel fish," was caught off Sugar Loaf point today by C. Flecher. The specimen weighed 49 pounds.

The largest black sea bass of the season was captured yesterday at San Clemente Island by Jacob Poundstone of Redlands. The monster weighed 178 pounds and was brought to gaff in one hour and ten minutes upon the standard nine-nine tackle. Mr. Poundstone has already secured a gold button for a yellow tail caught last season, and unless this record is beaten by a more fortunate angler, he stands a fair chance of getting the gold medallion for the largest fish taken.

F. J. Clifford, formerly of Los Angeles, has been elected Chief of Police.

Guests at the Metropole include Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Skinner of Chicago, Dr. S. F. Jones of New York City, Dr. F. W. Kinney of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Philip van Ingen of Brooklyn and Mrs. McCulln and party in Philadelphia.

Improvements are taking place designed to make this port one of the foremost resorts on the Pacific Coast. The committee appointed by the people is showing much energy. Within the next few days the new wharf which will be used for fishing and boating will be completed. Floats are to be placed on the south side of the pier to cater to the row-boat participants.

The amphitheater at the foot of the incline railway has been remodeled and seating capacity made for over 4000 persons. Roads to Pebble Beach and to Banning's Beach will be repaired, and seats placed at intervals along the trails. Sixteen men are working upon the structure of the new bathhouse.

REDONDO BEACH.

REDONDO BEACH, May 20.—The annual picnic of the High Court of Southern California of the Independent Order of Foresters will be held here Saturday, August 28.

LONG BEACH.

TWICE FOILED BY SCHOOLGIRL.

ANGELENO TRIES TO KIDNAP HIS DAUGHTER.

Watchful Playmate Frustrates Two Attempts—If Local Capital Can Be Secured Steamer Will Be Built to Run to San Francisco—Pacific Electric Seeks Franchise.

LONG BEACH, May 20.—Howard Metcalf's attempt to kidnap his daughter, aged 7 years, from the Carroll Park school grounds, was frustrated today by the watchfulness of Esther Hess, 13 years old, with whose parents the little girl is living.

Metcalf and his wife both live in Los Angeles, but separated sometime ago, and the mother was given custody of the child by the court. She is in business in Los Angeles and brought her child here to attend school, placing her in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Hess. Metcalf, in the hope that possession of the child would give him back his wife, has made two or three previous attempts to kidnap the child from the Hess home, but failed.

Today he came down from Los Angeles and going to Carroll Park school hid behind a tree across the street until school was out, when he walked out and beckoned to his daughter to come to him. The little one started toward him when the Hess child ran in front of her and persuaded her not to go. In the evening Metcalf was again waiting some distance from the school, and attempted to get his daughter, but she ran from him, the Hess girl following behind and keeping between the girl and her father. The matter has been reported to the police.

PROPOSED STEAMER.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning it will be announced that a subscription of $35,000 by Long Beach men is all that is needed to insure the construction of a big steamship to run from Long Beach. A San Francisco concern has agreed to subscribe $100,000; eastern friends of John F. Craig have promised $25,000 and a loan of $40,000 can be floated. The cost of the ship will be ordinarily $250,000, but President Craig says if begun now it can be constructed for $50,000 less.

AGAIN DELAYED.

In order not to destroy the work already accomplished the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company will dredge the harbor entrance in two sections. The first will be 300 feet wide and 10 feet deep, and the second 500 feet wide and 20 feet deep, and will be carried through to the ocean. The extra work will delay the opening of the ocean entrance thirty days.

Understanding that the Pacific Electric Company will on Monday ask the Supervisors for a franchise out Seventh street in this locality, residents of that territory are signing petitions urging that the Supervisors safeguard them in the franchise by providing that the road must be started in six months and be running within three years and that in case the territory becomes annexed to Long Beach a five-cent fare will be operative. The proposed franchise extends from the city limits at Alamitos Avenue to a junction with the Redondo-avenue line.

AZUSA, May 20.—The funeral of P. C. Daniels was held this morning at 10 o'clock, after a service at the family residence on Centre street, conducted by Rev. Charles F. Richardson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Daniels was a member. The remains were interred at Oakdale Cemetery. Music was furnished by Mrs. Roche, Miss Brunges, Messrs. W. A. Sheldon and George Fuhr.

The pallbearers were: Mayor Greever, W. R. Powell, president of the First National Bank; Dana C. King, Robert Thalter, J. T. Sindley and W. Hendricks.

The floral tributes were numerous and exceedingly beautiful. Among the associations thus represented were the C. E. and Pastor's Aid societies of the Presbyterian Church; the Azusa Woman's Club, the freshman and sophomore classes of the High School, to which the Misses Daniels belong; the stockholders of the Foothill Citrus Association, the First National Bank, the Azusa Valley Savings Bank, of which Mr. Daniels was cashier for fourteen years; all the Fruit Exchanges of Azusa, Glendora and Los Angeles. One of the most beautiful floral pieces was a harp made of heliotrope, sweet peas and Japanese iris, sent by the Japanese employés on the ranches of the Foothill Association, in which Mr. Daniels was a stockholder.

A few of the many relatives and friends of the family who were present were: Mr. Daniels's father and two sisters, from Pasadena; a sister, Mrs. Keek, with her husband and two children, from Riverside; Mrs. Daniels's mother, Mrs. E. E. Hubbard, and sister, Mrs. Charles Rawson of Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Daniels's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Will Tone and Howard Tone of Des Moines; old Iowa friends now living in California were: Dr. and Mrs. Paine of Pasadena, Mrs. McCord of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. Burbank, Judge Groff, Ralph Holmes, Mrs. and Miss Forsythe, all of Los Angeles; Mr. Corer of Long Beach. Representatives of neighboring clubs met with the Azusa Woman's Club for Reciprocity Day, yesterday. The meeting was held in the rooms of the I.O.O.F. building. About eighty ladies sat down to luncheon. The club colors, white and gold, were carried out in the decorations and the refreshments.

The literary programme consisted of an address of welcome by the president, Mrs. W. W. Heth, and responses by visiting presidents, Mrs. Hudson of Alhambra, Miss Hawkes of Covina, Mrs. Davies of Monrovia, Mrs. Foster Elliott of Glendora, and the president of the Irwindale Club; a talk on "Reciprocity" by Mrs. Du Puy of San Pedro, several short readings by Mrs. W. SURROUNDS BUY WITH MYSTERY.

PURCHASE WITH STRING MAKES BEACH PEOPLE WONDER.

Property Deal at Santa Monica Involving Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Leads to Many Rumors. Rancher Whose Leg Was Bruised by Weeder Dies of Blood Poisoning.

SANTA MONICA, May 20.—This city is still very much "in the air" on account of the mystery surrounding the recent purchase of the Hotel Arcadia and adjoining property by Carl F. Schader. While admitting the purchase, he says there is a "string" on it, and he has not taken the beach into his confidence and stated to what uses the property is to be put. Since closing the deals he has incorporated the Schader Seaside Terrace Company, but even this lends but slight clue to his intents and purposes. The property involved aggregates at the least calculation, $200,000, and the proposed development must contemplate the expenditure of a large sum. Rumor has it that the Hook Traction people are in on the deal and will erect a hotel and bathhouse and make terminal grounds for a rival trolley line between Los Angeles and the sea. Another rumor is to the effect that the Southern Pacific has acquired the Rindge road up the coast, the Huenneme, Malibu and Port Los Angeles line, and will operate a hotel and bathhouse in connection with the projected new coast line terminal and the Los Angeles-Pacific trolley line. But beyond the fact of the purchase of the property nothing is known. Mr. Schader says he is not yet ready to talk, but promises to act when the time comes. In the meanwhile, the city is on the tiptoe of expectancy.

BRUISE PROVES DEADLY.

Alonzo Whitaker, former street superintendent of Santa Monica, but during latter years a successful lima bean grower, died this morning at his home ranch just outside the Santa Monica city limits on the southeast. Death resulted from blood poisoning, he having two weeks ago bruised his leg while operating a weeder at the ranch. At first the injury seemed of no consequence, but a week later it began to cause considerable pain and a physician was called. Deceased was 53 years of age, and a native of Bloomfield, Ind. He had been a resident of Southern California for a quarter of a century. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Alice, who has been attending college at Pomona.

Santa Monica is to have daily band concerts during the three summer months, popular subscription having provided a fund sufficient to warrant the engagement of Francisco Gregoire's Italian band. The bandstand will be erected in Linda Vista Park.

Bert Russell and James Forney of the Santa Monica baseball team have signed with Covina, and Garcia and Saenz will play during the summer season with Los Angeles amateur nines.

GETS PERMIT.

J. Argyle has been granted a permit for the erection of a $1600 cottage, on Third street, and G. D. Reed has commenced work on a $1000 bungalow on Eighteenth street.

This was kindergarten evening with the police department. While Chief of Police Barretto was busy inquiring into the case of Cruces Escalante, an incorrigible, the police officers arrested Carl Mason and James Kennard while they were fishing with a stolen line and pole. They escaped a week ago from the Detention Home and spent their outing at the beach, sleeping under the broad boardwalk. Just as the trio were being taken to Los Angeles a search was instituted for two other lads who are charged with having made an attempt to burglarize a bicycle store.

ILLINOIS REUNION.

Arrangements for Annual Gathering Which Is to Be Held at Playa del Rey.

A meeting in the interest of arrangements for the annual picnic of the Illinois Association, at Playa del Rey, on the 29th inst., was held last evening at Easton's Hall at West Sixteenth street and Arlington avenue.

Advance sales of 1500 Illinois buttons were reported and President Barrere prophesied an attendance of 5000 at the picnic. An offer of Mrs. Phoebe Kreider Murray to sing pieces written in honor of Illinois was accepted. One of these pieces was written by Ira C. Tichenor of Los Angeles.

The programme for the day of the reunion is to include speeches and athletic sports. Among the speakers announced are Deputy Dist.-Atty. Blair, Hon. J. W. Cochran and G. H. Moore.

POMONA.

POMONA, May 20.—The remains of the late Mrs. M. E. Bond who died at Sawtelle on Tuesday evening, were brought to Pomona this morning and the funeral was held this afternoon at Patterson's chapel, Rev. Mr. Fisher of Riverside officiating.

M. K. Metz has sold his house and lot on North Gordon street to E. C. Clark of North Park avenue for $3300, through the agency of M. A. Wimberley. Mr. Clark will occupy the property as a home.

Miss Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smith of North San Antonio avenue, has arrived home from Mills College for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Ella M. Schureman of Cucamonga avenue, has gone to Los Angeles to visit Mrs. Helen Louis Brown, formerly a student at Pomona College.

MADE NERVOUS WRECK BY STOMACH TROUBLE

Iowa Man's Case Has a Parallel In Every Community.

With a theory that human health is dependent upon the stomach, and with a medicine which he says proves this theory, L. T. Cooper, who recently spent a month or more in Los Angeles, introducing his remedies at the Owl Drug Store, 625 South Broadway, has built up an immense following during the past two years.

Cooper has visited most of the leading cities of the country, and in each city has aroused a storm of discussion about his beliefs and his medicines. Wherever he has gone, people have called upon him by thousands, and his preparation has sold in immense quantities.

The sale of this medicine has now spread over the entire country, and is growing enormously each day. In view of this, the following statement from one of his many followers is of general interest.

Mr. George Hyde, for the past 20 years a respected resident of Maquoketa, Iowa, says: "After years of suffering from chronic stomach trouble, and trying nearly every known remedy as well as treating with some of the best physicians in the country, I found myself a nervous wreck. My appetite was gone and the little I could eat distressed me. I could not get a sound night's sleep and arose in the morning feeling tired and worn out. I was greatly weakened and badly run down. My failure to secure relief after diligent search discouraged me, and I began to feel that there was little hope of ever again enjoying good health.

"Some time ago, however, I became interested in some newspaper articles dealing with the ideas and beliefs of L. T. Cooper. His theory that the stomach is responsible for the state of one's health, either good or bad, impressed me as being logical. He claimed that no one could enjoy good health with a bad stomach; likewise, no one could be ill with a stomach in good condition. His further claim that his New Discovery preparation would restore the stomach to normal, induced me to give it a trial.

"I went to my druggist and bought a bottle. It proved helpful from the first dose. I continued the treatment, and improved rapidly. Four bottles made me well. I am sixty years of age, and today feel younger and enjoy better health than in the past ten years. I owe it all to Cooper's New Discovery, which I consider a remarkable preparation."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold in Los Angeles at the Owl Drug Store.

CURIOUS.

LARGE SUM INVOLVED IN SUIT OVER WILL.

Action Will Determine Share of Anaheim People in Three-Quarters of a Million Which Boston Woman Didn't Know She Left.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ANAHEIM, May 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Boston dispatch received tonight states that on Monday next the contest over the disposition of the estate of the late Mrs. Caroline M. Barnard will begin, and on the outcome depends the size of the share of the $750,000 left by Mrs. Barnard that will go to Rev. Searle M. Wrenn and his wife, Mrs. Minnie Wrenn, of Anaheim.

Mrs. Barnard was 81 years old, and the will was dated July 6, 1907, with a codicil dated June 5, 1908, less than two months before she died. By the terms of the will Rev. and Mrs. Wrenn are given $2500 each, but it would appear that the aged woman was not aware of the extent of her fortune.

Although the estate is valued at fully $750,000, she did not dispose of more than one-fourth of it and the document contains a clause to the effect that if there is not enough to carry out the bequests that the legacies be abated pro rata.

MISFORTUNE.

JAILER SPENDS NIGHT OF WOE.

WANDERS IN MOUNTAINS AND FALLS OVER BLUFF.

Helpless from Injuries, San Bernardino Man Suffers Additionally from Exposure to the Night Air. Highland Man Suddenly Departs, Presumably to Oklahoma.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 20.—Jesse H. Case, former county jailer, wandered all night among the mountains, fell over a bluff to the bed of Mentone Creek, and was found this forenoon by employés of the Mentone Power Company helpless from his injuries and weak from exposure to the night air.

For a number of weeks Case has been an invalid, and has furnished several sensations in the neighborhood of his home. Mrs. Case and her little son went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Cram at East Highland, several days ago, and yesterday evening Case took the 6:40 Santa Fé loop train, intending to visit her.

He alighted at Mentone, and at once lost his bearings. The power people brought him to the county jail, from which he was removed to the home of relatives on a cot. Mrs. Case left this afternoon for Riverside.

JOHN KNOTT ABSENT.

Highland folks are exercised over the fact that John Knott, an aged resident, has not been seen here since Saturday. It is presumed that he suddenly conceived the idea of returning to his former home in Oklahoma.

Saturday morning Knott was talking with a youth who had planned to leave on the following day for Oklahoma. Suddenly he exclaimed: "If I could catch a train I would go too." The youth informed him that he could catch a train if he hustled. Soon afterward the old man was missed. He had money in the bank and has made a number of loans to ranchers.

GET THE REWARD.

The police of this city ran the gauntlet to Fort Rosecrans today with a deserter named Hanna, who the police of San Diego were determined to return to the fort. The police of both cities were inspired by a prize of $56, which the government pays for returned deserters. A San Diego officer arrived here today after Hanna, and wanted to arrest him on a charge of forgery. A local officer spirited Hanna aboard the train. The San Diego man wired his superiors to seize the prisoner when he arrived at San Diego. The local officer was apprised by wire of the intention and left the train with his man at Old Town, driving posthaste to the fort, completely outwitting the San Diego police.

CONTEST.

TO FIGHT FOR LARGE ESTATE.

SANTA ANA PEOPLE WILL TRY TO SHATTER WILL.

Property at Stake Is Situated at Freeport, Ill.—Man Who Escaped from Deputy Sheriff on Way to San Quentin Is Captured at Arroyo Grande.

SANTA ANA, May 20.—F. G. Taylor of this city and Miss Louise Taylor of Freeport, Ill., are to make a fight in the courts of Illinois for a share of the $200,000 estate left by their brother, John B. Taylor, who died recently. Until the will was filed for probate less than a week ago, relatives believed the estate would be distributed among them. It, however, left practically the entire estate to two Roman Catholic institutions, St. Francis' Hospital and St. Vincent's Orphanage of Freeport. During his lifetime, John B. Taylor often stated that he would leave to his namesake, John Taylor, son of F. G. Taylor, of this city, the title to Taylor Park, a small but valuable domain at Freeport, and he stated to his sister, Miss Louise Taylor, who cared for him at her home, that she would receive a large share of his estate. The will provides a life annuity of $1500 for her. The relatives are much surprised at the provisions of the will, for at no time did Taylor profess a leaning toward the Roman Catholic faith.

F. G. Taylor is senior member of the well-known local cannery firm, J. E. Taylor & Co.

CONVICT CAPTURED.

Clyde H. Taylor, who escaped from Deputy Sheriff Jackson on May 8 on the road toward San Quentin, was captured yesterday at Arroyo Grande by Constable Haskins of that place. Deputy Sheriff Lacy went north today to take Taylor to prison. Haskins gets a reward of $50 from Sheriff Lacy of this county. Taylor was sentenced to three years for stealing an automobile, and escaped four miles beyond San Luis Obispo. He was caught eighteen miles from the place. He got away by jumping from a train.

OFFER REWARD.

The Supervisors, yesterday, offered $100 reward for the arrest and detention in any jail in the United States of Jacinto Garcia, charged with murdering Reyes Molino, and a similar reward for Leodora Garcia, charged with attempting to kill Louis Mango. Following a row on April 25, Leodora Garcia fired a shot into Mango and fled, and Jacinto Garcia battered Molino's head to a pulp and left his body across a Santa Fé rail.

INTO THE DITCH.

Two of the four horses that E. J. Levengood is training to enter the chariot races at the next Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, dived off a road near Talbert into a deep, muddy drainage ditch, taking with them their driver, E. J. Mallory, and the cart to which they were hitched. The horses are high spirited, and easily frightened. They saw a cow lying in the road ahead of them. Like a flash they whirled, and saw bearing down upon them a new foe in the shape of an automobile. The team took a course over the tops of the tules into the ditch. The occupants of the automobile helped Mallory and his team out of the mud.

MERCHANTS' EXCURSION.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association will go on an excursion to San Diego on June 9. This will be the association's second excursion, the first being to Corona, Riverside, San Bernardino and Redlands.

At a meeting of the association last night a committee was appointed to petition the Supervisors to put a big clock in the tower of the Court House.

SAN DIEGO, May 20.—C. B. Richards, philanthropist of this city, has great respect for the sailors and soldiers who fought to preserve the Union. In a communication to the City Council he declares that no roadway shall be cut through a tract of land he is holding in trust as a site for a home for the veterans. He also notifies the Council that if the intention to so cut up the tract is carried out the residents of the city of San Diego will be defendants in a damage suit involving $500,000, and that he, as trustee for the ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, will be the plaintiff.

Recently the City Council instituted condemnation proceedings to open a street that is being constructed from Ocean Beach to La Jolla. Richards owns a strip of land which is included. He now declares that unless the suit is dismissed at once, San Diego will not only face the threatened damages, but will be denied the benefits of a large sum intended for the proposed home, which he says will go to Los Angeles.

REVENUE CUTTER HERE.

For the purpose of detecting attempts to smuggle Chinese into this country from Mexico, the United States revenue cutter McCulloch is here for an extended stay, according to the commanding officer. Reports of the safe arrival of contraband Chinese in small fishing boats that ply up and down the Mexican coast caused the immigration officials to appeal for help. The result was the sending of the cutter, which will patrol this section of the coast for the next few months.

ANGELENOS WED.

Adolf W. Salzman and Miss Anna M. Holmquist, a Los Angeles couple, were last night married by Rev. W. E. Crabtree. The groom is a native of Germany and is engaged in business in Los Angeles. His bride is a native of Sweden. They will remain here several days visiting friends.

BROUGHT BACK.

F. J. Harris and E. B. Miller were brought here today from San Bernardino by Detective Warren. The men until recently were residents of this city. They took flight because of pursuit by the officers for alleged forgery. Miller passed a check, it is asserted, on a saloon keeper for $24, while Harris secured $7 from a clothier. Both checks bore the name of a local candy firm, said to be forged.

BARROW CHOSEN.

Lucius R. Barrow, foreman of a local printing office, was yesterday elected delegate to the annual convention of the International Typographical Union of America to be held at St. Joseph, Mo., in August. He defeated Eugene Fisher by seven votes.

NOVEL SCHEME.

For the purpose of keeping track of the number of places licensed to sell liquor the City Attorney is preparing an ordinance requiring all wholesale liquor houses, breweries and wineries to furnish the City Council monthly with a list of their customers. This is supposed to be the best method of dealing with so-called "temperance" saloons and "blind pigs."

NEAR-CENTENARIAN DIES.

Oldest Woman in Ventura County Passes Away—District Attorney Weds at Santa Paula.

VENTURA, May 20.—Concepcion Dominguez, the oldest woman in Ventura county, died here this morning. She was born in Santa Barbara in 1811, and in that pueblo seventy years ago was married to Emigdio Ortega, a scion of one of the oldest Spanish families in the State. The couple came to live in Ventura fifty-three years ago, residing in the old Ortega homestead at the foot of Main street, and in all that time Mrs. Ortega was only out of this town once. Some ten years ago she went to live with a daughter at San Fernando, but, not liking that place, came back at once to Ventura. She leaves nine children living, and thirty grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Dist.-Atty. Bowker was married at Santa Paula today to Ruth E. Blanchard. The wedding was very quiet. Mr. and Mrs. Bowker have gone to Yosemite for their wedding tour.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

Escondido Minister, Formerly of Glendale, Withdraws in Order to Engage in Business.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ESCONDIDO, May 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The suddenness with which Rev. C. S. Fackenthal terminated his pastorate at Trinity Episcopal Church, today, occasioned considerable surprise.

Agreeable to a notice from the pulpit by the rector, on Sunday, the parishionrs assembled this morning at the Church of the Ascension and to their surprise no priest was there to officiate. It was explained by Mr. Fackenthal, who stood in the portico of the church, the doors of which were not opened, that he was no longer rector, in fact was no longer a priest. He added that while in San Diego, yesterday, he wrote Bishop Johnson, renouncing his priestly orders. He considered that his connection with the ministry of the Episcopal church terminated with the writing of the notification.

Mr. Fackenthal states that his withdrawal from the ministry in which he was engaged for over twenty-five years, is because he wishes to engage in business; in fact he has been doing considerable business on the side for sometime and he considers that he should no longer continue in the office of priest.

Less than three months ago Mr. Fackenthal succeeded Rev. W. E. Mason as rector of the Trinity Church. He has been on the coast in active Epescopal work over twenty years. His family is at Pacific Grove, but his last pastorate was at Glendale.

Mr. Fackenthal will engage in mining and other lines of business.

TUNNEL BOOST.

is one of the worst in the city, and it often is made by autoists to prove the merits of their machines.

STRAIGHT LINE FOR CARS.

West First street cars climb Second to Olive street, run north to First thence west, unable with safety to negotiate the stretch on Second between Olive and Hope.

Belt Line cars, which start at First street and Broadway, run west on First to Hill, south to Fifth, around Central Park on Fifth and Olive to Sixth and Figueroa, turning north on that street to Third, thence west, making this wide detour to avoid the Second—and First-street hills. With a tunnel through Second street they, with those of the West First and other lines, probably would use that outlet to the west.

For teams and automobiles, the route into the San Fernando Valley and to the west and northwest parts of the city would be through the Second-street tunnel to Figueroa street, thence without grade to Lake Shore avenue, which is a practically level thoroughfare past Temple street, Echo Park and Sunset boulevard to Edendale and onto the river bed beyond which leads into the San Fernando country. The Glendale and Edendale cars now travel this route.

EASIER WAY TO CENTER.

South and west from the western portal of the tunnel a great section of the city would be furnished with easy access to the city's center, and, if provision were made for car tracks in the tunnel, much of the trolley congestion in the business district would be relieved.

It is believed that a tunnel under Second street would cost less than that at Third street, which was bored nearly ten years ago. Methods of shoving great holes through hills have been greatly improved since that one was dug, and the cost of the work has been lessened materially.

Tonight's meeting is expected to bring out many new ideas in connection with the subject.

LITTLE FOREST IN QUARANTINE.

INSPECTORS NAB SHIPMENT OF TREES FROM JAPAN.

Thousands of Citrus and Other Varieties Consigned to Local Nurseryman Must Be Thoroughly Disinfected Before Delivery, Commissioners Fearing Spread of Pests.

Held in quarantine on Ducommun street, near the Santa Fé tracks, is the largest shipment of young trees ever sent here from Japan. Examination by the County Horticultural Commission shows that they are a menace to the orange industry of Southern California unless the diseases with which they are asserted to be infected can be eradicated.

Yesterday Horticultural Inspector Geary, one of the oldest and most experienced men in the service, stood guard over the shipment all day. He did not even leave for a meal until City Inspector Desmond relieved him.

These young trees fill twenty-five great packing crates and were shipped by the Tokio Plant, Seed and Implement Company, of Tokio. They arrived in San Francisco last week, and when their condition was noticed in that city, word was sent to the Board of Horticultural Commissioners here, with the result that an inspector was on watch for them at the railroad yards when the embryo forest arrived.

The shipment is consigned to Y. Hiral, a Japanese nurseryman near this city. There are over 4000 citrus trees, and about 2000 young pine and cedar trees peculiar to Japan. The shipment is valued at several thousand dollars.

Last evening Inspectors Geary and Desmond tore open the crates, fixed a fumigating tent over the trees, and gave them a double dose of cyanide fumes.

"It will be kill or cure with them," remarked Geary.

The Horticultural Commissioners intend to take no chances of an infection of the local orange orchards with some foreign disease through these trees.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE RESIGNS.

Action Is Said to Portend Bitter Fight Against Superintendent. Murder Trial.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bitter fight against the reappointment of H. A. Adrian as City Superintendent of Schools, broke tonight, when Trustee Poole resigned and Dr. George A. White was appointed to succeed him. The withdrawal of Poole follows a secret hearing held by the School Board last Saturday.

Members of the School Board intimate that the enmity against Adrian is occasioned by his refusal to make places in local schools for friends or relatives of some who oppose him.

Dr. White is known as an aggressive man and is leader of the anti-Adrian party. Trouble in the School Board may be expected. Adrian has been superintendent six years.

TRIAL NEARS END.

Joseph Fornaco's trial in connection with the killing of Alexander Bonetti several months ago, will end about noon tomorrow. All the testimony on both sides is in and argument and the judge's charge were held for tomorrow morning.

BANKER APPEALS.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Oral arguments in the appeal of John R. Walsh from the decision sentencing him to five years imprisonment for alleged misapplication of the funds of the Chicago National Bank, were heard in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today.

BULL MOVEMENT ENDS ABRUPTLY.

REACTION IN MARKET ITS APPARENT EXHAUSTION.

Morning Trading on Wall Street Exchange Shows Signs of Animation and Great Strength, Prices of Many Favorite Speculative Issues Rising to Record Figures.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 20.—The reaction in the stock market today had no other explanation than the seeming exhaustion of the powerful upward movement.

The opening dealings showed animation and great strength, prices of some of the favorite speculative issues rising to record figures.

United States Steel had never sold at 40 before nor had Southern Pacific ever sold at 120 until today. Reading's rise to 159 3-4 placed it at the highest price since January of 1906, and Union Pacific got back to the highest level of the present year.

But prices for the year were touched, in fact, by a number of important stocks. The last is the prosperous course of the market under the selling action upon which dividends was announced, although Mr. Harriman stood before entering the board room that the votes would probably be unchanged. Even with the Harriman stocks, however, was no greater than that of Chesapeake & Ohio after the declaration of the one per cent quarterly dividend.

But the market has been advanced many times on current rumors that this action was imminent, but it ran off today with the fulfillment of the prediction. The like movement in the two cases with contrasting influence in addition showed plainly that another cause was at work. The selling of United States Steel was described as a signal for profit taking on a large scale.

Other rises in prices at the local metal exchanges and the Chicago Board of Trade. Recognized authorities gave flattering accounts of winter wheat during the last week, and of the high satisfactory progress of the spring wheat, showing, and of the early sowing of the grain. There was some interest in supposing that large orders in the market yesterday and early today were despatched by Harriman agents, and that the sudden stock caused by the sudden death yesterday of H. H. Rogers. These supporting orders have been withdrawn with the demonstration of the fact that they were not needed to protect the market on that account.

London's purchases of stocks here and further engagements of gold for shipment to Argentina had no marked effect on the foreign exchange market. Time money rates were still inclined to yield.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value $1,637,000. United States 4's registered declined 1-4 per cent. on call.

PLAN FIGHT ON WHITE PLAGUE.

Arizona Medical Association Meets in Prescott.

Former County Treasurer to Serve Sentence.

Believe Mexicans Tortured Chinese Merchant.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 19.—In Prescott this morning the eighteenth annual session of the Arizona Medical Association convened. The meeting was held at the Yavapai Club rooms. Mayor Goldwater welcomed the delegates, response being made by Dr. J. W. Thomas of Phoenix. Among the lecturers are Dr. W. J. Barlow of Los Angeles, Dr. R. L. Cunningham of the Barlow Sanatorium, Los Angeles, and Dr. Stanley Stillman, professor of surgery in the Cooper Medical College of San Francisco.

Especial attention will be paid to discussion of tuberculosis, and the matter is to be considered also at a public meeting to be held tomorrow evening at the High School. Gov. Sloan will then preside. Drs. Barlow and Cunningham will speak on the necessity for organization in the fight against the white plague, Dr. J. W. Foss of Phoenix will describe the conditions attending the study of the disease in Arizona, and Rev. J. E. Crutchfield, presiding elder of the Methodist Church South, will define his ideas of the duty of the churches in the fight against tuberculosis.

J. P. Storm, former Treasurer of Yavapai county, must serve a sentence imposed upon him of four years in the Territorial prison for embezzlement of $13,000 of the county's money. The crime was committed in November, 1904, but execution of the sentence has been delayed.

Storm has been at liberty under $7500 bonds, and now is understood to be prospecting in the vicinity of Bouse. He has many friends in the county who believe his story that he had been surprised by robbers, who looted the treasury and then locked him within the vault, tied with lailing wire. But it was shown at the several trials that the defendant had been over-free in his use of the public money and that he had been short in his cash at several times before the date of the alleged robbery.

TORTURE MERCHANT.

At Jerome last Sunday, Jim Lung, a Chinese merchant, was beaten to death and his place of business fired in an attempt to cover up evidence of the crime. The fire was extinguished, however, soon after it had been started. The body of the Chinaman was found under some bed clothing with all evidences of brutal assassination. Four Mexicans have been arrested, suspected of the crime. The murdered Chinaman was prosperous in business, and was held in the highest respect. It is believed that the murderers tortured him in their efforts to find hidden money.

Ranger William A. Olds has written from Cananea, Mexico, denying that he ever offered to find the body of E. P. Swartz at Williams if a suitable reward were offered, and will return, if such action is deemed advisable, to assist in hunting down the murderers.

The Arizona Overland Telephone Company, lately organized at Prescott, already controls 200 miles of wire and is preparing to extend its long-distance lines at a cost of at least $250,000. Permission has been secured from the government for the running of several of these lines over the forest reserves.

It is expected very soon communication will be had between Prescott, Kingman, Seligman, Ash Fork, Williams, Flagstaff, Jerome and the Verde valley. No attempt will be made at the present time to establish any local telephone system in this city. W. H. Thorpe, the general manager, already is making arrangements for the erection of a large brick building in Prescott, to house the general offices of the corporation.

Liquor dealers of Williams are making a strong protest against a proposition to raise their city license from $15 to $25 a quarter. In proportion to its size, Williams has more saloons than any other town in the Territory.

J. B. Girand, Territorial Superintendent of Roads, states that he will have a highway constructed from the Grand Cañon into Southern Arizona within the next two years. He is now preparing a new map showing all the roads in Arizona.

Fred Harvey of the hotel system of the Santa Fé states that preparations are being made to build a new trail into the Grand Cañon six miles west of El Tovar Hotel.

A MEDICAL WARNING.

The author of "Confessio Medici" Draws Indictment of Christian Science.

The Argonaut, San Francisco, publishes a full review of a recent medical work called: "Faith and Works of Christian Science," by the author of "Confessio Medici," published by the Macmillan Company, New York. The Times republishes this article, giving "the other side:"

We have not yet forgotten "Confessio Medici," that volume of delightful medical essays that proved their author to be not only a wise physician, but a gentle and humane philosopher, as well versed in the arts of kindness as in the lore of the schools. It is said that "Confessio Medici" was written by Dr. James Paget, and the statement is at least consonant with a reputation that will not suffer from his present assault upon "The Faith and Works of Christian Science."

It is indeed time that some one of understanding should speak out with no uncertain voice. Here we have a physician of wide experience and of general philanthropy, a scientist of broad sympathies who is well abreast of his times in the best that those times have produced, one who recognizes gratefully the benefits of mental therapeutics, and who yet condemns Christian Science, not in obedience to professional prejudice, but after an elaborate research into its fruits. Nothing is more evident in his book than the conscientious care with which it is compiled, nothing more obvious than his desire to render credit where credit is due and to avoid alike the suggestion of the false and the suppression of the true. It is impossible to read what he says without a new recognition of an imposture that in its cruelty, in its destruction of heart and conscience, exceeds all other impostures and infamies of its day.

But it is not only as a physician that the author makes his appeal to the sanity of civilization. The philosophic student who may be enamored momentarily by theories that, whenever plausible, are always stolen and distorted in these pages. The religionist will find still more. He will find here some reasons for a protest already strangely belated against a terminology and an interpretation which, as the author well says, produce a feeling of physical nausea. He may even be brought face to face with the fact that Christian Science is not merely an eccentric heresy, a weird and twisted graft upon the original stem, but a negation of Christianity itself, and that to the desecration of the body it joins the starvation of the heart, and of the sentiments and emotions that make life tolerable. Its God is the "God of Being Supremely Comfortable," and it seeks its God not in pity and compassion, but in cruel, contemptuous and neglectful denial of whatever can interfere with its selfish complacency and its Satanic self-righteousness.

A single passage will suffice from that part of the book which deals with the religious aspect of the question. After dealing with the placid comparisons of Mrs. Eddy with Jesus Christ and with the Virgin Mary, the author continues:

But we need not stay over the divine honors claimed or accepted or not refused by the founder of Christian Science. There is an admirable account of them in Lyman Powell's book. What concerns us is the parody, by Christian Science, of the Christian faith. It is not a question of orthodoxy; it is a question of decency. I learn from Lyman Powell that Christian Science, when she talks of the "dual personality" of Christ is reviving the Nestorian heresy; and I do not need his learning to see that her version of the doctrine of the Incarnation is new and feminine. I note, in passing, that she is the word, also the comforter, also the second advent, and the last day; and that she frequently receives honorable mention in the Apocalypse. I note, also, that she does not favor "audible prayer," or the use of prayers for the sick; and that she, who has endlessly revised and expurgated, without sense, without conscience, her divine revelation, says that we, who are not her disciples, worship "a corporeal Jehovah." Let all that, and much else go. Nothing will ever stop Christian Science from disgracing herself in public. But hands off the Lord's Prayer and the Lord's Supper.

Every Sunday, in every Church of Christ, Scientist, her version of the Lord's Prayer is read aloud, sentence by sentence, with that version which we owe to the mistaken views entertained, by Jesus, of Deity. The audience, with one of the readers, recites the Christian version; and the other reader recites the version which Mrs. Eddy understands "to be the spiritual sense of the Lord's Prayer." The alternating sentences produce a well-marked, almost physical, nausea, as if one had got suddenly into foul air. The difficulty is to sit still; to resist the longing to get away, out into the street, the sound of traffic, the sight of the sky. But I am not sure which is the worse, her parody of the Lord's Prayer, or her parody of the Lord's Supper.

The Lord's Prayer is given us with the Eddy interpretations. Perhaps one line will be enough to justify the author in the use of the word nausea. Here it is:

Our Father which art in heaven.
Our Father-Mother God, all harmonious.

Passing now to the medical aspects of the question, we find at once a thoroughness of investigation, an undeviating fair play, and a trenchancy of judgment that ought to be conclusive. Two hundred "testimonies of healing" are reproduced from the columns of the Christian Science Sentinel. They are not seectied to buttress a theory, but they are taken as they were recorded between April and August, 1908. There is no need to give examples, because their preciae parallels can be found in any patent medicine advertisement. They are all there in their delightful vagueness or in their disgusting precision. There is the lady with the "sense of fatigue," and there is the other lady—we all know her—with the "heart, stomach and nervous trouble." Then there is "Mrs. K.," who was "haunted with the fear of hereditary insanity," and who has been unaccountably healed of his fear. The whole garrulous tribe of the afflicted are represented in these 200 cases. They have "severe pains in the head," and "fevers," and "coughs," and "aches," and "complications," and "conditions," and other things that may be left unnamed. They remind us so much of the good lady next door or over the way who is so distressingly anxious to tell us all the repulsive medical happenings to her family for three generations back. Next to the possession of horrid symptoms, there is no such pleasure as in the telling of them. Here is a part of the author's judgment on the cases of these two hundred:

Anyhow, the vast majority of these testimonies are not worth the paper on which they are printed. What are kidney trouble, lung trouble, heart trouble, liver trouble, and eye trouble? They are not chronic nephritis, phthisis, valvular disease, cirrhosis, and cataract. Bowel trouble is ordinary constipation; stomach trouble is ordinary indigestion and aversion from food; spinal trouble is ordinary backache. These are not testimonies, but testimonials; every advertisement of a new quack medicine publishes the like of them. We all know Mr. A and Mrs. B and Miss C., who bear witness to So-and-So's Pills. They had spinal trouble and kidney trouble. There is a rough sketch of them, doubled up with pain, or weeping at the family teatable. And it is certain that the pills did them good.

Again, many of these witnesses are not telling the truth. They are so excitable, so ill-educated, but they fail to distinguish truth from falsehood. They have given false evidence, have prejured themselves, not willfully, but from sheer inability to be accurate.

Again, we all know that no statement is more inaccurate than the average statement of "what the doctor said." We listen with politeness to it, but without acceptance; we think to ourselves, I wish I knew what he really did say.

Again, what is the good of proclaiming that Christian Science heals diseases which get well of themselves? Time heals them. Here is a girl with a cold in her head; she is healed "through the realization of the omnipresence of Love." Was there ever such an insult offered to the name of Love?

Again, the healing of one "trouble" must not be reckoned as the healings of half-a-dozen troubles. For example a woman is subject to ayerdom from liver trouble, and eye trouble. Christian Science, bidding her eat more, amends all these troubles; and is thereby encouraged to order plenty of solid food in cases of gastric ulcer, and in cases of typhoid fever with ulceration of the bowels.

Again, what is the good of testifying to the healing of hernia? Was it hernia? Suppose that it was, what sort of hernia was it? Hernia will vanish for ever so long, and leave no sign of its presence. Or, take the cases of asthma. Were they asthma? Even then, asthma can hardly be called an organic disease. Or, take the "tumors." Were they solid tumours, or cysts, or effusions, or deep-seated abscesses, or inflammatory swellings? Who made the diagnosis? Were they subjected to miscroscopic examination by a skillful pathologist? Or, take the "dislocations." Were they x-rayed? Were they not the cases that bonesetters cure? Or, take the cases of "lung trouble." Most of them were ordinary bronchitis. One or two, not more, may possibly have been early consumption. Which of us has not friends who were consumptive, and now are strong, and hard at work?

Let us apply a fair and mild test to these two hundred cases. Let us show them to any doctor; and let us ask him what he thinks of them. He will laugh at them; he will say, "What is the good of such cases? Why don't they report them properly? Why don't they give details? What do they mean by spinal trouble, and all the other troubles?"

Dr. Huber is quoted at some length. Contemplating a large number of Christian Science enthusiasts at Albany, he says "the opportunity to study hysteria was one the like of which I shall probably never again realize." Dr. Huber had investigated the alleged healings of organic diseases and he found them "pitifully without foundation." In other words, the people had not had the complaints claimed for them or had not been cured. At least there was no evidence of either:

So Dr. Huber made personal and very careful examination of twenty cases, where it was alleged that Christian Science had healed, not neurasthenia or "hysteria," but organic disease. "I could find in all these twenty cases no 'cure' that would have occasioned the medical man the slightest surprise. What did surprise me was the vast disproportion between the results they exhibited and the claims made by Christian Science healers. A lady stated that she had had pneumonia. I asked her how she knew she had had pneumonia. She declared she knew, because her nurse 'could tell at a glance she had pneumonia.' No medical examination had been made. I asked what symptoms she had had. She told me she had purposely forgotten. I heard, during my investigation, of cases of yellow fever, phthisis, cancer, and locomotor ataxia which had been 'healed in Christian Science.' But truth compels the statement that my efforts to examine these cases were defeated by the cheapest sort of subterfuge and elusion."

In the two hundred cases that the author cites he uses no discrimination. He takes these boastings as he finds them, but he shows very conclusively that in his impartiality he follows no Christian Science example. For no failure is allowed to enter these records. Sometimes we hear of the failures at coroners' inquests. Sometimes the complacent physician, summoned at the last moment, gives the death certificate and there is no inquiry, no publicity. But there must be no failure in the official record, no stories of long-drawn agony, of miserable and needless deaths, or of the terrible self-reproaches that come too late. And so the author sums up:

"It is plain, from these evidences, and from the previous chapter, that Christian Science accepts all testimonials, even the most fantastical and illiterate. That she embellishes what she publishes. That she evades investigation. That her claim to cure organic diseases breaks down under the most elementary rules of criticism. That she does cure "functional" diseases. That she has never cured, nor ever will, any disease, except those which have been cured, a hundred thousand times, by "mental therapeutics." There is a concluding word on behalf of the children. "For God's sake leave the children alone. It doesn't matter with grown-up people; they can believe what they like about good and evil, and germs and things:

For their bodily safety, children must believe in the reality of injuries, diseases and pain. Grown-up folk do not play with fire, slide down the bannister, swallow foreign substances, kiss diphtheritic babies, climb spiky railings, and so forth. Every year, in this, as in every other country, thousands of children are burned to death. Is it fair, to tell a child that pain is not real? I cannot imagine a sharper grief than for a mother to lose her child that way—Oh, mother, mother, you told me God wouldn't let me be hurt; and oh, mother, He has dreadfully.

There is another quotation from the Christian Science Journal. A little girl, five years old, 'fell out of a window. "The blood was spurting from her mouth; she seemed to suffer greatly if she was moved at all, and her face seemed paralyzed, lifeless." That afternoon the mother went to a Christian Science meeting; "I went to the afternoon service, rejoicing greatly in my freedom from the sense of personal responsibility."

The author's concluding paragraph is a prophecy:

"What place will she hold a quarter of a century hence, in London, the one city at whose mortal mind I can make a guess? Heaven be praised, I believe that she will hold none, or next to none; that her churches will be given to the nobler purpose of music, that lectures twice a week on mental hygiene; that her name will be written, her story told, not in lives, but in union-labor leader, who rounded out his career of crime last night by attempt to kill girl he lured from Chicago.

NEW YORK, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cornelius P. Shea, an official of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was arrested tonight charged with inflicting probably

fatal stab wounds on Alice Walsh of No. 222 West Thirteenth street. They occupied the same apartment.

Shea was locked up in the Charles-street Station, and the woman was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was thought she would die in a short while.

About half-past nine o'clock tonight the tenants of the house were aroused by screams, and saw Alice Walsh rush from her room into the hallway. Shea brutally dragged her back into the room and slammed the door.

Again screams and the sound of scuffling were heard, and Mrs. McKay, the landlady, sent for assistance. Policeman John Hewitt of the Charles-street Station, broke down the door of the room. He found the woman lying on the floor, blood flowing from the wounds in her body.

Shea, the policeman says, had a large jack-knife. He was putting on his coat.

OVER DOZEN WOUNDS.

"Where are you going?" asked Hewitt.

"I guess I'm going with you," replied Shea.

Dr. Lynch of St. Vincent's Hospital attended the woman, and found more than a dozen wounds in her body.

Alice Walsh was said to be 19 years old. Shea is 27.

Cornelius P. Shea has a long court record. He came here recently in connection with the teamsters' strike. He has been president of the Teamsters' Brotherhood.

He was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction in Boston on July 23, 1906, for non-support of his wife's two children.

He was indicted and denounced as a "grafter" in Chicago on July 24, 1905. Three weeks ago he was arrested as a suspected person, but was discharged.

Alice Walsh, before becoming unconscious, identified him as the man who stabbed her. He lured her here from Chicago.

MURDEROUS CHICAGO RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cornelius P. Shea, the notorious Boston union labor leader, has a bloody record in Chicago.

He was at the head of the teamsters' strike, which lasted 105 days here, ending July 20, 1905. During that time the streets were the scenes of almost hourly riots. Nineteen men were killed in riots or slain by sluggers. Four hundred and sixty-two persons were injured sufficiently to require hospital attention, and some of those died later.

The loss, daily, to the business of Chicago, was $1,000,000, and the taxpayers were called upon to pay $4974.50 daily for extra police service.

With the entire city in turmoil, human life and property in jeopardy at all times, Shea, the dictator, spent much of his time in a notorious dive and jeered at the disturbed city.

Born in iniquity and conducted along infamous lines, the strike could have but one ending, and the teamsters were finally whipped and forced to accept terms.

Shea's domestic affairs here caused much unfavorable comment, and he eventually drifted to New York. Persons here who had the misfortune to meet him in any capacity are not surprised that he has added direct personal assault of a helpless woman to his long list of criminal deeds.

FIND STERN SOLUTION OF ANCIENT PROBLEM.

Young Girl Leaves Her Babies in Care of Their Clergyman Father and His Lawful Wife, and Sadly Returns to Her Old Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A stern, though kindly, solution of an ancient problem, ever full of pathos, has been found and applied in St. Louis to the case of the Rev. G. F. Schenk, an evangelical pastor, and Miss Gertrude Wolff, 20 years old, of flower-like beauty, who has been a member of his household ever since she was 13.

Mr. Schenk is now pastor of the Evangelical Church at Stolpe, near Hermann. Miss Wolff has left his home and is stopping with the family of the Rev. Dr. Suedmeyer, preparatory to her departure for her old home in Konigsburg, Germany. Meanwhile, in the Schenck home, two little girls romp on the lawn, unconscious of the impending crisis in their lives. Miss Gertrude Wolff, their mother, never has been married.

Evidently the parentage of the children has not caused the heart of Mrs. Schenk to turn against the little ones, for she mothers them and cares for them as though they were her own. Until Gertrude Wolff broke her promise, by returning to the Schenck home, instead of leaving for Europe, it was supposed by Pastor Schenk's parishioners that he and Mrs. Schenk had adopted the children in Switzerland.

Nobody suspected that the pretty Gertrude was other than their foster mother. The young mother later left the Schenk residence, and is now with

If Mme. Demkowska, wife of a Polish merchant, residing near Warsaw, had not come to this country with Mrs. Schenk a few weeks ago, perhaps it would not have been known that Gertrude bore the children, or that Pastor Schenk ever had looked on the young Gertrude with eyes of love.

The girl's agreement to give up her children and leave the country follows:

"(1.) The undersigned, Gertrude Wolff, in the presence of the undersigned witnesses, Pastor Louis Suedemeyer and Dr. A. Siebert of St. Louis, promises, on May 16, or not later than May 17, 1909, to leave for New York on a through train, and take the first ship for Germany. The cost of a third-class ticket and $20 pocket money are to be given me by Dr. Siebert.

"(2.) I will not put my foot upon the soil of America again or return to the Schenk family.

"(3.) I will never write to the Schenck family or any of the members or accept any letters from them.

"(4.) Henceforth I will receive news of my two children, Edna and Lilly, from the undersigned witnesses, who shall be bound to supply news of the children's condition.

"(5.) I leave the children in the custody of the Schenk family and the witnesses hereto agree to look after their welfare.

"I give this holy promise of my own free will. I am to receive one copy and the other is to be given to Dr. Siebert.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles B. Fritz and George M. Eckert of New York, have arrived from Constantinople, where they spent the recent troublesome times.

"I never saw such a change in any country in my life," said Mr. Fritz, "as that which has followed the Young Turk movement. Under the old régime the government promised to pay its employés, but it never did so.

"The Young Turk government has changed all this. 'Baksheesh' is no more the cry which travelers hear from morning till night. In fact, a remarkable thing is that the Turkish customs official will now scornfully refuse your tip. The new régime has made a man of him. The real Turk is a splendid fellow, simple-minded and sincere. The development of the country, the institution of proper laws and the establishment of a system of education will make Turkey a new nation of great power."

ANNOYS RUSSIA.

BRITAIN'S ATTACK OF NERVES IS RIDICULED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG (Russia) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reports reaching this country from England, showing the hysterical uneasiness of the Britons, fill Russians with amazement. The leading politicians and newspapers ask what strange madness has seized upon the once imperturbable British mind.

The circumstantial stories of night-flying airships, swarms of German spies and will-o'-the-wisp craft nosing about British ports provoke ridicule. Yet it is ridicule not untinged with pessimism. It is feared that the British are becoming so wrought up that they will shortly demand that Downing street shall launch an ultimatum to Wilhelmstrasse on the subject of naval expansion.

"One of these days," says the Novoe Vremya, "Sir Edward Grey or some successor may say to the German Ambassador in London:

"'Stop laying down Dreadnoughts or we will strike.' Clearly the temper of the Englishmen is so feverish and their nerves so shaken that any slight accident might precipitate war."

Russian statesmen deplore the situation, because since the Russo-Japanese War, they have looked upon Britain as a great source of strength to Russian diplomacy, in rehabilitating Russian prestige in Europe.

Now, they say, if the British morale is going to pieces Russia cannot longer lean out to itself the hope of "climbing out on the British rock." The gossip in German circles here attributes little real fighting force to the British nation as at present represented in a military way.

The gossip of the whole diplomatic corps tends in the same direction. The general view is that unless the colonies align themselves quickly and practically with the British motherland the danger of a European war must steadily and rapidly become greater.

FEAR INDIAN TROUBLE.

Authorities Bury Son of Washoe Chief at Prison Yard Because of Gathering of Braves.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—Because more than 500 Washoe Indians are gathered in Carson City and intend, when the body of Charles Kaiser is turned over to them by the warden of the penitentiary, to hold a big powwow over the hanged man's remains, and also because the authorities fear trouble as a result, the body will be buried within the walls of the prison, and tomorrow morning members of the State police will order the Indians to disperse.

Kaiser was hanged this morning at 11 o'clock. He was the son of Black Horse, a Washoe chief. Washoe Indians from the nearby reservations resent the interference of State authorities, and declare that it was their duty to have hanged Kaiser should he have deserved it in their opinion.

Kaiser killed his wife for alleged intimacy with other men—an offense punishable by death by the Washoes. Kaiser was the third Indian to be hanged by the State, and the Indians are resentful for this.

Early yesterday Indians began to gather outside the prison walls, awaiting the turning over of Kaiser's body. They declare openly they would hold a powwow, and as the majority of them were armed, it was deemed advisable to bury the body within the prison walls.

Kaiser, despite his bravado yesterday, broke down completely just before the execution. He wept and had to be dragged to the scaffold.

Fashionable New Jersey Women Gasp at Unexpected Guest at Mayflower Luncheon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When 100 members of the Mayflower Society of New Jersey sat down to luncheon in the fashionable Women's Clubhouse at East Orange, N. J., this afternoon, there were many gasps of astonishment when at the guests' table they saw Miss Emma Goldman, whose anarchistic preachments have brought her national notoriety.

Miss Goldman was there as the guest of Alden Freeman, who, a year ago, made an independent campaign for Mayor of East Orange and who is supposed to have socialistic leanings.

While the society women present were too diplomatic to make any expressions of disapproval at being obliged to sit at the table with the well-known woman anarchist, there were many shrugs of shoulders and whispered comments.

COUNTY ATTORNEY MAKES FULL CONFESSION ON STAND.

Implicates Judge, Also Accused, in His Story of Receiving Huge Sums for Protection from the Gamblers and Dive-keepers of Oklahoma. Evangelist's Accusation Verified.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHAWNEE (Okla.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A story shocking in its details was told on the witness stand in the District Court today by Virgil Biggers, until recently County Attorney of Pottawatomie county and now under indictment for accepting a bribe from owners of liquor dives and bootleggers of Shawnee.

Confessing his guilt and declaring that he did so out of consideration of his family, he told in detail how the dive owners had organized and paid certain county officials sums of money for protection. The confession came at the opening of the trial of Judge W. N. Maben of the District Court, who is on trial for accepting a bribe, having been indicted jointly with Biggers.

Biggers reviewed a meeting in which Maben and himself met representatives of the dive keepers and agreed upon terms of immunity. He admitted receiving an envelope containing $800, delivered to him by County Commissioner Robert Hagar. Of this sum, he testified that he gave Judge Maben $400, Hagar $100 and kept the rest himself.

The State charges that the combination received $100,000 for protection within fourteen months. Oat Johnson and John Rodgers, two gamblers and dive keepers, followed Biggers on the stand and reiterated his story. Judge Maben charges persecution and a combination to cause his downfall.

The trial is a result of charges by Evangelist Bulgin from Los Angeles, Cal., at a religious revival meeting in Oklahoma recently.

His Tour Through Southland Makes Friends of Political Foes.

North Carolina Is no Longer Classed as "Enemy's Country."

Makes Republicanism Respected at Bourbons' Hearthstone.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Washington has been ringing today with echoes from the President's visit to the South yesterday and the day before, the first since he was inaugurated, and a trip that was looked forward to with great interest, by reason of the acquaintance cultivated in the section prior to March 4.

The President himself is elated over the reception accorded to him in the "enemy's country," on his initial appearance there as the nation's Chief Executive. To call it the enemy's country now is to stretch the literal truth considerably, for the evidence of confidence in the President as a real friend of the South is decidedly pronounced.

In talks today by persons who accompanied the Presidential party to North Carolina, one of the fairest fields in which to sow the seed of political toleration and the cultivation of the spirit that stands out as one of the new administration's broadest policies, interesting sidelights were thrown on a situation that involves national interests.

Members of the party who met representatives of different elements of the population informally, declare that the story told of the enthusiasm at public meetings did not overstate the feeling of the people. Due allowance has been made for the fact that a public man's friends and admirers are likely to show conspicuously in the welcoming crowds, while those not so admiring keep in the background.

A North Carolina man, who is in a position to speak from general knowledge of southern social and political affairs—a man politically opposed to President Taft—said tonight that undoubtedly the latter is the most popular national figure so far as the southern people are concerned since President Cleveland, who had the prestige of being the only Democratic President since the Civil War.

One of the salutary things already noted in connection with the North Carolina situation—and in time it may be noted in other States where similar conditions have prevailed—is the removal of Washington administration support from a Republican organization that does not command respect.

The inevitable effect of this in the near future, it is believed, will be to build up party organization in the hands of leaders who have the power to attract men of the better class, a class that is naturally Republican in its tendencies, but who, seeking some sort of political asylum, have affiliated with the Democrats because it could not stand the odium of association with the other crowd.

President Taft, in short, is taking rapid strides toward making Republicanism respectable in localities, districts and States where it has not been respectable, judged even by the most loose of political standards.

North Carolina, it should be understood, is not the solid Democratic State today that it might be. Its delegation of ten in Congress embraces three Republicans; the western part of the State tends strongly toward Republicanism, while the Populists have split up the Democratic strength in the eastern section. Mr. Skinner, who was not appointed judge by Taft, and who seems to harbor no hard feelings, actually predicts the carrying of the State by the Republicans in 1912.

Philadelphia Clergyman Advises San Francisco Man to Get Magistrate to Tie Knot.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Basing his action on the contention that his church does not approve of the remarriage of a divorced person, Rev. L. L. Overman, pastor of the Arch-street Presbyterian Church, refused this afternoon to perform the wedding service for Nelson Clark, a contractor of San Francisco, who was divorced from his first wife two years ago, and Mary J. Hill, a nurse of this city. He advised them to hunt up a magistrate. The couple were childhood sweethearts.

GRAFT PROSECUTION.

CRISIS IS REACHED.

Tense Stage in Trial of Calhoun.

Increased Bitterness Shown at Every Forward Step Taken in Case.

Spreckels and Helms in Turn on Stand, and Testimony Edges Tempers.

Heney Seeking Permission to Open Packages Seized in Raid on Office.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Adjournment of court tonight ended the most important week in the long-drawn-out trial of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, now well in the fifth month of proceedings. Judge and jury, attorneys and principals, indicated their relief at temporary escape from the strain of the past few days, when every step forward has been characterized by skirmishes, legal and personal, at hourly increased in bitterness. Tempers on both sides were worked to thin edges, while Rudolph Spreckels and John Helms alternated on the witness stand today, and it was evident from the intense interest displayed by rival counsel that a crisis in the case has been reached, but not passed.

Interest was sustained until a late hour in the afternoon, when Heney, scoring two restraining orders issued by a court of similar jurisdiction, announced that he would ask Judge Lawlor's permission to open sealed packages seized in the raids upon the office of William M. Abbot, and alleged to contain documents stolen from the office of William J. Burns. Argument on this issue was deferred until Monday, when the prosecution, according to announcement made today, will attempt to support the charges made by Detective Helms against Mr. Abbott, under whose direction Helms claims to have operated.

One of the lines of probable inquiry was indicated today when Helms, who, for several months, was in the employ of both sides at the same time, after identifying that he knew Luther Brown, former partner of Earl Rogers, said: "Abbott and Brown met me at the same landing on the day I left the city, after quitting the services of the United Railroads. Abbott asked me what I knew about the dynamiting." "What dynamiting?" inquired Heney.

"The dynamiting of Gallagher's house," said the witness.

The defense objected to this line of inquiry, and it was not pursued further.

ANOTHER OPENING WEDGE.

Another opening wedge was inserted when Helms declared that several efforts had been made to prevent his appearance as a witness in the Calhoun trial. Mention was made of two men who went to his home in Trinity County several weeks ago, and Helms charged that since his arrival in this city a plot had been laid in the office of W. H. Metson, a prominent attorney of this city, to trap him in a conversation over the telephone. The testimony followed an inquiry by Mr. Rogers, who asked the witness if he knew that a graphophone had been attached to the telephone while he was speaking from the other end of the line.

Charles W. Cobb, law partner of Heney, who was credited with a payment of $10,000 by Rudolph Spreckels for services in the prosecution, was the third witness of the day. Heney's purpose, evident from the questions and replies, was to support the claims that he had engaged in the work of the prosecution without compensation and at great personal sacrifice.

The inquiry had not proceeded far when Alexander King of the defense objected, on the ground that it served no purpose save the laudation of the interrogator.

The court permitted Heney to continue, however, and Mr. Cobb said he knew that his associate had thrown up his representation of the government in the Hyde-Benson land fraud cases and the Binger Hermann case, and had declined President Roosevelt's offer to direct the prosecution of Senator Borah of Idaho. Mr. Cobb affirmed that Heney had lost his law practice since entering upon his work as a municipal prosecutor.

Returning to the attack upon the testimony of Rudolph Spreckels, the defense made reference to the arrangements between Heney and the Department of Justice at Washington.

Earl Rogers, who opened the re-cross-examination, asked: "Are you aware that since Mr. Heney has been engaged in this prosecution to which he donates his services, that he has been paid large sums of money by the United States government?"

"I am not," said Mr. Spreckels.

WICKERSHAM DRAGGED IN.

"Have you examined the accounts which you requested the Attorney-General to send you?" asked Heney, interrupting.

"We have not received them," said Mr. Rogers, "or, if they have been sent as we requested——"

"Atty.-Gen. Wickersham sent them only after I consented to your getting them," said Heney, "and not until then."

"But they were sent at our request. We wanted the originals," said Rogers.

"I consented in order to meet the charges that have been circulated about me," remarked the prosecutor.

Mr. Spreckels again related the circumstances under which he sought the appointment of Heney as an Assistant District Attorney.

Mr. Rogers elicited the witness's knowledge of the fact that Dist.-Atty. Langdon was a candidate for Gov-

MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER QUITS HUSBAND.

Mrs. Smith Hollis McKim, announcement of whose separation from her husband was made yesterday.

BALTIMORE BELLE.

SEPARATION CLIMAX OF M'KIM ROMANCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Announcement was made today of the separation of Dr. and Mrs. Smith Hollis McKim. The doctor is now in New York, and his wife, formerly Margaret Emerson, daughter of Capt. Isaac Emerson of Baltimore, the millionaire drug manufacturer and yachtsman, is in Paris.

The Emersons deny that Mrs. McKim will get a divorce to marry an unnamed New York millionaire, recently divorced. They say she has not separated from Dr. McKim to marry any one else, and that the separation was arranged on amicable terms. Steps have not been taken for a divorce as yet.

Mrs. McKim will return to this country in July, and with the other members of her family will go for the remainder of the season to Newport, where Capt. Emerson has a villa. Dr. and Mrs. McKim have no children.

Mrs. McKim is the idol of her father. He has lavished his wealth upon her and her every wish has been gratified. Her marriage to Dr. McKim, who is a son of Hollis McKim, member of an old aristocratic Maryland family, was celebrated December 30, 1902, and was a brilliant social affair.

The romance between Miss Emerson and Dr. McKim developed on the high seas and in foreign lands. Soon after his daughter was grown Capt. Emerson went with her and a party of friends for a trip around the world in his yacht, which is named "Margaret" for his daughter. Mr. McKim was asked by Capt. Emerson to go on the journey as the physician and surgeon for the party. He was also an agreeable traveling companion.

Before many months after the return of the yachting party, the engagement of Miss Emerson to Dr. McKim was announced. After a honeymoon abroad, Dr. and Mrs. McKim made their home in New York. Her father gave her an elegant estate at Irvington on the Hudson, and they also spent much time on a 7000-acre plantation near Georgetown, S. C.

man of the Independence League at the time.

"I recall," said Mr. Spreckels, "that Mr. Langdon was disinclined to make the appointment while he was a candidate. I told him that crimes had been committed; that he was a public officer and that this prosecution was his highest duty. I told him that his success in the campaign could not compare in importance."

Under redirect examination, Heney called Spreckels's attention to a check mentioned by Rogers. The check, for $1194.16, was given to Heney in April, 1909. Spreckels explained that it had covered the prosecutor's office expenses for the months of March and April.

"Do you know how Mr. Rogers obtained knowledge of that check?" asked Heney, "or whether or not some one in your employ is working for some one else"

"I do not know what methods they have of spying in to my business," declared the witness. "They are welcome to anything they find there."

Mr. Spreckels, responding to additional questions, stated that he had not paid any of Heney's household expenses; that he did not know how Heney had existed during the past three years and that he had never heard of the prosecutor stealing money from any person.

"Do you know that Mr. Heney has for a long time contributed $150 per month to the support of three sisters?" asked the Assistant District-Attorney.

"Do you know that he has loaned $5000 to a brother who needed his assistance?"

Mr. Spreckels was unable to answer these questions except upon hearsay.

Heney was allowed to add to the record the minutes of every proceeding involving the prosecution of defendants indicted by the Oliver grand jury in 1906 and 1907. This he did for the purpose of meeting the inference that he was engaged to prosecute Calhoun in particular.

Mr. Spreckels was finally excused from the stand.

Helms was recalled for cross-examination.

Rogers sought to ascertain whether or not the witness had furnished W. J. Burns with copies of the affidavits alleged to have been made by E. A. Platt at the direction of William Abbott. Platt has confessed to the theft of documents from Burns's office in the interest of the United Railroads.

"I believe," said Helms, "that I furnished Mr. Burns with a copy of the affidavits after I entered his employ, in November, 1908. I never furnished any information of lawful operations to Burns. I told him only of people who were double-crossing the prosecution. I never gave Burns any of the railroads' reports on jurors."

On re-direct examination, Helms stated he had sent Thomas Gibson and several other men to meet Burns and shadow him when the former secret service agent returned from a trip to Washington, April 29, 1908. He stated that an automobile was engaged for this work, and that four men devoted their time to the task until they were arrested on Burns's complaint. A man named Zoebler, alleged to be one of the four, was called on by Heney to confront the jury. He was ordered to remain as a witness.

Helms then told of two telephone conversations with Attorney Hugh O'Neill, alleged to have occurred May 1 the day following the witness's arrival in this city. Helms declared that on the second occasion, at his own request, he had been in telephonic communication with Attorney W. H. Metson, who appeared as counsel for the arising out of the recent raids on the office of the corporation. The witness affirmed that Charles Goff, one of the two policemen who has acted as his escort, was present at all these conversations.

A flood of new testimony was opened up to the prosecution when Earl Rogers, an instant later, smiled at Helms and asked:

"Did you know, when you were telephoning to Mr. O'Neill, that your conversation was recorded on a graphophone?"

"I did," said the witness, "and that is why I did not fall into your trap."

"What was your conversation?" asked Heney quickly.

"Mr. O'Neill called me up," said the witness, "and said: 'I want you to understand, Helms, that the United Railroads will not pay you $3000 to keep off the witness stand.' I told him that I wanted him to understand that I was not asking or expecting anything from the United Railroads, and I asked him to call Mr. Metzen to the telephone. When Metzen came, I said: 'For your benefit, and the benefit of your listeners, I want you to know that I have been approached three times by persons who don't want me to testify, but that I am going to tell the truth in spite of your efforts.'"

"I thought I was going to have some difficulty in connecting Mr. Metzen with this affair," said Heney, "but Mr. Rogers has opened the way."

"Why, this witness would be discredited under the laws of any country," exclaimed Louis F. Byington, of the defense.

"You seem to be here, Mr. Byington, for the purpose of attacking the statements of witnesses of the court. In view of the fact that you served in this court as District Attorney, it might be well to know that the court does not commend your conduct and that the court has about reached the limit of its tolerance," thundered Judge Lawlor.

There was another outbreak bordering on hostility when John J. Barrett, of the defense, arguing in support of an objection, said:

"Is it not plain that these people, finding that their case has broken down, are trying to get before the jury a substitute for evidence in relating the activities of detectives? Is it not plain they are practicing a fraud and a deception upon the court and the jury? I appeal to your honor's common sense to prevent this outrage."

COBB TELLS WHAT HE GOT.

When Helms had been finally excused the people called W. A. Brace, a notary public, who testified that he had been twice visited by Helms in company with E. A. Platt and that on each occasion Brace had taken the deposition of Platt.

Charles W. Cobb, the law partner of Heney, was put on the stand and corroborated a large portion of Mr. Spreckels's testimony. Mr. Cobb stated that, as far as he knew, Mr. Heney had sacrificed his legal patronage without receiving any compensation. At the afternoon session Cobb corroborated the statements of Mr. Spreckels relative to his (Cobb's) compensation, declaring that the payments mentioned were for his personal services in the graft prosecution. The witness explained that, while J. J. Dwyer became a member of the firm when it was organized, his name did not appear in the firm title because he was at that time about to direct the campaign of the Independence League, a political party. Cobb said the firm was dissolved about April 1, 1909. He replied to one of Heney's questions to the effect that when he entered into the partnership Heney had a considerable law practice, which had since fallen away. On cross-examination Cobb stated that he had assisted in drawing many indictments, including the one upon which Mr. Calhoun is

MAY OPEN ZION'S GATES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) May 21.—In the Federal Court at Chicago, Judge Landis has issued an injunction restraining permanently the Lake County Circuit Court and other lower courts from issuing writs or any kind of instruments against Receiver Thomas of Zion City, as regards his giving permission to people to conduct business on land in Zion held by the Zion estate. By the court's ruling, if Receiver Thomas wishes to do so, he can grant permits to doctors, druggists, etc., to open business in Zion City. The ruling of the Federal judge was the result of Leader Voliva bringing action some weeks ago to prevent Horace Cook conducting a confectionery business and Joseph Westoc running a meat market.

FATHER OPTIMISTIC, SON NOT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—A father told the Chicago Methodist Social Union, at a banquet at the Auditorium, that the world was growing better and that civilization, especially as exemplified by life in Chicago, was distinctly on the mend. His son, in a subsequent speech, struck a more pessimistic note and declared that the world was growing more selfish. The father was Bishop John H. Vincent, and the son was George Edward Vincent, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago. The Vincents each spoke on "The Vicissitudes of Life."

It was thought after the success of Wilbur and Orville, that Miss Wright would give up teaching, but she has just notified the Board of Education that she will be ready to resume her duties in September.

SPITE CASE.

RECALLERS ARE "STUNG."

Oregon Patriots Must Await Regular Election.

Court Gives Mayor Fifteen Days to Appear.

End of Campaign Only Seventeen Days Off.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge J. W. Campbell, sitting in the Circuit Court at Oregon City, today dealt another blow to the cause of the Estacada patriots, who had hoped to slide into omce on the spite recall held last week to oust Mayor Heyiman and his Council.

Judge Campbell ordered Mayor Heyiman and his Council to appear fifteen days hence and show cause why they should not be mandamused to canvass the votes cast at the recall election and declare the results. But the fifteen days' time which the court has set will bring the actual hearing of the case to within two days of the date for regular city election at Estacada.

Even if Reed, who claims to have been elected Mayor by the recallites, and his faction win in court, and the Heyiman government is ordered to canvass the vote, the canvass can hardly be made before election day, and so it appears that Reed must go before the people again and be elected on his merits if he succeeds to the office.

Meanwhile, Heyiman, although declared defeated in the recall, goes on transacting city business. It is declared by the Reed faction that every official act done by the city government under present conditions will later be attacked in court.

BOYS SLAY BIG BRUIN.

With But One Gun to Five Hunters Normal School Students Best Brown Bear.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASHLAND (Or.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Five Ashland Normal juniors, with but a single gun among them, killed a giant brown bear near the top of Ashland Butte, three days ago. The school has been feasting on bear meat ever since.

The boys had scaled the mountain to plant their class colors on its top. A snowstorm arose, and they built a huge fire to keep warm. As they stood about the fire, a bear broke through the bushes near by and charged toward them. Ned Cully was holding the one gun which the boys had brought. He fired at the bear prompt-ly, but missed. Edward Kirby then seized the weapon and fired twice, laying the bear low.

The boys dressed and cached the carcass, and returned to the camp for arrangements, which carried it to the school's commissary department. It weighed over 300 pounds, and its meat was a splendid one.

FANS OUT BURGLAR.

House Maid With Ball Bat Proves Too Strong for Husky Robber, and Saves Jewelry.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 21.—Armed with a baseball bat, Miss Clara Anderson, a servant in the household of L. S. Schwabacher, vice-president of a wholesale hardware company, attacked a burglar in the family residence, Sixteenth avenue and East Union street, last night, knocking from his hands jewelry estimated to be worth $2000, and driving the thief from the house.

When the man entered the house he turned on the gas in Miss Anderson's room. It was the choking and coughing caused by inhaling the gas that awakened her. Before Miss Anderson succeeded in driving the man from the house, he had knocked her down with his fist, but she retained her hold on the ball bat and, regaining her feet, renewed the fight.

SCHOOLGIRL KILLED.

IS THROWN FROM HER HORSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Lucille Sparks, a popular High School girl who took part with 2000 other students of Chico schools in the annual parade today, was instantly killed about noon today. With other girls she was riding rapidly through a grove of trees on the picnic grounds in Bidwell Park, when her saddle turned, and she was thrown over her horse sideways, her head striking a tree, fracturing the skull. She was rushed to a hospital here, but was already dead.

Miss Sparks was 18 years of age. The accident put an end to the picnic just at its height and cast gloom over the students.

CALL WATCHMAN FIREBUG.

Caught by Detectives on Watch, Removing Telltale Evidence from Burned Building.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] O. E. Hoffman, night watchman for the Southern Pacific Company, in its yards near the Sacramento River, above the bridge, is under arrest and will be charged with arson. He was caught removing the can of oil used by the incendiary, who started the fire in the remaining portion of the old Pioneer Flouring Mills at 2:15 o'clock this morning.

Detective Ahern and Policemen Todhunter and O'Brien were watching for the firebug to return and remove this evidence. Hoffman is now suspected of starting the fire which destroyed the main part of the mills, last December. Several other fires also are charged to him. The motive for the alleged crimes appears to have been a desire to prove his watchfulness.

BOY KILLS THIRD BEAR.

Youngster of Twelve Beats His Father in Chase and Gets Quarry.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEND (Or.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arthur Van De Vert, aged 12 years, has just slain, single-handed, his third bear.

The Van De Vert ranch is about twenty miles south of Bend. Two women of that neighborhood came to the Van De Vert home saying they had been frightened by a large wild animal of some kind. Mr. Van De Vert and Arthur set out with bear dogs in pursuit. Arthur got ahead of his father and killed the bear before Mr. Van Der Vert arrived. The Van Der Vert family has a record for bear killing, more than a dozen having been killed by different members of the family during the past year.

Miss Grace Van De Vert, Arthur's sister, a girl of 17, killed a large bear last fall.

WILD WITH REGRET.

Young College Man Raving Over Accidental Shooting of Friend on Hunting Trip.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLFAX, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] D. P. Murdock, a student at Washington State College, is a nervous wreck as the result of an accident whereby a gun in his hands was discharged, killing his friend and fellow student, R. E. Davidson, last Tuesday.

Davidson and Murdoch were members of a party of six who left Pullman in an automobile for a trip into the country. They took several rifles along, intending to shoot squirrels. Murdoch attempted to clean his rifle, forgetting first to remove the shells. The weapon was discharged and the ball went through Davidson's head, killing him instantly.

Murdoch was overcome with horror at what he had done, and time only served to increase his regret. Today he was taken to his father's home at Clarkston, raving wildly. It is feared his reason may be permanently injured.

BARON ROTHSCHILD INCOG.

Arrives in San Francisco on His Way to Hunt Grizzly—Avoids Interviewer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Baron Rothschild, a young man of the Austrian branch of the famous European family, dislikes notoriety. His modesty caused him to travel across the Pacific on the Nippon Maru, which arrived today, under the assumed name of Oskar Rotsberg.

The young baron confesses to 21 years, although he looks more like 14. He had for his comfort and protection on the voyage a valet and Capt. Schwickert of the Austrian navy, who took particular care of his charge, when an attempt was made to interview him regarding his reported tiger hunting expeditions in India.

After leaving India the young baron spent some time in Java, but it is said that the game there was not lively enough for him, and that he has developed a desire to exploit his powers as a Nimrod with the great American grizzly.

SPECIAL FRUIT TRAINS.

PLACER COUNTY PLANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two special fruit trains will be provided by the Southern Pacific this season to move the Placer county deciduous fruit and grape crops to eastern markets. This was decided upon during a trip today by the representatives of the California Fruit Express, California Fruit Distributors, Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific to Placer county points, where they investigated fruit conditions.

These trains are for the expedious handling of fruits of Loomis, Penryn and Newcastle districts, giving growers all day to deposit fruit in cars, and hauling of trains to precooling stations during the night to be cooled and iced for shipment.

FINDS HER A HOME.

ORPHANED BY MURDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Neva Esther Corville, whose mother was killed by Frank H. Bennett, on February 18, at No. 113 Second avenue North, was yesterday ordered by Judge A. W. Frater in the Juvenile Court, to be sent to her grandmother, Mrs. Corville, in Santa Rosa, Cal.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Minnie Corville, was followed from Eureka, Cal., by her assassin, who, after he had committed the deed, killed himself in the presence of the little girl. The girl's father, Thomas P. Corville, is in San Francisco.

BANS COFFEE AND CAKE.

Oregon County W.C.T.U. Decides That Serving These Refreshments Is Act of Intemperance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Serving of coffee and cake at evening social gatherings was condemned as an act of intemperance in resolutions adopted by the Multnomah county W.C.T.U., in convention today.

"There is a grave doubt in my mind," said Mrs. L. H. Additon, in introducing the subject, "as to the wisdom of serving coffee and cake at W.C.T.U. social gatherings, especially at night. I believe such refreshments are hurtful to health and that their use constitutes an act of intemperance."

The idea was new to some of the ladies, and a wordy discussion ensued, but it ended in the adoption of the resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Multnomah county W.C.T.U. that serving coffee and cake constituted violation of the rules and principles of that organization.

TO DRIVE OUT DEVIL.

MAN BURNS HIS ARMS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE, May 21.—R. C. McIntosh, aged 41, a rancher of West Seattle, was found in his log cabin today with his hands and arms so severely burned as to require amputation and it is feared he will die.

McIntosh said he had read in the Bible of evil spirits and he came to the conclusion that these had been speaking to him. In order to rid himself of them he put both arms into the fire. He says it was a slow wood fire in a kitchen stove and he held his arms there for a long time.

Following the ordeal he sat and gazed at his hands and arms for hours and felt a great peace come over himself. Then he was satisfied that he had done right.

It was only when he became weak from hunger, after a total abstinence of five days, that McIntosh appeared at his door to beg for assistance.

NORMAL SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

MAY FETE AT SAN JOSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, May 21.—Four thousand spectators, including Lieut.-Gov. Porter and a number of teachers from schools in various parts of the State, witnessed the seventh annual May fete of the State Normal and Training schools of San José, this afternoon.

An amphitheater had been erected on Normal green for the occasion, and the center was equipped with May poles, and a throne for the Queen, Rofena Beach, as well as a stand for the chorus of 600 voices, which took a prominent part in the musical programme.

The visiting teachers were here with the intention of receiving suggestions for similar fetes to be given in their own schools next year.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Goes to Jury Today.

STOCKTON, May 21.—The case of W. T. Shepard, the Councilman charged with malfeasance in office, will not go to the jury until tomorrow. In his argument Deputy District-Attorney Grimm scathingly denounced the defendant and some of the witnesses for the prosecution, declaring that the testimony of the latter at the trial was at variance with that given before the grand jury. He was followed by Attorney Carpenter, for the defendant, who declared that the grand jury was the "big stick" of the District Attorney. Dist.-Atty. McNoble began his speech and will conclude tomorrow morning.

Millions in Sight.

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 21.—Nome's gold output this year will be approximately $5,000,000, according to a statement made by Jafel Lindenberg, one of the pioneers of the Nome district, who is in Seattle. Mr. Lindenberg said it is possible to make a fairly accurate forecast this early in the season, although the clean-up of the boxes will not be taken until about the first of July.

Acquittal for Sheep Man.

PORTLAND (Or.) May 21.—The trial at Lakeview, Or., of Robert McCulley, one of the prominent young sheep men of Lake county, for killing Cornelius Finiucane, ended in acquittal. It appeared from the evidence that Finiucane attacked McCulley on the public range and the latter committed the homicide in self-defense. The verdict is a popular one.

Swiss Minister Arrives.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Dr. Paul Ritter, newly appointed Minister of Switzerland to the United States, and Amos P. Wilder, United States Consul-General at Shanghai, arrived here today from the Orient on the Nippon Maru. Mr. Wilder was formerly United States Consul-General at Hongkong.

Mayor Arrests Speeder.

SEATTLE, May 21.—Mayor John F. Miller today personally arrested and took to the Police Station R. L. Short, salesman for an automobile company, for running a car at forty miles an hour. After his arrest the chauffeur said that he had been arrested eight times for speeding in Pacific Coast cities, but never convicted. Six witnesses beside the Mayor will testify against Short.

Pythians Adjourn.

WATSONVILLE, May 21.—With the installation today of the newly-elected officers and a grand ball tonight by the uniformed rank, the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, and grand temple, Rathbone Sisters, which have been in session here for several days, adjourned.

Fined for Dynamiting Trout.

SAN JOSE, May 21.—In the Superior Court this morning A. Rossellini pleaded guilty to having dynamited trout in Los Matos Creek and was fined $50, which he paid.

TO COLLECT TAXES.

MANY SURPRISES IN STORE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Thousands of property owners in the State will be affected by a notice State Controller Nye is sending out regarding the payment of delinquent taxes. Unsuspecting owners, feeling themselves secure, will be astonished to find themselves dunned for taxes owing anywhere from ten to twenty years.

During the period from May 12, 1885, to February 25, 1895, the law required the purchaser at a tax sale within thirty days prior to the expiration of the time for redemption, or before a deed was applied for, to serve written notice upon the owner of the land of such expiration and to file an affidavit with the Tax Collector showing such service before a deed could be issued.

There was, however, no provision by which the State could give notice, and because of the want of such notice the Supreme Court held that the deed issued without notice was invalid.

A bill passed by the Legislature, however, now authorizes the State to give such notice and puts it in a position to collect the taxes that could not be collected for the period between 1885

SWINDLE CHARGED.

Warrant Out for Arrest of Man Who Is Accused of Getting Money by Fraudulent Means.

The unexplained absence from the city of G. E. Carlisle and a warrant which the police hold for his arrest on a charge of grand larceny, bring to light another swindling game which has been operated in the city for some time.

The warrant for Carlisle's arrest is sworn to by D. W. Rucker of No. 653 Central avenue. Rucker says that several weeks ago he answered an advertisement in a local newspaper inserted supposedly by Carlisle, as head of the San Francisco Real Estate and Collection Agency, and met Carlisle in his business office in the Byrne building.

Rucker says he was engaged as a collector for Carlisle's concern and was obliged to advance $100 in cash as a surety bond. About ten days ago he says he was "laid off" by Carlisle. He demanded the $100 from Carlisle which he had placed on deposit. Carlisle said the money would be forthcoming, but Rucker never saw the glitter of the gold. Accordingly he swore out the warrant for Carlisle's arrest.

When police officers sought to arrest Carlisle they learned he had left the city. He is believed to be at some southern watering place. The police stated last night that they have received numerous complaints against Carlisle on charges like that of Ruckers. On several occasions the police made Carlisle return money which he had obtained in that manner.

TELLS STRIKING STORY.

Man Who Applies for Treatment at the Receiving Hospital Says Officer Beat Him.

When Harry Burkles, a blacksmith residing at No. 226 Hewitt street, applied for treatment at the Receiving Hospital for a broken nose and bruises about the head last night, he told the police that the injuries were inflicted by a patrolman because he had objected to the officer paying attention to his wife.

Burkles stated that he had been repeatedly told by friends that a patrolman was taking his wife out to questionable resorts while he was at work at his shop. Yesterday afternoon Burkles says he was taken sick and went to his home. His wife was gone. Becoming suspicious he went to the café at No. 126 Vignes street, where he had been told the policeman took his wife. Looking over a transom he saw his wife and the policeman in the room.

He waited outside, he says, until the couple emerged, and then approached the officer, asking him why he was in company with his spouse. In answer, he says, he received a rain of blows on the head from a billy. He declares he is done with his wife, and that the policeman can have her. He refused to divulge the officer's name because he feared he would lose his job, and, as the officer must now care for the woman, he would not have her means of living cut off.

MUCH DAMAGE.

HEAVY FROST HITS POTATO CROP HARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the second time this year, a heavy frost has been noted on the islands. Last night was one of the coldest ever recorded at this time of the year, and in some sections it damaged potatoes, beans and vegetables to an extent which will not be known for two or three days.

Some growers declare they will lose heavily, while others say they escaped without any serious loss. The frost appeared to have swept over the lowlands in waves, and left its mark in

The potatoes on two or three large tracts were badly damaged by a frost about a week ago. That snap was not as heavy as the one of last night, however. It is not believed that it will be necessary to replant a large acreage to spuds, although in some places the crop is reported ruined.

The beans will undoubtedly recover and a large crop is anticipated. According to estimates received by the Chamber of Commerce the produce crop will be the largest ever raised in WASHINGTON.

CHANGES PLAN TO VISIT WIFE.

Mr. Taft Will Stay at Home With Invalid.

First Lady of the Land Must Continue Rest.

Unable to Appear at White House Function.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, MAY 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Taft has abandoned his trip to Hampton, Va., which had been planned for tomorrow, because of the inability of Mrs. Taft to accompany him. The President was to have visited Hampton Institute, one of the foremost negro educational institutions in the south, and was to have delivered an address to the students.

When the President returned to Washington today from Petersburg and Charlotte, he was told that the attending physicians had ordered Mrs. Taft to take a complete rest. Mrs. Taft was unable to preside at the third of her series of afternoon parties today, and Mrs. Moore, sister of the President's wife, received the guests, with the President, in the east room.

Mrs. Knox, wife of the Secretary of State, served ices in the state dining-room, and Mrs. Wickersham, wife of the Attorney-General, poured tea. The Marine Band orchestra played throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Taft was much better today, but it is believed she will take little part in the social affairs of the remaining weeks of the spring season.

She will undoubtedly remain in Washington until the President is ready to go to Beverly, Mass., for a month's rest. Miss Helen Taft is expected to arrive some time this month.

DAMP RECEPTION.

Rain Greets President Taft on His Return to Washington—Finds Mrs. Taft Improved.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Taft, returning from Charlotte, N. C., reached Washington at 10:46 a.m. today, and entering one of the Executive automobiles, was driven through a heavy rain direct to the White House. When he arrived at the Executive offices he gave directions that the Cabinet be assembled for its usual Friday morning sitting. The President found Mrs. Taft much improved in health.

Rains pursued the President all the way from Charlotte, where yesterday he was in the center of a veritable cloudburst.

Nearly four inches of rain fell in the North Carolina city while the President was there, and he arrived in a drenching downpour. The President's first trip into the South since his inauguration was replete with incident. He spent three nights on the train and his days were crowded with addresses, receptions, luncheons and dinners.

In Charlotte last night the President held a public reception, during which he shook hands seemingly with the entire population. The President enjoyed thoroughly meeting the people and was especially pleased with the congratulations he received at Charlotte upon the speech he made there. The speech was mentioned by nearly every one with whom he shook hands. The President was urged to visit the South again, and said he would be more than glad to do so.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Want Free Hides.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many communications are being received from California by Senators and Congressmen, urging that hides be put on the free list. Tanners and shoe dealers are oftenest heard from, but some consumers seem to think it would be a benefit to them. Very few petitions for duty on hides have been received from California.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The President sent to the Senate today the nomination of George H. Kimball to be receiver of public moneys at Eureka, Cal.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

MERRY WIDOWS SAVED BY WOMEN

OPPOSITION KILLS ANTI-BIG HAT MEASURE.

Illinois Femininity May Still Wear the "Peach Basket," "Cart Wheel," or Even the "Bungalow" Headgear. Mere Male Solons Dare Not Vote Against Them.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Opposition from the wives and sweethearts of members of the House, caused the defeat today of the Hilton bill against "Merry Widow" "peach basket," "cart wheel" or "bungalow" hats, and against the use of birds, snakes, lizards or other animals, reptiles or insects as trimmings for feminine headgear.

Forty votes were cast for the measure and considerably less against it, but many members remained silent.

Lee O'Neill Browne made a speech for the bill, relating an experience in a Chicago theater where he was hidden behind two cart wheel hats three and a half feet in diameter, which he was unable to get two wearers to remove, though he appealed to the proprietor of the theater.

"This bill is not a joke," said Browne, "and should pass to protect the few rights that we men have left."

B. M. Chiperfield of Canton, frankly confessed that he dare not vote for the bill and go home.

"If you were of independent spirit," rejoined Browne, "you would vote yes and leave home."

Representative R. E. Wilson said: "I've got no home. I vote aye."

Hilton made an effort to save the bill by postponing consideration for a week before the roll call ended.

TORNADO HITS TEXAS TOWN.

WAXAHATCHIE (Tex.) May 21.—Reports received today from Italy, a town about twenty miles from here, say a small tornado struck there today, causing $30,000 damage and injuring a dozen persons, none seriously, however. Among the buildings destroyed were the Farmers' Union whose condition was last night reported serious.

OWEN WISTER.

MYSTERIOUS MALADY LAYS NOVELIST LOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Suffering from a mysterious illness, the precise nature of which has completely baffled half a dozen physicians, Owen Wister, the novelist, remains seriously, though not dangerously, ill at Butler Place, the old Wister country home.

Extreme physical weakness has combined with severe nervous depression to put an end, at least temporarily, to his literary labors and to render nearly all mental work impossible.

Though Dr. John K. Mitchell, a son of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell and a classmate of Mr. Wister at Haverford, is now treating him for nervous disorder, other specialists have been called into consultation, and none has been able satisfactorily to diagnose the disease.

Mrs. Wister, who is in constant attendance upon the invalid, described the trouble to a friend of the family as nervous dyspepsia, but she adds that the medical men are by no means definite.

The novelist's illness dates from the death of his mother, Fanny Kemble's daughter, about a year ago. He was sufficiently recovered to spend Easter at Atlantic City, but a relapse forced his return to his town house.

A new novel and play on which the author of "The Virginian" had been at work, have not been touched for several months.

ROGERS FUNERAL.

FAIRHAVEN MOURNS GREAT BENEFACTOR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FAIRHAVEN (Mass.) May 21.—The body of Henry H. Rogers, this town's most distinguished son and benefactor, lies in his summer home tonight.

Tomorrow the final funeral services will be held in the beautiful Unitarian Memorial Church, a gift of Mr. Rogers in memory of his mother.

Flags are at half-mast all over the town, and the public buildings, that were gifts from Mr. Rogers, are draped.

The funeral party arrived here from New York tonight by special train.

FUNERAL IN NEW YORK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The funeral of Henry H. Rogers today brought together many prominent men in the business and financial district of this city. Although attendance at the services in the church of the Messiah at 10 a.m. was limited to intimate associates and personal friends, these included so many of the leaders of the New York business and financial world that their absence from their usual activities had a noticeable effect on the business of the financial district.

Throughout the country, wherever the Standard Oil Company had a station or a branch, there was a cessation of all work for two hours to mark the passage of the first vice-president of the company, and one of the men who had helped materially to make it a great organization. This applied to every one of the 67,000 employes—a condition which had not existed in the giant corporation since its foundation more than thirty-five years ago.

John D. Rockefeller could not attend the funeral, as he is in Hot Springs, Va., with Mrs. Rockefeller, whose convalescence from a severe illness would not permit him to leave her. He sent, however, a long telegram to Mrs. Rogers expressing his grief.

The funeral cortege left the Rogers home at No. 3 East Seventy-eighth street at 9:30 o'clock a.m. and proceeded to the Church of the Messiah in East Thirty-fourth street, where the Rev. Robert Collier, pastor emeritus, friend of the dead capitalist, conducted the funeral services according to the Unitarian forms.

THE PALLBEARERS.

During the services a quartette from the Mendelssohn Glee Club sang several selections, including the hymns of "Lead, Kindly Light," "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Abide With Me."

On the list of pallbearers were the names of William Rockefeller, John D. Archbold, E. T. Bedford and James A. Moffett, of the Standard Oil Company; Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain,) E. H. Harriman, Elbert H. Gary, Melville E. Stone, James M. Beck, John D. Ryan, Charles A. Peabody, George W. Perkins, Dr. C. C. Rice, Raymond Dupuy, Gen. James J. Jourdan and Col. A. G. Payne.

The Lotus Club, of which Mr. Rogers was a member, sent a number of its members to represent it at the services, and a special delegation from the Norfolk, Va., Board of Trade, who were interested with Mr. Rogers in the building of his Virginia Railroad, came to attend the funeral.

Following the services at the Church of the Messiah, the body of Mr. Rogers was taken to the Grand Central Station and shipped on a private train which left for Fairhaven, Mass., at 11:15 o'clock a.m.

The funeral observances in the Church of the Messiah were exceedingly simple and followed closely the ordinary customs of the Unitarian Church.

Dr. Collier, "only for some words about a dear friend."

Dr. Collier spoke in a voice breaking with emotion at times as he referred to the numerous incidents which occurred during his long friendship with the dead man.

"I found him one of the truest men I ever met in my life," said the minister. "He was ever quietly and generously charitable, always doing his things through others and avoiding public knowledge of his biggest acts."

TRIBUTE IN CHICAGO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—Between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, while the funeral of H. H. Rogers was being held in New York, the vast machinery of the Standard Oil Company in this city and at Whiting, Ind, ceased to move. Hundreds of employes ceased work for the hour. Tank wagons, acting under instructions, promptly at 9 o'clock halted wherever they happened to be, and did not move on until the hour had passed.

TO STOP WORK TODAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BUTTE (Mont.) May 21.—In accordance with orders issued by John D. Ryan, managing director of the Amalgamated Copper Company, work at all properties of that company in Montana will cease tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock, which is 2:30 o'clock, Fairhaven time—the time set for the funeral in the home city of Mr. Rogers.

This notice of Mr. Ryan's has been communicated to every part of the State in which employes are to be found.

POSSE SCOURS RANGE.

Herders Join Sheriff in Hunt for Band of Sheep Raiders and Battle Is Expected.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) May 21.—Word received tonight from Atchee, brings the information that the Sheriff's posse which is scouring the range in search of the band that raided the Taylor sheep camp on Wednesday, has so far failed to find the slightest clew to the marauders.

More herders joined the hunt this afternoon, but tonight there is small hope of apprehending the culprits.

Sheep men declare the present band is the same that murdered Peter Swanson, a sheep herder at Indian Creek, two years ago. A reward of $10,000 offered at that time for the arrest of the guilty parties is said still to be standing.

Should the posse and the raiders meet in the hills, a pitched battle is expected.

BIBLICAL.

FRATERNAL GREETING HAS A HIDDEN STING.

Innocently Worded Wire from Colored Brethren Stirs Anger of Presbyterian General Assembly—Text Taken as a Thinly Veiled Slap.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An innocently worded telegram of greeting from the colored Cumberland Church, in session in Tennessee, created a sensation among the delegates to the Presbyterian general assembly, today.

The telegram read: "Second Corinthians, 12:17."

"I have a telegram of greeting to read," shouted Stated Clerk Roberts. When he tried to find the reference in the Bible the book could not be found. It was five minutes before one was produced. Then this is what the verse said: "Did I make a gain of you by any of them whom I sent unto you?"

The reading started a roar of laughter which did not subside until the sarcasm was fully appreciated. Then protests arose and an adjournment was taken almost immediately.

The general opinion seemed to be that the wording of the telegram was not a mistake, but was intended as a slap at the assembly. While the Cumberland church (colored,) has always been recognized by the general assembly, the Cumberland (white,) has been ignored, since the union of the two branches. But the rebels who seceded from the Cumberland church at the time the union took place, have been stirring up trouble in the South ever since, it is declared, and it is reported that some of the whites are back of the message which was sent by the Cumberland church (colored,) today.

Dr. Roberts stated after the adjournment that he would not permit the mischevious telegram to be spread on the records and the assembly will ignore it. The moderator and the stated clerk were given authority by the assembly this morning to send fraternal greetings to all Presbyterian bodies in session in the United States, but Dr. Roberts said that no fraternal greeting would be sent to the Cumberland (colored.)

WOULD ABOLISH DIVORCE.

A quietus on Sunday amusements and activities, the abolition of divorce and the urgency of religious education were the subjects that started the business of the general assembly with a rush today.

Two other subjects which threaten to cause much parliamentary conflict before the end of the session—the report of the executive commission and the report of the Committee on Administrative Agencies — also were brought before the assembly by Dr. J. D. Moffatt, former moderator and president of the Washington and Jefferson College of Pittsburgh, and by the former moderator, Dr. B. P. Fullerton of St. Louis.

Dr. Moffatt predicted that this session would see the adoption of a plan whereby the eight administrative boards of the church in a large degree would be consolidated. The Committee on Administrative Agencies, of which he is chairman, recommended, in effect, that each board seek legal advice as to its possible powers, that by the exercise of full authority of each organization the administrative powers of all may be centralized.

It has been a subject of comment in the church that the administrative powers have been too much scattered, and it has been the work of the Committee on Administrative Agencies, appointed by the assembly of 1905, to formulate a plan for consolidation.

The subject was made a special order for Monday afternoon.

The subject of marriage and divorce, covered by the report of the committee of that title, together with the other reports submitted today, have been published in book form and distributed among the commissioners in order that each may be conversant with the contents of the report before the matters are taken up for discussion.

SHAMES CHRISTIANS.

The committee calls attention to the alarming increase of the number of divorces granted, as shown by the government census.

"The census," the report says, "tells a story that surprises the people and shames a Christian nation.

"Although it is a fact to be deplored that this scandal and sin and sorrow, resulting from the laxity of law that makes divorce and speedy remarriage possible shows sad and shameful continuance and that the efforts to resist and lessen these evils that threaten the permanence and purity of the family, life, the stability of the state and the life and power of the church, seem unavailing,—the united efforts of the churches, of national and State officials, of officials of the bar associations, and as conspicuously the faithful and persistent work of the National Divorce Congress, which invited the reports of the Inter-church Conference to confer with it, encourage us to believe the movement has made great progress. We hope that reforms will be accomplished which will in time wipe out much of the dishonor and disgrace that makes Christian America conspicuous in permitting a laxity that makes our record our shame.

"There is a strong sentiment yet against the enactment of a national law regulating marriage and divorce, owing to the jealousy of States to preserve their rights. But the States should seek the closest possible uniformity and secure the least possible perplexity, and the best results for the purity of our people and for the peace and prosperity of our nation.

DIVORCE FIGURES.

"We submit the following statistics: In 1887 the total number of divorces granted was 27,919; in 1906, 72,062. The total number granted in twenty years was 945,625. Certain of the States granted divorces as follows:

"Pennsylvania, 1881, 1071 divorces, and in 1906, 3027; New York, in 1887, 1042, 1906, 2089; North Dakota, in 1887, 57 divorces, 1906, 330; Ohio, 1887, 2003, in 1906, 4781; Kentucky, in 1887, 949, in 1906, 2050; Illinois, in 1887, 2663, in 1906, 5943; Massachusetts, in 1887, 763, in 1906, 1548; and Virginia, in 1887, 306 divorces, and in 1906, 1074.

OBITUARY.

George B. Dresser.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) May 21.—George B. Dresser, a stock broker, died last night, aged 52. In former years, Mr. Dresser was an expert press telegrapher, having entered the service of the old New York Associated Press in 1882, serving that organization in New York, and later up-State. He had a wide acquaintance among veteran press operators.

Ernest Hogan.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Ernest Hogan, one of the best-known negro comedians and song writers, is dead of tuberculosis. He wrote the book and music of "Rufus Rastus," in which he starred for two seasons, then of the "Oyster Man," which he was producing at the time of his illness. Hogan wrote several hundred songs, of which "All Coons Look Alike to Me," was the most successful. It is said he cleared $40,000 from this song alone. He was one of the originators of the "rag time" popular songs.

NURSE SUCCEEDS DOCTOR.

CHICAGO, May 21.—That the place of the "old school" doctor, who at once was physician, adviser, friend and confessor to his patients, has been taken by the trained nurse in the modernized profession of medicine, was the contention made by Dr. W. A. Evans, health commissioner of Chicago, in an address to the Sherman Hospital graduating nurses. "The modern physician is an evolution of the old-time doctor," said Dr. Evans. "He has lost a sympathetic element which characterized the old-time doctor, and the nurse has taken this place. Sociological conditions in our municipalities are responsible for disease. With proper sociological conditions disease should be wiped out in our large cities."

FEAR VICTORY FOR UNCLE SAM.

Holders of Union Pacific Shares Selling.

Believed to Be Seeking to Hold Espee.

Are Buying in Large Blocks of Its Stock.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Holders of Union Pacific shares, supposed to be insiders, have been selling extensively, and report has had it that they are investing the money in Southern Pacific shares in open market.

The Washington explanation of this is that the Union Pacific crowd is fearful of losing the case it is fighting against the government, in which the latter seeks to break up the merger between the Union and Southern Pacific.

Union Pacific people, it is supposed, are holding back enough shares to be secure in control, and are turning the rest into Southern Pacific, in order to be assured of supremacy in that property in case the government shall win the suit started at Salt Lake.

There is a possibility that the government might secure some court order relating to control, and voting of Southern Pacific shares now held by Union Pacific, which would throw control of the road to the remaining shares. In such event, it would be of the utmost importance for the group now in control to have sufficient holdings of these free shares to enable them to dominate.

Get Through Routes and Joint Rates from East—Commission's Decision Hits Lines Hard.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A decision was handed down today by the Interstate Commerce Commission in what has come to be known as the Portland gateway case, in which the contention of the traveling public for through routes and joint rates from eastern points via Portland, Or., is sustained.

The railroads which were defendants in the proceeding are required, by order of the commission, to establish before July 1, 1909, through routes and joint rates via Portland and to maintain them for at least two years. Chairman Knapp and Commissioner Clark dissented from the majority opinion of the commission, maintaining that satisfactory through route and through joint rates already were in existence.

By the terms of the decision, which is highly important to the traveling public and to the western and northwestern railroads, the Northern Pacific, the Union Pacific lines and the Chicago and Northwestern Railway are ordered to join in the sale of through passenger tickets between Seattle and other points in the Pacific Northwest and eastern destinations via Portland, and to accord through facilities, like the checking of baggage, over this route. The case was bitterly contested by the railroads.

RENO SHIPPERS PROTEST.

SWITCHING CHARGES EXCESSIVE

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The shippers of Reno have joined in indorsing a communication to the Nevada Railroad Commission, protesting against the excessive switching charges made by the Southern Pacific Company in the Reno yards. All are of the opinion that the Southern Pacific has been charging exorbitant rates. The matter was brought to the attention of the Commercial Club by the Nevada Railroad Commission stating that the commission had received a letter from a Reno shipper protesting against a charge of 25 cents a ton on lumber made by the Southern Pacific Company for switching the lumber from the N.C.O. tracks to the V. & T. tracks. This, the shippers declared, is an unfair rate, and he asked that a reduction be made on all switching done in the Reno yards.

MISSOURI RATE FIGHT.

ATTORNEY FILES APPEAL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, May 21.—Another step was taken by the State to restrain the railroads of Missouri from restoring the 3-cent passenger fare when Herbert Jones, Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, today filed in the Federal court here an appeal from the recent decision of Federal Judge McPherson, continuing in force a temporary injunction restraining the Circuit Attorney from prosecuting an injunction suit against the railroads.

Judge McPherson in March last decided that the 2-cent passenger law of Missouri was unconstitutional and confiscatory and he wants the State courts to keep out of the litigation until the Supreme Court passes upon his decision.

PROBE BRINGS OUT FACTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND, May 21.—At the final hearing at Salem, in the investigation into the grain rates on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, instituted by the railroad commission on its own motion, an affidavit by Chief Engineer George W. Boschke was submitted in evidence, showing the railroad now has in contemplation or already under way, improvements and betterments for this year that will cost $2,000,738. The improvements include the construction of a steel bridge across the Willamette River at Portland, at a cost of $1,250,000; other new bridges, $475,000; new stations and improvements to road beds, $527,000; reducing curves, $1,300,000.

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. H. Tucker, a former well-known Indian fighter, who has been missing some time, was to all indications poisoned to death. His body, much decomposed, has been found, the countenance indicating intense suffering during his last moments. His mouth showed he had drunk some drug—whether with suicidal intent or not may never be known. The corpse was found yesterday in Tucker's shack in the outskirts of Rhyolite. The position of the body also gave evidence of extreme suffering in Tucker's dying moments. An investigation has been started.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—Word was received by Coroner Morgan this afternoon that L. A. Lambert was dead in his home in a lonely cañon north of Fallbrook. The body was found by a passing rancher, and the case was at first thought to be one of suicide.

This evening the Sheriff received a message saying that Lambert had probably been murdered, as there were evidences of a struggle. It is said that he lived alone and was supposed to have money in his dwelling. The Sheriff and Coroner have gone to the scene to investigate.

FATAL ROAD QUARREL.

HIRED MAN IS KILLED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PENDLETON (Or.) May 21.—One man dead, one wounded and one unaccounted for is the result of a tragedy enacted near German Springs, eight miles northwest of Milton, last evening.

The tragedy is the outcome of a quarrel of long standing between Mike Ryan and a neighbor named Shubert, concerning a road. Will Dixon, a hired man on the Shubert farm, is dead, while his employer is in the Walla Walla Hospital with a bullet wound in his thigh. Ryan is missing.

The shooting was not reported until this morning. Though a posse has surrounded Ryan's house, no one has yet ventured to approach to see if Ryan is there. Sheriff Taylor has gone to the scene.

Shubert and Dixon were returning from town when they were halted on a piece of road by Ryan, who forbade them to drive over it. The men left their team and returned in about an hour, when a violent quarrel ensued.

Ryan was armed, and in order to pacify the men and prevent his employer from injury, Dixon stepped between the belligerents just as Ryan fired. The bullet passed through Dixon's body into Shubert's thigh. Dixon died shortly after in a field.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ELKO (Nev.) May 21.—Sarah Appear, an aged Indian woman, who, two weeks ago, killed her mother-in-law and burned the body, in the belief that it would cure her husband, who was ill, was held today for the grand jury for murder. The woman said that a "medicine squaw" of the tribe told her that unless she killed her husband's mother, her husband would die. She enticed her victim to a lonely spot in the hills and killed her with an iron bar.

Reign of Riot Is Feared in Teamsters' Strike.

Police Accompany Every Rig of News Companies.

Union Outrages Force Chief Shippy to Act.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heavily armed and prepared to prevent threatened attacks by striking teamsters, forty-two detectives rode on twenty-one wagons which left the Western News Company's plant today. The wagons were followed by union pickets, regardless of the strong guard, and the policemen were kept constantly on the alert.

Repetition of the violent tactics of the big teamsters' strike, when acid, bricks and stones were thrown, is feared by Chief of Police Shippy, and he ordered out a detail of men in charge of Capt. Gibbons of the Central Detail Station. The precautions today followed violence in connection with the strike of drivers of the news company.

The wagons of the company were attacked by men said to belong to wrecking crews of strikers. Drivers were beaten, wagons were wrecked, harness was cut and horses were turned loose on the streets.

In one of these attacks, at the Northwestern passenger station early today, every wheel of a wagon was broken, the harness was scattered along the street for the distance of a block and the load of newspapers and magazines was destroyed.

In another encounter at the Grand Central Station a non-union driver was pulled from his seat and severely mauled by the strikers. The wagon was completely wrecked and the harness rendered useless.

It was this incident, which followed a similar fight at Federal and Van Buren streets, that caused officials of the company to appeal to Chief Shippy. Capt. Gibbons, thirty plain-clothes detectives and twenty uniformed officers were placed on duty at the company's headquarters to prevent rioting.

Every wagon in the service of the company was accompanied by at least one of the detectives. Any threats of violence will lead to immediate arrests, according to the instructions of Chief Shippy.

STRIKING JAPS WILL PARADE.

Hawaiian Plantation Laborers Pouring Into Honolulu from Surrounding Country.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HONOLULU, May 21.—Obeying the orders of the employers to quit the sugar plantations or return to work Saturday, the striking Japanese plantation hands are leaving the places where they have been employed and pouring into the city.

The leaders of the strike at the Honolulu plantation have prepared plans for a march of the strikers, the procession to be headed by a band and the men to carry Japanese and American flags. These will be joined by the men from the Oahu plantation, and the whole procession will proceed to this city tomorrow afternoon. It is estimated there will be from three to four thousand strikers in line. When the procession reaches this city the Japanese sympathizers will turn out to meet them and escort them to quarters which already have been prepared for their reception and stay until the strike comes to an end.

The Japanese employés on the Waitua plantation probably will join the strike Monday. It is the purpose of the leaders of the movement to keep those employed on the Ewa plantation at work in order to supply the strikers with a means of subsistence. Japanese house servants and others are contributing liberally to the strike fund already.

The sugar plantations are working in all about 11,000 strikebreakers and the force is so small that only the most urgent field work is progressing.

CRY PERSECUTION.

JUDGE OVERRULES MADDEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—"Persecution of union labor" by the Chicago Employers' Association was charged today by the defense in the trial of Martin B. Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades, and his associates, F. A. Puchet and M. J. Boyle.

The unionists are charged with conspiracy by accepting graft money in settling fake strikes.

Madden's lawyers declared the strikes concerning which the State introduced testimony tending to show the payment of money were legitimate. They declared $1000 was not received by Madden in settlement of the strike on the Joseph Klicka plant.

Judge McSurley overruled motions made by the defense to take the case from the jury.

FRANCE TO INCREASE NAVY.

PARIS, May 21.—The superior council of the navy has decided upon a programme that includes bringing the number of French battleships up to 38, a total that would insure France fourth place among the naval powers of the world. It is proposed to lay down in 1910 two 21,000-ton vessels of an enlarged Danton type. The council is in favor of twelve twelve-inch guns in six turrets, those aft to be superposed. The naval artillery experts, however, have brought forward arguments in favor of sixteen 10.8-inch guns in eight turrets.

DIG UP BODY IN BOX.

NERVE-SHATTERING TO BRAVE OFFICERS.

S-H-H-H-H-H! Mystery, detectives, pine box, grave, strange women, death, more mystery! Sh-h-h-h-h!

Late yesterday afternoon two men sneaked out of the Central Police Station. They sought to conceal the fact that they were perplexed by a knotty problem. They were real detectives.

They boarded a street car at First street and Broadway, looking like two ordinary individuals on their way home for their evening meal. Way out on Michigan avenue, beyond the city limits, they alighted from the electric and furtively they glanced in every direction. Then they sighed with relief. They had not been followed.

Quickly they walked three blocks to No. 239 Wellington street. When a woman answered the ring of the door bell, the sleuths asked for Mrs. Brooks. They were informed that she stood before them.

Sternly they demanded to know where she had buried "that pine box."

Mrs. Brooks was awed by the stars which were flashed in her eyes. She turned without speaking and led the officers to the yard at the rear of her home. She did not talk because she could not do so and keep from laughing. The detectives did not know this.

MOUND OF EARTH.

With brisk steps, they followed their guide to a little mound of fresh earth. Feverishly, and expecting ghastly revelations, they seized the shovels Mrs. Brooks secured for them. They had been told by their captain that in all probability there would be grewsome work ahead of them.

"Aha! A box!" exclaimed a sleuth.

'Twas true. It was brought to the surface in a few moments. A hatchet was procured by Mrs. Brooks. For a few seconds the detectives hesitated. Beads of perspiration stood out on their foreheads. Then they went at the cover of that box, ready to brave the sight that might meet their gaze when the lid was ripped off. They were prepared for the worst.

Whack! whack! whack! Neighbors were attracted by the noise, and looked over fences. Mrs. Brooks turned aside and hid her face in her apron. The observant detectives did not fail to note this, but they could not see what was going on behind the apron.

A final blow and the cover was off. The detectives braced themselves and peeped in.

ONE LOOK ENOUGH.

One look was enough. Both started back and stared at each other. A merry laugh from Mrs. Brooks relieved the tension. In the depths of the little pine coffin was the body of a pretty tabby cat.

The sleuths abandoned mysteriousness and took Mrs. Brooks into their confidence. They learned from her that two stylishly-gowned women had brought the box and left it on the front porch of her home. In fear, she had kept away from it until her husband came home. He had pried off the top and inspected the contents. The cat was given dignified burial in the yard.

An inquisitive neighbor had observed the ceremony and telephoned to the police for information. Capt. Dixon was suspicious and the detectives put on the trail. Mrs. Brooks gayly told the officers as they departed that she believed the two women were guests at the Hotel Locke, but they were sat-

FEAR VICTORY FOR UNCLE SAM.

Holders of Union Pacific Shares Selling.

Believed to Be Seeking to Hold Espee.

Are Buying in Large Blocks of Its Stock.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Holders of Union Pacific shares, supposed to be insiders, have been selling extensively, and report has had it that they are investing the money in Southern Pacific shares in open market.

The Washington explanation of this is that the Union Pacific crowd is fearful of losing the case it is fighting against the government, in which the latter seeks to break up the merger between the Union and Southern Pacific.

Union Pacific people, it is supposed, are holding back enough shares to be secure in control, and are turning the rest into Southern Pacific, in order to be assured of supremacy in that property in case the government shall win the suit started at Salt Lake.

There is a possibility that the government might secure some court order relating to control, and voting of Southern Pacific shares now held by Union Pacific, which would throw control of the road to the remaining shares. In such event, it would be of the utmost importance for the group now in control to have sufficient holdings of these free shares to enable them to dominate.

Old Through Routes and Joint Rates from East—Commission's Decision Hits Lines Hard.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A decision was handed down today by the Interstate Commerce Commission in what has come to be known as the Portland gateway case, in which the contention of the traveling public for through routes and joint rates from eastern points via Portland, Or., is sustained.

The railroads which were defendants in the proceeding are required, by order of the commission, to establish, before July 1, 1909, through routes and joint rates via Portland and to maintain them for at least two years. Chairman Knapp and Commissioner Clark dissented from the majority opinion of the commission, maintaining that satisfactory through route and through joint rates already were in existence.

By the terms of the decision, which is highly important to the traveling public and to the western and northwestern railroads, the Northern Pacific, the Union Pacific lines and the Chicago and Northwestern Railway are ordered to join in the sale of through passenger tickets between Seattle and other points in the Pacific Northwest and eastern destinations via Portland, and to accord through facilities, like the checking of baggage, over this route. The case was bitterly contested by the railroads.

RENO SHIPPERS PROTEST.

SWITCHING CHARGES EXCESSIVE

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The shippers of Reno have joined in indorsing a communication to the Nevada Railroad Commission, protesting against the excessive switching charges made by the Southern Pacific Company in the Reno yards. All are of the opinion that the Southern Pacific has been charging exorbitant rates. The matter was brought to the attention of the Commercial Club by the Nevada Railroad Commission stating that the commission had received a letter from a Reno shipper protesting against a charge of 25 cents a ton on lumber made by the Southern Pacific Company for switching the lumber from the N.C.O. tracks to the V. & T. tracks. This, the shippers declared, is an unfair rate, and he asked that a reduction be made on all switching done in the Reno yards.

MISSOURI RATE FIGHT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, May 21.—Another step was taken by the State to restrain the railroads of Missouri from restoring the 3-cent passenger fare when Herbert Jones, Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, today filed in the Federal court here an appeal from the recent decision of Federal Judge McPherson, continuing in force a temporary injunction restraining the Circuit Attorney from prosecuting an injunction suit against the railroads.

Judge McPherson in March last decided that the 2-cent passenger law of Missouri was unconstitutional and confiscatory and he wants the State courts to keep out of the litigation until the Supreme Court passes upon his decision.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND, May 21.—At the final hearing at Salem, in the investigation into the grain rates on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, instituted by the railroad commission on its own motion, an affidavit by Chief Engineer George W. Boschke was submitted in evidence, showing the railroad now has in contemplation or already under way, improvements and betterments for this year that will cost $2,55,728. The improvements include the construction of a steel bridge across the Willamette River at Portland, at a cost of $1,250,000; other new bridges, $63,000; new stations and improvements to road beds, $527,000; reducing curves, $1,300,000.

The wagons of the company were attacked by men said to belong to wrecking crews of strikers. Drivers were beaten, wagons were wrecked, harness was cut and horses were turned loose on the streets.

In one of these attacks, at the Northwestern passenger station early today, every wheel of a wagon was broken, the harness was scattered along the street for the distance of a block and the load of newspapers and magazines was destroyed.

In another encounter at the Grand Central Station a non-union driver was pulled from his seat and severely mauled by the strikers. The wagon was completely wrecked and the harness rendered useless.

It was this incident, which followed a similar fight at Federal and Van Buren streets, that caused officials of the company to appeal to Chief Shippy. Capt. Gibbons, thirty plain-clothes detectives and twenty uniformed officers were placed on duty at the company's headquarters to prevent rioting.

Every wagon in the service of the company was accompanied by at least one of the detectives. Any threats of violence will lead to immediate arrests, according to the instructions of Chief Shippy.

STRIKING JAPS WILL PARADE.

Hawaiian Plantation Laborers Pouring Into Honolulu from Surrounding Country.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HONOLULU, May 21.—Obeying the orders of the employers to quit the sugar plantations or return to work Saturday, the striking Japanese plantation hands are leaving the places where they have been employed and pouring into the city.

The leaders of the strike at the Honolulu plantation have prepared plans for a march of the strikers, the procession to be headed by a band and the men to carry Japanese and American flags. These will be joined by the men from the Oahu plantation, and the whole procession will proceed to this city tomorrow afternoon. It is estimated there will be from three to four thousand strikers in line. When the procession reaches this city the Japanese sympathisers will turn out to meet them and escort them to quarters which already have been prepared for their reception and stay until the strike comes to an end.

The Japanese employés on the Waitua plantation probably will join the strike Monday. It is the purpose of the leaders of the movement to keep those employed on the Ewa plantation at work in order to supply the strikers with a means of subsistence. Japanese house servants and others are contributing liberally to the strike fund already.

The sugar plantations are working in all about 11,000 strikebreakers and the force is so small that only the most urgent field work is progressing.

CRY PERSECUTION.

JUDGE OVERRULES MADDEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—"Persecution of union labor" by the Chicago Employers' Association was charged today by the defense in the trial of Martin B. Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades, and his associates, F. A. Puchet and M. J. Boyle.

The unionists are charged with conspiracy by accepting graft money in settling fake strikes.

Madden's lawyers declared the strikes concerning which the State introduced testimony tending to show the payment of money were legitimate. They declared $1000 was not received by Madden in settlement of the strike on the Joseph Klicka plant.

Judge McSurley overruled motions made by the defense to take the case from the jury.

FRANCE TO INCREASE NAVY.

PARIS, May 21.—The superior council of the navy has decided upon a programme that includes bringing the number of French battleships up to 38, a total that would insure France fourth place among the naval powers of the world. It is proposed to lay down in 1910 two 21,000-ton vessels of an enlarged Danton type. The council is in favor of twelve twelve-inch guns in six turrets, those aft to be superposed. The naval artillery experts, however, have brought forward arguments in favor of sixteen 10.8-inch guns in eight turrets.

DIG UP BODY IN BOX.

NERVE-SHATTERING TO BRAVE OFFICERS.

S-H-H-H-H-H! Mystery, detectives, pine box, grave, strange women, death, more mystery! Sh-h-h-h-h!

Late yesterday afternoon two men sneaked out of the Central Police Station. They sought to conceal the fact that they were perplexed by a knotty problem. They were real detectives.

They boarded a street car at First street and Broadway, looking like two ordinary individuals on their way home for their evening meal. Way out on Michigan avenue, beyond the city limits, they alighted from the electric and furtively they glanced in every direction. Then they sighed with relief. They had not been followed.

Quickly they walked three blocks to No. 229 Wellington street. When a woman answered the ring of the door bell, the sleuths asked for Mrs. Brooks. They were informed that she stood before them.

Sternly they demanded to know where she had buried "that pine box." Mrs. Brooks was awed by the stars which were flashed in her eyes. She turned without speaking and led the officers to the yard at the rear of her home. She did not talk because she could not do so and keep from laughing. The detectives did not know this.

MOUND OF EARTH.

With brisk steps, they followed their guide to a little mound of fresh earth. Feverishly, and expecting ghastly revelations, they seized the shovels Mrs. Brooks secured for them. They had been told by their captain that in all probability there would be grewsome work ahead of them.

"Aha! A box!" exclaimed a sleuth.

'Twas true. It was brought to the surface in a few moments. A hatchet was procured by Mrs. Brooks. For a few seconds the detectives hesitated. Beads of perspiration stood out on their foreheads. Then they went at the cover of that box, ready to brave the sight that might meet their gaze when the lid was ripped off. They were prepared for the worst.

Whack! whack! whack! Neighbors were attracted by the noise, and looked over fences. Mrs. Brooks turned aside and hid her face in her apron. The observant detectives did not fail to note this, but they could not see what was going on behind the apron.

A final blow and the cover was off. The detectives braced themselves and peeped in.

ONE LOOK ENOUGH.

One look was enough. Both started back and stared at each other. A merry laugh from Mrs. Brooks relieved the tension. In the depths of the little pine coffin was the body of a pretty tabby cat.

The sleuths abandoned mysteriousness and took Mrs. Brooks into their confidence. They learned from her that two stylishly-gowned women had brought the box and left it on the front porch of her home. In fear, she had kept away from it until her husband came home. He had pried off the top and inspected the contents. The cat was given dignified burial in the yard.

An inquisitive neighbor had observed the ceremony and telephoned to the police for information. Capt. Dixon was suspicious and the detectives put on the trail. Mrs. Brooks gayly told the officers as they departed that she believed the two women were guests at the Hotel Locke, but they were eating

POOR CARD.

KEEPS BOXER OUT OF RING.

Club Physician Says Hugo Is Out of Condition.

Mack Defeats Martin in One Round of Slugging.

Mike Kutchos Takes Measure of Jap Togo.

Because the club physician was not satisfied with the physical condition of Johnny Hugo, as announced from the ring, what was supposed to be the main event was called off last night at the regular weekly show of the Pacific Athletic Club, at the Naud Junction Pavilion. Frankie Sullivan, the Arcadia boxer, was thus robbed of a fight.

To stop the gap in the programme, the management put on two negro boys named Congo Coon and Kid Bell for an exhibition six rounds, but this was stopped in the fifth by the referee, because it was such a poor exhibition, few if any damaging blows being landed. After the crowd started to hiss, the boys were sent out of the ring, but in all probability they went in without training and were not given enough to make them get busy.

The switching of one bout brought forward as the main event the six-round go between Willie Mack and Steeple Jack Martin, but this turned out to be an awful affair, for it did not last one round. The fighters are big, long-legged, long-armed men, and the way they went at things in a wild, haymaker manner would make all the wind mills in the country fall off their towers. It was fierce enough while it lasted, and Mack, with more experience than Martin, won all the way, because he was able to avoid many of Martin's wild swings. Both went at it fiercely with the tap of the gong, with Mack the aggressor.

ARMS TOO LONG.

Martin's arms were too long to do good work at close range, and with Mack doing the rushing, Martin received many punches and slaps on the face. Mack jabbed him with lefts, slammed him with rights, and uppercut him, and when the round was about half-finished, Mack floored Martin with a right to the jaw. The big fellow was groggy, and rested on his hands and knees while Referee Eyton was counting off the fatal beats. Martin took his time, and just as Eyton counted "nine" and then "out," Martin raised up, but as he had been declared "out," he was sent to his corner. He wanted to continue, but was really in no shape to go on, for he was groggy.

The card was made up of seven bouts, and did not prove to be a very good one for the laid-sized crowd of fight bugs in the pavilion, for none of the fights were classy. In addition to Martin's knockout, the police stopped the bout between Norman Stone and Harry Housler, when the latter was "all in," and, with the exhibition bout also stopped before the finish, the sports saw but four limit fights.

Billy Papke was introduced, and challenged the world, Ketchel preferred, and Jim Flynn, who was present, accepted the ded, but it is not likely these two will come together, for Papke probably would ask a big guarantee, and the days of those things are passing.

GREEK BEATS JAP.

Mike Kutchos had the better of his six-round go with the Jap Togo, which was a rough little scrap. Both were willing in the first round, and the bugs were surprised to see the Jap tear into Kutchos right off the reel and land four or five blows on the Greek's face. The Jap had no trouble in jabbing Kutchos in the face and the Greek's only reply was a left swing to the stomach. This was easily the Jap's round.

Kutchos had the best of the next four rounds, knocking the Jap down with light blows in the second and third rounds. The Jap landed a number of hard blows on Kutchos's face and this made the Greek angry, and in his anger he chased the Jap around the ring continually, and not until the last round did the latter show any class, and in this session he bested Kutchos, but Mike was entitled to the decision.

Norman Stone finished Harry Housler in less than two rounds, the police stopping the scrap when Housler was practically all in and had no chance. It was a fierce, wild, haymaker slugging bout from the tap of the gong, with Stone the aggressor all the way.

Housler was the larger, but Stone tore into him from the start with strong rushes. In one of these rushes Housler caught Stone with a right swing on top of the head and knocked him down, but Stone was up in a second and slammed into Housler with right and left. The big fellow was knocked down twice and fell twice, and was weak and in bad shape.

In the second round Stone rushed and Housler slipped down. When he got up he was knocked down with a right hook to the jaw and on arising was put down again. Stone never let Housler rest a moment and the latter was so tired by the strenuous work that he fell or was pushed to the floor three times more in this round. This third fall was the final one, for with Housler lying on the floor all in, the police stopped the uneven bout.

FOOT RACE FIGHT.

The bout between Herb White and Kid Barnes was a foot race in each of the six rounds, Barnes running continually and having the worst of it. The last round was the only one in which he made any kind of a showing, for he was on the run all the time and had little chance to fight back. He marked White's face in several places, but Herb never let him rest a moment. White did all the forcing, but could not make much of a showing because Barnes ran, ducked and clinched at almost every opportunity.

Roy Rogers lost to Kid Myers in four rounds, the fourth being the only one in which Rogers showed any advantage. Myers did all the forcing and was easily the better, as Rogers would not fight.

Kid Batt beat Young Earn in the four-round curtain raiser, but Earn was game, and although staggering in the last round, made Batt's nose bleed and had him much to the bad.

BELITTLES JOHNSON.

O'BRIEN FAVORS KETCHEL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack O'Brien, who went six rounds with Jack Johnson Wednesday night, declares Stanley Ketchel will beat the colored champion at Colma.

"Ketchel," O'Brien says, "is the any kind of walloping long enough to get in the same kind of blows that put me away in my bout with him in New York.

"Johnson, in my opinion, cannot take severe punishment, even when in prime condition. When I made him back up with body blows, I realized he would prove a victim for a slugger like Ketchel. Johnson is overrated in many ways. He does not know how to land except when in a flat-footed position. He cannot hit while in motion when he has a shifty opponent. He is not a quick thinker, and if he receives hard smashes at close range he is liable to lose his bearings completely. I think Johnson will be the first to go down if he gets to slugging with Ketchel at close quarters."

BACK IN FORM.

MANTELL BEATS MAYFIELD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Mantell of Rhode Island was given the decision on points over Frank Mayfield in thirteen rounds of what was to be a twenty-round fight before the Buffalo Athletic Club in this city tonight. After the gong rang, Mayfield's men threw up the sponge, his face being battered into a pulp and he being so exhausted that he was almost unable to raise his hands.

Previous to the go a telegram was received from Mike (Twin) Sullivan challenging the winner. Referee Harry Foley said last night that he th ught Mantell could defeat any 145-pound man in the business.

Cote Beats McCarthy.

BOSTON, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arthur Cote of Biddeford, Me., knocked out Jimmy McCarthy of Chicago in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the Faneuil Hall Athletic Club tonight. Cote worked a right smash to the jaw early in the finishing round, McCarthy taking the count no less than five times before he was toiled out for good.

TOMORROW.

THREE-CORNERED RACE BEHIND MOTOR BIKES.

SAMUELSON, Duer and Williams are to meet in a three-cornered motor-paced race at Fiesta Stadium tomorrow afternoon, and the men are going after a new record. Samuelson and Duer were the winners in the ten-mile events that were held at the last two meets, and each rider is anxious to beat the other.

Duer fell seven seconds short of equaling Samuelson's time of 14m. 17 2-5s. over the course, but he is capable of riding faster in a pinch. Williams will make his first appearance here behind a motorcycle.

The amateur and professional sprinters are to compete in the following races: Mile amateur handicap, two heats; half-mile professional race, two heats; three-mile professional handicap, two-mile amateur lap race, mile novice event.

The handicap sprint races probably will be the most closely contested that have been held at the Stadium. The men have been handicapped according to their performances during the last three weeks and they should be bunched at the finish. J. WITHOUT GLOVES.

WILLETT AND SMITH FIGHT.

Players Mix in Boxing Bout at Third Base.

Ort Is Fined and Put Out of Game for Kicking.

Angels Roll in Three Runs Without a Hit.

Los Angeles, 3; Portland, 2.

The Coast League should so change its programme next year that baseball will be but a side line and that prize-fighting will be the whole show, for it could certainly get a lot more money for bare knuckle fights than it does out of baseball and provide more amusement for the fans. Several times at the Vernon grounds there have been impromptu scraps and shouldering matches and once or twice at the Chutes grounds there have been flashes of real mix-ups, but yesterday was the first time there was a bona fine scrap.

Jud Smith of Los Angeles and Pitcher Roy Willett of the Portland team were the fighters and they exchanged three or four punches at third base before the other players separated them. The row occurred in the last of the sixth inning and as a result of it Smith was put out of the game because he struck the first blow.

According to the statement of a reporter who hurried to the Portland bench to learn Willett's name, this young pitcher refused to say anything about the scrap and remarked that if any of the newspapers contained anything about the fight he would give the reporters the same thing he gave Smith, so the fans who attend today's game may see six newspaper men beaten to shreds—and may not.

Previous to this battle at third base, Ort, playing second for Portland, had roared at a decision of McCarthy and was fined $5 and thrown out of the game, and as Los Angeles made its three runs without a hit and Tozer had to be removed from the game on account of his wildness, it might be stated that the fans got more than their money's worth yesterday.

BAD MAN WILLETT.

In the sixth inning, Willett went to third base to coach for Portland and the story is that he began to worry Smith and call him all kinds of bad names. Smith told him to "cut it out," but as he did not, Smith swung at him and then they indulged in a sparring match until the other players rushed up and separated them. There were few blows struck and none of these did any damage apparently, but as Smith struck the first blow he was put out of the game. Willett had nothing to say, aside from the reported statement that he would give the reporters what he did Smith, if they mentioned the fight.

It was a strange game in more ways than one. Los Angeles made its three runs in the fourth inning without a hit and although Garrett out-pitched Tozer and the latter had to be taken from the game in the middle of the eighth inning for Portland, the former lost because he had the expected bad inning, in which he and some of his players went up in the air and threw the ball wildly about the field.

That fourth inning was certainly a bad one and Garrett opened the last half by walking Beall, who advanced to second on Howard's neat sacrifice. Then Smith bounced the ball over Garrett's head and was out at first on a beautiful assist by Olson, who dashed over at full speed and grabbed the ball, throwing it while running. This put Beall on third and Garrett then soaked Delmas with the ball.

When Delmas started to steal to second base, Beall dashed for the plate and beat the throw-back for the first run. Delmas reached second on this and scored when Olson let Dillon's grounder get between his feet. Ryan threw the ball back to the infield and Garrett grabbed it and heaved it to second in the attempt to catch Dillon, but the ball hit Dillon and rolled off into center field. Dillon scrambled to his feet and got to third on this error and scored a moment later when Ort juggled Orendorff's grounder.

In the next inning, after Ort had thrown Daley out at first on a grounder, the second baseman began to roast Umpire McCarthy and was promptly fined $5 and thrown out of the game. McCarthy could not account for Ort's blasphemy, other than that it arose from some decision at first base. On the throw-back of the ball when Beall scored, that player apparently did not touch the plate, but McCarthy called him safe and this had something to do with the general temperament of the Beavers.

SULPHUR SPOUTS.

Forgetting the prize-fighting and the alleged bad language, the game had much that was good in it, for there were many fine fielding stunts, the work of Olson being particularly fine. Some of his assists were really startling. Delmas also did very fine work and Speas made a great running catch of Daley's foul in the third. These stunts kept the fans on their toes from start to finish, so it might be stated that the prize-fight occurred as an extra spitaneous attraction not down on the bills.

Tozer was far from being at his best and yet the Beavers did not make a run off him until the sixth inning, when Olson doubled to left and scored on Johnson's single to left. In the seventh Tozer began to tire and walked two men, but managed to get out of the tight holes with the fine support given him. In the eighth, however, he had to be taken out and Nagle, the best pitcher in the league last year, finished the game.

Ryan started the eighth with a hard swat to left which Godwin rushed in and tried to scoop, but failed and the ball went to the fence for a triple. Ryan easily scored on Olson's hard bouncer that struck Tozer and glanced off. McCredie had been hit in the head with a pitched ball in the fourth inning and knocked down, but not hurt, and Graney went to bat in this eighth inning and was out bunting the third strike. Then Johnson and Breen, who had taken Ort's place, were passed.

Dillon threw Tozer out of the game at this point and stuck in Nagle and this bird made Kennedy bounce the ball to Wheeler at third, who forced Olson at the plate. The bases were still full but Nagle made the hard-hitting Armbruster fly out to Godwin in left. The Beavers could do nothing with Long Legs in the ninth and Garrett was not in danger after the fourth.

VERNON STILL UNLUCKY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—San Francisco took its fourth victory of the week from Vernon today in a fast, snappy game, the final outcome of which was 1 to 0.

Several times Vernon succeeded in getting men to third, but Willis was able to pull himself out of the hole on each occasion by means of the fielding of his team-mates.

In the fifth Vernon got two men on bases with none out, but the next three batters failed to connect safely. Score:

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Pitcher Viggs, the Oaks' premier twirler, had no terrors for the locals today, when the Senators won their third game of the series, 2 to 0.

Wiggs was batted for eleven hits. Fair support except in one case prevented more runs for the locals. On the other hand, Buck Ehman was in great form, allowing only two hits, one of them being a very scrappy affair. The game was the best Sacramento fans have seen since the team returned home. Score:

WISE TALKS

BY THE "OFFICE BOY"

The stranger said, "Well, little boy, what do you expect to be when you become of age?" "Twenty-one, sir," replied the boy. "Willie," said the miserly, old uncle, "how would you feel if I gave you a quarter?" "Well," confessed Willie, "of course at first I would feel faint, but I'd try very hard to get over it." Still, the rattle of pans and dishes in the kitchen sounds better than classical music to a hungry man.

Today we expect to be awfully busy in both stores, right up to closing time at ten o'clock. We want you to make it a point to come in, even if you don't want to buy. Down at our Broadway and 6th Street Store our clothing salesmen would be so pleased to show you the right things in clothing. They'd like to have you slip some of the coats on, just to show you how different ready-to-wear clothing is today from what it was a year or two ago. Why, honestly, we are selling suits every day to men who never wore a ready-made suit before in their lives, and they tell us their friends say it's the best fitting suit they ever saw on them. Then, it's about time to select that straw hat, isn't it? Oh, say! Have you seen those ties and socks that go together? They're awfully nice. Try to come in today. Either store.

FINAL REWARD.

MISS CROCKER HAS BEST DOG.

Endcliffe Totora Wins the Highest Prize.

Cheviot Collene Best Dog Bred in the South.

Champion Faith II Favorite Dog of the Club.

Champion Endcliffe Totora, Miss Jennie Crocker's Boston bull terrier bitch, was adjudged the best dog of any breed at the kennel show at Hamburger's yesterday.

In accordance with this decision the Crocker kennels won the challenge cup for the best animal shown, as well as the permanent cup offered for the best dog or bitch in the show of 1909. Champion Endcliffe Totora was entered only for the specials.

The judging of specials was the programme of the day. Competition between the winners in the various classes was close. While the Crocker kennels of San Francisco took two of the grand special cups, the remainder went to southern owners.

The challenge cup offered for the best dog or bitch of any breed shown by a member of the Southwestern Kennel Club went to the pointer bitch, Champion Faith II of the Imprimis Kennels, dam of nearly every other prize winning pointer in the show. H. and J. Stewart, with their sable and white collie bitch, Cheviot Collene, took the challenge cup for the best dog or bitch born in Southern California and owned and bred by a member of the Southwestern Kennel Club. This cup, which is to remain in the custody of the kennel club, is to become the property of the person winning it three times at the bench show of the Southwestern Kennel Club. Cheviot Collene also won the special cup offered for the best collie bitch bred on the Pacific Coast from either an American bred sire or dam.

The cup for the best St. Bernard in the show went to Rover, belonging to S. J. Jappel. This dog was not shown when the awards were made in the different classes.

POINTER SPECIALS.

In the pointer specials Champion Faith II, which was entered for the specials only, in addition to the Pacific Coast challenge cup for the best pointer owned on the Coast, also took the cup as the best bitch at the show. Her son, Imprimis Vacquero, received the cup offered for the best pointer dog. George McLean and James Ewins shared the bulldog cups between them. McLean's Jack Aitken took the special cup for the best puppy of either sex as well as the medal for the best puppy dog. Champion Moston Monarch, McLean's English importation, took the cup offered for the best dog. Ewin's puppy bitch Primrose took the special cup for the best American-bred bulldog of either sex, competition for which was limited to members of the Pacific Coast Bulldog Club, and also the medal offered for the best bitch in the puppy class.

Clee Hill Star, belonging to G. W. Hewitt, captured the cup offered for the best Irish terrier at the show.

Mrs. Arthur Armstrong's Highland Chief added another cup to the collection of prizes that he has won during the present show by taking the trophy offered for the best collie dog bred on the Pacific Coast, with either an American bred sire or dam.

E. P. Beddeau, handler for the Abingdon Kennels, won cash prizes of $20 offered to him for entering and handling the greatest number of dogs, to have not less than fifteen dogs and his name to appear on the entry blank.

With the award of the last special prizes yesterday evening, Judge Thomas finished his labors. Today the dogs will be on the bench the entire time, and this evening the three score and more cups and medals will be presented to the winning owners. The show will close tonight, and this afternoon will be for society.

L.A.A.C. BOYS WIN.

Defeat Bimini in First Game of Series in Championship Water Polo.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club water polo team defeated the Bimini Club at Bimini last evening by a score of 3 to 0. The game, although the first contest of the series, was fast and hard fought. The Athletic Club men continually threatened the Bimini goal and it was only the strenuous efforts of McManus and Lee that prevented a higher score.

Stan Mitchell scored the first point for the Athletic Club near the end of the first half, while the second period was more than half gone when Bassett managed to tally the last two points in quick succession.

The contest last night was the first of a series of aquatic sports to be conducted on the next four succeeding Friday evenings by the Southern California Swimming Association.

The line-up last evening follows:

L.A.A.C.		Bimini.

S. Mitchell	guard	McManus

Bassett	forward	Bryant

RED BABE WINS.

Burt Blanchard First in Auto Race from Pomona to San Diego and Return.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. D. Blanchard, in a "baby" Reo, won the Pomona-San Diego and return automobile race yesterday against a single-cylinder Oldsmobile, driven by Albert Charles. The two Pomona autoists had arranged the match early in the week, and a side bet of $100 had been wagered by the rival drivers. Pomona autoists risked about $1500 on the outcome of the race. Blanchard was a favorite.

The Reo made the round trip, 280 miles, in a little more than thirteen hours. Blanchard's "one-lunger" whizzed over the roads in good shape and the driver kept his machine moving as fast as possible, making stops only when necessary for tire repairs.

With the race well in hand Blanchard rolled into Second street at 6 o'clock tonight. At 9 o'clock Charles had not yet reached this city. It is the first time single-cylinder automobiles have engaged in so long a race hereabouts.

BETTING TO BE ALLOWED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—Fifty wealthy residents of Nevada formed today what will be known as the Nevada Jockey Club, and formulated plans for the holding of a big race meet immediately after the forty-day racing season is ended at Salt Lake City.

The organization, which is looked upon as a step in the reviving of horse racing where betting will not be curtailed, has been undergoing the preliminary stages for several days, and California racing men are said to have assisted in bringing its formation to a head.

The State Fair Grounds will be used in the proposed race meet, and $100 was voted by members of the newly-organized club today to put the track

ANOTHER VICTORY.

NEW YORK, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Though Jack Goodman, the New York lightweight, put up a game fight, Freddie Welsh of England, who is hot on Battling Nelson's trail, defeated him signally on points in a ten-round bout at the Fairmount Athletic Club tonight. Welsh is a master in boxing science, though he showed lack of hitting powers. He scored points with great rapidity in the eight rounds, after which Goodman, with much gameness, made a desperate rally.

Welsh put up a far better battle than when he recently outpointed Johnny Frayne at the Bronx Club. He is very fast in attack and defense. Goodman's face was badly cut and hammered, while the Briton left the ring un-

Classified Liners.

Times Classified rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge, 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents; "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," Church Notices, Miscellaneous," and "Bath and Massage."

"Liner" (Classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Rates 1½c per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," or no mistakes can be rectified without them.

SPECIAL NOTICES—

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been effected by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 80,000 daily and 95,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

PER ACRE, WITH WATER.

¼ CASH, BALANCE 1, 2 AND 3 YEARS.

Here is the opportunity to own a ranch of two and one-half to five acres upon which you may raise oranges, lemons, berries, alfalfa, in fact, everything to make you independent.

There is an abundant supply of crystal artesian well water piped in steel mains to each acre from the cement reservoir containing over half a million gallons, supplying one-half miner's inch to the acre.

All of the land is nearly level with a gradual slope to the south. The soil is a rich, sandy loam that has raised large crops, and $100 per acre is being realized from alfalfa at the present time.

Adjoining property is selling from $400 to $1500 per acre.

These acres will, undoubtedly, bring over $1500 each in eight of three years.

During the hot summer months, the ocean breezes sweep over this elevation, making the temperature about the same at all seasons.

The macadamized Main Street Boulevard from Los Angeles to San Pedro will go through these acres.

This property will not be on the market long at present prices.

Take the Moneta-avenue Redondo car any place on Broadway to Rosecrans avenue.

FOR SALE—TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS: Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

SUNDAY, MAY 23.

Acts xv, 1-35: "The Council at Jerusalem."

THE CONNECTION.

Paul and Barnabas are once more at Antioch in Syria, their starting point, after an absence of perhaps three years. This is near A. D. 50. Their principle of preaching to Jews and Gentiles alike and offering them equal privileges in the church is established. The news of their success is received with great joy and they spent some time at work in Antioch. But at this time the great controversy of Paul's lifetime opens, and the lesson tells about it.

THE LESSON.

I.

Antioch Seeks Aid from Jerusalem. 1, 2.

"And certain men came down from Judea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the custom of Moses ye cannot be saved. And when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and disputation with them, the brethren appointed that Paul and Barnabas and certain others of them should go up to Jerusalem unto the apostles and elders about this question."

(1.) The Question at Issue.

Here we have the opening of a struggle that never ceased as long as Paul lived. It was a warfare waged against Paul, and the dominant, controlling conception of Christianity, for which he stood, by a party within the church.

As soon as the first Christians saw that salvation was to be offered to the Gentiles it brought up a serious question: Must they first become Jews? Some of them seemed to think so. Stephen's teaching broadened their thought; the conversion of the Samaritans still further. The conversion of Cornelius showed them that in one instance at least a Gentile could be saved without first being circumcised, and then entering upon a life of obedience to the ceremonial law, but they did not seem to draw the universal principle from it.

The brethren at Jerusalem were all prejudiced against Gentiles; they were used to observing the ceremonies themselves; their conception of a Messiah's reign was a world of Jews:"

(2.) Three Parties at Jerusalem.

Though the question was settled, it took a long time to work the Judaism out of the body, and there was a wing in the church at Jerusalem that would broaden: The habit and training of their minds were stubborn; their pictures gave a seeming sanction to what they were averse to seeing Gentiles excused from the burdens of discipline they themselves had borne.

Three parties had early emerged in the church life in Jerusalem—the proselytes, with a burning zeal, like Stephen and Philip, who at once followed the lead of Providence and went preaching to every one who needed the gospel; the teachable conservatives, like Peter and James and John, who had to be taught powerfully before they would believe that Gentiles did not have to become Jews before they could be saved, and who observed ceremonies themselves as a matter of expediency; and the Pharisaic party, who never ceased to hold that circumcision and the rest of the ceremonial law was necessary to salvation. The latter were fairly good people, and at first confined their efforts to the church at Jerusalem. But when they heard of the Gentiles coming in at Antioch and other places they organized a propaganda and sent emissaries to counteract the teaching of Paul. Paul was their special mission. They were an example of very good men contending for a false idea, and growing more and more narrow, false, vicious, unscrupulous. They seemed first to Antioch, and seem to have begun their pernicious work at the time Paul and Barnabas revisited.

These "certain men"—Paul calls them "the brethren, privily brought in," "came in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they may bring us into bondage." (Gal. 2:4.)

(3.) The Agitation at Antioch.

What effect on the church at Antioch? Why, as they came from the headquarters, they ought to know.

These Jewish Christians would have the same concern, as their love of the law appealed to, and the Gentile Christians would wonder if Paul had not been mistaken about it.

Paul saw the meaning of it—that if their view prevailed there would soon be no Christianity left. In their teaching faith in Christ was not sufficient; a ceremonial was made a merit. He was full of burning zeal in defense of the gospel, and he and Barnabas, as the leaders, withstood them a time. But they were persistent, vicious, brazen; they falsely claimed that they represented the apostles at Jerusalem, and intimated that they had been sent out by the church at Jerusalem.

(4.) A Wise Investigation.

How would they ever know the certainty about it? Send to Jerusalem. They would find out whether these men were sent by the church there; whether their teachings were held by the mother church. Besides, it was revealed to Paul that he must go up to Jerusalem about this question, as he tells us in his account of this controversy. (Gal. 2.)

The church appointed a committee, as we would call it, to go up to Jerusalem. Of course, Paul was on the committee, because he was the chief teacher and he must be there to state the case and tell the doings of Paul.

Barnabas was also on the committee; he was a leader; he was popular at Jerusalem; he was a Levite, connected with the priestly family, and would be conciliatory to his brethren. Others were on the committee. Titus, a full-blood Gentile, went along (Gal. 2:1,) whether on the committee or as a traveling companion to Paul, we know not. He would be a living witness to the power of the gospel to save without the aid of the ceremonies of Moses.

II.

The Frank Consultation. 3-5.

"They therefore, being brought on their way by the church, passed through both Phoenicia and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles; and they caused great joy unto all the brethren. And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the church and the apostles and the elders, and they rehearsed all things that God had done with them. But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees who believed, saying, It is needful to circumcise them, and to charge them to keep the law of Moses."

(1.) The Good Journey.

An escort of honor was sent with the committee for some distance. They took the well-made Roman road that led along by the seashore, through Phoenicia and Samaria, but not through Galilee, because they would meet warmer-hearted, broader Jewish Christians, won by the same men who had preached at Antioch. They did not want to encounter the narrower sect of Jewish Christians. Those Christians were all gladdened at the news of the conversion of the Gentiles.

The deep question, whose settlement they were seeking, was not mentioned to them, it would seem; but was to be discussed after they had conferred with the brethren of Jerusalem.

(2.) The Animus of the Enemy.

Personally and officially they were throughout the whole period the prudence of Paul and the narrow programme of the Judaistic party. At that first public reception Paul and Barnabas wisely rehearsed the story of their work, among Jews and Gentiles, without raising any questions, and the result of it was evident in the joy it gave to the more sympathetic brethren. That was all. But the narrow party sprang up and violated the spirit of a purely fraternal occasion by making their demand that Gentiles should be circumcised and keep the law of Moses. At Antioch they only said the Gentiles must be circumcised; at Jerusalem they disclosed their whole purpose. It was logical. If circumcision was necessary, then all that goes with it is necessary. If you are saved by ceremonies, then you must not omit one. The issue is at last joined, in its plainest form, at the headquarters of Christianity. A clear decision is necessary now.

(3.) A Private Interview.

After this reception Paul and Barnabas, as Paul tells us in Gal. 2, had private interviews with the leading men—Peter, James, John and others—and then they all gathered at a later time, it would seem, to give a final decision.

(4.) The Living Argument.

The omitted verses tell how Peter told of the conversion of Cornelius, a Gentile; Paul told of the glad conversion of many Gentiles; James, the brother of our Lord and now at the head of the mother church, summed it up and decided that the Gentiles must not be compelled to become Jews.

III.

The Decision Formulated. 23-29.

"Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men out of their company, and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas; namely, Judas, called Barsabbas, and Silas, chief men among the brethren; and they wrote thus by them. The apostles and the elders, brethren, unto the brethren who are of the Gentiles in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greeting: Forasmuch as we have heard that certain who went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls; to whom we gave no commandment; it seemed good unto us, having come to one accord, to choose out men and send them unto you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul, men that have hazarded their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, who, themselves also shall tell you the same things by word of mouth. For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things; that ye abstain from things sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication; from which if ye keep yourselves, it shall be well with you. Fare ye well."

(1.) The Church on Record.

There had been no discord at any time among the apostles and elders. The church as a whole acted. The decision was unanimous, which means that the Judaizers either voted with the majority or submitted without bringing in "a minority report," so to say, thinking that the concessions asked of the Gentiles were partly in their favor. If they professed to accept the decision it was not in good faith, for from that day on they carried on a systematic propaganda and waged a cruel war on Paul as long as he lived. They sent their emissaries everywhere for years after this, who followed up Paul with vicious and malicious charges. They would tell his converts that his version of the gospel was not true; that he was not one of the twelve apostles; that he had no authority from the other apostles. They perverted his noble self-denial in abstaining from marriage and from a support to which he was entitled. Now at Jerusalem the principle of faith alone as necessary to salvation won the day, though it would take years to unify the two wings of Christendom. The letter they wrote seems to have been dedicated by James; it has the "greeting" that he uses in his epistles. It is the first Christian document. It was addressed to Antioch and also to the country in which Antioch is situated, Syria, and also Cilicia, where Paul had probably founded churches; and it was to be used wherever the troublesome question was raised.

(2.) The Trouble-makers Condemned.

It condemned the spirit of the men who had troubled them and disclaimed having given then any authority. It declared high confidence in Paul and Barnabas as men who had rendered up their lives for the sake of the gospel. It claimed that the Holy Spirit had given them to understand that it was his decision, too. It recognized their salvation without circumcision. It made no demand on them save that they humor the prejudices of their Jewish brethren in not eating things offered to idols, nor eating blood, nor things strangled, whereby they might eat blood. The other prohibition—to abstain from fornication—was not of the same nature, in the eyes of the Jews, but it was with Gentiles, and it would be more effective in this connection.

It was wise to send this in black and white. It was wise to send two leading men with them to corroborate the letter and expand its teachings, and to show high respect for the church of Antioch.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

A fragment of a lost historical work of the second century by a Jewish Christian named Hegesippus gives some very curious information about this James, "the brother of the Lord." He is said to have been known as "James the Just," or "Righteous," on account of his exceeding strictness of life. He was a total abstainer and a vegetarian. He wore his hair long, used no oil and was dressed not in wool, but in linen. He spent so much time kneeling in prayer, beseeching God to pardon the people, that his knees became hard like a camel's. How much of the details can be accepted as historical it is impossible to say.—[Pollard.

"Christianity, with its stimulus to thought and its insistence upon liberty, has vastly promoted discussion of theology."—[Peloubet.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

(1.) What prejudice can finally stand before Christian love?

(2.) Can a discussion be conducted in the interest of truth rather than triumph?

(3.) Is primacy in the church to be anything more than personal?

(4.) Is there any stronger proof of Christ than a Christian?

COL. ASTOR, INVENTOR.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Col. John Jacob Astor has applied for a patent for a machine, which it is hoped will make possible the utilization of peat deposits as a fuel for power. The current number of the Scientific American contains an account of the process and says that Col. Astor intends to present it to the public in the hope that it may be of wide general use.

BOOSTING SACRAMENTO VALLEY.

California Promotion Committee Seeking Closer Trade Relations for San Francisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The resources and requirements of the Sacramento Valley were thoroughly exploited today at a luncheon given at the Fairmont Hotel by the California Promotion Committee to a delegation of influential citizens from the northern part of the State. The guests included representatives of the Sacramento Valley Development Association, the State Realty Board, the chambers of commerce of Sacramento, Marysville, Red Bluff, Auburn, in addition to leading men from other places. W. A. Beard, chairman of the board of control of the National Irrigation Congress and a member of the Country Life Commission, was also present.

There was an informal discussion of many subjects affecting Northern California, the object being to promote a better understanding of the needs of that section, the conservation of its resources and the improvement of its waterways.

It is the purpose of the Promotion Committee to extend similar invitations to commercial and other organizations from various parts of the State, for the purpose of establishing closer relations between this city and other communities.

Christian Endeavor.

THROUGH NATURE TO GOD.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for May 23: "Lessons from the Birds and Flowers."—[Luke xii, 24-32.

By William T. Ellis.

Modern teachers are equipped with a multitude of books, and they send their students to the libraries. But the Great Teacher, who has simulated more thought and study than any other, was content to find most of his lessons in the everyday life about him. He bound up common things with profound spiritual messages. The birds of the air and the grass of the field were His interpreters of a profound philosophy of life. With this example, we may not despise as puerile and shallow the nature study in which so much delight and instruction is to be found.

Wondrous truths, and manifold as wondrous,
God hath written in the heavens above;
But no less in the flowerets beneath us,
Runs the record of His love.
—[Longfellow.

God gave man this world to enjoy. He means to share his own pleasure in it with His children. So He has made, it exhaustless in its beauty and variety and interest. Whoever does not find delight in the fields and flowers and birds and skies has missed one of the first and best delights of existence. That is an inverted and unnatural mode of life which seeks recreation in pictures and books and parlor games and public entertainments, and ignores the simple joys which God has provided in His great out of doors. There are persons who will spend five dollars, and stay up half the night, in order to hear an opera who will not get up an hour or two earlier in the morning, or spend 10 cents carfare, in order to hear the caroling of nature's feathered chorus amid the glorious scenery of an awakening day. Such persons, though, would not be voted wise by any jury. Our times are stressing the beauty and happiness of life out of doors, where God seems nearer and more beautiful than anywhere else.

Dear Lord, since thou didst make the earth,
Thou mad'st it not for grief, but mirth,
Therefore I will be glad,
And let who will be sad.

For if I lead my life with care,
What profit me the buxom air,
And what the sweet birds' choir
Or heaven's azure fire?

Lord, as 'tis thine eternal state
With joy undimned to contemplate
The world that Thou hast wrought
As mirror for Thy thought,
So every morning I would rise,
And offer Thee for sacrifice
A spirit bright and clear
As the wide atmosphere.

For, Lord, since all is well with Thee,
It cannot well be ill with me.
—[Anon.

"Consider the lilies," exhorted Christ. Emphasize the first word. Do not merely view with a passing glance, but consider carefully the deeper meanings of nature's manifestations. Jesus tried diligently to open the eyes of His friends to the significance of what they saw. There is no training for helpfulness, and no pleasure greater than the power of observation. To the person with seeing eyes all the passing show of life, and all the theater of nature's operations, becomes an exhaustless source of entertainment.

To dig in the dirt—preferably dirt to which one holds title—with one's own hands, to plant one's own garden, is a pleasure such as the begoggled and madly-speeding automobilist cannot understand or equal.

Flower in the crannied wall
I pluck you out of the crannies;
I hold you here, root and all, in my hand,
Little flower—but if I could understand,
What you are, root and all in all,
I should know what God and man is.
—[Tennyson.

Nature's lessons are all simple but profound. The greatest truths are the clearest. If we dwell more upon the essential principles of life, applying them at ever point to character and conduct, we should have less need for speculation concerning truth's minor ramifications.

Silently, one by one, in the infinite meadows of heaven,
Blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels.
—[Longfellow.

Thou who hast set thy dwelling fair
With flowers beneath, above with starry lights,
And set thy altars everywhere—
On mountain heights,
In woodland valleys dim with many a dream,
In valleys bright with springs,
And in the curving capes of every stream,
Thou who hast taken to Thyself the wings
Of morning, to abide
Upon the uttermost places of the sea,
And on far islands, where the tide
Visits the beauty of untrodden shores,
Waiting for worshipers to come to Thee
In Thy great out-of-doors!
To Thee I turn, to Thee I make my prayer,
God of the Open Air!
—[Henry Van Dyke.

A New Baby.

A New Baby! What magic, what mystery, what charm these words have for us. Yet, how infinitely more they mean to the mother. A new life; short, to be sure, but full of possibilities. Some one must be patient, hopeful, watchful, proud and never discouraged. That "some one" is the mother. She has heard her baby's first cry, and whether it be her first or tenth, the feeling is the same. Her feeble arms are out-stretched; those arms that will never desert it as long as the mother shall live. And that hand which supports the head of the new-born babe, the mother's hand, supports the civilization of the world.

Is it any wonder, we ask you, mothers, that with all these responsibilities resting upon your all too weak shoulders, we urge upon you the necessity of selecting the babe's medicine with utmost care; the necessity of protecting your babe from worthless, unknown and narcotic drugs as you would protect it from the fire?

CHURCH SEEKS TO OUST BISHOP.

RESENTS ATTEMPT TO REMOVE BELOVED PASTOR.

Catholic Congregation of St. Patrick's in Denver Petition Prelate for His Resignation and Will Appeal to Pope If He Refuses to Comply With Request.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DENVER, May 21.—Bitterly resentful at the attempt of Bishop N. C. Matz of the Catholic diocese of Colorado to oust Father Joseph P. Carrigan from the pastorate of St. Patrick's church, of which he has been pastor for more than a quarter of a century, the members of that church will present a petition to Bishop Matz asking that he resign from the bishopric.

Failing to secure his agreement to this request a monster mass meeting, to be attended by Catholics throughout the entire State, will be held in the Auditorium, and a similar request framed by the assemblage will be forwarded to the Pope, asking that Bishop Matz be removed from office.

The removal of Father Carrigan as pastor of St. Patrick's was attempted by Bishop Matz on the eve of the dedication of the new St. Patrick's church, which had been built largely through the efforts of the pastor. Father Carrigan refused to vacate his pastorate, basing his refusal on a section of canonical law providing that certainly regularly-appointed pastors may not be removed without the regular filing of charges, which they may have an opportunity of answering.

The cause of the attempted removal of Father Carrigan is said to be connected with the conduct of the Catholic Loan and Trust Association, from whose meetings Bishop Matz was excluded.

HOG SNAKE KILLS BABY.

Venomous Reptile Strikes Child as She Crawls in Front of Cabin Home.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 19.—The 14-months old daughter of James Kelley of Heins' Pass, was recently killed by the bite of a hog snake, a rare and extremely venomous reptile found in that vicinity. The child had been playing by the door of its mother's house when struck by the snake.

Roberto Camou, a member of a distinguished family of Northern Mexico, has been arrested in Tucson charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. It is alleged he had borrowed $40 of a local firm, using the money to start for California, but was overtaken at Yuma and brought back. He has pleaded not guilty, stating that he intended to pay back the money after his mother had died, when he would inherit a large fortune. His father died lately at Hermosillo, leaving an immense estate, of which Roberto was given nothing.

A fine eight-inch telescope has been loaned by Harvard University to the University of Arizona, and has been erected in an observatory constructed at the top of the new science building.

Owing to the drouth, all the water holes and most of the wells in the desert country southwest of Tucson are dry, and action is to be taken by the Board of Supervisors for the deepening of the wells, which are absolutely essential to travelers between this point and Quijotoa, and to a number of mining districts along the Mexican border.

Lionel M. Jacobs, vice-president of the Arizona National Bank, is to be married in June in San Francisco to Miss Bessie Frank.

LONG LIFE IN PLAY.

NEW YORK, May 21.—That aged persons could prolong their lives if they associated constantly with young people was the firm belief of Mrs. Yetta [illegible], who died in this city yesterday at the age of 105 years. She is survived by thirteen children and twenty-five grandchildren, and it was her habit to spend the greater part of the time playing outdoors with the little ones.

NOT TO DODGE OLD THEOLOGY.

One Church There Is That Ties It Down Tight.

Singer of Note to Make Her Appearance Tomorrow.

A District Sunday-school Convention.

A wary fox is rarely caught twice in the same trap, and a church once fooled in the stripe of theology expounded from its pulpit becomes wary enough of the next preacher it hires.

Trinity Congregational Church had a fair start about five years ago, but changing fortunes threw it into the hands of a preacher who refused to expound the "old theology," and the congregation decided to get along without a preacher until the right kind could be found. It owns a property worth $8000, on the corner of Thirty-sixth and San Julian streets, upon which there is an incumbrance of $3500. It didn't look promising, with a membership of about ten, but the young men of Rev. T. C. Horton's "Fishermen's Club" took hold and held services in the church to keep it from dying. Andrew Johnson, one of the boys, was elected superintendent of the Sunday-school, and it speedily grew from a small number to a membership of 100, and is growing rapidly.

The boys got to work on their teacher, who is superintendent of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, and a very busy man, generally, and finally induced him to accept the invitation of the members of the church and become its pastor. Dr. Horton is a Presbyterian preacher and the 100 and more boys in the Fishermen's Club are of all denominations, but Trinity Church is to remain a Congregational church just the same. Dr. Horton serves it temporarily entirely without salary, and, unsolicited, the membership has grown to forty, with large congregations each Sunday.

When the question of paying the debt on the property came up, Dr. Horton declined to have anything to do with it, if as soon as he got it on its feet, it could be handed over to some exploiter of shaky theories. The trustees at once agreed to incorporate and embody in the articles of incorporation a clause that would forever prevent such a thing as Dr. Horton feared might happen. And so it is provided that the complete inspiration of the scriptures, the deity of Jesus Christ, and the vicarious atonement, shall be preached from the pulpit of Trinity Church. A violation of this provision shall cause a forfeiture of the entire property to the American Bible Society.

It is doubtful that any other church in creation has such a clause in its articles of incorporation, but it satisfied the provisional pastor of the congregation, and he at once put on foot a plan for raising the money. His plan is to interest the largest possible number of people in the enterprise, and to do this the concern has issued stockholders' certificates, valued at $1 each. Persons desiring to contribute any amount can send it to J. D. Radford, vice-president of the German American Savings Bank, who has consented to act as treasurer, and who will see to it that such funds are used solely for the cancellation of the debt on Trinity Church.

MUSICAL ACQUISITION.

NOTED SOPRANO LIVING HERE.

Miss Florence-Pearce Wadsworth, operatic soprano, who was soloist last year at the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra Concert, and who has been residing quietly in Los Angeles during the past four months, will make her début tomorrow morning at the First Methodist Episcopal Church. She will sing two numbers, "The Lord is My Light" and "Come Unto Him," the latter selection from Handel's "Messiah."

A native of Kentucky, Miss Wadsworth studied under the leading American teachers, previous to going abroad, where she was under the tutelage of Mme. Adini and the famous Jean de Reszke. Upon her return to this country she took up concert work and she was well received by the musical critics of New York. Her greatest success came last year when she sang at the Metropolitan concert.

The death of her father and the illness of her mother as a result was the cause of the discontinuance of her professional career, and of her coming to Los Angeles. Miss Wadsworth will probably make this city her permanent home.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

BOYLE HEIGHTS SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

A district Sunday-school convention was held in Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church yesterday, under the auspices of the Southern California Sunday-school Association. Rev. Harvey Hasel of the Boyle Heights Christian Church presided, and Hugh C. Gibson, general secretary, and Miss Meme Brockway, elementary superintendent, represented the State association.

The Boyle Heights Christian Sunday-school won the prize of a splendidly-mounted silk flag, presented by Secretary Gibson to the school having the largest percentage of teachers and officers present. Addresses were made by Mr. Gibson, Rev. W. L. Tucker and Miss Brockway at the forenoon session. In the afternoon Rev. Jesse P. McKnight spoke on the training of teachers, and Mr. Gibson and Miss Brockway spoke on the subject of order in the Sunday-school.

The following officers were elected for the district association: President, James Stofel; vice-president, Charles Walker; secretary, Mrs. Rosenfelt; elementary superintendent, Mrs. Keenan; superintendent of home department, Mrs. McAllen; superintendent of teacher training, M. Gidley.

In the evening there was a discussion on the topic, "Winning Men and Women to Christ and the Sunday-school," led by Mr. Gibson.

Prize flags for the best attendance at the convention, from individual classes, were won by one class from the Christian Church, one from the Methodist Church and one from the Presbyterian Church.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

RATTLERS AND REPENTANCE.

Prof. E. M. Nealley will address the Ministerial Union on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the First Methodist Church, on "Christian Science from a Religious Point of View." The same speaker spoke last month of "The Philosophy of Christian Science." The public is invited.

"Rattlesnakes and Repentance" will be the Sunday evening topic of Dr. Henry at the First Baptist Church, with a prelude on "Fiendish Crimes."

Rev. Levi D. Barr has been conducting a revival in the Belvidere Methodist Episcopal Church, and will continue the meetings until further notice.

Arthur Letts, president, and D. E. Luther, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, who are to start on a vacation trip to Europe in a few days, will be the speakers at the men's meeting on Sunday afternoon, which will be in the nature of a farewell service.

Sunday evening Dr. William Horace Day of the First Congregational Church will deliver an illustrated lecture on Alaska, showing a large number of slides made from photographs taken by himself last summer.

Dr. R. P. Shepherd will deliver the first of a series of Bible lectures at the Young Women's Christian Association on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The course will be continued each evening during the week.

Dr. Robert J. Burdette is recovering from the effects of a fall and will occupy his pulpit in the Auditorium on Sunday morning and evening.

The Christian Woman's Board of Missions will hold a meeting in the Boyle Heights Christian Church on Sunday evening. It will be addressed by Mrs. M. J. McConnell of South Pasadena, district manager, and Mrs. Nora Collins Ireland, a returned missionary from Porto Rico. The meeting will be made novel and suggestive of "ye olden tyme" by the men sitting on one side and the women on the other.

Miss Florence Pearce-Wadsworth, talented soprano singer, who will make her Los Angeles debut at the First Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow.

member of the Fishermen's Club, who is piloting a Sunday-school over the shoals.

SEND MILLIONS HOME.

Japanese in California and Other Coast States Return Large Sums Annually to Nippon.

TOKIO, April 15.—[A. P. Correspondence.] According to statistics recently compiled, there were in December, 1906, 58,100 Japanese subjects in the United States, and out of that total not less than 53 per cent. were in California and its immediate neighboring States. They yearly send millions back to Japan. Of these 26 per cent. were engaged in labor on railroads and in mines, the remaining 24 per cent. being occupied with agriculture.

It is in the last named enterprise alone that anything like signal success has been attained. There are 14,000 Japanese farmers, speaking roughly, in the State of California, and they own an aggregate area of 12,000 acres, which land is devoted mainly to the cultivation of fruit and vegetables. Many of the settlers have been living there from ten to thirty years. They speak English excellently and may be said to be virtually domiciled.

An important feature is their contribution to trade with Japan, but more remarkable are the sums of money sent to the home country by them. In 1904, they sent to Japan $2,750,000; in 1905, nearly $5,000,000 and in 1906, $5,632,000.

MEN TURN SUFFRAGETTES.

One Hundred More or Less Notable Males Join in Battle for Votes for Women.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The battle cry of freedom for women, hitherto ringing only in soprano and contralto, is soon to be deepened and increased in volume by the voices of 100 or more men. They are to form the first masculine suffragette organization yet projected, so far as can be learned, with George Foster Peabody as president.

Among the notable men who have paid $1 and joined are Oswald Garrison Villard, William Dean Howells, Dr. Samuel J. Barrows, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Charles J. Strong, William M. Ivins, and Col. George Harvey.

OVERHAULING OF TESTIMONY OF JOBBERS' WATCHERS.

Counsel for Railroads, in Switching Charge Case, Try to Show That Spurs Are Not Profitable, But Are Put in Merely to Accommodate the Shippers.

Testimony yesterday before the special examiner in the switching charge case was confined principally to an attempt on the part of the railroads to disprove the testimony of the sleuths employed by the jobbers to keep tab on the movement of switch engines and the segregation and spotting of cars. R. T. Burdette, trainmaster for the Southern Pacific, and T. W. Pate, general agent for the Santa Fé, were the principal witnesses, and gave testimony tending to show that an inaccurate report had been made by the watchers.

The railroads tried to show that spur, or industry tracks, are of no special benefit to them, and are only put in to accommodate shippers.

C. B. Booth, on the stand, declared he is experiencing considerable difficulty in getting a spur put in on property owned by him in the block bounded by Los Angeles, San Pedro, Third and Second streets. He testified that for seven years he has been trying to get an industry track there, and that condemnation proceedings are now pending to secure right of way for it. He thought it would materially enhance the value of his property.

On cross-examination it was brought out that, under his contract with the Southern Pacific, all other roads would be allowed to use the spur.

Counsel for the jobbers, on cross-examination, endeavored to get from witnesses testimony showing that spurs increased the business of railroads.

If the hearing is not ended today, a session will be held tonight.

The present hearing is practically a repetition of the one held by Commissioner Lane. It is conducted to allow attorneys to get all the loose ends together before final argument before the full commission at Washington, and to bring in such new matter as may have been discovered.

SHAW BRINGS SUIT.

Asks Court for Divorce from Wife and Names Former Chauffeur as Co-respondent.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BOSTON, May 21.—A libel praying for divorce from his wife, Nettie E. Shaw, and custody of his son, Eldridge F. Shaw, was filed today by State Senator James F. Shaw of Manchester.

The libel alleges statutory offenses with H. Keno Marble, the chauffeur for the Shaw family, with whom it is alleged Mrs. Shaw eloped to California.

Recently an attempt was made by Senator Shaw to obtain possession of his son, who was with the mother and Marble in California. Mrs. Shaw is now at Chatham, Mass., where she arrived last week from California with her son and her father, H. Fisher Eldridge.

By order of the court in California the boy was placed in the custody of his grandfather after he had been taken away from his mother, the understanding being that the boy should be returned to his father. The boy was seen playing about the Eldridge house in Chatham yesterday with his grandfather, but today when three strangers, two men and a woman, knocked on the door of the house there was no response.

Senator Shaw said today that every effort would be made to obtain possession of the child.

DECLARE DUMMY DIVED.

Police Call Man Who Says He Jumped from New Brooklyn Bridge, a Fake.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—After an all-day investigation, the police declared last night that young Albert House of Brooklyn, did not jump from the new Queensborough bridge, as he claimed to have done, and for which he was arrested and held in $500 bail to keep the peace for six months.

Police Capt. Coleman, whose men spent many hours on the case, said he had evidence that House was in a motor boat under the bridge, while persons threw a dummy from the roadway. Passing boats saw a figure drawn from the water by the motor launch, which House had previously retained, and when they came alongside they saw House on deck dripping wet.

The police say the dummy that had made the 135-foot dive, was concealed in the launch's cabin.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

Spread on Some Crackers—Not the Slightest Injury Resulted from Little Fellow's Escapade—In Most Positive Way Ingredients of

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business was heavier yesterday than on any other day of the week. There was very heavy buying of berries and particularly berries, on account of which the market on berries remained very firm. One of the largest dealers of cherries held his price right to 10 and 11 cents on the black variety, and only two and three cents lower on the white varieties. Approximate arrivals of the fruit were 400 boxes, shipped in practically their entirety by those who are the only houses to deal in large quantities. It is expected that the shipments of the coming week will be heavier. Preparations are being made to handle a great amount of the fruit, from two to three cars in the week. That the berries will be cheap this year is almost a certainty as far as the present time. The canneries in the North will take very little of this fruit this year owing to the great amount of it canned last year, and to the fact that cherries canned did not sell well. The local dealer in canned goods yesterday declared that the canners had sufficient stock on hand to run through the entire season without putting up a single can of cherries. As a result the jobbing price on cherries in Los Angeles is expected to go as low as 60 cents a pound.

Eggs were very firm. Northern case count as well as local eggs case count, both of which at the close of the session at 24 cents a dozen. There were no changes in quotations, but the market was firm throughout. Receipts were limited light, only 836 cases being registered in. Eastern store select eggs sold for 21 cents.

Butter receipts were 21,460 pounds. The market on the commodity was very firm and creamery firsts sold at 40 cents a pound. Some cooking butter was traded.

A decline in the local anchor cheese was registered. It amounted to two cents on the pound. This decline is due to the general low prices on northern cheese and on some of the eastern varieties as well. Arrivals of Coast side cheese were very heavy, 11,440 pounds.

Potatoes were not changed in any way. Firmness was more apparent in Highlands, which were the finest grade. Other prices of the day previously, but which would not quote.

A car of onions from Coachella came in and prices were easy at $1 a hundred. Texas onions are beginning to clean up and some dealers are asking up to $1.10 on them. Mexican tomatoes are moving readily at $1.25 @ 1.50 a crate. Cabbage is down, the best selling at 75 cents a sack.

Fish were plentiful and sold fast. The market on them came down early in the morning on account of the heavy arrivals, but returned to normal with the rapid selling. Barracuda were most plentiful.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, May 21.—[Reported by A. H. Wolfeter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock p.m. the barometer registered 29.87; at 5 p.m. 29.86. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 84 deg. and 69 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 89 per cent.; 5 p.m., 64 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., southwest, velocity 3 miles; 5 p.m., northwest, velocity 13 miles. Maximum temperature, 84 deg.; minimum, 52 deg. Rainfall since, 19.87 inches; rainfall last season to date, 11.71 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Hazy weather continues over the Southwest this morning, due to the presence of a disturbance over the Colorado River Valley, and a second storm area which is moving eastward over the British possessions, the two forming a trough of pressure covering most of the Rocky Mountain region. The weather is cool on the Atlantic seaboard, with slight changes in temperature elsewhere. The pressure distribution is favorable for cloudy to partly cloudy weather in Los Angeles and vicinity during the next thirty-six hours.

FORECASTS.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy to partly cloudy weather tonight and Saturday; south to west winds.

STOCK MARKET PROVES PUZZLING.

BEARS TRY TO FORCE REACTION ON SLUMP IN DEMAND.

Prices Refuse to Respond, However, But no Animation Appears in Consequence of Movement—Steel Rises to Point Above Sixty and Stays There—Dominates List.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Dealings in stocks dwelt to a small proportion of recent daily average. The market proved puzzling to the professional trade element. Subdulness of demand on an advance of prices, is construed usually as unfavorable to the stability of the rise. The professional operators, acting on this principle sold stocks short when the market was dull and tried to force a reaction.

They did not succeed, but showed a resistance which, if any increase in the animation. The persistent rise in United States Steel was the mainstay of the advance. The sentimental effect of the further advance in this stock to above 61, was sufficient to dominate the whole list. Late in the afternoon the dealings sank to a state of stagnation.

Reports of the breaking of the drouth in Texas were received with satisfaction, as crops have been entertained. There was help in the speculation in the copper stocks in the strength in the dividend rate by the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company, as it was considered an indication of improving conditions in the trade. Official changes in the Chicago Gulf Southern directorate were believed to corroborate the expectation of closer relations between the road and the Union Pacific.

Much of the recent speculation has been based on the assumption that a number of regional railroad consolidations, on a formal plan, and to be completed later. On the other hand, the movement of the low-priced stocks of railroads in the hands of receivers, indicated doubts of the progress of the reorganization plans. Some attention was attracted also to reports from London, that negotiations of some American securities which have been partly underwritten there, are being delayed, owing to unfavorable conditions in that market, and a feeling that investors not considered friendly to American securities. There was a tendency to advance on the part of the interest rate in London and Paris, and this is believed to be due to the New York borrowing.

The week's wheat and flour exports rose to the bushels over those of the week before, while the supply of commercial bills in the exchange market is still scanty and insufficient to meet the demand.

The week's shipment of gold will run to $6,000,000 and $7,000,000, but estimates of currency movements indicate that the excess of receipts over shipments on the interior movement has been sufficient together with the $10,000,000 from sub-treasury operations, to overbalance the gold exports, and yield a small net gain for the banks. The intense dullness of the last market allowed some gravitation of prices to a lower level, but the close was steady.

Rates were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,945,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say tomorrow:

Almost every development except the lengthening debate on the tariff question, is favorable and the gains made in spite of the tariff disturbance are a fair indication of what may be expected when that is out of the way. The domestic agricultural conditions are excellent and yet the prices of farm products continue to advance.

The reports of the railroads are of steadily increasing business and the latest earnings show a gain of 14.9 per cent. over last year, the decrease as compared with 1907 being 13.8 per cent.

The primary cotton goods market continues to be dominated by the high level of prices for the raw material.

In woolen goods duplicate business on heavy weights has been fairly satisfactory and a further improvement is anticipated, as clothiers now know the general trend of the demand.

The slight improvement in shoe conditions still continues and business shows an increase in nearly all lines. Large New England manufacturers expect that the footwear market will soon be restored to its normal position. Prices have again advanced. The Chicago hide market has ruled considerably less active since the liberal buying of last week and country hides are steady. California skins are strong.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Weather conditions continue irregular, but a change for the better has occurred in staple conditions and retail business is slightly improved, though disappointing and showing evidence of the repression heretofore evident. Encouraging features from jobbers and wholesalers has been rather quiet, but there is a more assured optimism permeating the reports as to the outlook for next fall and winter's trade. Cold weather has interfered with business in parts of New England, and trade seems slow to improve in San Francisco and parts of the Pacific Northwest. The weather situation as a whole is very strong. Reductions in prices of printed cotton goods have induced the booking of large orders. Building is active, though lumber demand seems to drag. Retail trade is better than a year ago, but has been on the whole disappointing. Domestic wool has been strong and active this week, western markets being excited and higher grades being advanced one cent. Sole leather has been active and is one to ten cents higher, while some grades of upper leather are three cents higher than they were some time ago. Business failures in the United States for the week were 219 against 284 in the like week of 1908.

Canadian failures for the week were 35 against 39 last week and 29 in the same week last year.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending May 20 aggregate 1,093,000 bushels against 2,920,524 bushels this week last year. For the forty-seven weeks ending May 20 this year, the exports are 158,719,832 bushels against 184,598,227 in the corresponding period last year.

Corn exports for the week are 123,071 bushels against 221,346 last week and 75,892 in 1908. For the forty-seven weeks ending May 20, corn exports are 29,817,340 bushels against 44,530,845 last year.

GENERAL EASTERN.

SHARP RISE ON BRISK DEMAND.

MAY WHEAT CLOSES AT A NEW HIGH RECORD PRICE.

Market Strong All Day, Save for Slight Dip in Early Trading Due to Profit-Taking Based on Rains in Kansas and Ohio River Valley.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—Wheat prices advanced more than 1 cent here today, owing to brisk demand, based chiefly on sharp advances at the principal European grain centers, May incidentally touching a new high record mark for the season, 1.31¼. At the close, prices showed net gains of 1¼@1¾ to 1⅝. Wheat was strong all day, with the exception of a slight dip early in the day, due to profit-taking based on rains in Kansas and the Ohio River Valley.

However, trading in the May option was light. The most potent factor in the situation was the strength of European markets, which, with the exception of Liverpool, were closed yesterday. The greatest gain was at Budapest, where prices were 2% above the closing quotations on Wednesday. July ranged between 1.15⅛ asked and 1.16⅜. The market closed strong at almost the top notch, with July at 1.16⅜.

May closed at 1.31¼, the highest point. Notwithstanding a break of 2 to 2⅜ cents in the price of cash corn, the market was firm the greater part of the day, owing to lively bidding by shorts. At the close, prices were ⅝ lower to ½ higher, with July at 60@60⅝.

All deliveries of oats rose to new high records as a result of an urgent demand for the September option. The range for the day on May was 59⅛ to 60⅝, and on July 58⅜ to 59⅝. The close was 1@1⅛ to 1¼@1¾ higher. May being at 60 and July at 59⅜.

Trade in provisions was dull and the market steady. Prices closed 1½ higher to 2½ lower.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour, strong. No. 2 red, 97. Feed or milling barley, 75@77½; fair to choice malting, 79½@85. Flaxseed, No. 1 Southwestern, 1.67½; No. 1 Northwestern, 1.71½. Timothy seed, 3.80. Clover, 15.75. Mess pork, per bbl., 19.50@19.65. Lard, per 100 lbs., 10.60@10.62½. Short ribs sides, (loose,) 10.65@10.75; short clear sides, (boxed,) 10.37½@10.50.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 111 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Developments in the local cotton market were rather less bullish, although the undertone was decidedly nervous and the market during the day was very feverish. Prices at the opening were five to eleven points below the previous close, influenced by much lower cables than anticipated and the market quickly rallied with renewed speculative buying and values regained the early loss. The trade situation is far from promising, as the recent advance in cotton has failed to stimulate a demand for goods and spinners are little disposed to buy at present high prices. The present outlook shows sales good, crop accounts varied, although generally bullish and the situation, as a whole, was very much mixed.

Logan & Bryan's letter follows: "The cotton market got a bump this morning in Liverpool, but American manipulators were too strong for the Liverpool news and were disposed to ignore the Texas rains and, with a general selection of the time for digging, they carried prices up every time the market was bare of selling pressure. The market seems bone-combed with open orders to buy cotton on a scale down and those who are conservative enough to take profits are not patient onlookers, but are impatient to get back in again. Ahead of us we have the bureau report on June 8, and there can be no doubt but that this report will show an alarming condition of the crop in the southwest, but it is also probable that recent rains will make this report more favorable than some had expected. The long interest in cotton has recently changed hands and the new owners are neither in a strong position or they are as the old ones and as usually a period of liquidation occurs before the government figures, it seems inevitable that a reaction of fair proportions should be expected before we go on the 12 and 13-cent level, which is an eventual and eventful probability. The week's movement was of fair proportions, being about 30,000 bales larger than last year or the year before, but the recent advance in prices had much to do with it. The present situation is one of manipulation. The price is more than warranted, but it will take the publication and the analysis of government report to prove these prices are justified."

Weather: Dallas, rain last night, Sherman, cloudy, 68, shower last night, Houston, cloudy, 66, showers this morning, Fort Worth, clear, fine, Greenville, clear, rain last night, Gainesville, fair, 74, hard rain last night, Chicasaw, fair, light rain last night, Ardmore, cloudy, 63, heavy rain last night, Oklahoma City, clear, 65, Guthrie, rain last night, now cloudy, Helena, Ark., clear, cool, Southern forecast: Western cotton belt, showers all States.

STILL CLIMBING.

MAY WHEAT ON UPWARD BOUND.

OPTION BEATS ALL RECORDS FOR ELEVEN YEARS.

Hangs Fire for Time and Then, on Advices from Europe Telling of Sensational Advances on the Markets There, Springs to New High Water Mark.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] May wheat touched the highest point in eleven years today, when it sold on the Chicago Board for 1.31¼. Shorts were forced to buy at this high figure, and the Patten crowd is said to have let go a goodly bunch of grain at the high mark in order to allow the delivery of certain orders.

Cables from Continental Europe were sensationally higher. In Antwerp, Paris and Berlin, markets were up from 2¼ to 2¾ cents. These advances were based on reports of drought and damage to growing crops in Russia, France and Argentine.

The Liverpool market was also stronger, and the record advances in Europe were enough to set the pit into a frenzy.

The foreign situation did not improve the prospects of men who were on the short side of the market, and there was a rush to cover.

With practically no other support the price for May wheat rose from 1.30, where it hung practically motionless for some time, to 1.31¼.

As the price passed the 1.31 mark there was a terrific whooping by the bulls.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

Let us have peace.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Jewish Societies.

Ahabath Zion and Bnai Zion Jewish societies are to have a joint outing at Seal Gardens tomorrow. An extended programme of amusements has been arranged.

Brotherhood Luncheon.

The local assembly, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, will have a luncheon Thursday noon at the Federation clubrooms. During the past year the organization has paid a large debt and prospects for the future are bright. The officers are: President, A. F. Schuit; treasurer, Allen Culver; secretary, R. H. Lindsay.

Murphy Temperance Meeting.

William Murphy will hold his usual gospel temperance meeting in Blanchard Hall on Sunday evening, and will be the principal speaker, assisted by Thomas C. Murphy and others. M. T. Koehler of New York will play a violin solo, and Mrs. Wayland Trask and Francis Murphy, Jr., will sing solos.

Farewell for Ryland.

A farewell reception for Rev. E. P. Ryland, who is about to go to Houston, Tex., will be held at the First Methodist Episcopal Church at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. For this function a general invitation has been extended to the public. Addresses are to be delivered by a number of prominent church workers.

Bennett Here—No Developments.

According to the District Attorney's officers there were no developments yesterday in the investigation into the cause of the death of Mrs. Eugenia T. Bennett, who died of alleged ptomaine poisoning last February. Harper E. Bennett, the widower, reached Los Angeles from San Diego yesterday morning, and was for a good part of the day closeted with his attorneys, Johes & Drake.

Pennsylvanians' Picnic.

Ten thousand former Pennsylvanians who are now residing in Southern California, are invited to the annual picnic arranged by the Pennsylvania Society. It will be held at Eastlake Park next Saturday, and will be an all-day affair. There will be addresses by Rev. Charles Edward Locke and others, and Mr. and Mrs. Baker, the blind singers, will help entertain the crowd. The programme of sports will include an egg race, three-legged race, sack race and races for fat men and fat women. Pennsylvania buttons will be distributed. E. E. Overholtzer is the president of the society and Carrie Sherriff secretary.

"To Be" Another Month.

"To be or not to be." That was the burning question at the meeting of the Quincy (Ill.) Society yesterday evening. With the formation of an Illinois State society it was thought best by a number of those present among the hundred Quincy people to join the larger organization. After a general discussion it was voted to continue the Quincy society for another month at least. The programme resolved itself into a musicale after this. Masters Ford and Schuiks, assisted by Mrs. A. Ergott at the piano, formed an instrumental trio. Four little girls, all dressed in natty white suits, sang in quartette. The Misses Parker sang a duet, and the four Schultz sisters rendered several numbers. D. M. Belt, president of the society, and H. S. Laughlin spoke briefly on the old home town.

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect, for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

Join the crowd of well-pleased customers and come where you get best of meat, good weight, good service, a square deal.—Newmarket, 522-24 S. Broadway, bet. 5th and 6th.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 11, part II, of The Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers, under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

The Palace Market, the old reliable, will sell today and all of next week, mutton stew, 6c.; shoulder mutton, 7c.; roast veal, 10c.; choice veal stew, 8c.; legs young mutton, 12½c.; choice pot roasts, 7c. and 8c. Third and Spring. Ramona Block. Tel. Main 415. Home Ex. 10415.

COLLAPSES IN COURT.

Man Accused of Deadly Assault on His Wife May Be Examined by Lunacy Commission.

Edward G. Martin, charged with assault on his wife, with intent to kill, collapsed when taken to Justice Chambers's Police Court for preliminary examination yesterday afternoon, was carried to the Receiving Hospital and attended by surgeons there.

Martin is being closely watched and may be tried by the Lunacy Commission. In a fit of jealousy following a family quarrel on the night of March 28, he attacked his wife at Sixth and Main streets, firing three shots into her body. He then shot himself in the head.

The woman has recovered from her injuries. Martin, however, was kept at the County Hospital until yesterday. It is believed that his mind has been affected by his injury. When taken to court two weeks ago he collapsed twice.

"BAD MAN" AMUCK.

Individual With Nose Paint Cargo Tries to "Clean Out" Chinatown and Is "Pinched."

Albert Fager yesterday afternoon took on a substantial cargo of dago red, or other exhilarating liquid, and then conceived the idea that it would be great fun to clean out Chinatown. Accordingly, he wended his way to the territory inhabited by the Celestials. When he reached the precincts of the region of punk and chop suey he drew from his hip pocket a late model rapid-fire gun, and with an "Ee-yaw" that would shame a Bengal tiger, he dashed through the Chinatown streets brandishing his miniature cannon wildly in the air.

In less time than it takes to tell it not a Chinaman was in sight. They disappeared into their hovels like rats into their holes. This highly amused Fager and he was having the time of his life until Patrolmen Pautz and Shy hove into view. They grabbed the "bad man" and hustled him off to the Central Police Station. Fager will pay in the Police Court this morning for his little fun with the Celestials.

Because of these and many other patented features, controlled exclusively by the Victor Company, the Victor is the Best Talking Machine Made.

Many people prefer the cylinder type machine because of its different tone character and because the marvelous inventor, Edison, is identified with its manufacture.

RIVAL BORERS NEAR A CLASH.

Ruction Over Plan of Paying for Proposed Tunnels.

Court-street Promoters Ask City to Foot Bill.

Assessment System Broached for Second Street.

Difference of opinion as to how payment should be made for the proposed Second-street tunnel brought on a heated discussion and nearly led to blows last evening at a meeting of interested property owners at No. 210 South Fremont avenue.

Incidentally it came out that a movement is well along for a tunnel under Court street, running from Broadway to Figueroa street.

If both these projects go through and a bore be made under Fourth street, as has been suggested, the hills west and north of the business district will be literally honeycombed—making seven within a comparatively small territory; two already in use, Third street and Broadway, and two Hill-street tunnels, one from First to Temple, the other from Temple to Sunset boulevard, being nearly ready for traffic.

Promoters of the Court-street bore are just about to make their campaign; it is understood the matter of a bond issue to pay for the work is soon to be submitted by the Council.

When a motion was put at last night's meeting that the Second-street tunnel be under the assessment-district plan, there was objection by persons interested in the Court-street project. They feared that, if the Second-street promoters agreed to the assessment plan, the people of the city at large would refuse to vote bonds for a hole under Court street.

CRAIG FOR BOND PLAN.

James A. Craig, whose head as license collector recently was cut off by Mayor Alexander, spoke for the bond plan desired by the Court-street people. He managed to arouse the ire of J. F. Swift of the Second-street contingent, who favors the assessment plan.

"Aw, he's only a butter-in," snarled Swift several times as Craig spoke. Swift also made other uncomplimentary remarks, and it was only because his friends held him back that the meeting did not break up in a "rough house." As it was, many of the large number who attended the meeting left in disgust, believing that no good was to be accomplished.

Swift made the motion for an assessment district, but withdrew it later.

Despite the jar there was an interesting discussion of the Second-street project. As the matter stood at the close of the meeting, a lengthy petition is to be presented to the Council, requesting that the City Engineer be instructed to prepare plans for a tunnel under Second street, from Figueroa east to Hill street or to a point between Hill street and Broadway. This petition now bears the names of more than two hundred property owners.

It is estimated that the tunnel would cost $300,000, though it was conceded that the cost might be much less. The Third-street tunnel cost $188,000. It is about 1100 feet in length; that under Second street probably would be 1500 or 1600 feet long.

One difficulty to be overcome on Second street pertains to the damage that would result to property on either side of the street between Hill and Olive streets. This street is improved, several large buildings front upon it, and the Los Angeles Railway Company owns and operates a franchise thereupon. The entrance to the proposed tunnel would cut out the street and leave the property owners literally "in the air."

The suggestion has been made that a lot be purchased either at the southwest or northwest corner of Hill and Second streets, to be used as a street running up one side of the tunnel entrance, thus giving access to that portion of Second street above Clay or Olive street.

Whether provision should be made in the tunnel for street-car tracks is a matter that has not been determined. Last night's meeting of the Second-street Tunnel and Improvement Association was its first, and its members are not yet decided on details.

LOOK FOR TROLLEY HELP.

Should the trolley line be permitted, the tunnel would be much wider and necessarily more costly. It is hoped the railway company will agree to share in the cost.

Swift was so anxious last evening to have the work started at once under the assessment plan that he agreed to post $1000 at once as a starter. Harry Althouse made a similar offer, backing the Swift plan.

Craig urged that the Second-street people try first the bond plan; if they failed, he said they could go ahead under the assessment system. He was sure the Court-street project, under a bond issue, never would carry if the Second-street work were paid for only by the property owners directly benefited.

The success of the Third-street tunnel, under which a great section west thereof has been immensely benefited, has caused the agitation for the tunnels under Court and Second streets. Much property that would be brought close to the heart of the city by such new tunnels would rise wonderfully in value.

Another meeting of the Second-street association will be held soon, at the call of its president, William Riley.

GUNNING FOR HAPPINESS.

DOESN'T ENVY DIANA AND WANTS DIVORCE.

Handsome Society Woman Who Wants a Divorce.

Mrs. H. S. Reed of Hollywood, who announces that she will sue today on the grounds that her husband would rather hunt wild game than settle down to the happiness of a home life. He is a wealthy man, with banking interests in New Mexico and ranches in this section.

LOS ANGELES divorce courts will be treated to thrilling stories of hunting adventures when Mrs. H. S. Reed of Hollywood brings action for a decree on the ground of cruelty; this cruelty, according to Mrs. Reed, lies in the allegation that her husband would rather hunt big game in remote regions and expose her to the hardships and dangers of the wilderness than settle down to a happy home life. She declared last night that she will begin the proceeding this morning.

Two hunting trips through the mountain snows, numerous encounters with fierce Alaskan bears, a third expedition into the practically unexplored regions of Lower California, where the rattlesnakes and mountain lions made life a worry and peace of mind an impossibility, will figure largely in the testimony. Mrs. Reed says she would rather have a pretty little home of her own than travel about in the wilds and kill the beasts to be found there.

H. S. Reed left the Hotel Hollywood a week ago for his ranch in the Imperial Valley. He is president of a bank in Santa Fé, N. M., owns valuable farm lands in the valley and has interests in Los Angeles. His work is so arranged that he has a great deal of his time to himself, and, according to the allegations of Mrs. Reed, he passes most of it in hunting.

HONEYMOON ON PEAK.

They were married a little over two years ago in Denver, the bride being a resident of that city. She says she knew she was to have a surprise as a honeymoon trip, and expected a pleasant one; it was different from anything she had anticipated. The cool promenades of Southern Italy were not for her, the gay boulevards and theaters of Paris were not destined to be graced by her presence. Neither was she to linger in the beautiful gardens of Vienna and listen to the soft music of the royal bands.

The honeymoon trip was strenuous, she insists, because the place of retreat selected by the groom was the top of a peak surrounded by clouds and snow banks and peopled by timber wolves, bears, canned beans and hard tack.

At least Mrs. Reed alleges that such was the case. She was close to nature, but she didn't feel the call of the wild. She longed for that little home she had pictured—a home of her own.

"The honeymoon was a decided success so far as hunting went," said Mrs. Reed. "I remember one night when had taken up a position some distance away on a cliff wall. He had been wounded and was not in a docile frame of mind. I was left there with a little crippled boy, who acted as camp cook. I was compelled to sit up through that lonely, cold night, with the snarls of the enraged brute in my ears and the yapping of the wolves about me. I sat there with my rifle across my knees waiting for daylight and help.

"That trip was a very trying one, indeed. We returned only to go on another hunting trip to Alaska. That was followed by a third to Lower California, where it was a matter of facing the rattlesnakes and mountain cats and living among centipedes and tarantulas and other unpleasant things.

HAPPINESS HER GAME.

"These trips were punctuated by smaller trips to surrounding places where game was to be found. My husband was hunting animals; I was hunting happiness. I'm afraid I did not make as great a success at my

HUNTINGTON EN ROUTE.

Mr. Huntington has at last started on his often-postponed trip to California. He left New York on Wednesday and will come to Los Angeles by way of San Francisco. It was stated yesterday at the home of his son that he would probably arrive here next Monday or Tuesday.

The Wall Street Journal yesterday printed a confirmation of the report that he will soon retire from the presidency of the Pacific Electric. The oft-repeated reports of the approaching marriage of Mr. Huntington are again denied by him and members of his family.

Los Angeles will extend a glad welcome to the great railroad builder, and of course will ask him to do lots of things. He will make his home while here with his son in Pasadena.

ON THE TRAILS.

STARTLING IS NEGRO'S TALE.

Furnishes New Clew in the Poltera Mystery.

Says He Saw Two Men Who Made Assault.

Officers Will Investigate This Morning.

The Sheriff's officers and detectives who are working on the case of Anna Poltera, whose mutilated body was found near the southerly end of Griffith Park Thursday, will investigate today a startling clew which came to them late last night. If the clew develops it will be the most tangible information which has thus far come to the police.

This clew comes from John Clayton Robinson, a negro, 20 years of age, who lives at No. 1245 East Thirty-fourth street. Because he is a half-wit the police are inclined to doubt his story. Nevertheless they will investigate.

Robinson yesterday told to neighbors that Monday afternoon, while he was on Sargent street in the vicinity of Elysian Park, he saw two men dart from a hiding-place in the trees and grab a girl who was passing on the road. He declares that while one of the men held the girl the other thrust a knife into her throat. He said he was frightened and started to run, but before he took flight he said he saw the two men carry the girl into the heavy underbrush at the side of the road.

SAYS HE SAW ATTACK.

When brought to the Police Station last night, Robinson repeated his story. He added that after seeing the attack on the girl he ran to the home of Mrs. Sargent on Sargent street, and told her what he had seen. Today detectives will take Robinson before Mrs. Sargent and will also ask him to point out the spot where he saw the men carry the girl into the underbrush.

Detectives from the Sheriff's office yesterday were led to the belief that the crime was committed by the burglar-cracksman who has been operating in Glendale and Tropico recently, and are searching for him. They believe that the camp which was found by a Times reporter near where the body of the girl was found was the camp of the burglar and that he deserted it hurriedly.

Yesterday the officers continued their investigation—following up every clew which presented itself, leaving not even the wildest rumor unverified.

The officers have been tireless. They have worked day and night. But they have been hampered by the start which the murderer gained on them. The girl was undoubtedly killed Monday. Her body was not found until Thursday.

FIRST TRACES REMOVED.

First traces for criminal investigation have been removed. So carefully has the criminal covered his tracks that so far the officers have been unable to find where the murder was committed. It is agreed by all that the body of the girl was carried to where it was found.

The nature of the murder in itself presents a problem from the outset. A score of theories came to the police authorities at the first comprehensive review of the attending circumstances.

One by one these theories are being followed to an end and as this is being done the process of elimination will draw tighter the cords which will tend to enmesh the man who killed the girl.

George Valdez, a Mexican, was taken to the Police Station yesterday afternoon on suspicion. He answered in a degree the description of the man seen walking along the road near the little girl Monday evening. His clothes were spotted with blood, but he soon explained his movements in a manner to satisfy the police of his innocence.

The inquest on the murdered girl's remains was held at the Pierce morgue yesterday morning. The father

GIVING BIRDS TO SCHOOL.

Valuable Los Angeles Collection for Museum of University.

F. O. Johnson, proprietor of the Westminster Hotel, is to give the University of California his entire collection of birds and other specimens, which are of the finest in the country, will be placed in the university museum, a new building which was completed last February.

Prof. Joseph Grinnell of Berkeley, curator of the university museum, has come to Los Angeles to arrange the transfer. Mr. Johnson was out of the city yesterday, and will not return until this morning. Prof. Grinnell reports that the university museum already has 35,000 specimens of birds, mammals, etc. Most of these, however, are in alcohol, and must be kept in the dark when not in use, as the light would affect the color of the preserved exhibits. Mr. Johnson's collection will make a material and valuable addition to the museum, as all the specimens are artistically mounted.

WON'T SAY WHY SHE WOULD DIE.

WOMAN TAKES POISON, BUT HER LIFE IS SAVED.

Note Found in Room Reads: "I Can Do no More. I Am So Tired. If Kenneth Were Only Here!"—Explanation Refused—Members of Family Profess Ignorance.

What was the motive which caused Mrs. C. E. Wills of No. 417 Bernardo street to swallow morphine at her home yesterday afternoon?

Relatives of the woman and officers are asking this question. After the woman was treated at the Receiving Hospital and was told that the poison would have no permanent effect, she refused absolutely to talk.

Late yesterday afternoon her son, George Wills, who is employed at the Brauer & Krohn tailor shop, received a telephone message from his mother to the effect that she had taken poison. He immediately telephoned to the Police Station.

When officers arrived at the home with an ambulance, they found Mrs. Wills in a cheerful mood, and when they explained why they had come, she laughingly told them that it was all a mistake, that she had not taken poison.

They noticed, however, an unnatural look in her eyes, and when they returned to Central Station, reported to Chief Surgeon Quint.

He ordered the ambulance to return to the Wills home, and accompanied it. The woman was found reclining on a bed. When the doctor questioned her, she roused herself from the stupor into which she had fallen sufficiently to berate the physician and the police.

At the order of Quint, Mrs. Wills was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where she was found to be suffering from morphine poisoning. She responded quickly to treatment, and in a short time was out of danger. When asked why she had taken the drug and then telephoned to her son, she made no reply. Her husband, who called at the hospital, said he could give no reason for his wife's act. Later, the police found this note on the dresser in Mrs. Wills's room:

"I can do no more. I am so tired. If Kenneth were only here!"

Members of the family say that they know no one by the name of Kenneth. Mrs. Wills would not explain.

FOLK PREDICTS.

CITY OF A MILLION; CONTINENT REPUBLIC.

"BASING my judgment upon my observations of conditions all over the country, I predict that Los Angeles is destined to become a city of a million inhabitants, and that within fifty years we will have a republic of all America."

This statement was made last night at the Alexandria by Hon. Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis, former Attorney-General and more lately Governor of Missouri, who has come to Los Angeles on a lecture tour.

"I have visited the North and the South and the East," said Mr. Folk, "and I have seen a good deal of the West. The country is pretty well settled now. There is some government land left in the West, but not so much. I predict that within fifty years we will have a republic of all America.

"Americans are a notably restless people. Everywhere I meet people who are from somewhere else. In Missouri we have people from Tennessee and Kentucky and other States to the east and south of us. In the South I have met people from the North and West and East. Here you have people from all the States. This restlessness has led to many investments in Canada and Mexico, for there is no more frontier country, no more wilderness, in the United States. The land in Washington is all pretty well taken up, and it is the same in Montana and other States in the Northwest.

"American capital and energy are crossing the frontiers. In the course of time the frontiers will be rubbed out.

"Now, pray do not misunderstand me, for I would not for the world be the cause of any misunderstanding with our neighbors in either Canada or Mexico. It is so easy to misinterpret a word and give offense in fact in the course of time and to meet new conditions.

"In the forties, nobody would have thought of the California of today, but California is now, none the less, a part of the Union.

"One of the factors that will do most for the upbuilding of Los Angeles will be the completion of the Panama Canal. This will bring low freight rates, and low freight rates mean the upbuilding of a country. Where the fruit growers of California are shipping boxes of oranges to the East, they may then send tons for practically the same expense in freight. Your city has many advantages, and when the canal is finished, its growth will be even more surprising than the rapid advance it has made in the last fifteen years.

"I believe in the recall, in the initiative and in the referendum," said Mr. Folk, speaking of municipal life. "If government of the people by the people is right, it is difficult to see how the people can be given too much power. If a firm or corporation has the right to dismiss from its service an employé with whom it is no longer pleased, a community should have the right to similarly dispose of its employés. And yet——"

Mr. Folk smiled slightly as he settled back in the big leather chair, hesitated awhile, then continued:

"And yet, the recall may easily be abused, and there is the expense to be argued against it.

"The Greeks had the recall; Athens used it. They went even further with the recall than you may do in Los Angeles; they could recall a citizen." The smile became broad, and the Missourian's eyes twinkled. "Don't you remember Aristides the Just? The people got tired of hearing him called 'just,' and they dropped their little shell ballots against Aristides the Just until he had to get out."

Mr. Folk will speak in Simpson Auditorium this evening under the auspices of the Boyle Heights Entre Nous Club, with the awakening of the

The entrance to the proposed tunnel would cut out the street and leave the property owners literally "in the air."

The suggestion has been made that a lot be purchased either at the southwest or northwest corner of Hill and Second streets, to be used as a street running up one side of the tunnel entrance, thus giving access to that portion of Second street above Clay or Olive street.

Whether provision should be made in the tunnel for street-car tracks is a matter that has not been determined. Last night's meeting of the Second-street Tunnel and Improvement Association was its first, and its members are not yet decided on details.

LOOK FOR TROLLEY HELP.

Should the trolley line be permitted, the tunnel would be much wider and necessarily more costly. It is hoped the railway company will agree to share in the cost.

Swift was so anxious last evening to have the work started at once under the assessment plan that he agreed to post $1000 at once as a starter. Harry Althouse made a similar offer, backing the Swift plan.

Craig urged that the Second-street people try first the bond plan; if they failed, he said they could go ahead under the assessment system. He was sure the Court-street project, under a bond issue, never would carry if the Second-street work were paid for only by the property owners directly benefited.

The success of the Third-street tunnel, under which a great section west thereof has been immensely benefited, has caused the agitation for the tunnels under Court and Second streets. Much property that would be brought close to the heart of the city by such new tunnels would rise wonderfully in value.

Another meeting of the Second-street association will be held soon, at the call of its president, William Riley.

GUNNING FOR HAPPINESS.

Handsome Society Woman Who Wants a Divorce.

Mrs. H. S. Reed of Hollywood, who announces that she will sue today on the grounds that her husband would rather hunt wild game than settle down to the happiness of a home life. He is a wealthy man, with banking interests in New Mexico and ranches in this section.

LOS ANGELES divorce courts will be treated to thrilling stories of hunting adventures when Mrs. H. S. Reed of Hollywood brings action for a decree on the ground of cruelty; this cruelty, according to Mrs. Reed, lies in the allegation that her husband would rather hunt big game in remote regions and expose her to the hardships and dangers of the wilderness than settle down to a happy home life. She declared last night that she will begin the proceeding this morning.

Two hunting trips through the mountain snows, numerous encounters with fierce Alaskan bears, a third expedition into the practically unexplored regions of Lower California, where the rattlesnakes and mountain lions made life a worry and peace of mind an impossibility, will figure largely in the testimony. Mrs. Reed says she would rather have a pretty little home of her own than travel about in the wilds and kill the beasts to be found there.

H. S. Reed left the Hotel Hollywood a week ago for his ranch in the Imperial Valley. He is president of a bank in Santa Fé, N. M., owns valuable farm lands in the valley and has interests in Los Angeles. His work is so arranged that he has a great deal of his time to himself, and, according to the allegations of Mrs. Reed, he passes most of it in hunting.

HONEYMOON ON PEAK.

They were married a little over two years ago in Denver, the bride being a resident of that city. She says she knew she was to have a surprise as a honeymoon trip, and expected a pleasant one; it was different from anything she had anticipated. The cool promenades of Southern Italy were not for her, the gay boulevards and theaters of Paris were not destined to be graced by her presence. Neither was she to linger in the beautiful gardens of Vienna and listen to the soft music of the royal bands.

The honeymoon trip was strenuous, she insists, because the place of retreat selected by the groom was the top of a peak surrounded by clouds and snow banks and peopled by timber wolves, bears, canned beans and hard tack.

At least Mrs. Reed alleges that such was the case. She was close to nature, but she didn't feel the call of the wild. She longed for that little home she had pictured—a home of her own.

"The honeymoon was a decided success so far as hunting went," said Mrs. Reed. "I remember one night when had taken up a position some distance away on a cliff wall. He had been wounded and was not in a docile frame of mind. I was left there with a little crippled boy, who acted as camp cook. I was compelled to sit up through that lonely, cold night, with the snarls of the enraged brute in my ears and the yapping of the wolves about me. I sat there with my rifle across my knees waiting for daylight and help.

"That trip was a very trying one, indeed. We returned only to go on another hunting trip to Alaska. That was followed by a third to Lower California, where it was a matter of facing the rattlesnakes and mountain cats and living among centipedes and tarantulas and other unpleasant things.

HAPPINESS HER GAME.

"These trips were punctuated by smaller trips to surrounding places where game was to be found. My husband was hunting animals; I was hunting happiness. I'm afraid I did not make as great a success at my

HUNTINGTON EN ROUTE.

Mr. Huntington has at last started on his often-postponed trip to California. He left New York on Wednesday and will come to Los Angeles by way of San Francisco. It was stated yesterday at the home of his son that he would probably arrive here next Monday or Tuesday.

The Wall Street Journal yesterday printed a confirmation of the report that he will soon retire from the presidency of the Pacific Electric. The oft-repeated reports of the approaching marriage of Mr. Huntington are again denied by him and members of his family.

Los Angeles will extend a glad welcome to the great railroad builder, and of course will ask him to do lots of things. He will make his home while here with his son in Pasadena.

ON THE TRAILS.

STARTLING IS NEGRO'S TALE.

Furnishes New Clew in the Poltera Mystery.

Says He Saw Two Men Who Made Assault.

Officers Will Investigate This Morning.

The Sheriff's officers and detectives who are working on the case of Anna Poltera, whose mutilated body was found near the southerly end of Griffith Park Thursday, will investigate today a startling clew which came to them late last night. If the clew develops it will be the most tangible information which has thus far come to the police.

This clew comes from John Clayton Robinson, a negro, 20 years of age, who lives at No. 1245 East Thirty-fourth street. Because he is a half-wit the police are inclined to doubt his story. Nevertheless they will investigate.

Robinson yesterday told to neighbors that Monday afternoon, while he was on Sargent street in the vicinity of Elysian Park, he saw two men dart from a hiding-place in the trees and grab a girl who was passing on the road. He declares that while one of the men held the girl the other thrust a knife into her throat. He said he was frightened and started to run, but before he took flight he said he saw the two men carry the girl into the heavy underbrush at the side of the road.

SAYS HE SAW ATTACK.

When brought to the Police Station last night, Robinson repeated his story. He added that after seeing the attack on the girl he ran to the home of Mrs. Sargent on Sargent street, and told her what he had seen. Today detectives will take Robinson before Mrs. Sargent and will also ask him to point out the spot where he saw the men carry the girl into the underbrush.

Detectives from the Sheriff's office yesterday were led to the belief that the crime was committed by the burglar-cracksman who has been operating in Glendale and Tropico recently, and are searching for him. They believe that the camp which was found by a Times reporter near where the body of the girl was found was the camp of the burglar and that he deserted it hurriedly.

Yesterday the officers continued their investigation—following up every clew which presented itself, leaving not even the wildest rumor unverified.

The officers have been tireless. They have worked day and night. But they have been hampered by the start which the murderer gained on them. The girl was undoubtedly killed Monday. Her body was not found until Thursday.

FIRST TRACES REMOVED.

First traces for criminal investigation have been removed. So carefully has the criminal covered his tracks that so far the officers have been unable to find where the murder was committed. It is agreed by all that the body of the girl was carried to where it was found.

The nature of the murder in itself presents a problem from the outset. A score of theories came to the police authorities at the first comprehensive review of the attending circumstances.

One by one these theories are being followed to an end and as this is being done the process of elimination will draw tighter the cords which will tend to enmesh the man who killed the girl.

George Valdez, a Mexican, was taken to the Police Station yesterday afternoon on suspicion. He answered in a degree the description of the man seen walking along the road near the little girl Monday evening. His clothes were spotted with blood, but he soon explained his movements in a manner to satisfy the police of his innocence.

The inquest on the murdered girl's remains was held at the Pierce morgue yesterday morning. The father

GIVING BIRDS TO SCIENCE.

Valuable Los Angeles Collection for Museum of State University.

F. O. Johnson, proprietor of the Westminster Hotel, is about to give the University of California his entire collection of birds and other specimens, one of the finest in the country. It will be placed in the university museum, a new building for which was completed last February.

Prof. Joseph Grinnell of Berkeley, curator of the university museum, has come to Los Angeles to arrange the transfer. Mr. Johnson was out of the city yesterday, and will not return until this morning. Prof. Grinnell reports that the university museum already has 35,000 specimens of birds, mammals, etc. Most of these, however, are in alcohol, and must be kept in the dark when not in use, as the light would affect the color of the preserved exhibits. Mr. Johnson's collection will make a material and valuable addition to the museum, as all the specimens are artistically mounted.

NON-COMMITTAL.

WON'T SAY WHY SHE WOULD DIE.

WOMAN TAKES POISON, BUT HER LIFE IS SAVED.

Note Found in Room Reads: "I Can Do no More. I Am So Tired. If Kenneth Were Only Here!"—Explanation Refused—Members of Family Profess Ignorance.

What was the motive which caused Mrs. C. E. Wills of No. 417 Bernardo street to swallow morphine at her home yesterday afternoon?

Relatives of the woman and officers are asking this question. After the woman was treated at the Receiving Hospital and was told that the poison would have no permanent effect, she refused absolutely to talk.

Late yesterday afternoon her son, George Wills, who is employed at the Brauer & Krohn tailor shop, received a telephone message from his mother to the effect that she had taken poison. He immediately telephoned to the Police Station.

When officers arrived at the home with an ambulance, they found Mrs. Wills in a cheerful mood, and when they explained why they had come, she laughingly told them that it was all a mistake, that she had not taken poison.

They noticed, however, an unnatural look in her eyes, and when they returned to Central Station, reported to Chief Surgeon Quint.

He ordered the ambulance to return to the Wills home, and accompanied it. The woman was found reclining on a bed. When the doctor questioned her, she roused herself from the stupor into which she had fallen sufficiently to berate the physician and the police.

At the order of Quint, Mrs. Wills was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where she was found to be suffering from morphine poisoning. She responded quickly to treatment, and in a short time was out of danger. When asked why she had taken the drug and then telephoned to her son, she made no reply. Her husband, who called at the hospital, said he could give no reason for his wife's act. Later, the police found this note on the dresser in Mrs. Wills's room:

"I can do no more. I am so tired. If Kenneth were only here!"

Members of the family say that they know no one by the name of Kenneth. Mrs. Wills would not explain.

FOLK PREDICTS.

CITY OF A MILLION; CONTINENT REPUBLIC.

"BASING my judgment upon my observations of conditions all over the country, I predict that Los Angeles is destined to become a city of a million inhabitants, and that within fifty years we will have a republic of all America."

This statement was made last night at the Alexandria by Hon. Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis, former Attorney-General and more lately Governor of Missouri, who has come to Los Angeles on a lecture tour.

"I have visited the North and the South and the East," said Mr. Folk, "and I have seen a good deal of the West. The country is pretty well settled now. There is some government land left in the West, but not so much. I predict that within fifty years we will have a republic of all America.

"Americans are a notably restless people. Everywhere I meet people who are from somewhere else. In Missouri we have people from Tennessee and Kentucky and other States to the east and south of us. In the South I have met people from the North and West and East. Here you have people from all the States. This restlessness has led to many investments in Canada and Mexico, for there is no more frontier country, no more wilderness, in the United States. The land in Washington is all pretty well taken up, and it is the same in Montana and other States in the Northwest.

"American capital and energy are crossing the frontiers. In the course of time the frontiers will be rubbed out.

"Now, pray do not misunderstand me, for I would not for the world be the cause of any misunderstanding with our neighbors in either Canada or Mexico. It is so easy to misinterpret a word and give offense in matin the course of time and to meet new conditions.

"In the forties, nobody would have thought of the California of today, but California is now, none the less, a part of the Union.

"One of the factors that will do most for the upbuilding of Los Angeles will be the completion of the Panama Canal. This will bring low freight rates, and low freight rates mean the upbuilding of a country. Where the fruit growers of California are shipping boxes of oranges to the East, they may then send tons for practically the same expense in freight. Your city has many advantages, and when the canal is finished, its growth will be even more surprising than the rapid advance it has made in the last fifteen years.

"I believe in the recall, in the initiative and in the referendum," said Mr. Folk, speaking of municipal life. "If government of the people by the people is right, it is difficult to see how the people can be given too much power. If a firm or corporation has the right to dismiss from its service an employé with whom it is no longer pleased, a community should have the right to similarly dispose of its employés. And yet——"

Mr. Folk smiled slightly as he settled back in the big leather chair, hesitated awhile, then continued:

"And yet, the recall may easily be abused, and there is the expense to be argued against it.

"The Greeks had the recall; Athens used it. They went even further with the recall than you may do in Los Angeles; they could recall a citizen." The smile became broad, and the Missourian's eyes twinkled. "Don't you remember Aristides the Just? The people got tired of hearing him called 'just,' and they dropped their little shell ballots against Aristides the Just until he had to get out."

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Specifications for a new dead-animal contract have been prepared and officials disagree with the plan to include small animals in a new contract.

The Broadhead trial for alleged bribery was set yesterday by Judge Davis for July 12. The trial of Sam Schenck for alleged attempted bribery was set for August 2. Demurrers to the indictments in both cases were overruled by the court.

The sale of about $40,000 worth of land belonging to the "Lucky" Baldwin estate was confirmed yesterday by Judge Rives. It is expected that the entire estate will be adjudicated within a year after the death of Baldwin, and that there will be $22,000,000 to distribute among the beneficiaries of the will.

The injunction involving a branch of the tide-lands suit at Wilmington was modified by Judge Bordwell yesterday so as to allow the work of excavation on C street to proceed on lands for which surveys were made by the United States engineers and approved by the Secretary of War.

AT THE CITY HALL.

DEAD ANIMALS LIVE QUESTION.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR NEW CONTRACT HAVE TWO SIDES.

Inspector of Public Works Wants All Sizes Included While Others Doubt Possibility of Caring for Small Ones—Contract Now Before Council May Be Killed.

In getting specifications ready for a contract to remove dead animals from the city, W. M. Humphreys, Inspector of Public Works, has made it the duty of the contractor to take small, as well as large animals. It is his theory that there should not be a contract for large animals with profitable by-products—pelts, hides and fertilizer—while the city is left to remove the small ones probably at considerable cost. Disposal must be outside the city, either by incineration or reduction.

Whether this will meet the ideas of the Council is doubted by some who are approving Humphreys's specifications because the Council has steadfastly voted to approve the contract with the United Phosphate Company on a different basis. The argument is that men in the fertilizer manufacturing business will not take a contract that includes small animals which are not deemed profitable. In other words, the contractors want the pick of the animals and leave the rest for the city to dispose of as best it can.

It was because small animals were not cared for that Mayor Harper vetoed the contract with the United Phosphate Company. He also believed the city was making money handling the collection itself, and the cash balance showed this in the office of the Board of Public Works. A similar contract reached Mayor Stephens and he vetoed it for the same reasons Harper did and for the additional reason that others said it was a gift of a valuable privilege to the contractor and they would pay the city more than the $60 yearly agreed to.

The phosphate company's contract is still before the Council, but is admittedly dead because several members believe a better bargain can be made.

The Humphreys specifications provide that the contractor shall remove horses, cows and other large animals and also dogs, cats, chickens and the like. A schedule of charges which the contractor may make is included. Animals over 400 pounds will cost the owners $3 to remove; under this weight and over 100 pounds, $1.50 and below fifty pounds, 50 cents.

This classification is not entirely agreeable to other members of the Board of Public Works and will be changed. The weights fixed are intended to discriminate between mature animals and young ones, and the other members believe the weight of the animal does not entirely differentiate the service performed.

There is also doubt as to whether the small animals should be included, for if they are, it may bring less revenue to the city. But Humphreys maintains that the difference in revenue with the probable cost of the city collecting the small animals will be in favor of the contract system.

It is probable the Council will pass on the animal specifications along with the garbage specifications Tuesday and at the same time clear the record of the United Phosphate contract.

SEWER BUREAU.

CHANGE IN INSPECTION.

A change in the inspection and control of sewers is being planned and may go to the Council Tuesday. It is proposed that all the issuance of permits for sewer connections shall be made from the City Engineer's office and that the inspection of the work shall be done there. It also means that the street department would cease to have charges of the flushing of sewers and that this would be in the engineer's department. The change is recommended by the engineer because it logically, in his belief, is a part of the completion of the sanitary sewer system.

The number of sewer connections being made monthly is now so great that the street department cannot give it proper supervision. In the first four months of the year 2800 permits were issued. These connections must all have sanitary inspection and the street department is clamoring for more help. In May alone 1329 were issued and up to yesterday 963 were issued this month. If this work is to be thoroughly inspected the engineer believes it should be made a bureau of his department so that those who construct the sewers may follow the work into the property lines.

Contractor Backs Down.

J. H. Melvill, who bid $1.32 a day to furnish vehicles and teams for street sprinkling, has notified the Board of Public Works that he finds his tests of the work the animals may do on the hills shows the work cannot be done at his price and that he does not want the contract. He is willing to forfeit the check he deposited as security for his bid, but the board doesn't want to let him go and has asked the City Attorney to advise it if Melvill can be forced to execute the contract and carry it out.

On Main-street Sidewalks.

Trying to find why business men of Main street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, defy the ordinance by placing merchandise on the sidewalks, the Mayor has learned from Sergt. Haupt that a portion of the sidewalks, although dedicated to the city, has never been formally accepted. The Mayor

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

CLEARS WAY FOR BALDWIN ACRES.

ESTATE OF "LUCKY" IS IN RAPID TRANSITION.

Court Confirms Sales of Number of Pieces Which Belonged to Late Turf King—Twenty-two Millions of Dollars in Prospect for the Beneficiaries of Will.

Judge Rives yesterday confirmed the sales of a number of pieces of land belonging to the estate of the late Elias J. ("Lucky") Baldwin, the most of the deals having been negotiated by H. A. Unruh while acting as special administrator, although in several instances contracts were made by Baldwin himself before he died.

The aggregate amount received is $40,000. The court also confirmed and approved the account of Unruh as special administrator, the account showing about $15,000 in the hands of that official at the time of the probating of the will.

It is believed that soon the broad acres of the Baldwin holdings will be cut up into small ranches, and the entire estate disposed of, except as provided under the terms of the will. So rapidly are the affairs of the dead horseman being cleared up that it is understood a complete settlement with the heirs will be possible within a year after the death of the master of the Santa Anita acres.

The original appraisement of the Baldwin property placed the total at $24,000,000. An estimate has been made showing that of that immense amount less than $2,000,000 will be necessary to pay off all the debts and the cost of administration. This would leave $22,000,000 for distribution among those remembered in the will of Baldwin.

A feature of the figures on amounts received for the real estate so far sold is that the price is fully up to if it does not exceed the appraised value, indicating that the total receipts of the estate may be in excess of $24,000,000.

OBJECTS TO SICK WIFE.

SO SHE SAYS OF HUSBAND.

"The only reason I know for my husband having left me," said Mrs. Marian Lee Gosnell, a well-groomed matron, in the divorce court yesterday, "is that I was sick a great deal of the time. He often told me that he did not have much use for a woman who was always sick." The wife was married to William H. Gosnell in Rochester, N. Y., in 1898. The husband was a building contractor. They live at Eighth and Hill streets in this city for some time, but in 1902 he left her and went to San Francisco, where he allied himself with the Carpenters' Union and took a prominent part in the labor agitation in that city. Judge James granted the woman a decree.

Belle Millham sought a separation from Harry L. Millham, to whom she was married in 1900 in Newark, N. J. They have a daughter 7 years of age. The wife testified: "We were housekeeping in Newark, but my husband thought it would be a good idea to board and I consented. We stored our furniture and in a few days he left me. I went to the storage warehouse only to discover that he had sold the stuff and gone away. This was in 1904." She got a divorce.

The cleaning up of the "Red Light" district in Los Angeles was the point in the divorce granted to Olive Bowen from Arthur M. Bowen. They were married in Los Angeles in 1899 and for several years Bowen conducted a disreputable house on Alameda street, according to the testimony of his wife. When the place was closed Bowen, with his retinue, went to San Diego, and deserted his wife.

"I did not live with him as his wife while he was in the business," said Mrs. Bowen, "but he supported me for a year. I then told him that if he did not reform I would leave him, but he left me. I understand he is still in San Diego." The mother-in-law of Bowen in her testimony said: "I gave him $37 to pay the taxes on my property in San Diego, and what do you think he did? Why, he kept the money, bad luck to him." The court thought the evidence of desertion sufficient.

Marie M. Weber secured freedom from Herman Weber, a pipe maker, in quick time. They were married in 1905, and have a boy. Weber left her in 1907, when they resided on Twentieth avenue. She then went to her mother at Kern City, but the husband asked her to return to him, as he wanted to go to housekeeping again in Los Angeles.

"And I left mother and took his word for it," said the wife, a buxom, handsome looking woman, "but his treatment of me was no improvement over that before he skipped out. He got drunk and beat me, and gave me nothing to live upon. Then I packed up my things and went back to mother again at Kern City."

The wife was granted a decree and the court allowed her $15 a month for the support of the boy.

SECOND CHAPTER.

HARRIS-HARPER SUIT.

Another chapter in the suit brought by Jane Harris against Mrs. Grace Velie Harper for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Sidney Harris, will be written in Judge Hervey's court, Department 7, May 28, when a motion to strike out a certain paragraph of the complaint will be made by attorneys representing Mrs. Harper.

The offensive paragraph reads thus: "That said defendant, Grace Velie Harper, is the owner of large amounts of real and personal property, and is of great wealth, the precise amount whereof is unknown to the plaintiff, but the plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the wealth of the said Grace Velie Harper is in excess of $750,000."

A demurrer was filed in the complaint of Mrs. Harris yesterday, in which the charge is made that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue, in that she is a married woman, and her husband is not joined with her as a party plaintiff or made a defendant.

OFF THE BOOKS

ONE FOY DIVORCE ACTION.

The action to show cause in the Foy divorce case was stricken off the calendar in Judge James's court yesterday. James Calvert Foy, the defendant in the case brought by his wife, Annie Adell Foy, failed to appear in response to an order of the court. Judge James has issued an order restraining Foy temporarily if he can be located by the representatives of his wife, from disposing of any of his real property, or of his interest in the estate of his father, Samuel Calvert Foy.

It has been stated all along that Foy at the proper time, will appear and contest the suit, but there has so far been no indication of any such desire or intention on his part. The records in the office of the County

HEARING FOR LAY.

COURT POSTPONES DECISION.

Judge Hutton yesterday heard the case brought by W. F. Lay, in which it was sought to have an order of arrest set aside. After hearing the testimony the court postponed its decision in order to give the defendant an opportunity to get certain documents from New York.

In an action brought by C. J. Laughlin, Jr., J. M. McLeod and F. C. Carlson against Lay, it was charged that Lay had through fraudulent means secured about $4000 from the plaintiffs, on a deal that involved the financing an oil proposition in San Joaquin Valley, for $3,000,000. The accused alleged that the real culprit in the case is Charles J. Foxwell, who is now supposed to be in Paris. Lay admitted that he had spent considerable money traveling between San Francisco and New York, but declared that the plaintiffs knew what he was doing and were satisfied; that he was only in the employ of Foxwell.

TRYING NEW LAW.

AFFECTS PARENTS' BEHAVIOR.

The new law enacted by the Legislature at its late session, bearing on the Juvenile Court, came into play in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday. The section providing for the punishment of parents who contribute to the delinquency and dependency of their children was invoked for the first time in the history of Los Angeles county.

The enactment provides that if a parent offends as stated he or she may be fined not to exceed $1000, or be imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. The offenders were Biaggio Rosatti and José Redona. Rosatti is the father of four children, and it is alleged that he plied them with liquor. Redona, father of Irene, a pretty little Mexican girl, and two smaller children, is accused of having been intoxicated in the presence of his family. Redona has retained an attorney and it is announced that he will fight the case, which will be called early next week.

"BUSTER" PUNISHED.

YOUNG THIEF SENT TO IONE.

Judge Wilbur disposed of the case of George Gorham, alias "Buster" Griffin, and Frank Moran, alias Frank Dupree, yesterday. The lads pleaded guilty to entering a shoe shop and a warehouse at Pomona and Gorham when arraigned put up a strong story about his desire to shield his disgrace from his parents in Easthampton, Mass. An investigation of the boy's record, however, established that he is accustomed to crime in spite of the fact that his appearance rather appealed to the court.

Gorham was sentenced to Ione where he will remain until he reaches his majority and upon his release he will be returned for a further disposition of his case. He goes to the reform school under one of the charges of burglary. He may be released on probation on the second, if his conduct is commendable. Moran was allowed to go, proceedings in his case being suspended for five years. He must make his reports to Capt. A. C. Dodds, probation officer. An effort was made by the authorities to communicate with Moran's friends in New Orleans, but they apparently did not care enough about him to send the price of a ticket to take him back to his old home.

P. H. Slaughter, the colored man convicted by a jury of assaulting John Nakao, a Japanese, with intent to rob, will be sentenced Thursday, when an application for his parole will be considered.

GRAND AVENUE OPENING.

PROPERTY OWNERS' FIGHT.

Another chapter in the legal affairs centering around the opening of North Grand avenue between Temple and California streets was begun yesterday morning before Judge Moss in Department Ten of the Superior Court. A suit was before him which, although nominally that of H. A. C. McPhail against the city of Los Angeles, is really what will probably be the last protest of the property owners affected, as the decision, when given, will affect all cases heretofore contested.

The realty owners in the section that would be affected by the opening of the street in question have for near four years been fighting the assessments placed on them for condemnation of a piece of property. A number of suits have been filed opposing the assessment on various technicalities, and once it has gone to the Supreme Court.

This last trench behind which the protestants are standing is an apparently insignificant clause in "The Street-Opening Act of 1903." This clause states that all sales of delinquent property must be made by the Sheriff at 10 o'clock on the day set by the Street Superintendent, or the Board of Public Works in this case. Attorney George L. Sanders, acting for the plaintiff, discovered that the Sheriff had postponed the sale for one hour while other business was attended to, and thereupon hung the suit. The law expressly states that the sale if postponed at all must go over until the next day, and the wording is such that Attorney Sanders expects it to invalidate the sale. After arguments lasting all morning, Judge Moss took the case under advisement.

TIDE LANDS CASE.

STIPULATION IS MADE.

A collateral branch of the celebrated tide-lands suit, affecting the harbor at Wilmington, was temporarily disposed of in Judge Bordwell's court yesterday.

The style of the action was Ruth Patton, Annie Wilson and Hancock Banning against the city of Wilmington, North American Dredging Company, J. A. Silva, N. A. Breen, J. M. Brennan, George Johnson and E. Opp, personally and as trustees of the city of Wilmington, F. H. Gridley and J. H. Ronan. The prayer of the petition was to enjoin the defendants from entering upon the plaintiff's lands and digging up, dredging and removing the soil therefrom, or from depositing the waste dredging material or any matter upon such lands from the east line of C street and its prolongation to the southern boundary of the lands owned by the plaintiffs. Damages amounting to $1000 were also asked for what digging had already been done by the defendants.

After a conference of the attorneys it was stipulated that the injunction heretofore granted by Judge Wilbur should be modified so as to provide that the excavation on C street be allowed to proceed on the land for which surveys have been made by the United States engineers and approved by the Secretary of War, but on no other land. The hearing of the case on its merits was set for June 18.

PRYOR ESTATE.

STEP-DAUGHTER REMEMBERED.

A petition was filed in the Superior Court yesterday for the probate of the will of the late Thomas H. Pryor, who died in Pasadena May 6, possessed of an estate estimated to be worth in excess of $60,000. The property consists of real estate almost entirely, and is scheduled as follows: Residence praised at $5000; mortgage on the Newell farm, near Newell, Buena Vista county, Iowa, $3000; 210 acres in Sioux county, Iowa, $18,000; eighty acres in Sioux county, Iowa, $5600; land in Pembina county, North Dakota, $12,000.

According to the will, Minnie R. Lay, step-daughter of Pryor, is given $200. The widow, Nellie F. Pryor, aged 70, is to receive the home in Pasadena, household goods, $2500 in cash and an annuity of $250 during her widowhood. The balance of the estate goes to a son, John H. Pryor of Chicago; a grandson, Raymond T. Pryor, and two daughters, Stella May Roberts of Chicago, and Mrs. Ellen M. McKeever of Los Angeles. The petition for the probate was filed by Elmer E. McKeever.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTS FEES. C. W. Craig brought an action against the Balboa Heights Land and Water Company yesterday asking for a judgment of $2000 on account of professional services as an attorney in litigation.

ATTORNEY REMOVED. Blaine Taylor, the attorney who has been in trouble by reason of charges that he uttered a number of fictitious checks, has been removed by order of Judge Wilbur from the conduct of the case of the defendant in the action brought by Florence E. McCulloch against Robert L. McCulloch.

MINOR MATTERS. In Judge Wilbur's court yesterday the petition of the Men's Club of Christ Church to sell a lot upon which it was proposed to build a clubhouse, was granted. The Bankers' Savings Bank of Pasadena was allowed to change its corporate name to Crown City Savings Bank.

INCORPORATIONS. Papers for the following incorporations were filed in the office of the County Clerk, yesterday: Germain Seed and Plant Company, capital stock, $150,000, by Caroline Germain, H. S. Baer and F. H. Ford; Copper Mountain Mining Company, capital stock, $100,000, by James H. Dodson, John F. Dodson, Henry E. Raly, A. K. Malloy and Frank Curran.

GETS DAMAGES. The jury in Judge Conrey's court considering the action of Dr. Lucy Washington against the Pacific Electric Railway Company, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4250. The defendant admitted liability, the only question being the amount of the verdict.

SEEKS TO CONDEMN. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has brought an action in condemnation against the city of Los Angeles, affecting a strip of land running from the pumping plant to the approach of the bridge near the entrance to Elysian Park. It is alleged that the ground is needed for the purpose of furnishing facilities for laying additional tracks.

CASE WENT OVER. The case of the Tracy Engineering Company, et al., against the city Civil Service Commission, asking that the defendants investigate the conduct of J. F. Connell, a member of the board of examiners of stationary engineers, was called in Judge Moss's court yesterday. The case was postponed for two weeks by stipulation.

WANTS MAINTENANCE. M. L. Cecil filed papers in an action against her husband, T. L. Cecil, in the Superior Court yesterday, asking for a temporary allowance of $25 a month for her support during the pendency of a suit for permanent maintenance. The Cecils were married in Waco, Tex., in 1894. The wife avers that he has treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner.

DESIRE TO ADOPT. Osborn Burke and his wife, Mary L. Burke, have filed a petition in the Superior Court, asking that they be allowed to adopt the minor child of Erik and Margaret Nelsen, yet unnamed. The mother of the child is dead, and the father lives in Mendocino county.

ASKS FOR FEES. Will D. Gould was attorney for G. R. and Ida Green, according to his petition filed in court, and he alleges that there is due him for such professional services, $828.95, for which he asks judgment.

FOR AUTO ACCIDENT. It is alleged that on February 18, 1908, H. W. Bailey's auto struck Harvey Bissell's auto, with the result that both machines were much injured. In any event Bissell asks for $413.90 for damage to his horseless carriage. He thinks he ought to also have $100 for being deprived of its use while being repaired.

EVIDENCE WEAK. The preliminary hearing in the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, against William Fredericks and A. E. O'Banion in connection with the sale of a team of horses at Long Beach recently, was held before Justice Summerfield yesterday. The evidence did not warrant the justice in holding Fredericks and the charge against him was dismissed. In regard to O'Banion the justice took the matter under advisement and let him go on his own recognizance. The charge is that the latter said the horses were sound, when in fact they were broken winded. This is no place for David Harums.

FORMIDABLE ARRAY OF TALENT.

Able Lawyers Argue at Reopening of Imperial Land Fraud Case in Federal Court.

A formidable array of legal talent was in the Federal courtroom yesterday, when demurrers interposed against government indictments in connection with the alleged Imperial Valley land frauds, were argued. Though Judge Wellborn, some time ago, overruled the demurrers, he permitted the case to be reopened, as the defendants had discovered important rulings in their favor.

Former Congressman John F. Lacey of Iowa, who was for many years on the Congressional Public Lands Committee, headed the list of lawyers for the defense, but Attorneys E. A. Meserve, Oscar Trippet, Shirley Ward, Jeff Chandler, and others assisted in the argument.

Oscar Lawler, Assistant Attorney-General, made a powerful plea in regard to the sufficiency of the indictments, and was supported by States District Attorney McCormick.

The defendants are charged with having secured lands in Imperial Valley by means of "dummy" entries in the local Land Office, and fraudulent assignments. If the court affirms the previous decision, overruling the demurrers, the cases will be ready for trial, but will probably not be heard until fall.

Trade That Pays.

Young men to learn to operate the linotype machine; a good trade that pays above the average. The Mergenthaler Linotype Company is installing over 100 linotype machines per month. That means just so many positions to be filled at good wages.

The Los Angeles Times has installed a large auxiliary plant, to be used in case of fire or accident, and has placed in charge an expert machinist and operator, making it possible for students who so desire to learn either trade (linotype machinist or operator) in from three to six months. OVERRULES DEMURRERS.

TECHNICALITIES BRUSHED AWAY.

BROADHEAD AND SCHENCK MUST GO TO TRIAL.

Bribery Cases Against Former Chief of Police and Former Police Commissioner Are Set for Judicial Hearing—Court Discusses Question of City Prosecutor.

Judge Davis yesterday overruled the demurrers to the indictments charging bribery against Thomas H. Broadhead, former Chief of Police, and Sam Schenck, former Police Commissioner, and the causes were set for trial. The case of Broadhead will be called July 12, and that of Schenck on August 2. The Broadhead case was set contingent upon a change in the date of the Dudley manslaughter trial, set for the same day. It was stated that the latter can be given another place on the calendar.

H. H. Appel and Paul Schenck, attorneys for the accused, excepted to the ruling of the court in refusing to grant the motion to call in another judge to preside during the hearing. Judge Davis said it is his intention to hear both cases. The defendants were allowed thirty days within which to file their bill of exceptions.

In denying the demurrers to the indictments Judge Davis said that practically all of the grounds allowed by the statute had been urged against the sufficiency of the indictments. The principal contention was that at the time of the alleged commission of the crime in the Schenck case there existed in law no such office as prosecuting attorney, and consequently no incumbent thereof could be made the subject of a bribe. It had been alleged that Schenck corruptly offered to E. J. Fleming, then prosecuting attorney for Los Angeles, a sum of money to influence Fleming to refrain from or refuse to prosecute violations of the law in the "Red Light" district.

The court expressed itself as convinced that, in a prosecution for offering a bribe to an officer who is acting as such under the statute, the defendant cannot question the constitutionality of such a statute.

The court held to be without merit the objection that the indictment is faulty on the ground that the Penal Code does not refer to the crime under the name of bribery. The court quoted the Supreme Court as having held that, although an indictment gives an erroneous appellation or fails to give any appellation to the offense, if the acts constituting the offense, as defined by the statute, are sufficiently stated, the requirements of the Criminal Code are answered.

OBJECT TO DORR'S PLAN.

G. L. Crenshaw and Homer Laughlin, two creditors of Fred Dorr, former stock broker, filed objections in the United States District Court yesterday against the "broke" broker's plan for composition. It is alleged that the composition is illegal and not to the best interests of the creditors as a whole. Dorr's proposition is to pay preferred claims and give stock in a security company in payment of the other claims. He proposes to pay interest on the shares held by the creditors, and finally pay all claims in full, provided he makes a success of his business. Crenshaw's claim against the bankrupt estate is $66,087 and Laughlin's is $6242.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

INDEPENDENTS TO MARKET.

Meeting Monday Will Settle Big Question.

Capital Offered for Pipe Line and Ships.

How Will Associated Bonds Be Affected?

On Monday there will be held at Bakersfield by far the most important gathering of oil men in many moons in California. It is a called meeting of the members of the Bakersfield and Coalinga agencies to consider the proposition to be submitted by the leading officers of the organizations, L. P. St. Clair, S. W. Horschead, H. M. Welch and M. V. McQuigg, for marketing the independent output direct to the consumers.

The plan is simply this: A company will be incorporated with sufficient backing to build a pipe line from Coalinga south through Kreyenhagen and Kettleman Hills, to Dudley, Kings county, from which point it will run west over the hills to Port Harford. Near that point wharves will be built, presumably at Avila, just south of the present wharf, and ships chartered and others built to transport the oil to the markets.

The capital interested is from the Pacific Coast. Who is furnishing it no one will say. Some of the gentlemen whose names appear are quite wealthy, and all are well-to-do, but they could hardly finance such an enterprise alone. Millions will be needed beyond doubt. There is no foundation for the story published at Bakersfield that the Union is back of the project, and it is denied absolutely from both sides. The Union planned the first pipe line from Coalinga to tidewater, but the directors objected that the company had not a sufficient amount of oil guaranteed to justify it then. It has remained in abeyance, but never abandoned, although the Standard has built its eight-inch line since then, and the Mattison company also laid the six-incher, now owned and operated by the Associated. When conditions demand it the Union is likely to build, unless, of course, so many others are building in the meantime as to render it useless. Whether or not a line will be built by the Union to connect the Kern county wells with the coast depends upon developments. The Sunset oil is not easy to pipe; most of it simply cannot be so moved, and while the Union has developed some 15 to 15 5 gravity on 33, the amount is uncertain.

The Coalinga to Port Harford pipe line will be connected with the Kern county fields from Dudley, although it is Coalinga where the first effort will be made, as there it is most needed.

A CARRIER ONLY.

The new company will not be a producer, or marketer, simply a carrier; in effect, it will be the Agencies' transportation department. The oil will be carried to market at a contract price, and the Agencies will sell it just as now, only to the consumer, instead of to the Associated. It is not intended to transport other oils. Prices will, of course, be whatever the Agencies can get from consumers under competition with the Associated and Union, which will naturally beat down prices. One of those interested, while admitting this, said yesterday that it would be better thus than to have the oil tied up indefinitely in the field waiting the pleasure of the Associated, to be used by that company as a club to force the producers to take such prices as used to prevail, or shut down again. There are plenty who want the oil if it is able to reach them, so reason the new company's backers.

Producers will not be asked to put up money. Stock may be sold to some extent, and they can buy the same as any one else, but without control they will be no better off as stockholders.

EFFECT ON ASSOCIATED.

What effect will this have upon the Associated's $25,000,000 bond issue? is being asked. Some think it may stop that move entirely, but this may easily be an extreme view. It will apparently depend upon the outcome of Monday's meeting whether the independent line is built.

That the Associated is unable to cope with the emergency at Coalinga is painfully evident. It has a six-inch pipe line and is moving as much oil almost by cars as by pipe. All available rolling stock is pressed into service. There is no storage capacity to be had except in sump holes, and producers' tanks, all small. The Associated claims to be doing its best, and the evidence is that it is, but its best is far short of needs.

During April the Agencies handled an average of 24,000 barrels a day, or a total of 720,000 barrels for thirty days. The maximum under the Associated contract is 16,000 daily. This is about 15 per cent. of the State's total.

For May the output will be but slightly increased unless a big well comes in unexpectedly before now and June 1, but June, July and August are likely to show some big gains on account of quite a number of wells in Coalinga and Cat Cañon that are due and practically certain to finish with good production within the next sixty or ninety days.

The outlook is for an enlarged market very soon. The Western Pacific, for instance, is not known to have any contract. The Japanese show some signs of needing oil, although everything seems to be at a complete standstill there. Though the foreign market is a comparatively cheap one generally, the Independents desire to be ready to invade it if necessary to do business.

Profits from Union's Employees.

The Union's directors have announced plans to carry out the profit-sharing with employes decided upon by the stockholders in January. The plans are effective June 1. All officers and employes in California, in other States, at sea or in foreign countries, are eligible to receive the benefits except those who may indulge in drinking, gambling or other bad habits such as will render them undesirable as permanent employes.

All may buy a limited number of treasury shares at $95, now selling at about $105, payments to be on the basis of $1.50 a share deducted from the pay roll each month and by application to the payments of the extra compensation which is a part of the plan. This extra compensation will equal the amount of the dividends declared and will be credited to the employes for each share he buys on the 20th of each month, and $3 a share added at the end of each year. Also, as a part of the plan, a maturity fund is established, consisting of one-twentieth of the excess of the net total earnings each year above 10 per cent. on the par value of issued stock. Every five years employes who have given satisfactory and meritorious service for that time, and who have bought stock, may participate in the distribution.

The actual cost of stock is figured at $64.56 under this plan. Those failing to complete payments will receive their money with interest, as will those dismissed from the service before finishing the payment.

CARS BUMP, PEOPLE JUMP.

Collide at First Street and Broadway and Smash Fenders—Passengers All Uninjured.

Running wild down the First-street hill between Broadway and Hill street, last evening, because the brakes would not work, Crown Hill car No. 901 crashed against Grand-avenue car No. 580 at First and Broadway as the yellow car was rounding the corner. Seeing that the collision was inevitable, passengers of both cars scrambled from their seats to the steps, and leaped to the street, many losing their footing and falling to the pavement, but without injury.

Several women were among those who jumped. Panic reigned among pedestrians who saw the cars come together, as well as among the passengers of the two cars. Owing to the fact that the motorman of the Crown Hill car had shut off his power at the top of the hill, and that the car was moving only from momentum when the collision occurred, the cars bumped together with such slight force that both stayed on the rails. The only damage was the demolishing of the fenders on both. In the last three years there have been several collisions between cars from the hills and Broadway cars, at least two resulting in fatalities. In each instance the collision has been due to failure of brakes.

MINES AND MINING.

FLORENCE IS LOSING MONEY.

SO IT SAYS IN ANSWER TO A DEMAND FOR TAXES.

Sixteen Thousand Behind on Company's Own Account and Two Leases Bring It to Over Eighteen Thousand—Four Others Are Behind, too, But Silent.

The Florence Goldfield Mining Company, whose affairs have received attention from time to time in these columns, has filed an official statement with the Sheriff of Esmeralda county at Goldfield, in which it says it has lost $18,308.25 net on its operations, including four leases. Of this sum, $16,159.71 was lost on the company's own account. Two leases show a net profit, viz: the Penn Florence lease, $2191.21, and the Lind, $3670.76. The losers making reports were: Annex No. 2, $3162.50, and Baby Florence, $4248.01. Four other leases, said to be running at a loss, made no reports, and are not included. This is in the face of glowing statements issued from time to time by the company's representatives.

The report is the answer to the State's demand for bullion tax. It covers the first three months of the year. The company claims the loss from non-productive leases more than wipes out the tax. It is said that the District Attorney will sue the corporation.

The Florence has been in the limelight for some months, largely on account of the failures of its mill which, it has been charged, were due to incompetency and to the fact that it was placed over an abandoned stope, a statement that has been denied and reiterated. In December President Lockhart announced that no more leases would be granted, and that he company would operate on its own account. It has since paid no dividends. The directors have just held a meeting in Denver to consider the situation.

An arbitrary assessment will be levied to form the groundwork for legal action by the State.

It is said that some companies propose to attack the constitutionality of the bullion tax, although the Consolidated has paid it without question.

Companies to Lay Rails.

The Nevada-Douglas Copper Company at Yerrington is preparing to grade for its railroad from the Southern Pacific to the mines, a distance of sixteen miles. The company owns the old Douglas and Ludwig mines, considered among the best in the district, but is working only the latter at present, and has lately opened a five-foot vein at 850 feet. It is claimed that there are 500,000 tons in sight, averaging over 5 per cent. copper.

The Nevada United Mines Company at Ward, near the proposed line of the Goldfield to Ely Railroad, has obtained the necessary capital and will survey for a railroad of its own from Ward to Ely, where it will connect with the Nevada Northern. The road will be built unless the Goldfield to Ely route becomes an assured fact. Its cost is estimated at $110,000. A proposition has been made the Nevada Northern to build its line to Ward under a guarantee of shipments of 200 to 300 tons a day at $1 a ton until the cost of building is covered after which the rate is to be cut in half.

High-Graders Go to Prison.

The Nevada Supreme Court has refused a new trial to James Thompson and W. McCabe, who were convicted of grand larceny in Goldfield. They were found in the workings of the Florence mine and charged with high-grading. The decision is regarded as a substantial victory for the companies, and as one calculated to help put an end to such practices.

Mines Demand Timber.

The extensive operations in the Ely mines have created a demand for timber, and permits have been issued to cut 350,000 linear feet in the Nevada national forest near Ely, established February 10, last. The timber will be advertised for sale, the minimum price being 1½ cents per linear foot.

Anniversary of the Comstock.

It is proposed to celebrate on a big scale the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of the Comstock lode, which comes in 1910. The idea meets with favor in Nevada.

PRIZE WINNERS.

Fitzgerald Music Company's Handwriting Competition—All Coupons from "The Times."

Many marvelous feats in chirography have been recorded, but there have been few more interesting than those which resulted from a contest conducted by local dealers in music. In this contest, "523 Broadway" has been written 5505 times on two spaces of two by three inches each and one of the successful contestants is now confident that he could write it more than 6000 times in the same spaces.

To the naked eye those little sheets of paper, which are covered thickly with figures and letters, shows only a multitude of what appear to be very fine pen scratches. Under a powerful magnifying glass, however, each of these little scratches is seen to be a perfectly formed group of letters. It goes without saying, therefore, that the successful contestants worked with the aid of glasses, and one of them used two.

This novel competition was conducted by the Fitzgerald Music Company. Three pianos were offered as prizes to as many persons who would write "523 Broadway" the largest number of times in two given spaces which represented the show windows in a picture of a front of their store printed in an advertisement in local newspapers. A condition imposed upon contestants was that the pieces containing the writing should be pasted upon a copy of the advertisement and be accompanied by a coupon cut from one of the papers. Several hundred persons competed for the prizes and it is worthy of note that the three successful contestants all clipped their coupon from The Times.

Albert T. Luer of No. 2630 Magnolia avenue won the first prize, a Steger & Sons player piano. He wrote "523 Broadway" 5505 times on the given space, twelve columns to each block.

Second prize, a Krell upright piano, Empire style, went to W. H. Rowe of No. 115½ South Broadway. He wrote "523 Broadway" 5260 times.

Third prize, a Fitzgerald upright piano, style N, was awarded to J. A. Yeomans of Signal Hill, Long Beach. He wrote "523 Broadway" 4462 times.

Before the prizes were awarded the committee called the successful applicants before them and had them show that the writing they had submitted in competition was their own work.

William H. Rowe, who won the second prize, is a job printer and he has won prizes in competitions of a similar nature elsewhere.

SLAYS SELF IN ROOM.

Railroad Man, Despondent Because of Loss of Position, Sends Bullet Into Brain.

Despondent because he had lost his position as foreman of the freight department of the Southern Pacific Railroad, William A. Gudgell committed suicide at his home, No. 4347 South Grand avenue, late Thursday night by shooting himself in the head.

The body was discovered early yesterday morning by his 10-year-old daughter. She had knocked repeatedly upon the door of her father's room and failing to get a response, she went to a window at the south side of the house. She crawled into the room and there found the body. Gudgell had lost heart after his position with the road had been declared vacant. He tried to drown his sorrows but only made matters worse.

He was in a quarrelsome mood Thursday night when he returned home, and, without a word to the members of his family, he locked himself in his room. A short time later a muffled report was heard but it did not attract much attention.

Gudgell had partly disrobed and, standing in the center of the room, fired a bullet into his brain. Dr. T. C. Meyers, who was called in, announced that the man had been dead several hours. The remains were removed to the Pierce morgue where there will be an inquest. Gudgell leaves a widow and two little daughters.

AT PLAYGROUNDS TONIGHT.

Entertainments and lectures will be given at the clubhouses of the municipal playgrounds this evening, as usual on Saturday evenings. These are for the parents as well as the children. No admission is charged, and all are invited.

At Playground No. 1, Violet street, a stereopticon lecture on "The Caves of the Middle West" will be given by Prof. W. A. Fisk of Occidental College. Prof. Fisk's lecture is considered one of the finest portrayals of some of the largest caves in the world.

At Playground No. 2, Echo Park, an illustrated lecture will be given by Prof. Arnold L. Gesell of the State Normal School. This will be followed by musicales and readings.

At Playground No. 3, Recreation Center, a farce play will be given by a number of young people. Mr. Lavejoy will give a number of selections of songs and speeches on the phonograph, and explain how sounds are reproduced by these machines.

work as he did at his. That is why I will file suit tomorrow. He has hunted all over the world and that seems to be his greatest enjoyment. Of course we have many beautiful trophies, but no home to decorate with them. We lived at the Hotel Hollywood when we did not hunt. I wanted to settle down and get that little home I had hoped for, but that sort of happiness did not seem to be my portion. I wearied of hotel life. I wearied of the continual hunting. A little trip of two or three weeks is not so bad, but when it comes to a matter of eight or ten months in the wild country with the same hard work every day, hunting game for meat, killing it, skinning it and then cutting it up and carrying it to camp—it is not a woman's work and I became sick of it. I have just recovered from a nervous breakdown and have spent two weeks at Catalina.

"I shall return there tomorrow as soon as the suit for divorce has been filed. I cannot stand for any more of the trying experiences I was compelled to put up with in hunting big game in the North and South. I have had all the hunting I want."

Nothing in the present age of the world is so sad to contemplate as the thought that women are no longer much better than men.

There are thirty-nine miles of books in the library of the British Museum, or almost as many as Laurn Jean Libbey has written.

If Abdul Hamid can hold on to that wad of 200,000,000 the day will come when the Turks will invite him to get back on the throne.

Now that we know that Heney has been drawing $5000 a month we can understand why he has been in no hurry to hasten matters in court.

If Rudolph Spreckels is satisfied that he has had run for his money, he is one of the most easily satisfied men in this or any other country.

New Jersey has a law which makes it possible to jug a drunkard. All that is necessary is to face the drunkard and hang the tag on his breath.

If a vote could be taken among the lions, the rhinoceroses and the Thompson gazelles they would condemn the Roosevelt policies unequivocally.

We don't think we should care to live in a town like Washington, where the population is so evenly divided between office-holders and office-seekers.

Whitelaw Reid has decided to remain in England. He can wear knickerbockers there without running the dangers of somebody taking a shot at him.

Next year women's hats will be smaller, but it is because the women want them that way and not because of the fuss men raised over the big hats.

An eastern college professor declares that criminals can be cured of their bad habits by means of vibration. A policeman's club is a good vibrator.

Times have changed. There was a period in the history of this country when a man couldn't possibly be a statesman unless he wore a frock coat.

Most of the brass bands will be at the beach resorts when the Elks come, but we have several drum corps which will doubtless come to the rescue.

The reason we have a right to hope that a practical airship is forthcoming is the fact that at least six men in every town in America are working on the idea.

People who visit the Seattle exposition will also visit Los Angeles, either coming or going. We shall have our hands full looking out for strangers this summer.

Have you ever noticed that when you spoke over a long-distance telephone at so much per minute you never could hold yourself down to a minute to save you?

Every town in Los Angeles is growing so fast that there is reason to believe that all Southern California will be one continuous town from one end of it to the other.

Building operations throughout the United States are 13 per cent. greater this year than last, owing mainly, we take it, to the way Los Angeles has been setting up the rooftrees.

A Seattle burglar was caught because he accidentally started a phonograph in the house he was looting. That's the only thing in favor of the phonograph we have ever heard.

We are told that in order to understand Browning it is necessary to have a knowledge of the Bible. But we fear that this announcement will not increase the sale of Bibles very largely.

It is the opinion of Eva Tanguay, who has been married only two or three days, that married people should not see too much of each other. Still there should be no objection to a man spending at least one night a week at home.

We notice in a commercial bulletin that good paper can be made from the lalang grass of Malaysia, and we are glad to hear it. No greater horror could be imagined than the disappearance of materials from which paper can be made.

After thinking over carefully the statement of Carrie Chapman Catt that half the men she knows are lobsters and the other half shrimps, we have come to the conclusion that she ought to move west and meet some real men for a change.

It might be a good idea for the United States to build one everlastingly big navy—bigger than all the others put together three times over—and then say: "If any two nations start a fight we'll just shoot the stuffing out of the whole business."

TAFT'S VIEWS ON THE SOUTH.

Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, at Charlotte, N. C., has in one phrase said as much as most people could put into a volume. Upon being introduced to President Taft this southern woman said: "I am indeed delighted to know the harmonizer of all our hearts."

There is a pen picture in one sentence of the President of the United States. Not only as between the North and the South, but as between all classes of society in all parts of the country, William H. Taft is showing more and more every day that he is the harmonizer of all interests as well as of all hearts.

The President, with the grasp of a statesman, says: "I do not believe we are on the point of a political revolution in the South. I never had such a dream. What I do desire and believe we are on the eve of is a complete tolerance of opinion, and that there shall grow into respect and power an intelligent, fighting opposition party in each State."

That is the way to cure sectionalism. It is bad for the Republican party to have an invincible, overwhelming majority in any State, and it is not well for the Democratic party to have such a majority in any State. It is just as bad for Republicans to have everything their own way in Minnesota or Ohio as it is for the Democrats to have everything their own way in Texas or Mississippi. The history of parliamentary government, or representative government, whichever phrase you use to characterize it, has through all time been made through parties.

The wholesome political life of a country governed by representative government is by having two strong, aggressive parties, divided on important principles, each side sincerely convinced of the correctness of its own creed, struggling valiantly for its principles, and at the same time, as the President says, with a feeling of "a complete tolerance of opinion." He is a bigot who thinks his doxy is all the orthodoxy there is, whether it is in the sphere of religion or of politics. At the same time, until we do see the necessity of revising our views, it is the privilege and duty of every man to uphold his principles and fight for his party with all the earnestness there is in him, provided only that is mingled with respect for the other side and broad tolerance for those who differ from him.

BLESS THE PEACE CONFERENCE!

The peace advocates in session at Mohonk Lake are right when they tell us that England is "crazy," "mad," obsessed with "hysteria." But the speaker who used these epithets as applied to England was narrow in his views of the world. He should have included all the nations, at least all those that are highly civilized. His idea that England is in this bad way is based upon the notion there that Dreadnoughts must be turned out by the dozen. This notion afflicts England first, and then with the contagion of an epidemic spreads to nearly all the other civilized nations. It is one of the gravest problems of the day, how the people of this world are to be relieved from the taxation created for the purpose of maintaining military armaments and building battleships at a cost of $10,000,000 per unit. This taxation is impoverishing England, Germany and Japan. Now Austria gets into the struggle of building a great navy at a cost of $100,000,000, and Russia will soon follow in creating a new navy for the protection of that empire. That these peace advocates should be insistent upon an international convention to limit armaments is entirely natural, and that it should fail to draw into the movement the sympathy of any human being is inconceivable.

Until we have an international convention, by which on some plan or other this increase of armament is stopped, a limit put to it, the struggle must go on between the different nations of the world. Until all agree to stop it is unsafe for any to pause. But while we are impelled to beseech the blessing of heaven upon the efforts of these peace advocates, and ardently as it is to be hoped that an international convention limit these armaments, we must look at the matter not from the standpoint of the dreamer, but from that of the statesman.

No doubt the time will come when the wisdom which is now guiding the minds of the advocates of peace will become so general that there will be a getting together of the nations and an agreement by which the world shall be relieved from this awful burden of taxation. The difficulties in the way are numerous and grave, but these will little by little be removed and in some future generation we shall have arrived at a plane of civilization where not only there will be a limit put to these warlike armaments, but where there will be one international force organized by all the nations and supported by them all in proportion to population and wealth, by which war will be made impossible. We shall have a world wherein war will be no more, wherein an international court will settle all international difficulties, and there will be simply an international police force to enforce the decisions of the court.

MEXICAN JUSTICE.

The Fresno Republican publishes an editorial on Mexico and the courts of that country that displays a painful lack of knowledge of the subject and a recklessness of attack on a friendly nation that is to be deplored. Basing its statements apparently upon the loosest kind of street talk, the Republican charges that Americans are treated with great injustice south of the Rio Grande, and that many of them are thrown into jail on the flimsiest charges and confined there indefinitely without trial simply because they are Americans.

The whole tenor of the editorial is absurd to those who know anything of Mexico. There is no country in the world where, on the whole, foreigners are better treated. Law and order are maintained as well as in any country with large areas sparsely populated and often remote from the railroad. The courts are organized on different lines from our own, and, perhaps, like our own, may be in need of reform in some particulars. There are many delays in trials, just as here. "The law's delays" are proverbial the world over.

Jails everywhere are unpleasant. Like many of our own, many in Mexico are not models. They are filthy beyond description, destitute of all proper equipment, and very likely have brought sickness and hastened the death of unfortunates confined in some cases; but the same sad thing has happened in the United States. Prison scandals are common enough. The worst cruelty that has been even charged against Mexican officials has been no worse than has been brought out in this country in hearings against prison wardens and jailers.

Americans are not arrested in Mexico as long as they behave themselves, unless in rare cases they become victims of circumstantial evidence, which may happen in every country. Their trials are as speedy as those of natives, usually, and often more so, as they may get the consular representatives to intercede for them, while the accused native has to look out for himself unless he has friends to help him. The same condition may arise here.

The Mexican statutes, based upon the old Roman law as inherited through that of Spain, permit many practices that ours, coming from the common law of England, do not; but, on the other hand, they forbid some procedures which ours permit. Quite recently the appellate court in the Federal District reversed the conviction and sentence to death of S. L. Hampton, an American railroad conductor who shot and killed an American negro in Mexico City, on account of errors of law committed by the trial judge. Of Hampton's guilt there appears to be no doubt whatever, although there was considerable question as to the legality of the trial, and the higher tribunal has agreed with those who differ with the trial court.

The jury system is used only in the Federal District and foreigners are eligible for service, provided, of course, they are acquainted with Spanish so as to understand the testimony and arguments. Several foreigners were on the Hampton jury, though, we believe, no Americans. Despite some opinions to the contrary, the Mexican law presumes a man innocent until proven guilty. Minor judges may sometimes be as ignorant of the law as some of our rural justices of the peace or even as some of San Francisco's Superior judges, and accused persons may suffer in consequence.

From time to time Americans of criminal tendencies, sometimes professional criminals with records at home, appear in Mexico, and they usually choose their countrymen as victims. An excellent illustration is the case of Richardson, Mason and Dr. Harle, three Americans now in San Juan de Ulloa serving twenty years for an atrocious murder of two Americans at Chihuahua, one a relative of the first two, to collect insurance. Their crime was cold-blooded, and the universal opinion among their countrymen in Mexico who knew the history of the case is that they were fortunate indeed in escaping the death penalty to which they were sentenced. It may be remarked in passing that there is no life imprisonment in Mexico; twenty years is the highest term. No American has been executed in Mexico for about thirty years, although some have deserved to be.

Stories of the imprisonment of trainmen, mostly Americans, for accidents have been a frequent source of complaint. Sometimes injustice has been done here, a trainman being the victim of circumstances, and occasionally of the anger aroused by a bad disaster. The general principle in this matter, however, is correct—absolutely so. A man in charge of a train who neglects his duty, as is the case again and again, and sends his passengers to death, should suffer severe punishment. There should be no chance to "blame it on the company" (a scattered aggregation of stockholders,) which has too long been the custom in our country. The Mexican law is right; it is substantially the same as that of Great Britain and every European country and of Canada.

Specific cases of injustice may be found in Mexico, but there is no sense in loose, reckless charges.

Instances of injustice to unfortunate Mexicans can occasionally be found in this country. Time and again they have been victims of racial prejudice, and perhaps sometimes the same thing has been true of an American in Mexico; but such cases are the exception, not the rule.

ROAD HOGS—ALL KINDS.

The sins of the speed maniac have become so numerous that cities and towns have been forced to pass ordinances to curb those disobedient to the law of the road. In some instances the ordinances passed have been drastic and the peace officers charged with enforcing them have often been very harsh in their manner; hence organization on the part of the automobilists to secure for themselves "a square deal."

Now, there is no manner of doubt that the automobilist has just as much right to his share of every highway as any other person using any kind of wheeled vehicle. The road hog seems incapable of realizing this fundamental legal principle. In some instances the road hog is afflicted with a very reprehensible, not to say degraded, form of envy toward all whom he thinks more fortunate than himself. It is confessedly exasperating for the pedestrian or the person driving along the highway in a frail buggy to have one's wits frightened out or horse scared by the speed maniac in his big red auto coming tearing along at breakneck speed, oblivious to the rights of all the world outside of his own machine. But it is just as exasperating for the automobilist cordially disposed to obey the law of the road to find a road hog with a big wagon or any other kind of vehicle determined on keeping the very middle of the country road, stirring up all the dust he possibly can make with four wheels and the eight feet of the team, and refusing to pull to one side the width of a single foot in order to let the machine pass by. If there is to be a square deal, this forgetfulness or contempt of the law of the road must be remedied on the part of the speed maniac and on the part of the road hog. The square deal is a phrase not difficult to understand. It simply means fair play for both sides. Good luck and God speed, say we, to the automobilists who are organizing for the square deal. We confess that some ordinances passed against them are extreme and that officers are sometimes tyrannical in dealing with the automobilists. There is too much of a disposition to cinch him and get his money. But let the automobilist learn to obey with absolute cordiality the law of the road for himself first, and then may he succeed in enforcing an observance of the same law on every road hog in the country, or drive him into a hole and make a ground hog of him.

Now, a word to the pedestrian. His tremors, amounting almost to panic, when the big red "go-devil" comes tearing across his path, call for our sympathy, but this sympathy is his due only in proportion to the pedestrian's observance of the law of the road. In cities and towns and in many places along the country roads there are sidewalks provided for the use of the foot passenger. In cities and towns the proper place to cross from one side to the other is not that usually chosen by the old hen in the gutter, whose antics have given rise to the conundrum, "Why did the hen cross the road?" The street crossings are the proper places for getting from one side to the other, and it is to be hoped that the automobile organization for the square deal will first respect the rights of pedestrians and then compel the pedestrian on his part to observe the law of the road. Let him keep to the sidewalk and cross at the crossings.

The automobile is a modern invention. Its usefulness, its great value to humanity, are evidenced by its multiplication. It is marvelous the way the use of this vehicle has increased. It will no doubt astonish a great many persons to learn that there are more automobiles in the city of Los Angeles than street cars. A creation of but yesterday, it has come to stay and to be in evidence more and more until the greater part of all locomotion will be done in automobiles. It is taking the place of vehicles drawn by horses and will do so more and more. Automobile trucks are coming into use for hauling freight. This is a use that will also grow apace. As good roads spread out over the country more and more these automobile trucks will dispute with the railroads the business of hauling freight where the distances are not great. They will dispute with the trolley cars the tourist business. With good roads we are likely to see large automobiles making regular trips between cities not far apart.

With this growth of the use of the automobile it will become more and more necessary each year to see that the law of the road is strictly obeyed by all. This is a subject which concerns every human being in every community. It concerns the pedestrian, the person who uses a horse-drawn vehicle, and him who rides in the horseless carriage. There is only one way to insure safety to all, and that is a strict observance of the law of the road by all.

Let pedestrians keep to the sidewalks and cross at the crossings. Put the road hog and the speed maniac both out of the way, and then the roads will become equally free for the use and enjoyment of all, and life and limb will become safe. But this will not be, just so long as the careless pedestrian goes "scooting" across the street at "any old place" or wandering aimlessly amid the rush of traffic in a big city. It will not be so as long as there is a speed maniac oblivious to all rights excepting his own, or of a low-browed road hog who will not turn out to give way to those who have just as much right in the road as he.

Let us by all means have an absolutely square deal.

BY UNCLE WALT OF EMPORIA.

On the plains of Grandoldtexas they will build a mighty tower, where the heavens may be studied by a learned astronomower, who will earnestly endeavor to keep cases on the stars and will make a special effort to communicate with Mars. I have known so many wonders since my journey was begun that I wouldn't be astonished if this latest trick were done. I have lived to see the "wireless" make the sons of man rejoice; I have heard a weird contrivance reproduce the human voice; I have gazed at ships that travel at the bottom of the sea, and another ship that journeyed far above the highest tree. I have seen the latest triumphs in the way of women's hats, and when people speak of marvels I can only answer "Rats." So it will not much surprise me if we bridge the void unknown and are talking with the Martians, pretty soon, by telephone; and the first thing that they'll ask us, when the wires are working right, will be: "Do you think it likely Jeffries really means to fight?"

The Growing Evil of Statutes.

The extensive accumulation of statutes in all commonwealths is a growing evil. There does not seem to be any limit to the number of laws which State Legislatures are annually passing. Congress is as bad as the States in this regard. A visitor of Guildhall in London recently examined the acts of Parliament for 1907 and was surprised, when handed a volume of not over 150 pages, to see that it represented the acts of Parliament for that year. There is a lesson to be drawn from such wise conservatism when the laws of an entire kingdom can be reduced to such a small compass in comparison with the thousands and thousands of laws passed annually by the Legislatures of America.—[Boston Transcript.

HOROSCOPE.

BY COZETTE.

Saturday, May 22, 1909.

Naught shall the victory avail this day
To him who wins in an ignoble way.

Neptune is in ecliptic conjunction with the moon on this 142d day.

Jupiter, in sextile and trine aspect, occupies to the full his place as the greatly fortunate planet. He governs, however, this day, as usual in all times of greatest power, only for those of honor and generous fairness. Victories won today through duplicity, intrigue, selfishness or tyranny will prove costly and unprofitable before the twelvemonth ends.

The sign is auspicious for opening new places of business, whether office, shop or manufactory. Merchants, salesmen, agents, canvassers and employés, both clerical and manual, should feel the profitable vigor of this period. The influence is most powerful during the morning, but does not wane to any extent until the end of the evening.

Herbal astrology names noon as the hour when willows, pumpkins, iris, lettuce, arrowhead, watercress, cucumber, purslain, saxifrage, wintergreen and poppy are potent under the moon.

An excellent day for baking and for any kitchen operation demanding preserving, pickling, distilling or brewing.

The sign is good over fish and fishing today and tomorrow.

Women and men with this day for birthdate are under signs that make them suffer mortification when misunderstood or slighted in even the least degree. They will do well to oppose this tendency during the twelvemonth. The indications are good for business success. Those in employment should profit.

Children born today are under a sign that exerts its greatest energy in the direction of emotion, tenderness and love of elegance. The reasoning faculties will be good, but should be stimulated.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The joint concert given by the Woman's Orchestra and the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra at the Auditorium, yesterday afternoon, was one of the artistic achievements of the musical season now nearing its close.

Prof. Harley Hamilton, who ably directed both organizations, is justly deserving of the encomiums that were bestowed upon him for the excellence of the work accomplished.

Edna Foy Neher (formerly Miss Edna Foy,) concert mistress of the Woman's Orchestra, and an indefatigable worker for the furtherance of high-class musical works, and Arnold Krauss, the reliable concert master of the Los Angeles Symphony, were at all times in perfect accord, and to them, too, must a share of the honor for the highly artistic performance of the combined forces be accorded.

A delightful feature was the presence of a goodly number of children, not alone from the city schools, but from those of neighboring towns. Judging from their rapt attention, the concert not only gave enjoyment, but was also of much educational benefit. There were several numbers that were not of too heavy a nature, and these especially appealed to the youngsters.

The programme was a happily chosen one, and embodied compositions from the various foreign schools. The opening number was a strong rendition of Mendelssohn's melodious "War March," from Racine's "Athalie." This was followed by Schubert's unfinished "Eighth Symphony in B Minor." The two movements, allegro moderato and adante con molto, are lyrical in character, of a beautiful, subdued nature, and vividly expressed the symphonic writings of the immortal composer.

The familiar "Polonaise Militaire" (Chopin,) and the "William Tell" overture (Rossini) were enjoyable numbers, and tender, poetic offerings were the two charming "Elegiac Melodies," for strings only, and in these, indeed, the combined players did themselves proud, for a finer, truer, singing tone could not have been desired.

Mme. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, dramatic soprano, was heard in the aria from Handel's "Samson," "Let the Bright Seraphim." "It is very difficult," barring several unfortunate irregularities between singer and orchestra, was well rendered. Mme. Johnstone-Bishop responded to the continued applause with a well-chosen encore.

Arnold Krauss, also a soloist, gave a musicianly interpretation of two movements from "Concerto in E Minor," by Mendelssohn. Mr. Krauss, whose tone is never large, but always true and of an unusually velvety smoothness, held his auditors enraptured. Tschaikowsky's "Barcarolle" was his encore. The delicate accompaniment of the orchestra during the playing of these solos demonstrated to a marked degree the capabilities of the two organizations under Prof. Hamilton's baton.

Those Weeds.

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the last week or two, I have heard a number of complaints made by the tourists coming to Los Angeles in regard to the weeds. They are particularly noticeable on West Adams street between Normandie street and Vermont avenue, and as we will have a great many visitors in Los Angeles in the next two months, it occurs to me that our police force should get after the property owners and have these weeds taken off the walks.

NOTE—The loss in April circulation this year, compared with the same month of 1908, is attributable to the fact that many thousands of extra copies of The Times were sold and supplied on account of the fleet being here during April of last year. At that time an enormous gain over 1907 was shown. The Times did not hope for this year equal its April, 1908, records because the extra sale both before the warships arrived and during their stay here was phenomenal, and, with the exception of the time of the earthquake in San Francisco, the largest in the history of the paper.

ATTORNEYS FINED.

WOMEN WAGE BITTER WAR OVER A LOAN.

SO BITTER was the feeling on both sides in a case heard by Justice Stephens in the Township Court yesterday that when he left the bench he sent Chief Deputy Constable Thornberg into the courtroom to preserve order, if need be. All day a constable or one of the deputies was present.

Once the attorneys flared up and the justice stopped proceedings and fined each $5, but later remitted the fines.

All the afternoon there was a feeling of tension in the atmosphere, but the two women principals made strong efforts to preserve calm.

Mrs. Clarissa S. Bird sought to recover from Mrs. May E. Evarts $136, alleged to have been loaned when they were friends.

Mrs. Evarts contended that Mrs. Bird had bought of her a quantity of goods, for which she was still indebted, and that this offset the amount borrowed.

The justice was apparently puzzled, and more than once waved the attorneys aside to conduct the examination himself.

VIEWPOINTS DIFFER.

The list of articles alleged to have been purchased by Mrs. Bird, but which the latter asserted were gifts, included women's apparel of a kind only exchanged among dearest friends. Some of the things, Mrs. Bird testified, she took merely to avoid hurting the feelings of Mrs. Evarts.

The defendant testified that threats had been made to induce her to pay the money in question to Mrs. Bird, but this was denied, as was also the charge that efforts had been made over the telephone to intimidate the witness.

Four sealskin buttons was an item in Mrs. Evarts's bill of particulars that figured prominently in the evidence. The plaintiff acknowledged that she received them, but as a gift. She said she did not want them, but took them to please her friend.

It was testified that Mrs. Bird came to Los Angeles from Portland, Or., about two years ago, and went to live with Mrs. Evarts, whom she had known in the northern city. She said that it was Mrs. Evarts who first introduced her to the man she subsequently married. It was after the wedding that a bitter feeling developed, which was accentuated by the attempt of the bride to collect that friendly loan.

ENTER ARCHITECT.

One of the witnesses for Mrs. Evarts was Albert H. Puttcamp, an architect of this city. He said he had heard some of the alleged telephone conversation. He also testified as to talking with Mrs. Bird (then Miss Carlisle) in regard to wearing things given her by Mrs. Evarts, or, as the latter asserted, purchased.

On March 11 last a hearing was had in a suit for divorce, brought by Mr. Puttcamp against Mrs. Mary A. Puttcamp in the Superior Court, and the plaintiff was ordered to pay a sum monthly to the defendant for alimony.

This action followed two suits formerly filed by Mrs. Puttcamp against the architect and Mrs. Evarts. She sued Puttcamp for maintenance on November 4, 1907, and on November 8 of the same year, Mrs. Evarts for $10,000 damages for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. The latter suit was dismissed.

At the conclusion of the arguments in yesterday's loan case Justice Stephens took the matter under advisement.

BLOWING HORNS.

BOOSTERS' TOUR IS TRIUMPHANT.

REDONDO BEACH BRIGADE MAKES HIT EVERYWHERE.

Letting Towns on Santa Fe's Kite-Shaped Track Know About Beauty and Advantages of Seaside City. Band, Stereopticon Views and Literature Aid in Work.

The "Boosters' Brigade" of the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce, headed by the Mayor of Redondo Beach and the president of the chamber, is now making a tour of Southern California to get better acquainted with the civic organizations of other cities, and to let everybody know about the rapid strides which have been made by the seaside town during the past few years. Among the attractions which it has to offer to summer visitors is the Huntington bath-house, now nearing completion, which will cost $150,000, and will be the largest and finest hot salt plunge in the world.

The "Boosters' Brigade" is composed of many of the leading citizens of Redondo Beach, including nearly all the city officials and the officers of the Chamber of Commerce. It is accompanied by the Redondo Beach Band of twenty-eight pieces, under the leadership of Schoeneman and Blanchard, who have just completed their twelfth season at the beach. The brigade also carries a lecturer and stereopticon views depicting the beauties of the wave-kissed town, together with tons of descriptive literature and thousands of souvenir buttons.

The party travels in two special Pullmans, and the itinerary includes the principal places on the Santa Fé's kite-shaped track. The "Boosters" are being received and royally entertained by the civic bodies of the various towns visited, and these organizations are expected to pay a return visit to Redondo Beach, when they will be entertained by the Chamber of Commerce.

Many of the "Boosters" are accompanied by their wives, and the party numbers about seventy-five. The brigade's members wear orange-colored badges and straw hats with orange ribbons, and carry canes with orange pennants bearing the name "Redondo Beach." They give street parades, concerts, lectures and dances and are doing good work for their city. They will be in Pasadena tomorrow.

A visit to Los Angeles will be made at a later date, and a trip to Imperial Valley and Arizona is in contemplation.

The "Boosters" include Mayor John I. Lechner, C. H. Burnett, president of the Chamber of Commerce; former Gov. H. H. Markham; Councilmen Hess, Erickson and Chrisman; R. E. Matteson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Charles J. Creller, City Clerk; George Cate, City Treasurer; E. C. Thomas, City Recorder; O. C. Hinman, vice-president of the First National Bank; A. SAN FERNANDO WINS.

High School Boy from There Takes First Honors in the Debating Contest.

The first oratorical meet of the High School Debating and Oratorical Society of Southern California, held at the Polytechnic Auditorium last evening, resulted in a very close and interesting contest in which first honors were awarded by the judges to John J. Wilson of San Fernando High School, and the second to Victor Collins of South Pasadena High School.

The three other schools engaged were represented by young ladies, who, though handicapped both in years and voice by the young men, yet very nearly equaled them in percentage totals, the highest of the three being Miss Mabel DeMars of Compton High School. Less than 2 per cent. separated her from Catherine Snell of El Monte and Elma Johnson of Whittier.

The subject of each contestant was "Peace," in accordance with the character of the contest inaugurated by the Southern California Peace Society, though treated under different subheads at choice of the orator.

Style of oratory and stage presence were to Wilson's advantage, while the greater power of argument and closeness of reasoning undoubtedly lay with Collins.

The prizes consist of trophies which will remain the property of the respective schools represented, with names of the winners engraved thereon.

Harold G. Cogswell of El Monte Union presided and the judges were Miss Beulah Wright of U.S.C., Prof. Lorin A. Hardly of Occidental and Miss Haller of Cumnock. College songs were rendered by the glee club of the El Monte school, under direction of Miss Edith E. Wilson. Rev. Hugh K. Walker presented the prizes, with earnest compliments to all the contestants, and the assurance that their efforts compared favorably with arguments upon the same subject which he had recently heard from collegians.

BIG GUGGENHEIM PURCHASE.

Transaction Involves Transfer of Properties of Bonanza Creek Gold Mining Company.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Dawson special says that the Guggenheims have purchased another big block of ground on the Bonanza. The transaction involves the transfer of properties of the Bonanza Creek Gold Mining Company, Ltd., formerly known as the Weinheim Company, and originally the Matson and Doyle concessions.

A. B. Curtis, manager of the company, was on his way to Dawson to prepare for the usual summer's work when he was intercepted by wire at Bennett by the home office, informing him of the sale and recalling him to New York.

The concessions granted to Matson and Doyle were among the first issued. The former extended from Adams Creek to Fox Gulch, and the latter from Fox Gulch to Boulder Creek, running from side lines of creek claims back one mile and taking in the richest portion of the bonanza hillsides about two and one-half miles in extent.

A Lead Pipe Bank.

Harry L. Smith, a former resident of Scranton, Pa., found $4000 in a piece of lead pipe this week. He is the manager of a basket factory in Watkins, N. Y., and when he came across a piece of lead pipe plugged at both ends he thought it was a bomb. Opening it carefully, the money, all in gold, rolled out.

It is supposed to have been a place of safekeeping for some one who had no faith in banks.—[Philadelphia Press.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

Benjamin Franklin ought to be canonized as the saint of the housewife. Electricity bids fair to revolutionize housekeeping and eliminate the kitchen. Los Angeles women are now able to prepare both breakfast and luncheon right on the dining-room table, if you please, and not in a hot, smudgy kitchen. Milady descends to the breakfast-room in her pretty white morning gown as fresh and sweet as a rose, seats herself at the foot of the table, where she finds at her place a chafing dish, an electric tea kettle, a coffee percolator and a toaster. She turns on a switch, and in a few minutes the water in the shining aluminum tea kettle is bubbling. She pours it into the coffee percolator and, while the amber fluid is dripping through, she touches another switch and behold, in just ten seconds by the watch, the toaster is radiant, and in three minutes she passes to her lord at the head of the table some slices of crisp, hot toast and a cup of steaming coffee.

She then turns her attention to the chafing dish and deftly stirs the eggs, or drops them into the hot water, if she wants to poach them, and—in precisely ten minutes from the time the couple sat down to the table they are comfortably eating their crisp, hot breakfast, which has been prepared literally "while you wait."

At luncheon time she goes through the same process—with a difference—in that she concocts a tempting dish of creamed potatoes in the chafing dish, and, in its lower compartment, fries in deep fat some delicious croquets, and brews tea or cocoa with the aid of the electric tea kettle. In short, these two meals may be prepared at the table without so much as a peep into the kitchen.

There are the regular cooking and baking outfits on which the most elaborate dinner may be prepared. It is arranged on a hardwood table and even stand, finished in mission style with two cupboards and two drawers for keeping cooking utensils in, and a shelf above where the chafing dish, the coffee percolator and the cereal cooker stand. Beside the oven, there is the tea kettle, frying pan, broiler and a combination cooker which goes with this outfit.

Go and See It Done.

There is just now going on demonstration lectures down in the San Fernando building at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, and every afternoon a flock of women crowd about the tables to watch the deft demonstrator concoct her delicious dishes, explaining as she goes, just how it is done. Yesterday I joined them, and I haven't been as highly entertained since I attended the Y.W.C.A. cooking school. It makes cooking a wild, delirious dissipation of undisguised joy and happiness—this cooking by electricity in a white frock with frilled sleeves or immaculate cuffs, and with never a smell nor a smudge of gas, oil or gasoline, or a blur of smoke or smut on your cooking utensils, your face or your hands. You simply turn on a switch—and electricity does the rest.

For tourists and the small army of people who do light housekeeping among the moving population of Los Angeles, this cooking by electricity is a boon. Many people prepare their breakfast and lunch and go out to dinner, and for such, its advantages can be readily seen. Housekeeping in a three-room apartment, with electricity as the cooking agent, loses all its terrors and becomes a blissful experience. To the girl bachelors who prefer the home-like surroundings and independence of an apartment of their own to the doubtful joys of a boarding-house life, these electric cooking outfits are a delight and comfort. There are even electric corn poppers and that demonstrator down in the San Fernando building makes delicious panocha in her electric chafing dish as an exhibition of her culinary skill.

An electric flatiron solves the problem of pressing out wrinkles for the fortunate girl bachelor who has a model apartment with electrical fittings, and she curls her hair with an electric iron, and even applies an electric heating pad in place of the hitherto hot water bag, when she has the tooth ache.

Too Good to Be True.

A group of women were standing before the windows of a Broadway establishment yesterday gazing with admiring eyes at the display of foulard frocks within ticketed "$10 each."

"It can't be silk," observed one doubting Thomas to another, "never—at that price. It's just—just—that mesmerized sateen, you know."

But it wasn't. Neither "mesmerized sateen" nor mercerized linen—those dresses were "really and truly" foulard silk—and they went like the proverbial hot cakes.

New Use for Screen.

There is a new fashion of providing a wardrobe for a room without the convenience of a closet, which is far better than the familiar device of stretching a curtain before a row of hooks in the corner. Into the recess formed by bending back the sides of a three-fold screen are fitted two light wooden shelves, one being placed at the bottom and the other about a foot below the top edges of the screen. Hats may be kept on the upper shelf thus provided, boots may find a resting place on the lower shelf, and hooks screwed into the under side of the top shelf will accommodate a number of garments. The screen, which may be as ornamental as you please in front, may be placed across a corner, and no one need guess what is behind it.

Convenient Clothes Chest.

A new idea for the skirt or shirt waist chest is suggested by an exchange, whereby the side of the box is arranged on hinges so that it may be let down. This saves the trouble of raising the lid every time anything is wanted, and, by arranging shelves inside, laid across cleats, each one holding just one skirt or waist, it would be unnecessary to disturb every garment on top of it in order to get the one you want. Another advantage would be that the top of the chest could then be used for a divan or couch, whose pillows would not have to be tumbled off every time one wanted to get into the box.

The Rest Cure.

A certain eminent physician preaches to women the doctrine of rest in this crisis. He believes that pleasure is nature's stamp of approval and if one finds life exercising that is the thing to do, but if there is no spirit in you, the thing to do is to sit down in the fresh air and rest until the tired muscles have recovered themselves. Learn to be idle, he says, when the body is tired and, while you may think you are doing nothing, thousands of cells are busily at work repairing the wastes of office or shop or household cares. Sit still and "invite your soul" and you will be the better for it, rather than forcing yourself to exercise that you do not need.

When overdone, either from work or pleasure, it is astonishing how different life will look after a day in bed. There is little danger of bad breakdowns for the person who makes it a habit to have occasional let-ups.

The Worry Wrinkles.

The state of mind affects the health and the health is sure to act or react on the complexion, the hair, the eyes—every single feature. Therefore, don't allow yourself to worry. A happy, cheerful way of looking at things will do more to keep away wrinkles and smooth out facial blemishes and keep the eyes bright and the cheeks pink than all the cold creams, massaging and complexion compounds ever made. No use to worry. That old, old motto that we've all heard from our childhood settles the whole question with a logic that Socrates himself couldn't get back of: "Don't worry about the things you can help—help them; don't worry about what you can't help, for it won't do any good." Sound philosophy. One of the youngest women for her years that I ever met has seen trouble enough to sink the ordinary woman, but she has a sunny, cheerful way—a habit cultivated—of looking on the bright side and searching for the edge of the silver lining to all her clouds, and today she is nearing the half-century mark and she doesn't look a day over 35.

Summer Accessories.

There is certainly no falling off in embroidery and braiding in the summer gowns.

Violent contrasts in color are a characteristic of the styles in evening gowns.

Bronze slippers, worn with silk hosiery of the same hue, are exceedingly dressy.

Coiffures continue to be very flat on top and a center parting is very much affected.

Dutch collars of the plain linen, edged with Irish crochet, are neat and inexpensive.

There is a rumor that fichus and frills are to be reinstated into the girls' wardrobes.

Some of the spring suits are every bit as plain and clinging as those seen during the winter.

Rose or clover-colored hatpins, fashioned with coral, are among the novelties this spring.

The princess skirt with the bib continues to be about the most prominent thing in its class.

The shantung gown, while less of a leader this season than last, is still exceedingly popular.

For wearing with dressy frocks the lingerie petticoat is allowed to sweep the ground all around.

The waistline has dropped, of course, though coats with alleged empire backs are still with us.

Most pleasing among the really summer hats are straws in burnt tones or in pale butter color.

Daggers of tortoise shell and studded with diamonds are among the most popular hair ornaments.

Gauze and net gowns of the hour are almost always lined with a contrasting tone or color.

The fancy for trimming sleeves around and around at different parts of the arm is a growing one.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

For the first time in the history of the California Federation of Women's Clubs a president will be elected for a second term. The nominations, which will be voted on today at Del Monte, are headed by the name of Mrs. James B. Hume of Berkeley and the nomination is a virtual election.

The Los Angeles district, C.F.W.C., is the largest in California and the brainy leaders of the delegation which went North on Monday had a large share in the nomination of Mrs. Hume, though their support for the northern candidate depended upon the passage of a certain amendment to the State Constitution.

This amendment provides that the yearly State convention shall be held at least a month before the biennial meeting of the general federation, thus allowing the California president the privilege of attending the larger convention with some knowledge of the work in her State.

The amendment was framed in Los Angeles, but alas, when the "call" to the club was sent to the district president, Mrs. R. J. Waters, the list of amendments to be considered did not include the one most precious in the sight of this influential section.

Los Angeles clubwomen were quite willing to give Mrs. Hume a second term because they believe that a president needs one year to really become acquainted with the needs of the various districts. Then again, they expect to have a president from the South to represent California at the biennial in Cincinnati next year.

When the local party left, the political situation stood thus: "We will support Mrs. Hume for a second term if our amendment carries. If it does not we will select a candidate from some district which has never had the honor of supplying a president."

The rumor that Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant was to be put up by the Los Angeles party was entirely without foundation. Mrs. Bryant has sufficient popularity to carry a State election, but she is in very poor health and has not allowed her name to be considered in any case.

News from the firing line last evening stated that the desired amendment had carried and the full ticket had been made out by the Nominating Committee. It is as follows:

President, Mrs. James B. Hume, Oakland; vice-president, Mrs. S. M. Davies, Santa Ana; vice-president-at-large, Mrs. J. W. Orr; recording secretary, Mrs. Annie Little Barry; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Blanche Moas; treasurer, Mrs. B. Neppin; auditors, Miss Meta Stefen, Mrs. J. T. Williams. The General Federation secretaryship, which generally goes to the retiring president, will in this instance go to Mrs. William Baurhyte, the retiring vice-president.

Mrs. James B. Hume, of Oakland, whose re-election today as president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs is already assured.

WEALTH TAKES WINGS.

Funeral of Former Colorado Man Who Lost Fortune in Unfortunate Mining Ventures.

Wealthy until overtaken in his later years by misfortune, W. H. Anderson, 65 years old, died Tuesday night in a local sanatorium of spinal meningitis. The funeral was held yesterday at the chapel of Orr & Edwards, and the body cremated at Rosedale Cemetery. The ashes will be taken to Denver by the widow, who came here for the funeral.

Mr. Anderson was at one time an influential citizen of Pueblo, Colo., where he was engaged in the wholesale grocery business. He accumulated a fortune, but it was swept away fifteen years ago in mining ventures. About nine years ago he came to Los Angeles to live. Recently Mrs. Anderson has been living with a son and daughter in Denver.

The dead man was a brother of H. P. Anderson, formerly of the Anderson-Chanslor Company of this city, but who now resides at Tulsa, I. T.

A Lively Account of the Day's Interesting Happenings in Los Angeles County.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

WOMAN SLAPS NEWSPAPERMAN

Takes Exception to Article on Her Marriage.

Editor Will Prosecute Her on Battery Charge.

Forcible Blow Is Heard for Half a Block.

[Special to The Times. 376 S. Raymond Ave.]

PASADENA, May 22.—Ned L. Chapin, one of the editors of the News, a local evening paper, and son of Lon L. Chapin, its proprietor, was slapped in the face by Mrs. Taylor Smith yesterday afternoon. Chapin swore to a complaint before Justice McDonald, charging Mrs. Smith with battery, and the papers will be served this morning, if Mrs. Smith could not be located last night.

Friends of Mrs. Smith assert that if the case is pushed she will bring a damage suit against Chapin and also against the News.

The fracas happened at the corner of Fair Oaks and Union at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and was the result of an altercation in which Mrs. Smith is said to have upbraided Chapin in violent terms for articles published in the News about a year ago in relation to her marriage.

Chapin, when interviewed last night, said: "She remembers some old thing that appeared in the papers about a year ago, and is trying to drag it up again.

"She has disturbed me about it a number of times. Only a week ago she stopped me on the street, and I had hard work to get away from her. She called me all kinds of names and threatened me. Today, as I was coming down the street, she attempted to bother me again, and when I told her I did not care to discuss the matter with her, she continued to walk beside me. She called me the same names she had before, and, if anything, a little bit worse. I told her that if she insisted on disturbing the peace it would be necessary to have her arrested. She said I had ruined her character and by that time I guess I was about as mad as she was, and I answered sharply, whereupon she struck me. The woman talks about having written to the Governor and various other people in regard to the newspaper stories of a year ago. I simply feel that people should be protected against that kind of disturbance, and that is the reason I swore to the complaint."

Witnesses of the affair state she struck him very forcibly. The blow was heard for half a block, and a large crowd gathered quickly at the sight of a woman trouncing a grown man.

Chapin, with one cheek much redder than the other, called upon Deputy Constable Rogers, and asked him to arrest the woman. Rogers explained that as he was in the service of a Justice Court and not a police officer, he could not do so without a warrant. "I'll go to the Police Station with you," said Mrs. Smith.

She, accompanied Chapin the short distance to police headquarters, where Sergt. Bristol refused to arrest Mrs. Smith without a warrant.

Chapin then went before Justice McDonald and swore to a battery complaint.

HELD IN ABEYANCE.

None of the twenty-two members of the Waterhouse committee appear to be willing to call the committee to order for the purpose of selecting two men to represent them on the Mayor's committee of five for municipal ownership of water.

A complete canvass of the men appointed by Mayor Earley has been made, but there are enough who have formed no opinion in regard to the matter to make it a mooted question whether the meeting will be held or not.

M. H. Weight and his lieutenants of the Waterhouse party are loath to take action until definite action of the meeting is formulated. This faction intends to force the city into the courts if possible to determine wherein the water title is vested.

George P. Kernaghan, from statements made public, appears to be a staunch supporter of the Mayor's plan. His name is mentioned with that of William Thum as likely to be appointed in case the committee meets.

TORRENCE BUYS HOME SITE.

J. S. Torrence, who recently resigned as treasurer of the Union Oil Company, and who is director in thirty-two corporations in Southern California, has purchased four and one-half acres of land lying between the residences of Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette and Benjamin Blossom on South Orange Grove avenue.

This valuable piece of land, which extends from Orange Grove over the Orange Grove ridge, down to the Arroyo Seco, has changed hands twice this week. E. H. Groenendyke purchased the site from Harry Gray and in turn transferred it to Torrence.

Torrence said last night that he had not definitely decided to build on the property, but that he would improve it and make it more sightly than its past years of neglect have rendered it.

He added: "I may build a home, and if I do it will be my chef d'oeuvre."

BUILDING BOOM.

Building permits for this month promise to total $300,000, as against $85,000 for the corresponding month last year. Already permits amounting to $115,000 have been taken out. Within a few days will be added to this the permits of the new administration building of Greater Throop and other permits regarding which information has been sought by applicants.

GRAIN DEALER ARRIVES.

D. L. Upton, a retired grain dealer of Colorado Springs, arrived yesterday for a visit with his mother, who resides on South Hudson avenue. He has disposed of his Colorado interests and will make Pasadena his home, planning to retire from active business life.

FORGET-ME-NOT LUNCHEON.

Miss Mildred Harrah of Palmetto Drive entertained yesterday with a particularly attractively appointed luncheon, given in honor of her sister, Mrs. Roderick Burnham, Miss Katherine Wadsworth, who will leave next week for several months of European travel, and Miss Marguerite Egbert, who will leave soon for a summer in the East.

Forget-me-nots and maidenhair ferns were used in ornamenting the table, and all the accessories were in the colors of this flower of sentiment. Daylight was excluded from the dining-room, which was illuminated by tall candles in silver sticks. The place cards were decorated with sprays of forget-me-nots, and the prizes which were awarded at the game of five hundred which followed the luncheon, were May baskets filled with forget-me-nots and ferns.

Those present were Misses Katherine and Mary Wadsworth, Margaret Reynolds, Elsie Stambach, Margaret Douglas, Helen Sickler, Alice Earley, Elisabeth McMeecher, Anita Hertel, Margaret Sherk, Louise Irwin, Agnes Claypool, Anne and Barbara Baker, Gavina Roehrig, Jessie McCament, Kate Smith, Marguerite Egbert and Mrs. Burnham.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

AMATEURS ORGANIZE.

Ten Musicians of Santa Monica Form Club—Epworth League Convention to Start Today.

SANTA MONICA, May 21.—The Bay City Orchestra has been organized by ten amateur musicians and practices have been commenced. The members are Misses Wenzlaff and Dorfmier and A. Gripp, A. Weid, W. Haskell, R. Schutte, S. Carlisle, G. Knox and R. Phillips.

More than 100 delegates are expected here tomorrow and to remain over Sunday in attendance upon the Epworth League convention. The business sessions are to be held at the Methodist Church, but tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to pleasure, the attraction being a picnic in the cañon.

Four boys of tender years were placed under arrest and sent to the Juvenile Court, there to answer to the charge of having robbed a candy store and made an attempt to burglarize a bicycle shop.

The Santa Monica High School girls' indoor baseball team defeated the nine coming to the beach from the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School. The score was 23 to 21.

Patrolman Oakley has tendered his resignation, to take effect June 1, and will on that day take a beat on the Los Angeles force.

The annual picnic and seaside outing of the Young Men's Institute is to be held at Playa del Rey Saturday, June 5. One of the attractions will be a baseball game between members of the Institute and a nine composed of members of the Knights of Columbus.

MORE SCHOOLS NEEDED.

Pomona Men to Start Campaign of Education Regarding Need for Favoring Bond Issue.

POMONA, May 21.—The directors of the Board of Trade and a committee from the Board of Education consisting of J. E. McKim and Supervising Principal Kauffman of the schools, met this morning to consider ways and means of best informing the people generally here of the need for voting $150,000 school bonds, an election which the school trustees have called for June 3. All the schools are overcrowded and there is need of immediate relief. The bond apportionment is as follows: For a polytechnic school $65,000, ($45,000 for a building and $20,000 for equipment; $70,000 for two graded school buildings; $15,000 for a sloyd and domestic science building. The committees will probably arrange for a public meeting in order that the school needs may be intelligently discussed.

MAY-POLE DANCE.

An enjoyable May-pole dance was given at the grounds of Fred J. Smith on North San Antonio avenue today, by the little ones of the local kindergartens. The programme which consisted of singing, marches and a merry skip around a be-ribboned May pole was arranged by Miss Barbara Greenwood. About 150 little folks attended and seventy-five grown people.

SAN PEDRO.

SAN PEDRO, May 21.—Patrick Sullivan was arrested last night on the charge of stealing a horse from Louis M. Berring of Watts, last November. Berry came here to haul some lumber and during the night his horse disappeared. After four months he alleges that he has found evidence that Sullivan sold the animal. Sullivan has resided here for twenty years. He at one time owned considerable property in Happy Valley and still has some real estate there. The preliminary examination has been set for June 4, and the amount of bond fixed at $2000, which has not yet been furnished.

MONROVIA.

MONROVIA, May 21.—The Redondo "boosters" were the guests today of the Board of Trade. They were entertained by automobile rides, after which they had dinner at the La Vista Grand Hotel. In the evening the visitors' band gave a concert in Carnegie Park.

FLORENCE.

FLORENCE, May 21.—Word was received from Washington tonight that William O. Andrews has been appointed postmaster, vice M. A. Steves, resigned.

WHITTIER.

WHITTIER, May 21.—These men have been appointed letter carriers to commence service on June 1: John L. Seamans, Alva Richards and William Brasch.

LONG BEACH.

WORK DELAYED THROUGH FEAR.

CONTRACTOR UNEASY OVER THE VROOMAN ACT.

Postpones Construction on Hundred-Thousand-Dollar Job Because Property Owners Might Protest and There Be Trouble Collecting His Money.

LONG BEACH, May 21.—Two months ago A. M. Calkins of Los Angeles was awarded a contract to build a thirty-foot cement sidewalk and concrete bulkhead along the west beach from Hotel Virginia to the East San Gabriel jetties, at a cost of nearly $100,000. He gave a bond of $25,000 to complete the work, and a bond of $46,000 to secure the labor and materials. In due course he signed for the work, and then began delay which has exasperated the residents and the Board of Public Works. Various excuses have been made, but it now develops that Mr. Calkins believes that the work under the Vrooman act is invalid, as it calls for the construction of lamp posts and connections. He fears that should any property owner protest he would have trouble in collecting his money. If he is correct in his interpretation of the law, he will probably bring suit to recover his bond. The residents are in favor of the work proceeding, and a committee will visit Calkins tomorrow and endeavor to convince him that no one will take advantage of any legal complication, to avoid payment.

FOR A DEPOT.

Officials of the Pacific Electric Railway were in the city today, accompanied by an architect, looking over a site the company owns on the bluff, facing Pacific avenue, and on which it proposes to build a station.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

It is likely a department of French will be added to the High School curriculum next year, and that Mme. Wilson of Occidental College will be selected as its head. The Board of Education also may employ Edwin Kirkpatrick, a member of this year's graduating class to instruct and drill the orchestras. Eight teachers resigned last night, either because of employment elsewhere or their removal from the city.

At a meeting of the school board last night it was decided to give the principals an increase of 12 per cent. in salaries.

Rumors are again current that the Salt Lake road intends to shorten its line by a cut-off at Burnett, running to West Long Beach by way of the Willows, and cutting out its freight business through the city along Ocean avenue.

FOLK AT COVINA.

Former Governor of Missouri Speaks at the Woman's Clubhouse Before Large Audience.

COVINA, May 21.—Ex-Gov. Folk of Missouri spoke before a large audience last night in the Woman's Club House. The occasion was one of unity, Democrats and Republicans alike attending. "The Era of Conscience" was the subject. The speaker was introduced by Mayor Lahee. One of his significant utterances was in reference to licensed gambling. He said:

"Except where the officials, whose duty it is to enforce the law are corrupted, the open gaming house, so common in nearly all the large cities a few years ago, has disappeared under the assaults of the moral sense of the people. Stock and grain gambling are under the ban of this era of conscience. That this form of gambling is injurious to the morals of the public all must admit; that the penitentiaries reap an annual harvest of embezzlers from it no one can deny. The bucket shop is already condemned, and if the stock exchanges do not clean themselves of gambling, they will be cleaned out by the people, for conscience has written that gambling must go."

"Let us not seek for a remedy of existing evils less democracy, but more democracy; not more money, but more manhood; not more cunning, but more conscience," was a sentiment much applauded.

AGED WOMAN DIES.

The death of Mrs. Susan Faulkender occurred yesterday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Agnes Hockenberry. She was 89 years old. Mrs. Faulkender leaves four daughters and one son, the latter being at present in Iowa, while the daughters are in Southern California. The funeral will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Church of the Brethren, Glendora.

DEATH FOLLOWS STROKE.

Maj. Graham Passes Away at Soldiers' Home After Attack Thursday of Paralysis.

SOLDIER'S HOME, May 21.—Maj. William Dale Graham, who was stricken with paralysis while conversing with friends in front of the dining hall last evening, passed away, without having rallied, at 6 o'clock this morning.

Maj. Graham came to the home ten years ago, and although he has repeatedly, when in health, taken furloughs in order to accept employment at his accustomed occupation—that of printer—he had filled several comparatively prominent positions in the home, at various times. Among them was that of clerk in the treasurer's office, which he left in order to return to his old occupation in Los Angeles. Upon his return for another rest he was appointed commissary sergeant, from which office he resigned again in response to the irresistible call of the "composing stick." He returned again for rest a few days ago, and the captaincy of Co. A became vacant yesterday. Maj. Graham, whose worth and reliability were known to the governor, was at once tendered the office. The death of Maj. Graham is universally regretted by comrades of this branch, by whom he was esteemed for his unfailingly kind and sympathetic disposition. He was active in the veterans' social affairs at the home, and at one time held office as colonel of the encampment here of the Union Veteran Legion. His funeral, which is set for Sunday at 2 o'clock p.m., at the home mortuary chapel, will be attended by officers of the home, and pallbearers will be composed of company commanders and members of the non-commissioned staff.

G of the Thirty-ninth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, serving for three years. On the expiration of that term he was mustered in as first lieutenant of Co. H, Second United States Volunteers, in which capacity he served until the close of the war. At the time of death he was 69 years old.

A telegram announcing his death was sent to the widow, Mrs. Ada Graham, at Osceola, Mo.

STUDENT OFFICERS.

Pomona College Election—Close Vote for Secretary—San Diego Youth Is President.

CLAREMONT, May 21.—Harry G. Sloane, '10, of San Diego, was yesterday elected president of the Pomona student body for the ensuing year, receiving the unanimous support of the college undergraduates. Lucile Reed, '10, was elected vice-president by a narrow margin over Irene Beatty. The office of secretary went to Harry Hitchcock, '11, by one vote over Thomas Gore, '11. Other officers are Raymond McConnell, '10, editor in chief of the "Student Life;" Paul Hardy, '10, oratorical representative; Thomas Gore, athletic representative; Bess Fredenhall, Laura Rice, Bess Adams, C. Stanley Chapman, all of '10, Charles Metz, '11, and Ocheltree Hubbard, '12, associate editors of the "Student Life;" Warner Clark, student representative of the college Joint Committee; Rosamond Norman, '10, and Bess Daniels, '11, women's representatives of the Joint Committee.

At the annual town meeting held in the Town Hall Wednesday evening it was decided to continue the custom of holding the meetings, although giving up the board of selectmen who acted prior to the incorporation of the city. In place of the selectmen a standing committee of five was appointed to report all matters of importance for general discussion. This committee is to consist of the chairman of the board of trustees, at present L. N. Smith; chairman of the school trustees, at present Prof. F. H. White; president of the board of trade, at present A. W. Richards; and in addition two ladies, Mrs. F. W. Thomas and Mrs. J. D. Taylor. There was discussion on the subject of street curbing and lighting, and sidewalks. The new plans for securing a high school were also brought before the meeting.

The art department has received from Mrs. Hannah Jones a gift of nineteen valuable volumes on art and sculpture.

CITRUS GROWERS MEET.

Desirability of Organizing Foothill Association at Glendora Is Discussed.

GLENDORA, May 21.—About fifty citrus growers responded to the call for a meeting in Converse Hall day before yesterday, for the purpose of considering the organizing of a "foothill association." Perhaps half of those present advocated the move. Some valuable suggestions were offered. One instructive feature was a paper by Mrs. John Engelhardt. Discussion was indulged in by Mrs. L. M. La Fetra and Messrs. Silent, Glidden, Warren, Schiffman, Gordon, Thompson, La Fetra, Wood, Mauerhan, Converse, Whitcomb, Kennard and others. Mr. Silent was chairman, and C. F. Gordon, secretary.

It was suggested by several that the line of boundary between the old field and the new, if one is formed, should be on Citrus avenue, from the mountains to the old lemon house on Minnehaha, thence follow the latter to some point east of town, thence drop south to the Santa Fé or the hill, and thence east to the Schuler hill.

One great advantage of such a move, it was thought, would be the marketing of lemons at home, saving the long haul to San Dimas. Another would be the quick marketing of the foothill orange, which, it is asserted, is sweeter and more luscious than the valley orange, and, at the same time, drops more readily when ripe. Another argument was that the present plant is taxed to its utmost.

A committee of nine was appointed to ascertain the possibility of organizing such an association, as well as the feasibility.

AVALON.

AVALON, May 21.—The season's record catch was made here yesterday, when E. C. Harron and H. S. Thayer of Colorado Springs took nearly 600 pounds of fish off Church Rock. The catch consisted of six varieties, the largest of which was a yellowtail weighing twenty-seven and one-half pounds, for which Mr. Thayer was admitted as a member of the Catalina Light Tackle Club. Both men fished from the launch Angeline, Capt. R. Staples.

To facilitate the return trip of the "Rubber Men" and automobile manufacturers, who are to hold a barbecue Sunday at Camp Banning, the Cabrillo will make an extra trip, leaving here at 8:15 o'clock p.m. It is expected that over 200 persons will participate in the festivities. Over 600 pounds of fish and mutton will be put into pits and barbecued in true Spanish fashion.

VENICE.

VENICE, May 21.—The programme for Memorial Day exercises at Venice is about completed. The solemn service of strewing flowers on the sea in honor of the dead of the navy, will be observed. This custom was originated by Mrs. A. S. Forbes of Venice, who wrote the ritual and will take part in the ceremony this year. This method of honoring the memory of the heroes of the navy is now generally recognized throughout the United States and has the indorsement of the Navy Department.

The literary and musical exercises will be held in the auditorium. Judge Wilbur will preside. C. J. Noyes will deliver the oration and Rev. George Weaver will invoke divine blessing.

JOIN TO FIGHT UNION DEMANDS.

EMPLOYERS STAND TOGETHER TO BREAK STRIKE.

Five Plumbing Establishments of Bakersfield and Kern Unite in Resisting Demands of Men Who They Say Are Incompetent—Hot Struggle Looked for.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The five plumbing establishments of Bakersfield and Kern, by mutual agreement, plan to break the strike threatened by the plumbers' union, which is to go into effect next Monday, by discharging all their union employés tomorrow at noon, possibly securing non-union helpers to take their places.

The Plumbers' Union asked for a raise from $4 to $5 a day, and, when refused, voted a strike. Several of the leading agitators have already been discharged. The five firms interested are Max Gundlach, Jr., R. H. Ferguson, A. Rimmer, Earl Howard and Norris & Miller. They stand together as closely as the members of the union, and a hot fight is looked for. The Plumbers' Union has received promise of support from the Kern County Labor Council in case of a strike, but it is said delegates from the other building trades unions voted against the plumbers' demand for higher wages. However, they were voted down by a heavier representation from the cooks' and waiters' unions, which made the indorsement possible.

While the employers admit that the $4 scale is low, they state that it has been of necessity held at this figure owing to the incompetency of the union members. It is thought building operations will not be seriously retarded by reason of the building trades not being in sympathy with the plumbers.

SELL FAMOUS PLAYHOUSE.

Old Grand Opera in New York, Brings One Million Dollars—Holds Many Memories.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The famous old Grand Operahouse, at Twenty-third street and Eighth avenue, has been sold by the executors of the Jay Gould estate to a company specially formed to purchase it, for a stated value of $1,000,000.

Many memories of Jay Gould and "Jim" Fisk are linked with the famous theater. It was here that Jay Gould and Fisk took refuge from the mob on "Black Friday" in 1873.

In the building is a vault of heavy masonry extending from the basement to the roof, the floors of which are reached by a narrow circular stairway in the stone. Fisk said that he and Jay Gould concealed themselves in this vault when the infuriated crowd attacked their offices in Wall street.

One of the boxes in the theater is known as the Gould box, and is kept locked. It seats from twenty to thirty persons, but never has been occupied, except by members of the Gould family.

COPPER SUIT DECIDED.

Runkle Action for Accounting Won by Defendant, Boston Magnate. Lawson Not Liable.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Albert C. Burrage, the Boston copper magnate, and those associated with him as defendants in the suit brought by Henry G. Runkle for an accounting in the sale of properties in Arizona to the Arimex Consolidated Copper Mining Company, won the case today, the Supreme Court dismissing the bill. The amount involved is more than $500,000. Runkle claimed Burrage acted in a judiciary capacity in the deal, which was a "blind pool" of various subscribers to carry forward big copper mining projects in Arizona and New Mexico. Runkle represented more than fifty subscribers to the pool. Thomas W. Lawson was held not liable.

Prize Somnambulist Drops Twenty-five Feet and Sleeps on Till Cold Wakes Him.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 21.—Carl Erickson, aged 31, holds the record for somnambulistic feats in this section of the country.

While asleep last night he walked out of the window in his apartments and fell twenty-five feet to the ground without awakening, and kept right on sleeping for more than three hours.

When he was aroused by a vivid dream, in which he imagined he was freezing to death, he found himself clutching at the grass in the yard believing it to be a wool coverlet.

Beyond a few minor bruises he was none the worse for his thrilling experience.

KNIFE FOR THE DEAD.

"HOPHEAD" SOLD HIS BODY TO SURGEON.

Harvard Law Graduate Who Sunk to Low Level Gave San Bernardino Physician Who Supported Him Bill of Sale for Corpse.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] David W. Rock, aged 55, for many years a character in this city where he was widely known as "Roxey," died at the County Hospital today. Fifteen years ago Roxey sold his body to Dr. I. W. Hazelett, a prominent local surgeon, who paid $25 cash and agreed to supply Roxey's meager wants during the balance of his life.

Rock was formerly a Kentucky lawyer. He graduated from Harvard Law School. He became a "hophead" here, and his home was always where red lights shine.

Despite the low level to which he descended he always was honest and never forgot that his body was not his own. Dr. Hazelett holds a formal bill of sale signed by Rock.

MATRIMONIAL.

ONE WEDS, THE OTHER REPENTS.

MOTHER MARRIES, DAUGHTER SEEKS DIVORCE.

Two Sensations in San Diego. Wealthy Widow Takes Husband Secretly—Clubman's Wife Would Sever Marital Tie—Ohioans Plan Entertainment for Taft.

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—Society is gossiping about two sensations in the matrimonial affairs of the Choates, one of the best known of the pioneer families of San Diego, because of the unexpected marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth Cormilla Choate, a wealthy widow, to Carl H. Wagner, and the filing of a divorce by her daughter, Edith Choate Oesting, whose husband is Charles W. Oesting, a member of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, politician and clubman.

The wedding of Mrs. Choate took place yesterday and was secretly carried out. The ceremony was performed at the home of Patterson Spriggs, attorney for the Choate family, by Judge Guy of the Superior Court. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wagner drove in an automobile to Pacific Beach, where they boarded a Santa Fé train for Los Angeles. Mr. Wagner is a prominent lumber manufacturer and takes a leading part in all business activities. He is an Elk and a Mason.

Suit for divorce by the bride's daughter was instituted several days ago. The Oestings own a fine home opposite that of the Choates. Several months ago Mrs. Oesting went East for several weeks. She asserts that upon her return she discovered evidence that her husband paid attentions to other women during her absence. The names of several prominent people will be associated with the suit when it comes to trial. Oesting, who is in the insurance business, has not yet decided to fight the case.

WOMAN HELD.

Mrs. Laura Twombly, who shot her husband in the back as he fled from her apartments, was yesterday held for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Her bond was fixed at $2000. Twombly was not seriously injured. The woman's excuse for the shooting was that she became tired of the beatings which, she says, Twombly frequently administered to her.

WILL ENTERTAIN TAFT.

Members of the local Ohio Society have called a meeting to discuss preliminary plans for entertaining President Taft when he comes here next fall.

Prof. W. F. Snow, in charge of the State sanitation exhibit, reports that upwards of 2000 San Diego people visited the car during its short stay in this city.

MAN SLAUGHTER IS VERDICT.

Italian Who Shot Countryman at Santa Barbara Found Guilty—Chinese Duel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Manslaughter was the verdict this afternoon in the case of Joseph Fornaco for killing Alexander Bonetti some months ago. The jury was out only a short time. Fornaco cannot get more than ten years. His wife and baby, with his mother, were in the court when the verdict was announced and there was a dramatic moment when both women embraced the prisoner. Fornaco probably will be sentenced on Monday.

The local Chinatown this afternoon was the scene of a pistol duel between Jim Kim and Gon Get Gim, in which Gee Kim, a retired Chinese merchant, was shot through the leg. Eight shots were fired.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 21.—Mrs. Della Berzon of Upland was released from the County Jail this morning after serving out her sentence of three months, less a generous reduction for good conduct. She was sentenced for conducting a "blind pig."

The ordinance became effective today under which automobiles are permitted to ascend the Arrowhead road up the San Bernardino Mountains, subject to restrictions. Roadmaster Wagner is busily engaged in erecting signs, giving the terms upon which machines are admitted to the mountains.

IMPERIAL.

HILLS OF SAND ARE SHIFTED.

EFFECT OF CULTIVATION IN THE VALLEY.

Believed That Eventually These Eminences Will Be Pushed Out of the Irrigation District—Cantaloupe Crop Will Probably Be Later Than That of Last Year.

IMPERIAL, May 21.—Reports coming from the southeastern sections of Water District No. 1, in Imperial Valley, state that a noticeable movement of the sand hills toward the east has taken place the past year. It is believed that eventually these sand hills will shift themselves entirely out of the irrigation district. The change is accounted for in this way: The hills were accumulated by the heavy spring winds; with the leveling of the ranch lands and their coming under cultivation, being covered with growing crops, the winds find no further material for accretions of the hills, and instead are wearing them on toward the east.

CANTALOUPE CROP.

The valley cantaloupe crop, while later than that of last year, is in good condition. In some fields are melons as large as eggs. It is believed the first melons will go out of the valley about the first week in June, but these shipments will be very light.

FOR HIGH SCHOOL.

The sum of $55,575 is now available for the erection in the city of Imperial of the finest high school structure in Southeastern California. Two buildings are to be erected for the Imperial Valley Union High School district, one for general high school purposes and one for manual training. The latter will have woodwork and iron work departments. Domestic science will be taught with first-class equipment, and the school will be of such a character that it is expected it will attract a large attendance from all parts of Imperial Valley, and possibly from outside points.

The manual training school building will be erected at once, and it is expected will be completed by the middle of July. The larger main building, which is to be two stories and of classic outline, with tall Doric columns, will be erected early in the fall.

The mild baths given at Arrowhead Hot Springs are perfection. Fresh mud for each bath from the great medicated bogs.

COLTON.

COLTON, May 21.—Guy Edsell, aged 15 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Edsell, is in Dr. R. C. Howe's hospital, where he underwent the amputation of a foot last evening. Young Edsell ran away from home, and, while riding the brake beam of a freight car, near El Casco, lost his hold and fell under the wheels, which crushed both his feet. He was brought back to this city.

The body of an unknown Mexican was taken off the west-bound train this morning and placed on a train to Riverside. The man, while asleep, lost his hold on the brake beam of a freight car and fell under the wheels. Both limbs were cut off. The accident occurred about a mile west of Salton. The man was placed on the train to be taken to the nearest point for medical aid but died just before reaching Indio.

Dr. C. E. Creal of Imperial entertained with a dinner at the Anderson this evening. Covers were laid also for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hays, Dr. H. M. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hanna and Miss Mary Hanna.

Arrowhead Hot Springs will cure that rheumatism.

LAGUNA BEACH.

LAGUNA BEACH, May 21.—Important innovations will be made here in transportation and accommodation facilities for the summer season, the first of which will be the opening of an automobile line between here and Santa Ana. The line is financed by Joseph Yoch, owner of the Laguna ranch, and will be operated by Trefiin and Warner. The present stage coach takes nearly an hour and a half from El Toro on the Santa Fé; the automobile will make the trip in an hour from Santa Ana, which is ten miles farther, and will also connect with the Pacific Electric Railway.

Two churches are nearing completion here. The Catholic Church has been donated by Mr. Yoch and the other is being built from subscriptions raised by Protestants. The new schoolhouse is finished but the teacher for next year has not yet been appointed. On June 27, T. F. Doyle will open the hotel, thus further increasing the capacity of the little town for taking care of people.

ELSINORE, May 21.—A. J. McDonald, the detective hired by the city to secure evidence against supposed violators of the prohibition ordinance, was arrested yesterday on complaint of Lue Yung of the Elsinore Mission winery, who asserted that McDonald told him he had evidence that Yung had sold liquor illegally, but would suppress it if Yung would pay him $50. He was released on $500 bail, L. B. Peck and H. H. Langstaff being his bondsmen.

LONG SQUABBLE OVER ESTATE.

PROPERTY SMALL, BUT DISPUTE VERY EARNEST.

Brothers at Last Settle Their Differences Over Four-Thousand-Dollar Estate—Traveling Health Car Attracts Attention—Sunrise Wedding Interests the City.

RIVERSIDE, May 21.—After a long squabble in court over the estate of the late Mrs. Sarah J. Ferrell, the dispute was settled by stipulation among the parties concerned this morning. Byron Ferrell, a son, contended that the property, which consists of a ranch at Menifee valued at about $4000, should become his because of an agreement made by his mother before her death. The two other sons, Roy and James, the former the administrator, contended that Byron was not entitled to the ranch because he did not live up to the conditions of the agreement, failing to properly care for their mother.

Through the attorneys it was stipulated that Byron Ferrell have judgment for $490.50, in full of any claims against the estate; that he, Roy and James give quitclaim deeds to the property except such interests as they may be entitled to by reason of being heirs-at-law, and that Byron Ferrell may remain on the premises for three months, or until the judgment is paid. The case was tried in the Superior Court, Judge West of Santa Ana presiding.

They will reside in Riverside upon returning from a month's wedding trip.

The marriage of Kenneth Dickerson and Miss Belva Braman was solemnized at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Braman, on Comer avenue, with Rev. Dr. Clifford Snowden, acting pastor of the Congregational Church, as the officiating clergyman. Owing to a recent death in the family, the ceremony was simple, and was witnessed only by the members of the immediate families.

DOG GUARDS BABY BUGGY.

Corona Canine Keeps Watch Over Carriage Sold to Second-hand Dealer.

CORONA, May 21.—For forty-eight hours a faithful dog has guarded a baby carriage, sold to a second-hand store. In a trade Brown & Kirby acquired the carriage, which the baby had outgrown. While loading it onto the wagon, a black dog was seen, but nothing was thought until he followed the rig to the store and stationed himself beside the carriage. Whenever it is moved he follows.

The local W.C.T.U. members went to Chino Tuesday, upon invitation of the union of that place. The Corona union enjoyed a picnic luncheon with Mrs. E. T. Sandford, formerly of Corona.

The Christian Philatheas surprised Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Harlow Wednesday evening at the parsonage.

SHOWS HARD USAGE.

A horse stolen from R. R. Dunn on Tuesday night was found by him yesterday near Los Alamitos, slowly walking in the direction of home. It showed hard usage.

Bernard Ruiz, aged 20, and Carmen Bustamante, aged 16, were refused a marriage license this morning by County Clerk Williams, neither party having the consent of a parent to the marriage. The youngsters returned home, saying they would bring the necessary affidavits later.

NEW INDUSTRY.

Mill for Grinding Alfalfa Into Meal for Stock to Be Erected at El Centro.

EL CENTRO, May 21.—A new industry is to be started here—the installation of a mill for grinding alfalfa into meal for stock feed. A company will be organized among local men, with a capital stock of $50,000, and a large mill installed at once. Combinations of alfalfa meal and barley are said to produce a feed ration of rare fattening qualities, and to hasten the maturing of stock for market from five to six weeks over the ordinary routine of feeding.

El Centro has organized a volunteer fire company, and Edward Tumber has been appointed fire chief. Twenty-five young business men are to take up regular military fire drill. A chemical engine has been installed in a fire-house recently completed on Main street, in the center of the business district.

Remarkably heavy barley yields are reported from various sections of the Imperial Valley. The harvest is well along, and this season's crop will be the heaviest yet produced here.

The first material for the Imperial Valley gas plant, to be located at El Centro, but which will supply other valley towns, has arrived, and work on the plant will be rushed.

BATTLES OVER.

BRITON WARRIOR DIES POOR HERE.

AS ONCE A CAPTAIN IN THE ROYAL ARTILLERY.

Served With Distinction in the Riel Rebellion and Three Times He Was Wounded—Pathetic Account of the Remittances Which Failed to Come. Effort to Find Fortune.

Formerly a captain in the British yal Artillery and a hero of the Riel bellion in Canada, Col. Josiah Pryce, ed 83, died night before last at No. South Flower street of nervous estration brought on by worry over e loss of his fortune, as he believed, rough the absconding of a solicitor England in, whose care he had left investments.

Pathetic indeed were the last days this soldier who came from one of most distinguished families in gland. From a life of luxury he was ddenly plunged into dire poverty t as he had turned four-score ars. A brave and loyal wife, how-r, stood between him and the nty poor farm. She not only nursed n through months of sickness, but her own efforts provided the neces-ies of their home.

ol. Pryce was the sixth son of mmander Henry Pryce of the Brit-navy, upon whom was conferred honor of Knight of the Tower and ord for distinguished service in the rtuguese and Spanish wars. There are seven sons, and only one is now ing. He is a colonel in the British y. Josiah Pryce was com-ssioned a captain in the British yal Artillery after he had been duated from Oxford University, but resigned that office to enter the adian army. There he enlisted as captain and served in the expedi-n under Lord Wolsley which put n the Riel rebellion in the north-t provinces. During that expedi-n Capt. Pryce's command was en-ed in the hazardous work of ding roads into the enemy's coun-, and it was constantly harassed by Indians who had been incited by is Riel to rise against the govern-nt. Three times in the course of t campaign he was wounded. He med to have a charmed life, however, he escaped many times when cap-e or death at the hands of the tiles seemed inevitable.

hen he was retired from the army account of age with the rank of onel, he returned to England, where spent several years. The prospect being employed to direct the build-of coast defenses which Canada s then contemplating induced him return to the Dominion, just as ce had been concluded in the Boer r. The project of building coast enses having been abandoned, he ne to Los Angeles to live. That was years ago.

hen Col. Pryce left England the t time he placed his investments, isting of real estate and securi-s, in the hands of a London solicitor, o was to look after them during ce's absence. Remittances came larly to the amount of about $2000 ear until three years ago, when suddenly stopped. In a strange and without friends or money, the d soldier found himself in a pitia-plight. His wife, a woman just the prime of life, and who had been ed in a home of luxury and ease, forced to seek employment, and n that time she not only earned r support but nursed him through the of sickness which preceded his th.

tters to friends in London brought the information that the solicitor hom Col. Pryce had intrusted his perty had disappeared. Nothing d be learned as to what had be-me of the property. Col. Pryce med to return to London, and ar-gements were finally completed for trip. About that time Pryce was cken with nervous prostration, and day the tickets arrived he was nscious. That was a year ago. e days dragged on and the old sol-r was buoyed by the hope that he ht sufficiently recover to go. But t day never came. Finally he be-e a helpless invalid, and he died, his widow believes, of a broken rt.

Bros., at whose chapel the eral will be conducted today, have ested themselves in behalf of Mrs. yce, and will endeavor to ascertain t become of her husband's fortune. Pryces will return to London. has two brothers living in Wales.

FOR CIVIC PROGRESS.

ge Men at Smoker Urge Municipal Improvement, Beautiful as Well as Substantial.

Los Angeles has a poor form of government. Its nine Councilmen go as you please, working one or six days a week, as the case y be," declared Councilman Dromd at the smoker of the Association College Men last night. He stated t no private business could suc-d under such conditions, and hinted the pay of Councilmen is not enough to warrant giving their e time to municipal affairs. The aker finished his talk before the val of the Mayor, who was de-ined by other matters until the pro-amme was nearly concluded.

Dromgold spoke in favor of a city utiful, but advocated the practical e. He said that new streets are led to the city, new bridges are in ree of construction and that im-rtant improvements are under con-eration.

W. Blanchard, head of the Mu-ipal Art Commission, enthusias-ally indorsed the plans of Charles ilford Robinson, the architect, and ke of many ways in which this y can be beautified and improved an artistic way.

Dr. Charles B. Nichols gave a aight-from-the-shoulder talk about ded improvements in the city. Ad-ting that the association is not a position to demand any one im-rovement, the speaker declared it is shame that so many college men content with their private affairs unwilling to enter public life. He erred to the inadequate school ildings, many of which, he said, e fire-traps, and urged the members the association to use their best eavors for influencing public opin-along the lines of civic improve-nt.

ttorney Max Loewenthal, chairman a committee appointed to investi-te the library question, reported at the Library Board is doing its k manfully, and that the present poor facilities are greatly exag-rated. He said that improvements e soon to be made in the arrange-nt of the present quarters, and ted he hopes the city will own its blic library building before the sent lease expires, three years nce.

The smoker was held in the ban-et hall of the Alexandria. The spa-ous apartment was artistically deco-ted with American flags, greenery d colored lights. An orchestra played ections, the college glees being pecially appreciated by the 200 men esent. Dr. William LeMoyne Wills and the park officer who discovered the body were the only witnesses besides Dr. Campbell, who performed the autopsy.

Dr. Campbell described the nature of the injuries, and stated that the assault had probably been committed by perverts. Two peculiar marks on the body indicate that the fiends stamped their seal upon their victim, a trick peculiar to degenerates of that type.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Rosedale chapel, interment to be made in Rosedale Cemetery.

JAILED FOR "JOKE."

Man Who Sends Phony Call for Patrol Wagon Gets the Bad End of the "Fun."

While standing on Main street, between First and Second, last night, Frank Fealy saw the police patrol wagon dash down the street on a hurry call. He was so delighted with the manner in which the driver dodged street cars and other vehicles that he decided he must see the wagon make another run. Accordingly he sought a telephone and called to the Police Station to send the wagon in a hurry to the Original Mug saloon on Main street, where he reported a big robbery had just been perpetrated.

A few minutes later he jumped up and down with ecstasy as the big wagon swung into Main from First, and several policemen tumbled out of the rear end. But Fealy tarried in the vicinity too long for his own good. The officers soon discovered there had been no robbery, and began to investigate. The result was that the telephone message was traced to Fealy, and he was taken back to the Central Station in the wagon and lodged in a cell.

CONSOLIDATION PLATFORM.

Committee Expects to Complete It Within Week or Ten Days—Election May Come in August.

At an executive session yesterday afternoon of the Los Angeles Consolidation Committee, conferences were held with the heads of the various civic organizations of Los Angeles with a view to enlisting their hearty support in the campaign for the consolidation of Los Angeles, San Pedro and Wilmington. While the lips of committee members were sealed, it is understood that pledges of coöperation were obtained from all the civic bodies.

The Consolidation Committee expects to complete its platform within a week or ten days. Immediately thereafter the campaign will open. Many legal formalities must be complied with before the election can be called and there is some uncertainty as to the date upon which the people of the cities concerned will have an opportunity to vote.

A guess was made by a member of the committee that the election will be held about August 1.

Cobs aren't pretty to look at—they're not made to be looked at—you can't smoke looks, you can't smoke fancy labels, you can't smoke ornamental boxes—all that you can smoke is tobacco and Cobs are only tobacco, only good tobacco, Havana tobacco. Nine Cobs are in each bundle. The price of the nine is 15 cents. Each one of the nine tastes like a 10-cent cigar, because it's made of the same leaf that goes in a 10-cent cigar.

ON SOUTH SPRING BUYS MORE.

HOTEL AFTON PROPERTY IN LATEST DEAL.

Four Thousand Dollars Per Front Foot Cash the Consideration for the Purchase—Same Buyer Acquires Frontage on Same Thoroughfare Between Sixth and Seventh Streets.

Adding to his already large realty holdings in this city, William Garland yesterday purchased the Hotel Afton property at Nos. 531-535 South Spring street for $240,000 cash and the building at Nos. 621-623 South Spring street at a consideration of $146,000. These two deals, together with Mr. Garland's purchase on Wednesday of the property at Nos. 326-328 South Spring street for $150,000, make this capitalist's Spring-street real estate operations for the past week represent a total value near $540,000.

The Hotel Afton property was purchased through R. A. Rowan & Co. from a group of owners represented by Morris S. Hellman, J. A. Graves and Judge Charles Monroe, as trustees. The building, which is on a lot 60x165 feet, is a brick structure of three stories. The Afton Hotel Company occupies sixty-two rooms on the second and third floors. The ground floor is occupied by the Branch Office of The Times, and by the Truitt Millinery Company. The front foot price was $4000.

The Hotel Delaware, which was purchased six months ago by Mr. Garland through R. A. Rowan & Co., and which fronts on Broadway, joins the acquisition of yesterday at the rear. Both properties have exactly the same frontage. The present possession of the buyer therefore extends through the block from Spring street to Broadway.

Mr. Garland purchased the property at Nos. 621-623 South Spring street through the agency of Bryce & Bradford. The sale was made for the Fred A. Salisbury estate, of which Mrs. Jennie Hobert of Pasadena is the chief representative. The frontage is fifty feet and the depth 160 feet to an alley. The improvements consist of a one-story building occupied by the Manhattan Café and the H. L. Sliver instrument store. The leases on the two rooms will expire in ten and eleven months, repectively, and the present owner plans to erect a large building on the site within a short time thereafter.

JURY FOR HIM.

G. P. Branning, the mechanical engineer who was recently adjudged insane by the Lunacy Commission, was brought to the County Hospital from the Patton asylum yesterday, preparatory to a jury trial, which has been set for next Wednesday. Branning is a graduate of the University of California, and there he met and fell in love with a woman who did not reciprocate. Several times claimed the woman, who is now married, has sought to communicate with him by means of mental telepathy. It was his endeavors to determine if his conclusions were correct that resulted in a complaint being lodged against him.

NERVY PATIENT.

Luc Bais, the Mexican who was almost cut to pieces with a sickle in the Altadena several weeks ago, will be discharged from the County Hospital today. Physicians at the hospital say he is one of the nerviest men that ever came to the institution. Although covered with long, gaping wounds on the head, neck, arms and body, which required forty stitches to close, he never whimpered. His recovery has been unusually rapid. His assailant is Bandits Rob Overland Limited.

Stop a Union Pacific Train Near Omaha and Flee With Loot.

Take Registered Mail Worth Hundred and Fifty Thousand.

Robbers Believed to Have Fled in Auto—Posse in Pursuit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Train No. 2, the Overland Limited, on the Union Pacific, was held up by four masked robbers less than two miles west of the Omaha city limits at 11:45 tonight, and seven sacks of registered mail secured. The mail was valued at $150,000. The robbers escaped, supposedly coming into the city in an automobile.

The train, due at 11:30, was thirty minutes late, and was running at a speed of forty-five miles an hour. Suddenly Engineer Micheljohn saw a red light waved in the center of the track. He put on air brakes and stopped inside of 200 feet. As he brought his train to a standstill, two men appeared, one at either side of the cab, stepped up, and one, putting a gun at his head, and the other covering Fireman Frawl, commanded them to run ahead 100 feet, where, one of the parties remarked, their automobile was standing. Following instructions, the engineer opened the throttle and started.

FACE MORE GUNS.

When the train had reached the point designated by the robbers, the engineer was commanded to stop. He and the fireman were ordered to get off. They climbed down only to face two more guns when they reached the ground. Leaving the engine, the four robbers, accompanied the engine crew back to the second car from the engine, the one containing the foreign mail. They were then ordered to beat on the side door, and call to the eight mail clerks inside that they were wanted outside. One of the clerks asked what was wanted and the engineer was told to say "open and come out."

Pushing open the door, two of the robbers drew their guns on the clerks, while the other two marched the engineer and fireman to the end of the third car, and lined them up against the side.

Leaving one man to guard the enginemen, the other robber went to the assistance of his associates, who by this time had all of the mail clerks lined in front of the open door.

REGISTERED STUFF.

Upon his arrival the clerks were told to jump to the ground. One by one they were searched for weapons by one of the robbers, while the others kept them under their guns. Three of the mail clerks had revolvers, but they had been left in the car. From their pockets were taken their watches and what loose change they had, after which they were marched to the place

Swiss Capitalists Bring Big Sum to Invest in Mining Deal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eight Swiss capitalists, accompanied by an interpreter, reached here today, with money to invest in a mining proposition in Nevada. The sum brought with them is said to be $1,000,000.

Each of the men wore a long cape, an Alpine hat and a beard of generous size. The proposition is to get possession of low grade gold and silver ore considered unworkable, and extract the metals by a secret process recently discovered. The capitalists decided to study the outlook before putting up money, hence the trip.

CLAIMS KAISER HALF-BROTHER.

MASSACHUSETTS WOMAN SEEKS FORTUNE IN GERMANY.

Says Late Emperor Frederick Secretly Married Danish Princess and Declares She Is Child of This Union—Relates Strange Tale of Adventures.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That she is a half-sister to the present German Emperor is the claim made by Mrs. Irving A. Paine of Center street, Dover, Mass. She says that she has engaged a lawyer and will endeavor to establish her rights to a fortune in Germany.

According to Mrs. Paine's story, the late Emperor Frederick, before he came into power, secretly married a Danish princess who was maid of honor to his mother. When his mother learned of this at the time of Mrs. Paine's birth in Breslau, she was much incensed, banished the princess from the imperial palace and sent the baby to a convent in Italy. When the child was 3 years old, she was taken from the convent and placed on a farm in Prussia.

On May 1, 1867, she landed in Castle Garden with one Emma Stone, who claimed to be her mother, and a man named Kelliher, who was supposed to be her uncle. In New York she was taken to a hotel, dressed in her best clothes, she says, and taken out, ostensibly to meet an uncle. Four attempts were made to lose her in New York, but she found her way back. She recalls having been taken to Albany, Troy and then to Pittsfield, where she lived with a woman who was supposed to be her aunt. Then she was put in the care of the State. Archives at the State House confirm the story on this point. According to Mrs. Paine's story, her picture hangs in the family gallery of the Emperor.

ALIENATION SUIT IS SHOCK TO CHICAGO.

Mysterious Beauty's Circus Proprietor Husband Wants Fifty Thousand From Mrs. Potter Palmer's Brother for Stealing Wife's Love.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Adrian C. Honore, brother of Mrs. Potter Palmer, and conspicuous in Chicago society as one of the most famous leaders of cotillions the city ever had, was sued for $50,000 in the Circuit Court today for the alleged alienation of the affections of the wife of James H. La Pearl, novelty seller and former circus proprietor.

Stuart Beattie, the attorney who filed the suit, admitted he never had seen La Pearl, whose friends started the action because he is in a sanatorium suffering from nervous breakdown as a result of his alleged troubles.

Mr. Honore's reply to the suit was that it looked to him as if there might be politics involved in it for the purpose of injuring the chances of his brother, Judge Lockwood Honore, for augmented the statement by saying reelection. Friends of Mr. Honore that the filing of the suit followed the receipt by Mr. Honore of a letter yesterday morning in which Attorney Beattie advised settlement.

A row with a woman tenant of a building several years ago was assigned as another possible germ of the difficulty. Mr. Honore declined to discuss Mrs. La Pearl and said that aside from the possible effect upon his brother's candidacy he would not deign to consider the case seriously.

About three years ago Mr. Honore was sued for $50,000 by Virginia Rowdet for alleged breach of promise to marry her. It was alleged that the woman was an adventuress, and depositions were obtained by Attorney A. S. Trude to the effect that she had tried to extort money from various persons.

According to the story of Attorney Beattie, Mrs. La Pearl is a handsome woman, 40 or 45 years of age. She became acquainted with Mr. Honore, the lawyer said, about two and a half years ago.

"It is the old, old story of auto rides, plenty of wine and good times generally while the husband was away," alleged the lawyer. "Mrs. La Pearl was a fine-looking woman and when Mr. Honore first saw her he began paying attention to her.

"Mr. Honore and Mrs. La Pearl had a quarrel and she confessed to her husband. A declaration will be filed when I get the details. The trouble has made a nervous wreck of Mr. La Pearl. The case came to me yesterday. Who Mr. La Pearl's friends are I can't say, because that is sub rosa.

"Mr. La Pearl's friends tried to bring about a settlement, but Mr. Honore told them to do what they pleased, that he would make no settlement. I filed the suit today, for I had been told he was leaving Chicago for several months and I wanted to get service on him."

Rogers's Children Get Millions.

Receive Sixteen Million Dollars from Financier Before He Dies.

This Sum Escapes Payment of the State Inheritance Tax.

Body of Standard Oil Magnate Rests in Family Vault.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry H. Rogers gave away $16,000,000 in bonds, securities and cash, five weeks before his sudden death at his home here on Wednesday.

This fact was learned today from a business associate of Mr. Rogers, who is familiar with the private affairs of the dead financier. This vast sum of money was divided equally among his four children. Each received $4,000,000.

The money went to his daughter, Anne, now Mrs. W. E. Benjamin; his daughter, Clara, now Mrs. Urban J. Broughton and formerly Mrs. Bradford Duff; his daughter, Mae, now Mrs. W. R. Coe and the divorced wife of Joseph C. Mott; and his son, Henry H. Rogers, Jr.

ESCAPES INHERITANCE TAX.

This sum will not be subject to the inheritance tax of 1 per cent. for direct heirs and 5 per cent. for collateral heirs. Whether or not Mr. Rogers had this in mind when he gave away these great fortunes is problematical, but this has been done frequently since the inheritance tax law became operative.

The will of Mr. Rogers in all likelihood will be filed for probate in New York county. His total estate comprises $45,000,000, and the bulk of it will go to his second wife and his children. There are other bequests to the town of Fairhaven, which already has received $2,500,000 from Mr. Rogers, and to collateral relatives and friends.

PREY OF OWN METHODS.

It was said today that Mr. Rogers was worth fully $60,000,000 three years ago. In Wall street it was said that he was the victim of his own business ruthlessness. A number of men whom he had swept aside in his career found a chance to get even and they showed him no mercy. When he needed money to build his Virginia Tidewater Railroad he had to pay 7 and 8 per cent. for it, and in many other ways he was made to feel the power of Wall street.

BODY AT REST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FAIR HAVEN (Mass.) May 22.—In a massive Greek mausoleum on a knoll overlooking the town of his birth, the remains of Henry H. Rogers rest tonight, near the bodies of his mother and daughter.

As a tribute of respect and affection, Fair Haven observed today as a day of mourning. Business was suspended throughout the town; public buildings were draped in mourning, and flags were displayed at half mast. Silent lines of children from the schools built by Mr. Rogers, followed the casket.

The service consisted of music by organ and chorus, the reading of the Unitarian funeral ritual, a tribute to Mr. Rogers's memory by Frank L. Phalen, a eulogy by Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, the venerable pastor of Mr. Rogers's New York church, the Church of the Messiah; a prayer by Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, and a benediction by Mr. Phalen.

Interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

PROUD OF SUCCESS.

Proud of his success in the industrial world, grateful because of his benefactions to his native town and cherishing him as a personal friend, the residents of the village united today in giving expression to their respect for him, and their grief at his death. Everywhere were there evidences of sincere grief of the townspeople.

The funeral party arrived here on a special train from New York last night, and the body of the capitalist was taken to his summer home at Fort Phoenix. The casket was placed before the altar of the Memorial Church, and was attended by a guard composed of members of two Masonic lodges, George H. Tabor Lodge of Fairhaven, to which Mr. Rogers had presented a Masonic Hall, and Star in the East Lodge of New Bedford, of which the financier had been an active member for more than forty years.

DRENCHING RAIN.

During the forenoon a drenching rain fell. The half-masted flags clung stickily to their masts and the mourning draperies on the public buildings hung in sodden folds.

At 10 o'clock the doors of the church were thrown open and for an hour there was a procession of school children passing by the casket. From 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. the residents of the town were admitted and permitted to gaze on the features of the dead.

The church was closed to the public at 1 p.m. and from that time on no one was admitted except upon presentation of a ticket, the distribution of which had been limited to members of the Rogers family and personal friends.

OVER-BURDENED.

MRS. TAFT FORCED TO RETIRE FROM SOCIETY.

Nervous Breakdown Proves Serious and Doctors Order Rest for Twelvemonth—Her Sister Is to Act as the White House Hostess.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Taft will not participate further in the social gayeties at Washington this season.

Her nervous breakdown last week has necessitated her absolute retirement from society for a year, and members of the Taft family are greatly exercised over her sudden collapse.

Washington society was shocked and surprised at Mrs. Taft's collapse, as it was generally supposed that she was in perfect health and well able to withstand the arduous duties of the hostess of the White House. When it became known that she had been taken ill suddenly, while on a visit to Mount Vernon, it was thought that the attack was only temporary, and today's announcement that the White House patient will have to refrain from entertaining or taking part in any of the Washington social activities for at least twelve months came as a surprise.

Mrs. Lewis More of Cincinnati, sister of Mrs. Taft, will remain in Washington until May 30, to act as hostess at the garden party next Friday afternoon, for which Mrs. Taft issued invitations some weeks ago.

Mrs. More, who was Miss Eleanor Herron, is a younger sister of Mrs. Taft, and the wife of one of the most prominent educators in Cincinnati. Her husband is a professor in the University of Cincinnati. She has charmed society here by her graciousness, and the extreme ease with which she has fallen into the difficult position of hostess at the White House.

She first assumed this duty earlier in the week, at a dinner given in honor of a number of Senators and Representatives and their wives, when Mrs. Taft was too ill to receive her guests. She received again Friday afternoon, assisted by the President, when Mrs. Taft had planned another of her garden parties, but which resolved itself into an indoor entertainment because of the weather.

Mrs. More is by no means a stranger in Washington. She came here for the inauguration with her sister, Mrs. Charles Anderson of Cincinnati, and the reunion under such notable conditions of the "three Herron girls" was one of the pleasing features of the inaugural social programme. Mrs. More arrived in Washington May 10, to participate in the spring social programme at the White House, with no idea that she would be called upon to fill Mrs. Taft's place at any of these entertainments.

Mrs. More was accompanied to Washington by Judge Herron, her father, who is still a guest at the White House. Mrs. More will remain here until the social calendar at the White House is exhausted.

LOYAL WIFE.

MRS. MORSE MAKES PLEA FOR HUSBAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "My husband is more than anxious that all his creditors shall be paid. They would be paid could he have liberty every man is entitled to under the law. It is incredible to me that the court can be used to destroy a man's property and his family made to suffer.

"My husband had no judgments against him when cast into prison, had settled over four millions of claims before he was imprisoned and over a million while in prison and would easily have paid all and had enough for his family had he not been cast into a cell for seven months. The government officials boasted they would ruin him and all his enterprises but I did not believe the could could be used as a party to this as it has been."

Recently the Federal judges put over Mr. Morse's application to be admitted to bail to June 14 next, when the hearing on his appeal for a new trial will be held.

It was in speaking of this postponement that Mrs. Morse made the remarks quoted.

"In suspending sentence on Mr. Curtis (the former president of the Bank of North America,) Judge Hough said that 'Mr. Curtis lost everything through this man Morse.' After my husband was sentenced I called on Judge Hough at his chambers in an effort to correct this impression, and have justice done to Mr. Morse. Twice I was told that the judge was engaged, but the third time he received me. I told Judge Hough, as I am telling you, that far from having lost everything through Mr. Morse, Mr. Curtis owed everything he possessed to him. When my husband met Mr. Curtis the latter was making a salary of $4000 a year. My husband gave him $15,000. After a few years the Curtises were able to buy a house somewhere in the millions and ... earnestly, "that my husband has paid every dollar owed to every depositor in the Bank of North America? Of an indebtedness of $7,000,000, more than $5,000,000 has been paid and if Mr. Morse had had his liberty he would not owe a penny today.

"But during his imprisonment many judgments have been obtained against him, many suits brought which are purely and simply blackmail.

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs Gets $250,000 for Rosecliff; Says Newport Is "Too Nasty."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rosecliff, the marble palace of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, has been sold, it was learned today, to Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado multimillionaire. The price paid by Walsh was $250,000, which is believed to be only about half of what the place cost. It is assessed for $280,000 on the Newport tax rolls, and at one time was valued at $1,000,000. It is one of the handsomest show places in Newport.

Mrs. Oelrichs is now here, but she will leave, she says, forever Wednesday next. She declared Newport has become "too nasty." She would not explain just what she meant, but from other expressions of hers it is supposed she meant that Newport no longer had the right kind of people.

Rosecliff has been on the market for some time. Mrs. Oelrichs did not come to Newport last summer until almost the end of the season, and then she did not open Rosecliff. It is said Walsh will bring his family to Rosecliff as soon as it can be put in order.

NOTED WOMAN MISSED HER BIRTHDAY PARTY.

UNLUCKY RAIN.

MRS. HOWE UNABLE TO ATTEND RECEPTION.

Famous Woman Kept from Gathering in Honor of Her Ninetieth Birthday by Inclement Weather, But Sends Regrets to Club Friends.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time in thirty years, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe was unable to attend the annual birthday reception and breakfast given in her honor by the New England Woman's Club today. Her absence, however, was not due to actual illness, but to the extremely bad weather, into which she thought it best not to venture.

Mrs. Howe is 90 years old, and in full possession of all her faculties. She gets out nearly every fair day for a walk or drive, and is often seen at receptions and meetings. The breakfast of the New England Woman's Club today had 150 present.

The following letter from Mrs. Howe was read:

"My Dear Club Friends: Alas, I am unable to be with you today, to my great vexation of spirit. I am suffering from a severe cold, and do not dare to expose myself to this untoward weather. You will know how badly I feel about this.

"I feel quite sure that you will enjoy your meeting, so many good people could not come together without pleasure and profit. But I shall miss this meeting all the year, if I live so long. With most affectionate greeting,

"YOUR ABSENT PRESIDENT."

Among the many tributes made to Mrs. Howe at the meeting, was an original poem by Mrs. Lothrop (Margaret Sidney,) of which the following is part:

"Time matters not to an immortal soul;
Days, weeks and months unheeded fly;
Once blazoned on the roll of fame,
All else may die.

"The 'battle hymn' beneath our emblem free
Call not to war, but to eternal peace,
Its clarion echoes over land and sea
Shall never cease."

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seven thousand suffragetts have started out with the expectation of obtaining 1,000,000 signature to a petition to Congress, for the enfranchisement of women, as a special celebration of the ninetieth birthday of Julia Ward Howe. Among the women back of this movement is Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay.

WOMEN SAVE SICK HORSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Sick horses hobbling about the streets were rescued yesterday by three women of the Anti-Cruelty Society, who toured several districts in an automobile, following the formal opening of a "haven for horses" at Beverly Hills. The chauffeur is a special officer and on the seat beside him was a regular policeman. Mrs. R. L. Gifford, who is chairman of the committee on prosecutions, acted as lookout for the party. "There's a blinder," or "there's a lame one," or "there's a sore back," Mrs. Gifford would cry. The big automobile would come to a sudden stop and the two women would approach the driver of the horse that seemed ... and present a card of the Anti-Cruelty Society and their credentials. They would examine the horse carefully and insist upon whatever was wrong being righted at once.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Jack Williams, a reporter of Philadelphia, has reached Chicago on his way from Philadelphia to Seattle, a distance of 3800 miles, which he has started to cover on foot. Williams walked from Laporte, Ind., yesterday, fifty-one miles, and is three days ahead of his schedule.

TO SEND FOR COLONISTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Believing that the Italians are among the most successful of irrigationists, local capitalists have become interested in a project to bring a colony from Italy during the next year. They will be settled in the Southwest on small irrigation farms. Chicagoans are operating with a number of wealthy men of Milan, Italy, who have agreed to loan the colonists sufficient money to establish themselves on their farms. Representatives of this Italian syndicate have been in America looking over proposed sites for the colony. A colony of about 200 Italians was established some time ago in Colorado on irrigated farms. They made a success of it from the beginning, and many of them have largely increased their holdings since their arrival in America.

NOTABLE MASONIC PLAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) May 22.—Members of "Craftsmen," the Masonic order, composed of students and faculty of the University of Michigan, last night presented "An Eighteenth Century Lodge" at the Whitney theater. The play was witnessed only by Masons, and is a portrayal of the lodge as conducted in 1722. It was written expressly for the presentation by J. E. Morcombe, editor of the Tyler Keystone. The staging and costuming were historically correct, Mr. Morcombe having had as collaborators Masonic historical students in England and Ireland. The scene was laid in a room in the old Thatched House Tavern in London. As was the custom, the youngest entered apprentice was required to perform all duties of preparing the room for Masonic uses, and afterward removing all signs of such use.

AT LUCIN CUT-OFF.

HALF DOZEN INJURED BY A DELAYED BLAST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OGDEN (Utah.) May 22.—Six men were blown up in a quarry at Promontory Point, thirty miles west of Ogden, on the Ogden-Lucin cut-off, at 7:40 o'clock this morning by a blast of dynamite. One of a series of blasts which was slow in exploding caught two trainmen and four quarrymen, who had gone into the quarry to investigate the results of the discharge of the battery of holes.

Among the most seriously injured are Conductor Bert Jenkins and Brakeman W. D. Tribe, who were in charge of one of the six work trains, pulling heavy material from the quarry for riprapping the cut-off across Great Salt Lake.

Within a few minutes after the accident a special train was made up and the injured were brought to Ogden. From the train they were conveyed to the Ogden General Hospital.

Several shots were set off in the quarry shortly after 7:30 o'clock this morning, but one of those put in missed fire. While several of the work-train crew and laborers were investigating the reason, the delayed charge exploded, hurling men and débris in every direction.

Huge pieces of rock were tossed in the air. Several of the men were seriously injured, but no one was killed. Conductor A. H. Jenkins of the work train was badly cut in the face and is believed to be internally injured.

W. D. Tribe, brakeman employed on the work train, had his right arm broken and his back seriously injured.

Two workmen employed in the quarry named Madigan and Erickson and a water boy named Stasonovich sustained injuries of a more or less serious character.

The injured men were covered with blood, dust and dirt and presented a gruesome sight.

This is the second or third explosion in stone quarries adjacent to the cut-off during the last two years, and "missed" shots have been the cause of the trouble in nearly every instance.

FIGHTING FOR JAILED HUSBAND.

DROPS BOMB IN PITTSBURGH GRAFT SITUATION.

Wife of Convicted and Sentenced Councilman Swears Out Warrants for State Detectives, Accusing Them of Manufacturing Evidence. Sells Her Property to Raise Money.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bomb was dropped into the local graft situation here this evening. Mrs. Annie C. Klein, the wife of John P. Klein, alleged leader of the grafting Councilman already convicted and sentenced, today caused the issuing of warrants for State detectives.

These, she claims, were employed by the Voters' League of Pittsburgh to manufacture evidence against her husband and other Councilmen, as well as the bank president, bank cashier and hotel owner. Mrs. Klein has sold every bit of property she owned in order to get money to make this fight.

The five detectives wanted are H. H. Herron, Walter Van French, John Vallness, John Keefe and Thomas Donovan. They are missing. They are said to have fled at noon today, three hours before the warrants were issued.

Mrs. Klein in her affidavits handled the case without gloves, flashing an agreement which had been entered into by Herron and the Voters' League, through Attorney A. Leo Weil. For "information" Herron was given $250 in cash, and guaranteed employment for two months on salary.

Mrs. Klein claims to have the sworn confession of two detectives, implicating not only themselves but the other three.

WINTER WEATHER.

Sun Among the Missing and Gale Fierce in New York.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With Old Sol among the missing the live long day, and King Boreas kicking up high jinks, today had a wintry aspect. It was the chilliest May day in fifteen years, according to the records of the weather man, and, what's more, tomorrow promises to be as bad, if not worse.

When dawn broke, the sky was leaden and rain came down in torrents until 9:30 o'clock, when a fall of 1.22 inches had been recorded. Though the rain ceased, Old Sol kept under cover. Not for a moment did he show his face. Out of the northeast came the wind, blowing almost a gale, and at 11:30 o'clock, its highest velocity, was forty-eight miles an hour, just two miles short of a gale. The lowest temperature was 48 deg. Fahr., at 7 o'clock, and the highest 54 deg. Fahr., at noon.

Overcoats and furs were in evidence throughout the city. All day long it was bleak and cheerless.

Spreading Through Mine After Half a Century of Constant Warfare With the Miners.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TAMAQUA (Pa.) May 22.—Despite the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in an endeavor to extinguish the fire burning for fifty years in the Lehigh Canal and Navigation Company's mine at Summit Hill, the fire is now spreading toward the Spring tunnel workings, and thirty of the Reading Company's carpenters and masons were sent from the Ashland district to aid in erecting concrete walls to check the spread of the flames.

Sulphur abounds in the sunken shafts and the work is dangerous. It may be necessary to fill the shafts with water in order to continue the battle against the spread of the fire.

SUSTAINS INSURANCE LAW.

Statute Forbidding Licenses to Companies Paying Official More Than $50,000 Upheld.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) May 22.—The Missouri Supreme Court today sustained the State law, which denies licenses to insurance companies which pay any of their officers salaries in excess of $50,000. The act was passed two years ago and has been the subject of extended litigation.

Today's decision was on an application from three large eastern companies for a writ of mandamus to compel the State insurance department to issue licenses to them. The writ was denied to the petitioners—the Equitable Life Assurance Society, the Prudential Insurance Company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

While upholding the validity of the statute, the court declared that it was unwise legislation and recommended its repeal.

ROMANCE OVER.

GETS DIVORCE, LOSES NAME.

Edward J. Livernash Deserted by Amiable Wife.

Ex-Congressman Is Now Known as "De Nivernais."

Decree Is Granted Californian by Reno Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edward J. Livernash, California ex-Congressman, political factor, labor champion, lawyer, journalist and literateur, formerly of San Francisco, Cal., obtained a decree of divorce from his wife, Jessie Livernash, in Judge Pike's court today and after that had his name changed to Edward J. de Nivernais.

The divorce was not contested, but was remarkable in the refinement of incompatibility which was described. No quarreling, no harsh words or cruelty was alleged. Just desertion and divergent views, ideals, pleasures and ambitions.

They separated years ago but have met so often under such embarrassing circumstances that, Livernash said, a divorce seemed the only solution. To the mother was given the custody of their seventeen-year-old daughter at the father's wish.

The action for change of name was likewise a cause of much interest, as Livernash is well known and the desire to change the name could not be understood. But he said De Nivernais was the original name in France. That his grandfather carried the name safely over to Montreal, where it was corrupted by the Canadians to Nivernash and then through a slip of the pen in a deed to Livernash.

De Nivernais, as he is now known, says he will go to Rhyolite to follow mining and write stories. He does not wish to resume either law or journalism.

A trip to the British Northwest on the part of Mrs. Livernash, who inherited a fortune three years ago, is said to have been instrumental in causing the final separation.

WIFE DESERTED IN WOODS.

Mrs. Anna McCall Tells Pitiful Tale in Suit for Divorce from Standard Oil Agent.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Anna McCall declares that her husband lured her and their babe into a lonely forest, where they were compelled to remain alone all night, shivering and in terror, while he lay in a comfortable Pullman berth on a train en route to California.

Mrs. McCall charges in a suit for non-support filed today that she was most cruelly deserted. Her husband is M. C. McCall, foreman for the Standard Company here. She says he told her he was going fishing on the Clackamas River last Saturday and asked her to meet him with the baby late in the evening at a spot along the stream, when they would all come together.

Mrs. McCall was there at the appointed time, she says, but McCall did not come, and as darkness soon fell, she was unable to find her way home. Cold, hungry and a prey to all sorts of terrors, she and her baby remained in the woods until morning, when they came home to learn that McCall had packed his belongings and flown.

Apparently the case is one of premeditated desertion. McCall has been traced as far as San Francisco.

HERRIN OFF FOR EUROPE.

POLITICIANS SURPRISED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Politicians are much mystified over the queer disappearance of William F. Herrin on the eve of election arrangements. Herrin left for the East Thursday night, ostensibly to be gone two weeks. His political lieutenants expect him to return early in June to take part in the selection of candidates for municipal nominations at the direct primaries.

In fact Mr. Herrin has gone to New York to take a steamer for Europe, where he will remain until after August, and perhaps until after the November election.

SALMON SHIP WRECKED.

CREW MAY BE SAFE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—News of the wreck of the salmon ship Columbia, in the Arctic, was received today in a telegram to her owner, Capt. Henry Nelson of this city.

The message said simply that the ship, which sailed from this port in April for the salmon canneries, was wrecked at Unimak Bay, Alaska, on April 20, and would be a total loss.

As no mention was made of any loss of life, it is presumed by Capt. Nelson that all on board were saved.

No details of the disaster were given.

NAMES HEALTH OFFICERS.

REAPPOINT ALL SAVE ONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, May 22.—With the exception of Dr. A. C. Hart of Sacramento, Gov. Gillett today reappointed the entire membership of the State Board of Health. The announcement was made while the board was considering violations of the pure food law.

The appointees are: Dr. Martin Regensberger of San Francisco, Dr. W. A. Briggs of Sacramento, Dr. N. K. Foster of Oakland, Dr. F. K. Ainsworth of San Francisco, Dr. O. Stanbury of Chico and Dr. W. Le Moyne Wills of Los Angeles. Gov. Gillett, when asked why he had not reappointed Dr. Hart, gave as a reason that he had not seen the doctor to ask him whether he would accept the place. Another reason was that Dr. Hart had not been an active member of the board, and the Governor was not sure whether in a case of passive interest the incumbent is entitled to consideration.

HEAVY TAX ON ESTATE.

Million and Half Due State from Property of "Lucky" Baldwin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State of California will receive $1,500,000 from the estate of "Lucky" Baldwin, when it is distributed. Were this distribution made in this fiscal year the State would have $2,500,000 from inheritance taxes this year, as the figures now being compiled show the total for this year will reach a million. Last year it amounted to $600,000 and in the previous year to $750,000.

BURBANK OUTDONE.

Oregon Rancher Succeeds in Growing Alfalfa-Strawberries by Grafting.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEDFORD (Or.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By grafting alfalfa roots on the roots of his strawberry vines, Col. Frank Touvelle, a rancher living near here, declares he has produced a deep-rooting vine which brings forth three crops of berries a season.

Col. Touvelle says he has long been a student of the methods of Luther Burbank, the California wizard. He got the idea of producing a deep-rooted berry plant from observing that alfalfa, which roots deeply, produced three to five crops a year without irrigation. It occurred to him, he says, that strawberries would do the same if the vines went down far enough to get moisture from the soil throughout the season.

Experimenting to that end through a considerable period of time, Col. Touvelle declares he has now succeeded, and his alfaberries, as he calls them, are flourishing. Some of the berry growers here scoff at his claims, which, however, he makes seriously.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Divorces Beat Weddings.

REDDING, May 22.—Seven divorces were granted in Shasta county this week, and not a single wedding occurred in the same period. In six of the seven cases, the wife was plaintiff.

Talk of Garbage Graft.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Charging the sanitary reduction works with having practiced frauds against the city during the last eleven years in accounting for garbage furnished the company, City Attorney Long filed suit today to compel the company to open its books for inspection. The amount of fees due the city which have been retained, is alleged to be large.

Fighting New Trial.

STOCKTON, May 22.—Dist.-Atty. George F. McNoble hopes to secure from the State Supreme Court a rehearing in the case of Mrs. Emma LeDoux, convicted of murdering her husband, whom the court granted a new trial on the ground of errors by the prosecution and the Superior judge. The District Attorney will ask the Attorney-General to petition the court for a rehearing of the argument on which the new trial was granted.

Bank Decision Important.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Superior Judge Seavell ordered Receiver Le Breton of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company today to pay to Stewart & McKee $3349, which they deposited in the bank on the day of its failure. This establishes a precedent for many similar cases now pending.

Japs Keep Open House.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) May 22.—The Japanese officers are keeping open house again today on board the training ships Aso and Soya. Vancouver society folk turned out in crowds last evening at a hospitable fete, at which bands from the warships furnished the music. This afternoon and tonight farewells are being said by the cadets to their friends ashore. The vessels will leave here at high tide tomorrow night for Tacoma.

Spreckels Man Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Charles A. Hugh, a well-known business man of this city, who for many years was connected with the firm of J. D. Spreckels & Bros. Co., was found dead today in his room. He was partly undressed, and is believed to have been stricken with apoplexy last night when preparing to retire.

Free Asthma Cure.

D. J. Lane, a noted chemist at 103 Lane Bldg., St. Mary's, Kan., manufactures a remedy for asthma in which he has so much confidence that he sends a $1 bottle to anyone by express who will write for it. FORBIDS SHAW'S PLAY.

Showing Up of Blanco Posnol" Declared Unfit by the British Censor.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, May 22.—The censor has prohibited the production of George Bernard Shaw's new play, "The Showing up of Blanco Posnol."

The play, which was on a theological subject, was in advanced rehearsal for an early production.

Mr. Shaw in a characteristic interview in the Daily Chronical, says: "The censor objects to the play not because it is irreligious, but because it is religious, and because it suggests belief in God by picturing a set of ungodly people who wake up to the perception that God is a real, vital and active existence. The remarkable thing is that while it is permissible to represent God as a quaint costumed figure as in "Everyman," any verbal allusion to Him is immediately taboood."

Mr. Shaw concluded by saying he was willing to cut out or reasonably change any offending passage, "but the censor demands practically that I should cut out the whole play; therefore, there was no alternative but to abandon the production."

Hague Tribunal Censures German Consul for Aiding Deserters from French Legion in Morocco, and Finds Fault, With French Soldiers for Conduct in Matter.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, May 22.—The decision of the court of arbitration on the Casa Blanca dispute between France and Germany, over the forcible seizure by French officials of deserters from the French foreign legion, while under the protection of the German consulate, was delivered today.

While not placing the blame definitely upon either France or Germany, the court censures the representatives of each nation in several particulars.

It declares the secretary of the German consulate at Casa Blanca wrongfully endeavored to secure the escape on a German steamship of deserters from the French foreign legion, who were not of German nationality, and adds that the consulate had no right to protect deserters, who were not of German nationality, and that the consul committed an error in signing their safe conduct.

Nevertheless, the decision continues, the German consular officials were not guilty of an international fault.

The court states the French military authorities were wrong in not respecting the de facto protection exercised by the German consulate. The circumstances did not justify the French soldiers in threatening the consular agents with revolvers, nor in their ill-treatment of the Moroccan troops attached to the German consulate.

GUILT ON OTHER HANDS.

STEINHEIL CASE DEVELOPMENTS

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Steinheil tragedy—in which, on a night almost exactly a year ago, Adolph Steinheil, a well-known painter, and Mme. Japy, his mother-in-law, were strangled in their home in the Impasse Ronsin—is again brought vividly before the public eye by this week's developments.

Mme. Steinheil, the painter's wife, Mme. Japy's stepdaughter, accused of the murder, has been in prison awaiting trial since last December. Investigations by the detectives have cast her reputation to the depths. She was untrue to her husband and false to her lover. But, whatever her morals, a strong effort will be made now to release her provisionally; many eminent lawyers stand ready to sign a protest against the injustice of keeping her longer imprisoned without a trial.

For gravest doubts have been thrown on her guilt, which has never been clearly established, by the arrest at Versailles of a burglar named Allaire. The police give credence to Allaire's story that a friend of his named Tardivel, a burglar, too, confessed to him that he did the murder. The detectives are making every effort to arrest Tardivel, who is known to them.

One of the highest police officials in Paris said that he believes Mme. Steinheil guiltless, and that Allaire's story may be true. Allaire says Tardivel told him that the murder was done by himself and another, and the woman with whom Tardivel lived. She, too, is known by the police, and will be arrested soon, probably.

That there were three stranglers agrees with the original statement by Mme. Steinheil. Tardivel has a bad record, which began in Italy. Often he earned a few francs by posing for artists here, and it is known he was Steinheil's model a year before the tragedy. Tardivel was spending much money a few days after the murder, perhaps the money that was stolen from the Steinheil house.

The woman named as Tardivel's accomplice has reddish hair, Mme. Steinheil declared that one of the three murderers who, she said, wore gowns like a monk's robe, had red hair.

Very many persons believe that the solution of a mystery is near, that has interested two continents and baffled France's shrewdest detectives.

CONFESSES ROBBERIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Through the confession of Andrew J. O'Keefe, who was arrested in Fillmore street after a running fight with Policeman Morrissey, for creating a disturbance in a billiard parlor, the detectives have obtained information regarding a number of burglaries which recently have been committed in this city.

Although booked on a minor offense, O'Keefe was regarded as a dangerous character, and was severely "sweated" by detectives. He broke down today and told of numerous robberies committed by himself, with the assistance, he alleges, of John Graham, who also is in prison. Acting on his information, the officers recovered a quantity of stolen jewelry.

FARM HANDS FOR CITY JOB.

CHICAGO, May 22.—"Experienced farm hands" may secure places on the municipal pay roll by proving their competency. The Civil Service Commission has issued a call for a "farm hand" examination for help at the Chicago Parental School. The test will be held June 4. Applicants not only must qualify as to their efficiency in the care of horses and cows, but also must demonstrate their ability to cope with several hundred mischievous boys—inmates of the parental school. The job pays $40 a month, and "keep."

GET VALUABLE FURS.

SEATTLE, May 22.—Burglars last night stole furs valued at $5500 from the store and factory of the Hudson Bay Fur Company. Digging through a brick wall, scaling a bridge and prying open iron doors, the burglars are supposed to have hauled the plunder away in a wagon. The burglars showed an expert knowledge of furs. They took chinchillas, ermines and sables, but overlooked one great chest which was unlocked, containing more than $25,000 worth of baby mink furs. All of the furs were made up and ready for sale.

Several of the other indictments are against Japanese and charge violation of the immigration laws.

SOLONS SPEND DAY TALKING.

Entire Session Devoted to Speechmaking.

Hot Controversy on Free Lumber Question.

Senate Refuses to Discuss Other Legislation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 22.—By special agreement the Senate took no votes today on any subject, and the entire session was devoted to speechmaking. The lumber schedule was under discussion during the greater part of the day, and the controversy between the free lumber advocates and the high tariff opponents was sharp.

Senator McCumber introduced the subject by presenting an amendment providing for free lumber, and he was on the floor several times during the day in support of this provision. He contended the American forests were being rapidly depleted, and urged that every encouragement should be given to the importation of lumber for the protection of our own supply.

On the other hand, Senator Elkins, Senators Scott and Heyburn, all of them representing lumber-producing constituencies, contended strenuously for a higher duty than is allowed by the House bill. They controverted the theory that the American lumber supply is rapidly diminishing.

Once more the Senate placed on record its determination not to undertake other legislation while the tariff bill is pending. This action was taken in opposition to an effort on the part of Senator Burton, former chairman of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors, and now a member of the Senate Committee on Commerce, to have extended appropriations made for the country's waterways.

HALE OBJECTS.

He brought in a report of the Committee on Commerce in support of his resolution, and made an earnest plea for action at this time, saying that if there was longer postponement, important public works would suffer as contracts must necessarily be made at this season of the year. He, however, met a stern objection from Senator Hale, and Mr. Clapp. In the face of the opposition of these two Senators Mr. Burton still pleaded, although without avail.

Messrs. Hale and Clapp took the position that if the bars were once let down, there would be no end of these requests for special action, with the result that the Senate would be flooded with legislation, or there would be special exceptions which would render it impossible for those who did not get in to make legislation suited to their constitutents.

NO DATE TO VOTE.

Senator Aldrich made good his promise of yesterday to try today to get a date named for taking the final vote on the tariff bill. He named Wednesday, June 2, as his preference, but did not get it. His request for a ballot on that day covered not only the bill, but all amendments then pending. There was prompt objection from both the Democratic and Republican sides of the chamber.

Senator Daniel at once seconded his objection, and Senator Cummins joined him. As unanimous consent was necessary under the rules there was nothing for Mr. Aldrich to do but submit.

In replying to an inquiry by Mr. Hale, Mr. Aldrich said the Senate had disposed of a majority of paragraphs that had been disputed, and added that he would later renew his request for unanimous consent for a time to vote.

Mr. Aldrich then said he would not ask for any vote today.

After a long waiting the lumber schedule was given its inning. Mr. McCumber presented his amendment providing for free lumber. This action precipitated a long-threatened fight.

Mr. McCumber led the debates, declaring that the lumber industry needed no protection. Mr. Borah of Idaho agreed that a tariff on lumber would tend to deplete the forests.

"It is incredible," he said, "that the human race is going to perish rather than plant trees."

Mr. McCumber insisted that the industry has reached its highest point in the United States, and urged that free lumber would partly supply the American market with a product that could not be supplied from American forests without exhausting them.

"SPOTTED PROTECTION."

Senator Elkins defended the lumber interests and accused the Senator from North Dakota of being a "spotted protectionist," favoring protection on products of his own State, but not on those of other States.

Mr. Elkins contended that there could not be protection in spots, and that there was no danger of the timber supply of the country becoming exhausted.

Mr. Scott appealed for a higher duty on lumber.

Senator Heyburn was also in favor of a duty on lumber. He declared the reduction of duty would result in a condition such as he witnessed in 1896 when he said, the lumber mills in the Northwest closed down for a period of three years.

LUMBER FIGHT THIS WEEK.

SENATORS ARE LINING UP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Among the questions that will be voted upon early next week in the Senate will be that of putting lumber on the free list.

It was stated upon high authority tonight that a poll of the Senate shows overwhelming sentiment against such action.

The Pacific Coast Senators contend that the House duty on rough lumber is too low, and they are supporting the retention of the present rate of $2 per 1000 feet.

An effort is being made to compromise on $1.50 per 1000 feet for rough lumber, and a small differential on dressed lumber. On the latter $2 per 1000 feet has been suggested.

It is expected that after the vote has been taken on the question of putting lumber on the free list, no further action will be taken until the committee has again considered the subject with a view to harmonizing the differences between the free lumber advocates and those who are demanding protection.

INCUMBENT ANXIOUS TO QUIT.

"Gov. Hoggatt of Alaska stated to the President a number of times his desire to be relieved of the office of Governor, and the appointment of Mr. Clark was not made until a telegram had been sent by Gov. Hoggatt fixing a time when he asked to be relieved."

TARIFF IN GUAM.

REVISE DOWNWARD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Guam, the tiny island possession of the United States in the Pacific ocean, is in the throes of a tariff revision.

The natives, believing that they were burdened with unnecessarily high duties, Capt. Edward J. Dorn, Governor of the island, appointed Maj. Laurence H. Moses, commander of the marine barracks at Guam, and two other naval officers to investigate. They recommended changes in the tariff in order to lower the duties on necessities.

Gov. Dorn has cabled the Secretary of the Navy a draft of the new law, which represents a revision downward on most articles. This will be approved by the Secretary and be sent to the President for his signature.

The charges allege that those attorneys were combined in an attempt to procure unlawfully and by improper means, an indictment of C. N. Haskell and other defendants in the town-lot cases. TEMPERANCE.

KANSAS NOW IS DRIEST STATE.

Order of Attorney-General Shuts Up Clubs.

All Legalized Sellers of Booze Close Down.

Officials Fear an Army of Bootleggers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Upon the order of Atty.-Gen. Jackson, issued to county attorneys, Mayors and police authorities of towns and cities, Kansas now proudly heads the list of the "dry" commonwealths of the nation.

The recent order of the Attorney-General closed up more than 100 clubs where liquor was dispensed, either by the drink or through the "locker" system. All the places where liquors have been kept without interference from the officials, have been closed, and the stocks of liquors shipped to Kansas City, Mo.

The prohibition law recently passed by the Legislature is the cause of this drought. After the 29th of May it will be unlawful to sell any alcoholic liquor in Kansas. Even alcohol is barred for mechanical and scientific purposes. It is stated that two-thirds of the drug stores of the State will go out of business, as many cannot make expenses without the profits from liquor sales. The number of these places in Topeka will be reduced from fifty to about a dozen.

As the day approaches for stopping the sale of all liquors in Kansas, the State Temperance Union is redoubling its efforts to take care of all violators promptly.

It is feared that a swarm of bootleggers will swoop down on the State and do a heavy business, but it is the purpose of the temperance union to break up the bootlegging business, and to do this a large force of helpers will be required. There is, however, considerable opposition to the plan of filling the State with a band of "spotters," whose exploits are heralded to the mortification of many temperance people, who believe this contest should be conducted largely upon moral grounds.

"WET" CITIZENS.

COUNTY VERY "DRY."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TYLER (Tex.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Smith county is "dry," but many inhabitants of the county have not been that way during the past year, according to information made public here by some energetic workers in the cause of prohibition. Junk dealers have been brought into the prohibition fight in this county, and their affidavits secured by the "anti's," show that half a million empty bottles were gathered in Smith county in the last year.

This is offered to prove that despite the county being "dry" much bottled whisky goods is being disposed of.

Taking the half million empty bottles found in the county within a year, and figuring that they will average ten inches each in length, which is rather a low average, considering that many of them are quarts and pints of the tall variety, the bottles would measure five million inches in length if laid end to end, or a total of eighty miles.

SEVEN MILLIONS FROM RUM.

CHICAGO'S BOOZE PAYS CITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Every saloon license which was in force April 30 has been renewed for the first period of 1909. The first trial balance, which was struck by Ernest J. Magerstadt, City Collecter, today, shows that for the first time since the $1000 license and the Harkin ordinance limiting the number of saloons went into effect in 1906 not a single saloon has allowed its permit to lapse.

City officials believe that in future Chicago's income from the saloons will never fall below $7,000,000 a year.

The applications for license are still being considered in the City Collector's office. The money for all of them has been paid and some person will ultimately receive them. When they are issued Chicago will have 7151 saloons.

VOICE FROM GRAVE.

ANCIENT RUNES PROOF POSITIVE.

TELL OF VISIT OF NORTHERN BEFORE COLUMBUS.

Inscription on Stone Found in Minnesota Said to Remove All Doubt That the Hardy Vikings Penetrated Into Heart of America Long Before the Spaniards.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Positive proof of the discovery of America more than 100 years before the landing of Columbus, is the claim made for a stone bearing an inscription in Runic characters, and the date 1362, by its owner, Hjalmar Rued Holand, of Ephraim, Wis., curator of the Sons of Norway Historical Archives.

The Runic stone, so-called, because of its Runic characters, has been placed on exhibition in the rooms of the Chicago Historical Society.

The stone was found in Douglass county, Minn. Copies of the inscription and photographs have been sent to the University of Christiania, where valid criticism of its authenticity was offered.

The inscription, as translated, reads: "Eight Goths and twenty-two Northmans upon a voyage of discovery from Vinland westward.

"We had a camp by two skerries, one day's journey north from this stone. We were out fishing one day. When we returned we found ten men red with blood and dead.

"We have ten men by the sea to look after our vessel, forty-one days' journey from this island. Year 1362." Runic characters, in which the inscription was written, are believed to have originated with Phoenicians and are known to have been used by the early Norsemen. The language, as explained by the translator, is that of early times in Southern Sweden, and is not greatly different from the Norwegian language of the present time. The stone is in an excellent state of preservation, and most of the characters are perfect.

NEW ORLEANS JOINS FIGHT.

Organization Will Aid Manufacturers to Secure Employees When Unionites Go on Strike.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New Orleans today joined the Citizens' Alliance of San Francisco in its efforts to fortify manufacturers against strikes by having resources for men in case of trouble.

Capt. J. McKinery, general manager of the Citizens' Alliance of San Francisco, who has been here a couple of days, stated that he had just completed arrangements for the agency and had appointed an agent whose work will be to assist manufacturers with men where strikes occur, or to secure men for local employers of labor from outside sources when strikes occur.

New Orleans is one of a league of sixteen cities, where arrangements have been made for mutual assistance in the event of industrial disturbances.

Capt. McKinery will leave for California tomorrow.

AWFUL SORE.

ARMY OFFICERS HONOR DRUMMER.

NOT HEROIC MUSICIAN, BUT AN UMBRELLA SALESMAN.

"Maj. A. C. T. Bertie-McGreal, Commander of Seventh Dragoons, Stationed at Canterbury, Ye Know," Turns Out to Be Traveling for Factory.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—Unable to find the name of "Maj. A. C. T. Bertie-McGreal" in the British army register, officers of the United States army stationed at Governor's Island believe today that they have been paying high honors to an umbrella salesman.

Several days ago a tall, distinguished-looking man with a monocle and a heavy English accent, presented himself at the headquarters of the Department of the East on Governor's Island, and asked for the officer of the day, Lieut. M. Janey, of the Twelfth Infantry.

The stranger's card, besides his name, carried the legend that he was commander of the Seventh Dragoons of the British army, stationed at Canterbury. He said he was staying at the Hotel Knickerbocker with his secretary and chauffeur, and had a high-power car with him. He also said he was accompanied by a comrade, Maj. Banks, of the Royal army, who was inspecting the Brooklyn navy yard.

Maj. Bertie-McGreal was warmly received by the army officers, and for several days was extensively entertained. Maj. John S. Mallory of the Twelfth, and Capt. Halstead-Dorey, who is Gen. Wood's aide, gave him a semi-official dinner, and Capt. E. D. Smith kept him over night at his house.

"Maj. Bertie-McGreal" was at Governor's Island daily, and among the many officers he took a special fancy to Lieut. Leo Dewey. The lieutenant kept him over night several times, but yesterday morning when "the major" appeared at the headquarters, after having had apparently a strenuous night, the lieutenant put him to bed again and called up the Hotel Knickerbocker to request that the major's automobile and chauffeur be sent down to him. Instead, the hotel sent its house detective and demanded pay of a $52 board bill.

While the stranger induced a young woman friend to advance the money for him, a search of his one piece of baggage at the hotel, revealed his connection with an umbrella house at Niagara Falls. He had no secretary, no automobile, no chauffeur so far as the officers could discover, and "Major" Banks, was not known.

MAMMOTH DRY GOODS COMPANY.

Fifty-one Million Dollars Capital of New Mysterious Eastern Corporation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Incorporation papers of the United Dry Goods Companies of New York, with a capital of $51,000,000, were filed at Dover, Del., by a member of the firm of Gould & Wilkie, lawyers, of New York.

Secrecy is so far maintained as to the exact purpose of this corporation, the largest ever formed in the dry goods business, and as to the parties in it. John Claflin, of the H. B. Claflin Company, is at the head of the big new concern, but the other members are not named. Two of the three directors named in the incorporation papers are clerks in Gould & Wilkie's office, and the other one is Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware, attorney for the corporation in that State.

It is believed that the corporation represents a combination of big dry goods firms of New York and other cities. Claflin is president of the Associated Merchants' Company, composed of big dry goods houses of eastern cities, which was financed by J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. in 1901. With its issued capital stock of $17,250,000 it was the greatest dry goods organization in the world until this new corporation was formed, and it has been a splendid financial success from the start.

ORPHANS VISIT BATTLESHIP.

NATCHEZ (Miss.) May 22.—One of the interesting events of today was the visit of 500 orphans to the battleship Mississippi as guests of the bachelors of Natchez. The battleship received her second piece of silver today, when United States Senator John Sharp William, in the name of the city of Natchez, presented an exquisite hand-beaten silver punch bowl to Capt. Fremont. Capt. Fremont was visibly touched by the reception accorded himself, his officers and men.

POLITICAL.

HITS SENATOR STEPHENSON.

Wisconsin Assembly Stands on Its Dignity.

Resolution Smells Strongly of Politics.

Demand Time Before Obeying Subpoenas.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the action of the Assembly in passing resolutions protesting against the Senate Investigating Committee in subpoenaeing members of the lower house to give testimony in relation to the campaign of Senator Stephenson, and holding that obeying such subpoenas is a blow to the dignity of the Assembly, the committee has asked the Senate for an extension of time until next January.

The request insinuates that Senator Stephenson and others are purposely evading service on subpoenas, one of his managers having found a trip to Europe for his health advisable. The Senate in its present mood will unquestionably grant this extension, and stirring times are anticipated, as the constitutional prerogative may then not be pleaded, and legislators then may be compelled to answer, whereas now, if they so desire, they may hide behind their privileges. Thus far no one has availed himself of this right.

The resolutions are said to show conclusively that at least a half dozen men, prominently connected with the campaign of Senator Stephenson, prefer to remain beyond the jurisdiction of the inquisitors.

The surprise of the current session is that any work at all is being accomplished with the two houses. Each body is trying to block what it believes to be a favorite measure of the other. The antagonism cropped out pyrotechnically this week, when the Assembly, by resolution, called down the Investigation Committee for its repeated attempts to haul members of the lower house before it. Politics was never more patiently played.

Every move is being considered as to its bearing on the political future of Gov. Davidson or Senator La Follette, and their respective satellites, and this consideration is guiding practically every legislator.

LABORITES LOSE MEETING.

Political Rally Breaks Up in Disorder When Socialism Is Preached.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] What had been announced as a "mass meeting" of citizens, but which was in reality an attempt by union-laborites to elect candidates who would agree to do their bidding and indorse them for office at the city election next month, ended in an inglorious fiasco at an East Side hall last night, because the "delegates" fell to quarreling among themselves, turned the meeting into a pandemonium, and broke up in disorder without doing anything.

The meeting had been planned by the self-styled conservative faction of laborites. Their plan was to have the "convention" indorse only such candidates as would agree, if elected, to do the labor leaders' bidding. The plan would have worked out nicely but for the interference of a gang of men of the rabid socialist faction. They stampeded the meeting by the introduction of resolutions providing that no candidate not carrying a union card should be indorsed. This started a free-for-all row, which grew so violent in a few minutes that the chairman quietly stepped down and got out of the hall, followed gradually by all the vociferating "delegates."

POLITICAL HISTORY.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HEARST TACTICS.

SUIT REVEALS HIS METHODS IN INDIANA CAMPAIGN.

His Attempt to Secure Delegates to St. Louis Convention Disrupts Democracy and Ruins Newspaper Which Espoused Cause and Was Left to Fight Alone.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An unwritten chapter in the political history of Indiana, in which is recorded the disruption of the Democratic party in the Tenth Congressional District, the consequent collapse of a Democratic newspaper, and the severance of social and political ties that had existed for a quarter of a century, was brought to view in a court trial at Lafayette this week.

An interesting side light was the development of the methods by which William Randolph Hearst tried to get a foothold in Indiana in 1904, and secure delegates to the St. Louis convention, and how he was checkmated by the smooth tactics of National Chairman Taggart, for John W. Kern and State Chairman O'Brien.

James K. Risk, member of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Bryan's confidential manager in the campaign of last year, founded the Lafayette Daily Democrat in 1902, and the paper enjoyed two years of prosperity. Daniel W. Simms, a Lafayette attorney, used his influence to secure loans of capital to found and finance the newspaper and was one of the sureties on Editor Risk's notes.

When Hearst sent his agents into Indiana, Risk espoused his cause. Attorney Simms aspired to be the nominee for Governor, and through Risk, it was intimated to him that if he would come into the Hearst camp funds would be forthcoming for his campaign. Simms indignantly refused.

Then Risk turned the batteries of the paper upon Simms, who, with other sureties, withdrew from the editor's notes. Hearst, discovering that he stood no show in Indiana, and having been defeated in St. Louis, paid no more attention to affairs and the Daily Democrat, unable to meet its obligations, collapsed and the suit is to settle the various claims against it.

Risk, by reason of his fealty to Hearst, is crippled financially and has alienated the friends who were in a position to assist him in time of stress. Simms has not been a factor in the politics of the State since it became known that he had been proffered financial aid in his gubernatorial ambitions, provided, always, that he would come into the Hearst camp. Hearst might have saved Risk by coming to his aid when the other sureties on his notes withdrew, but he held aloof and let the man who espoused his cause fight a losing battle.

MANY JOIN IN SEARCH.

From every direction men, women d children anxious to participate in e man hunt arrived at Griffith Park sterday morning; children from the h Felix school, classmates of little na Poltera; pupils from the Glendale d Tropico schools, farmers' boys, amsters, ranchers and ranchers' ves and a host of officers. Many men no could spare a moment's time of- red their services yesterday.

A long string of men and boys ooped out into the hills. They began the point in the road where the lit- girl was last seen. They plunged to the mustard brush and beat down e yellow-flowered stalks as if eager tear out the coveted evidence from e jealous ground that held it. They anted to find the place where the as- ult had occurred. Scrub and brush ent down before the swinging staves arried by the searchers, until the untry looked as if a troop of cavalry ad been there. Boulders in the river ed were ripped from their resting laces and turned to one side, bushes ere poked and explored and many ampled down.

The angry hiss of the hundreds of attlesnakes in the brush carried no error to the hearts of the men and oys searching there. Three big rattlers ere clubbed to death before the officers alled the boys back to the open roads where the danger of sacrifice of life as less.

But a great amount of territory had een covered. Not a single thing con- nected with the case was found. There were no footprints on the little trails leading into the hills. There were no broken stalks of mustard to show that a man had been making his way through the brush. The assailant, whoever he was, escaped along the roads.

But the search brought to light some and out through that section of the foothills. An abandoned camp hidden in a deep cañon contained a complete counterfeiting outfit.

COUNTERFEITERS' CAMP.

W. D. Barckdall of Tropico made this find. He started out from home to pick up a trace of the murderer if possible. About a half mile to the northwest of where the body was found he stumbled upon the camp. A newspaper bearing date of April 18 was among the various articles left. It showed that the camp had been occupied at least a month ago, and possibly at even a later date.

There was a quantity of gold and silver alloy. This stuff was valuable and the officers believe that the camp had been only temporarily abandoned during the operations of the searchers. A number of dies were also discovered. A dollar mold and die bearing date 1881 and a like mold and die of half dollars bearing date 1891 were discovered.

Vaseline and other drugs used in manipulating the counterfeiting outfit were neatly packed away in a box near where the molds were found. A copper melting pot and a number of old tin cans, probably at one time containing the food used by the counterfeiters, completed the layout. Officers from the posse took charge of the find and brought it to Los Angeles.

Henry Bettin, 13 years of age, of Tropico also made a discovery which tended to show that the neighborhood in the vicinity of where the body of the little girl was found was a veritable rookery for tough characters.

The boy came upon a camp which unquestionably had been used by the men who committed several robberies in Glendale. The latest of these occurred last Sunday night when the store of Noble Bros. was entered and dry goods and a quantity of groceries were taken. Old tin cans that had once born particular brands of food carried only by the stores robbed in Glendale were also found.

For weeks various gangs of toughs must have been inhabiting the brush in the vicinity of the park, going into the towns near by to beg and rob, and when the body of the girl was found they were compelled to flee from their hiding places or be found and shot on suspicion.

These two camps, together with the one found Thursday afternoon, where twelve sticks of dynamite in a gunny sack formed the most important exhibit, are being watched every night in the hope that the occupants may take a chance and return to secure their property.

Clews came in by the score yesterday. One seemed very probable, and Sheriff Hammel and several deputies made a record-smashing trip from the County Jail to Arcadia.

FALSE ALARM.

Shortly after 1 o'clock an excited voice came over the long-distance telephone. The speaker told the Sheriff that he had been walking along a country road near Arcadia and had seen a Mexican carrying a blanket. The Mexican had thrown down the blanket and run away as the speaker approached. He had investigated and found the blanket to be blood-spattered and covered in places with strands of human hair.

Hoping that the end of the man hunt was in sight, the Sheriff called several deputies and they made a run for the automobiles. All were heavily armed, all showed that they had not been compelled to work within sight of that little body without becoming deadly in their earnestness.

The automobile, driven by every ounce of power in its trim red frame, shot out through the city streets to the open roads, its horn shrieking a warning, and the men, leaning forward and holding on for life, as houses and trees dashed by.

In Arcadia a group of excited citizens met the big car. There was a hurried consultation. More excited men joined the group. Talk of lynching could be heard everywhere. The Sheriff demanded to see the blanket. After a half hour's wait the man who had found it came forward. He had the blanket but that was all he did have. It had no stains nor hair upon it. It looked like any other blanket and apparently could have had nothing to do with the crime. The Sheriff and his posse quickly searched the near-by roads and camps but found no trace of a strange Mexican in the vicinity. They returned to the city later in the evening.

Another clew to the possible identity of the murderer came from the northwestern section of the city. Strange stories of a crazy man have been received from that district from time to time. On Easter a resident of the section, which is not far distant from the scene of the murder, went into the foothills and hid a number of colored eggs. His two little daughters, aged 8 and 10 years, went to search for them.

MAKES LITTLE GIRLS SCREAM.

While wandering about they were accosted by an old man. He was stripped to the waist and wore his hair and beard at an unusual length. He offered them $2 each if they would accompany him to his home. Both little girls screamed and ran away. When they met their father they told him of the affair and he hurried in search of the man but failed to find him. A man answering the description has been seen in the foothills near Griffith Park on several occasions lately. Sheriff's officers will look after the old man and investigate his actions.

Today will be a great day for the search because of the fact that scores of people from Los Angeles picnic at Griffith Park every Sunday. It is expected that several hundred will join the search in an effort to pick up some of the girl's belongings or find the spot where the assault occurred.

The funeral of Anna Poltera was held at the Rosedale chapel yesterday afternoon. The scene was a pathetic one. Joseph Poltera, the father, sat as if turned into stone while the simple service was read. From time to time his lips moved as if he were trying to speak, but no sound came. His eyes glittered hard as he saw the little casket carried to its last resting place and he moistened his dry lips and covered his eyes with his hands.

The mother sobbed quietly throughout the service, but the little sixteen-year-old brother of the dead girl gave himself up to his grief. With a piercing scream that told of the terrible sorrow in his heart he threw himself face downward by the grave and sobbed violently.

He was led away by friends, and it was some time after the services had been finished before he recovered from the hysterics which followed close upon the nervous breakdown.

Eight little school girls, friends of the deceased, carried the casket to the grave. The floral offerings were magnificent, scores of beautiful designs having been sent by people who did not know the family, but who were moved to pity and sympathy by the sad fate of the girl. The interment

DRUG VICTIM ASKS HELP.

Applies at the County Hospital for Aid and Willingly Goes to Cell for Insane.

Pleading that something be done to save him from the drug habit, Gus Hartman, a broom-maker, aged about 41, presented himself at the County Hospital yesterday.

As no provision has ever been made for the treatment of such cases at the institution, Superintendent Whitman told him all that could be done was to give him a cell in the ward for the insane. Hartman said he was willing to go anywhere, and so he was placed in a cell.

The man said he became addicted to the use of laudanum by taking it several years ago when he was afflicted with dysentery. He continued to take the drug until two ounces of laudanum a day was necessary to satisfy his cravings.

ELUDES EVEN X-RAY.

Surgeons Unable to Locate Bullet That Wounded Patient in County Hospital.

In what part of his anatomy did the bullet that hit Theodore Witts lodge? That is a problem that doctors at the County Hospital have been trying to solve ever since the man, who was shot by W. H. Hampton on East Fifty-first street on the night of May 10 was brought to the institution.

The bullet hit Witts in the sternum, and plowed its way through the bone. Surgeons at the Receiving Hospital probed for it, but were unable to trace its course after it passed through the bone. When the man was first taken to the County Hospital an X-ray examination was made, but the bullet could not be seen.

The wound was not at first believed to be serious, but Witts still occupies a cot in the surgical ward. Yesterday his condition became worse, and it has been decided to make another attempt to locate the bullet by means of the X-ray.

When Smith was shot, he was backing down a stairway. A bullet from his own revolver, aimed at Hampton, who resented his attentions to Mrs. Hampton, as is alleged, went wild and wounded Mrs. H. K. Smith, at whose home the shooting took place, in the arm. Witts ran away, but was captured later.

BOTANISTS DISAGREE.

Members of Florists' Club Warmly Discuss Merits of Mendelian and Darwinian Theories.

That scientists, and particularly botanists disagree, as well as doctors, was emphasized at the meeting of the Florists' Club at Caledonia Hall, last night. Dr. A. D. Howton upheld the Mendelian law for the propagation of new varieties of plants and flowers by crossing against the Darwinian theory of selection.

Herbert Goudge, the lawyer, who is an enthusiastic amateur horticulturalist, scouted this theory and stood up for Darwin.

Dr. Anstruther Davidson, who is president of the botanical section of the American Academy of Science, admitted there is some merit in Mendel's ideas of mutation, but thought Dr. Howton gave them too much importance. He would not treat Darwin's theory too lightly, he said.

Dr. Howton insisted that time would prove all his contentions.

Gregor Mendel was an Austrian monk, who, by experiments in crossing sweet peas, evolved a law of propagation which he reduced to a mathematical formula. This was published in 1865, but attracted no attention at the tme, and it was not until 1891 that Hugo DeVries took it up and exploited it.

MANY PATIENTS.

These are busy days at the County Hospital. Last night there were 335 patients. Every cot in the men's wards was occupied. Since the erection of the new buildings commenced, one of the old wards has been torn down and there are thirty fewer cots than formerly. Last winter there were as many as 357 patients in the hospital at one time. Usually the number is greatly reduced in the spring and summer and the present influx of patients is remarkable.

KING DAVID'S "APOSTLE."

LOVER DRINKS CARBOLIC.

His Sweetheart, Frightened by Letter Threatening Suicide, Leads to Finding of Body.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—J. B. Nixon, 32 years old, committed suicide late today by drinking carbolic acid in his room at the Hotel Larson, this city, where he was a transient guest.

The suicide, it is said, was in love with a young woman in Vallejo, who telephoned to the landlady of the hotel here, saying that she had received a letter from Nixon, in which the young lover threatened to kill himself. Hurrying from the telephone to Nixon's room, the landlady found the young man's dead body.

Among the effects of the suicide were found letters addressed to Dr. John H. Nixon. One of these had reference to a relative whose address is presumed to be No. 1435 Roch avenue, New Orleans, while another was sent from No. 6324 Laurel street, New Orleans.

It is believed the dead man had a brother, Joseph R. Nixon, an official of the Southern Pacific Railroad, who resides in Berkeley.

AFTER SQUAW MAN'S ESTATE.

Children of Three Former Wives Cut Off in Will Giving All to Fourth Bride.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PENDLETON, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A fight is about to be precipitated in the local courts over the estate of the late Desire St. Dennis, "Squawman," and well-known reservation farmer, which is valued at more than $20,000.

Cutting off his three sons and the children of his daughter with $1 each, the aged rancher left the remainder of the estate to his fourth wife, a young woman with whom he had been living but a few months. The making of the will preceded his death by one day, death being the result of a violent attack of stomach cramps. As he was addicted to the use of liquor to excess, his sudden death excited little comment.

The widow, who receives all the property by the terms of the will, was his third wife's nurse during her last illness in a Walla Walla hospital, and sought to comfort the bereaved husband by becoming his bride within a week after her death. All St. Dennis's former wives were allottees on the reservation, and the bulk of his property was acquired through these former marriages. As the title to some of this land had not yet passed from the hands of the government, the children of his former wives hope to break the will, so far as it affects the property.

WOMAN OF EIGHTY FIGHTS.

Assaults Youth of Sixty and Says She Would Have Hit Him Again If She Could.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Yes, I struck him; I am glad of it, and if I had known where his brains were I would have hit him there again," said Mrs. Anne Catherson, 80 years old, principal in an assault and battery case in Municipal Court today.

Mrs. Catheron was arrested on a warrant sworn to by David J. Hawley, 60 years old, charging her with assault and battery.

While carrying home scrap firewood Mrs. Catheron was obliged to cross the lot of Hawley. He saw Mrs. Catheron crossing the lot with the wood and attempted to prevent her from taking it away.

At his interference in taking hold of her and attempting to force her to drop the wood Mrs. Catheron seized a stick and beat Hawley soundly.

Cultivating Slimness

Fat women must take this injunction to heart if they want to be in style for the new modes will not drape over a fat figure.

The fat has got to come off quickly, but without harm, of course, and this means only one thing can be depended upon. Exercising or dieting are too slow. The fat woman who wants to wear a form-clinging gown must make an immediate trip to her druggist and get a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, which will cost her about 75 cents.

Taking one of these after each meal and at bedtime should be enough to bring her to the "losing-a-pound-a-day" stage before even the first case is used up. It is hardly believable that such delightful results can be obtained without harm and for such a small sum of money, but then, fact is stranger than fiction.

Test the effect of these tablets by getting a case yourself, either from the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or from any druggist. They are made in exact accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription and, consequently, can not have any ill effects.

TIME AND WEAR

Are the two things that decide the fate of dental work. Wear tests the workmanship; time reveals the defects in the materials.

We guarantee that the dental work that leaves our office is the best workmanship of expert dentists; that the materials are perfect; that every piece of work is as represented, and that if perchance there be anything wrong at any time it will be made right promptly and without any quibbling.

The advantage of dealing with an old established dental firm like this is that its guarantee is based on facts and amounts to something.

FOLK OPPOSES RULE OF GOLD.

Missourian Tells of Duties of Citizenship.

Men Needed Not to Die, But Live for Country.

Buying of Titled Husbands Amusingly Scored.

Former Gov. Folk of Missouri was greeted by a large and representative audience last night at Simpson Auditorium, where he lectured on "Soldiers of Peace." There was a striking gathering of lawyers, politicians and other people, who "kept tab" on live public questions, and they were very cordial to the visitor.

The first portion of the lecture dealt with corruption in State and municipality, and with details of some of the speaker's experiences as prosecutor in St. Louis and as a Governor. The latter part was broader, and full of eloquent periods and elevating sentiment.

"I believe," said Mr. Folk, "the world is getting better and better; that the golden age is before us, and not behind us; that there will be more of the Golden Rule and not so much of the rule of gold."

He discussed the accumulation of wealth in an original way that caused much amusement.

"If Jesus of Nazareth," he said, "had remained on earth to preach the gospel from the day He was crucified on the cross to the present time, and had received a salary of $500 a day, His wealth would still not be equal to that of some of our great financiers. If Adam had lived from the day of his creation until now, and had received a salary of $175 a day, he would not yet be worth as much as some of our great financiers pay for their daughters' husbands. I have no daughter, but if I had, and wanted to buy a title for her, and saved all of a salary of $5000 a year, it would only take me 10,000 years to get enough to make the purchase. The daughter might seem a little aged then, but if the money was in sight, the nobleman probably would not object to her being 10,000 years old."

PRAISE FOR CALIFORNIA.

At another point in his address the speaker said: "You men and women of California have waged a great battle for industrial freedom; for independence and good government. We have now a patriotism of peace as well as of war, for true patriotism is the patriotism of service."

He declared that it was fully as important that every citizen discharge his duty to city and State as for public officials to do so.

"If good people were united as are the hosts of graft and corruption, corruption would disappear as evil spirits at the dawn of day.

"It is better to fight and lose than not to fight at all. In my own State I have fought for eight long years. Sometimes I have won, sometimes I have lost, but I am not weary. So long as I have life I will continue to fight for the right.

"Many men are ready to declare that they are willing to die for their country. We do not need men so much to die for their country as we need men to live for their country, today."

He paid a glowing tribute to Lincoln in illustrating the point that some of the great emancipator's victories in times of peace were as great as those in time of war. He gave many instances of what happened in St. Louis when he was engaged in convicting the thieves of the City Council, and when as Governor he turned his guns upon the corrupt legislators.

"Legislators do not now acknowledge receiving railroad passes," said the lecturer, when referring to times when they were the servants of the railroads. "They have been touched with a live coal from off the altar of public conscience.

EXPERIMENT IN GOVERNMENT.

"We are still groping in the dark, experimenting in government, and until something better can be found, the initiative and referendum will serve as effective checks in the hands of the people. Los Angeles has shown that the recall is also very desirable in municipal affairs."

Mr. Folk spoke at length of the evil of race-track gambling and said that one of his first official acts as Governor of Missouri was to urge the passage of the law that drove it from that State. He declared:

"It is far more important to raise good men than good horses, for all the blooded horses in the world are not worth one young man ruined by race-track gambling, but contrary to the predictions of those who opposed the law, there were more good horses raised after its passage than before."

He referred to the common argument among prosecuting attorneys that it is their duty to prosecute when somebody else furnishes the evidence. He declared that to be embezzlement on the part of the official.

"Embezzlement of power is the same as embezzlement of money, and the officer who refuses to gather the evidence and prosecute corruption, embezzles the power imposed in him, and is just as guilty as the officer who embezzles money or takes bribes."

SHEPARD FOUND GUILTY.

Stockton Councilman Held Up Saloon Man, Using Office as Club, Is Prompt Verdict.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, May 22.—Councilman W. T. Shepard of this city, accused by the grand jury of malfeasance in office, was this morning found guilty by the jury, which was out but fifteen minutes.

The court set a week from next Tuesday at 2 o'clock as the time for pronouncing judgment, which is removal from office. The trial occupied nearly two weeks and attracted large crowds of spectators. The defendant will probably appeal.

Councilman Shepard was accused by the grand jury with having used his office as a club to prevail upon saloon men and heads of local corporations to buy shares of stock in the Shipman Paint Company at $100 each. It was also charged that Shepard had arranged that his name should not be known in the corporation, so that he could do city work—a violation of the charter. It was charged also that he had frequently borrowed money from saloon men, the means employed being to exhibit to them an ordinance which provided for changes detrimental to their interests.

Another count charged that he had endeavored to have workmen put bills into the city for work performed for his firm, he to O. K. the bills as chairman of the Finance Committee, and he also was accused of asking his partner to charge the city exorbitant prices for labor and material.

PRESBYTERIANS.

URGES PREACHERS TO HUNT FOR SINNERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, May 22.—Less "stately treading" and more democracy; less lounging in the luxury of the church waiting for the sinner to approach, and more evangelism among the lowly, were the keynotes sounded at today's sessions of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church.

The lead in advocacy of this doctrine was taken by John Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, of Philadelphia, who in presenting his report as chairman of the Committee on Evangelistic Work, said the church had been altogether too dignified to go out after the sinner and had been content to rest in state, awaiting the approach of the seeker for solace.

There were other features of the assembly today which made it noteworthy. One was the gathering of the "Blue and Gray" veterans. This little assembly of grizzled veterans was addressed by Dr. Barkeley, the moderator, who is a former Confederate veteran. Old times were revived and a new comradeship vowed under both the banner of church and state.

It is regarded as probable that the next meeting will convene at Atlantic City, though a bid for the meeting has been made by both Cleveland and Seattle.

Tomorrow there will be devotional services and a sermon by the new moderator in the Central Presbyterian Church, and a huge parade of Sunday-school children in the afternoon.

The report of the Committee on Ministerial Relief also was presented today. This urged upon each congregation the work of contributing generously to the fund to be used in aid of superannuated clergy whose salaries have not been sufficient to enable them to lay aside a competence.

The report of the Presbyterian Brotherhood was also presented. This was done by Charles Holt of Chicago, the vice-president of the association. The report asked that the assembly lend its aid in the formation of synodical councils and in other ways of extending the brotherhood.

Mr. Holt, who is a Chicago lawyer, was appointed vice-moderator by Dr. Barkeley near the close of the morning session. The selection of Mr. Holt, a layman, had been predicted but nevertheless the announcement of Dr. Barkeley brought a storm of applause. A few moments later the gavel was turned over to him and he conducted the remainder of the session.

This morning the women's board of foreign missions held a rally with home missionaries. The meetings of this body will close next Wednesday. This evening there will be two popular meetings, one for men under the auspices of the brotherhood and another in behalf of evangelistic work.

The following important committee chairmanships were announced by the moderator:

Judicial—Rev. J. Graybolton, Philadelphia.

Education—Dr. Edgar P. Hill, Chicago.

Foreign Missions—Rev. Howard A. Johnston, Colorado Springs.

Ministerial Relief—Rev. Josiah McLead, Salt Lake.

Finance—Joseph Yeareance, New York.

Home Missions—W. L. McEwan, Pittsburgh.

Bills and Overtures—Dr. B. P. Fullerton, St. Louis.

Polity—Rev. Morris D. Edwards, St. Paul.

Colleges—Rev. H. J. Mendenhall, New York.

Benevolences—Dr. Herbert A. Manchester, Boston.

Narrative—Rev. Fountain R. Farrand, El Paso.

Synodical Home Missions—Rev. Ezra B. Newcomb, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Brotherhood—Rev. W. H. Scott, Philadelphia.

DARING HOLD-UP.

where the enginemen were standing and another man left to guard them.

Going back to the car, the two robbers climbed in and commenced to toss out the mail that nearly filled the car. The man on the ground called out to his pal: "Don't do that; you're getting letter and paper mail, and we haven't time to stay here and open it. Toss out the registered stuff."

The robber found seven sacks and handed them down. Having accomplished this, the two men left the car, one taking the sacks and going ahead to where, it is supposed, the automobile was standing. Returning, he joined his pal, and the two went to the place where the other two men were standing guard over their captives.

WHISPERED CONFERENCE.

There the four robbers held a whispered conference, and then told the engineer and fireman to get into the cab. Then, following instructions, they climbed in and were about to start, when they were commanded not to be in any hurry, "for there was other business to be looked after."

Not having any desire to again face four guns, they remained passive while one of the robbers kept a gun pointed into the cab. The watches and purses of the mail clerks were handed back, and they were told to pile the sacks of letters and paper mail back into the car and then follow them in. This they did.

Just prior to this, Conductor Wallace walked ahead to see what was the matter. The robbers saw him coming and one of them, firing into the air, told him to go back and look after his passengers, "for they might be scared, though they would not be molested." The conductor beat a hasty retreat.

As soon as they received orders the engineer opened his machine and pulled out, and as he passed he noticed the four men climbing into an automobile that was standing at a crossing a short distance from where his engine had been stopped.

PURSUIT BEGINS.

A big squad of police hurried to the scene and quickly started in pursuit of the bandits.

A continuous fusillade of shooting was kept up during the robbery, evidently to intimidate the passengers and crew. A flagman who went to the rear narrowly escaped being shot.

Several passengers who had not retired, started to get out of the vestibules, but in no uncertain tones the robbers ordered them back into the cars.

The train was stopped only fifteen minutes, and made a quick run to the Union Station, where the police were notified. Within half an hour Special Agent Canada of the Union Pacific, and a big squad of police started for the scene of the hold-up in an automobile.

Sheriff Brailey and a force of deputies also left for the scene within a short time.

Conductor Wallace, who was in charge of the train, believes the robbers got on the train at Fremont. All four were well masked, but were well dressed.

AMOUNT OF LOOT UNKNOWN.

The registered pouches were all destined to eastern points, the greater part of it being for Chicago and New York. Clerk Whitmore says the pouches were among the less important of the registered mail. The robber who entered the car asked for the "bank mail," but whether there was any great amount of money in the pouches is not known.

The Union Pacific officials at once offered a reward of $5000 each for the capture of the robbers, and a big force of police and deputies from both Omaha and South Omaha started in search of the outlaws.

What direction the bandits started when they left the train is indefinite, and whether they had an automobile is not known. It is believed, however, that they took advantage of the first opportunity offered to rifle the pouches and made their escape to a hiding place chosen in advance.

Despite the shooting, very few passengers were awakened and few of them will know of the robbery until tomorrow morning.

TWO MORE DREADNOUGHTS.

Uncle Sam's Navy Department Plans to Build Them Next Year—Wants Destroyers Also.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The building plans of the United States navy for the fiscal year of 1911 will call for two battleships of the most advanced Dreadnought type, seven torpedo-boat destroyers and one modern repair ship for the fleet, notwithstanding the $10,000,000 decrease which is to be made in the naval estimate by order of President Taft.

Secretary Meyer, in announcing this programme today, said the battleship appropriation will not be affected by the reduced estimates. The reduction will come from the appropriation for the different bureaus and from the navy yards, but he has made these reductions in such a way as not to affect the efficiency of the yards or the fleet.

STAIN YOUR HAIR A RICH BROWN

Simple Preparation of Walnut-Juice That Defies Detection.

An interesting little book has been issued on the remarkable effects of walnut juice in staining gray, faded or bleached hair. It has the advantage over hair dyes of being non-injurious to the hair, containing no silver, sulphur, lead or other poisons which cause hair-falling, and containing no odor, no oil, no sediment and no grease. At the same time, an opportunity is given to every one who wishes to stain the hair, to send for one of the laboratory trial packages which Mrs. Potter's Hygienic Supply Co., 541 Groton Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, will send by mail in plain, sealed wrapper.

Those desiring to procure a trial package of this walnut-juice hair-stain, as well as their book on hair, should write to the above address, and inclose twenty-five cents in stamps or coin, and if it is desired to continue the treatment, the preparation may be obtained at drug stores generally at one dollar for a full-size package.

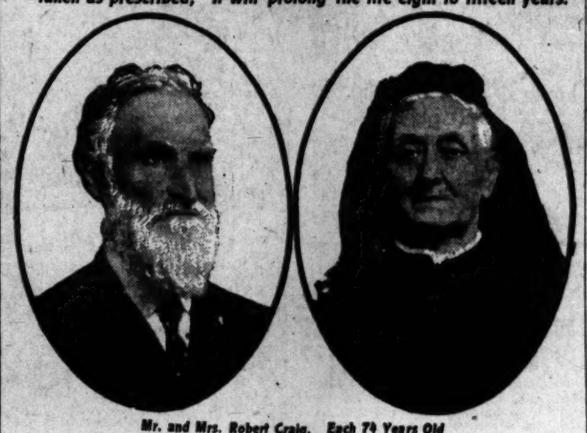
It is said that the stain blends so softly with the actual color of the hair as to deceive experts. It can be applied in a few moments with the comb every 25 days. It stains nothing but the hair, and does it evenly from tip to root. Any shade can be obtained, from a beautiful rich brown to almost black. It does not rub off on the clothing. One bottle ordinarily lasts a year.

Send for the 25-cent trial package today.

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Juice Hair-Stain is recommended and for sale in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Co., 320 S. Spring and Fifth and Broadway, 625 South Broadway.

TEMPERANCE ADVOCATES EXTOL THE ELIXIR OF LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig, well known temperance advocates and prominent in the home life of Bristol, Tenn., write warm words of praise for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the world's greatest tonic and body builder. They recommend it to the old and young, as they believe, taken as prescribed, "it will prolong the life eight to fifteen years."



Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig. Each 74 Years Old

"My wife and I each are over 74 years of age and have been so much benefited by, and have such faith in, the uniform purity and valuable medical qualities of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, that we send you this statement along with our photos.

"About eight years ago I had disease of the heart, dropsy and catarrh. My physicians cured the dropsy and helped the heart trouble greatly, then advised me to use pure whiskey in one tablespoon dose twice a day. We failed to obtain as pure whiskey anywhere to suit my case as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, in which we have great confidence, and from our experience with it thus far believe, if used in small doses daily, it will prolong the life of old people eight to fifteen years by helping to keep the smallest blood vessels clearer of ossific deposits on their sides that prevent the free flow of blood to every part of the body. The deposits from smoke in a pipe will illustrate this theory in part.

"In Noah's time people drank pure grape wine, used a simple diet, and lived to be very old.

"We are opposed to intemperance, and are in favor of such laws as will put intoxicating drinks out of the reach of those who damage themselves and others by such drinks, when they do not need them for medical use.

"Only such makers of honest reputation as Duffy should supply this country with pure malt whiskey for medical use only."—Mr. Robert Craig, Mrs. M. L. Craig, Bristol, Tenn.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system; is a promoter of health and longevity; makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey, and is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk. Price $1.00. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist" on the label and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Write Medical Department, Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for an illustrated medical booklet and free advice.

DON'T THINK FOR A MOMENT

That it is a wise plan to try to "work off" a sick spell brought on by a weak stomach, sluggish liver, clogged bowels, and inactive kidneys. It's a sad mistake. It is a far better and safer plan to take a short course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and a fair trial will convince you beyond all doubt.

During the past 56 years thousands have tried the above plan with beneficial results and there is, therefore, no reason why you should continue to suffer. Be persuaded to get a bottle today from your druggist or dealer and you'll be thankful many times afterwards.

If you have any such symptoms as failing appetite, gas on stomach, bloating, headache, sour risings, or cramps, you'll find that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is extremely beneficial. It has also proven itself to be a wonderful remedy in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, costiveness, biliousness, kidney ills, sick headaches, sour stomach, heartburn, general debility and malaria, fever and ague. Be sure that you get Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If you are offered a substitute, refuse it for your health's sake. The genuine is put up only in bottles and has Private Stamp over neck.

FRESNO WINS IN NINTH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, May 22.—Although Gray eld Fresno to four hits, each bingle netted a run and San Francisco was osed out in the most sensational inth-inning finish of the season on the home grounds. The hitting and field- ng of Schimpff was the feature.

The visitors apparently won the game in the ninth, when, with two out, Gray singled and scored on Bliss's double. In the last half, hits by Carney and Kuhn, Hallinan's wild heave and the squeeze play on bunts by Schimpff and Duncan pulled the game out of the fire. Umpire Doyle was hit on the head by foul tip from Davis's bat in the first

DEFEATS WHITTIER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WHITTIER, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Playing grammar school ball at times, Whittier College was defeated by U.S.C. yesterday afternoon on Hadley Field. The final score was 6 to 2, but that does not tell the story of the game. Both pitchers were hammered hard, Short allowing ten hits and Trotter seven.

The Quakers went to pieces in the sixth inning and let in three runs, although but one safe hit was made in the inning. The game was enlivened by the squabbling of the captains and umpire, the principal debate being over a long fly over the bank in deep center field, which it was claimed Clark caught. The umpire did not see it, but he called Blount out.

"DOCTOR" FACES COURT.

Charged With Practicing Optometry Without License—State Board on Crusade.

W. P. Chester, whose cards bear the title, "naturopathic physician," was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant sworn to by N. B. Harris in Justice Williams's court, charging him with practicing optometry without a license.

The application for the complaint followed a long chase, which started at Point Richmond, near San Francisco, was continued through most of the small towns along the Coast and finally ended with the arrest of Chester in Los Angeles.

A general crusade is planned by the State Board of Optometry, and officers throughout the State have been told to make sure that all practitioners are legally qualified.

Chester's work was first noted at Point Richmond. He moved frequently. When located in Los Angeles he fell into a trap set by Harris. A woman detective, Miss Alice Custer, called on him and he is alleged to have treated her eyes.

Chester gave bail in the sum of $200.

ANGELENO GETS COLORADO JOB.

TO BUILD GREAT CONDUIT IN BOULDER CANYON.

Will Be Twelve Miles Long, Constructed of Concrete Pipe Three Feet in Diameter and Will Cost More Than Hundred Thousand Dollars—Four Months' Task.

Arthur S. Bent returned, yesterday, from Denver, where he secured a contract from the Eastern Colorado Power Company for the construction of twelve miles of three-foot-diameter concrete pipe. This great conduit, which is said to be the largest job of the kind ever undertaken in the country, will cost more than $100,000, and must be completed in four months.

The work is of special interest as it will be the first instance, east of the Rocky Mountains, in which an important power plant conduit has been constructed of concrete pipe. Pacific Coast engineers are familiar with the value of this form of construction, and it was adopted many years ago with success by the Edison Electric Company of this city. But eastern engineers have been slow to adopt it, and are watching for the results of this Colorado undertaking by a Los Angeles man.

The line is to be built along the walls of Boulder Cañon, one of Colorado's famous resorts, at an altitude of 5000 feet. All the pipe will be made at the bottom in two-foot sections and hoisted into place by an aërial cable. Three crushing and mixing plants will be operated and 200 men employed continuously to complete the task within the given time.

RAILROADS ON DEFENSE.

Efforts Made by Them to Discredit Work of the Government Inspectors.

In an effort to discredit the reports of the inspectors of the Interstate Commerce Commission the railroads introduced a number of witnesses yesterday at the interstate commerce hearing on switching charges. The reports against which the railroads made attack yesterday were those of the inspectors for the week spent by the latter here in March when the inspectors kept particular watch on the switching of cars.

The railroads sought to show errors in the inspectors' reports. Engine foremen and others were examined to show the cost of the service reasonable. This was done by the railroads before closing their side of the case.

Final evidence in the San Francisco case, involving the same points, will be submitted June 15. After briefs are handed in the cases will be consolidated and heard by the full commission at Washington, probably within the next three months.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Thousands Have Kidney Disease and Do Not Know It.

Mr. Guy C. Clarkson, of Tampa, Fla., who suffered from Kidney Disease for some time, says he was much benefited by Warner's Safe Cure and Safe Pills.

BROTHERS WILL DIFFER

THERE were two brothers who were left orphans when quite young, and were compelled to work for their support and their limited education. A few years ago one of the boys, then growing into manhood, came to the office of the Los Angeles Investment Company to inquire about starting payments upon a home. As he had not saved from his earnings the amount necessary to make the small first payment, he decided to invest $10.00 a month in stock in this Co-operative Building Company and allow the quarterly dividends to be re-invested, thus compounding each quarter.

After a comparatively short time, the earnings from these stock investments, with the increased value of the stock, enabled him to handle a good sized payment upon a new home, by simply putting up his stock as security for this payment. He got married and took possession of the home. By saving from his salary, and making his regular monthly payments, he now has his home paid for, besides having a good block of stock paid for, from which he is drawing regular quarterly cash dividends.

The other brother could not see it that way, and said he would not buy a home until he had the money to pay cash, as did not like this payment plan. The result is that he has been paying rent all these years, and his surplus has been spent in other ways, so he is where he was when he began.

We offer this opportunity to every one. Invest your savings and have it make more money for you. You will be surprised at the results. Hundreds are doing this with us every month. No one has ever failed to get his money upon demand.

FRESNO WINS IN NINTH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, May 22.—Although Gray eld Fresno to four hits, each bingle etted a run and San Francisco was ossed out in the most sensational ninth-inning finish of the season on the home grounds. The hitting and field- ng of Schimpff was the feature.

The visitors apparently won the game in the ninth, when, with two out, Gray ingled and scored on Bliss's double. n the last half, hits by Carney and Kuhn, Hallinan's wild heave and the squeeze play on bunts by Schimpff and Duncan pulled the game out of the fire. Umpire Doyle was hit on the head by foul tip from Davis's bat in the first conscious and was carried from the field. Score:

San Francisco, 3; hits, 9; errors, 1.

DEFEATS WHITTIER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WHITTIER, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Playing grammar school ball at times, Whittier College was defeated by U.S.C. yesterday afternoon on Hadley Field. The final score was 6 to 2, but that does not tell the story of the game. Both pitchers were hammered hard, Short allowing ten hits and Trotter seven.

The Quakers went to pieces in the sixth inning and let in three runs, although but one safe hit was made in the inning. The game was enlivened by the squabbling of the captains and umpire, the principal debate being over a long fly over the bank in deep center field, which it was claimed Clark caught. The umpire did not see it, but he called Blount out.

The following is the score:

"DOCTOR" FACES COURT.

Charged With Practicing Optometry Without License—State Board on Crusade.

W. P. Chester, whose cards bear the title, "naturopathic physician," was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant sworn to by N. B. Harris in Justice Williams's court, charging him with practicing optometry without a license.

The application for the complaint followed a long chase, which started at Point Richmond, near San Francisco, was continued through most of the small towns along the Coast and finally ended with the arrest of Chester in Los Angeles.

A general crusade is planned by the State Board of Optometry, and officers throughout the State have been told to make sure that all practitioners are legally qualified.

Chester's work was first noted at Point Richmond. He moved frequently. When located in Los Angeles he fell into a trap set by Harris. A woman detective, Miss Alice Custer, called on him and he is alleged to have treated her eyes.

Chester gave bail in the sum of $200.

ANGELENO GETS COLORADO JOB.

TO BUILD GREAT CONDUIT IN BOULDER CANYON.

Will Be Twelve Miles Long, Constructed of Concrete Pipe Three Feet in Diameter and Will Cost More Than Hundred Thousand Dollars—Four Months' Task.

Arthur S. Bent returned, yesterday, from Denver, where he secured a contract from the Eastern Colorado Power Company for the construction of twelve miles of three-foot-diameter concrete pipe. This great conduit, which is said to be the largest job of the kind ever undertaken in the country, will cost more than $100,000, and must be completed in four months.

The work is of special interest as it will be the first instance, east of the Rocky Mountains, in which an important power plant conduit has been constructed of concrete pipe. Pacific Coast engineers are familiar with the value of this form of construction, and it was adopted many years ago with success by the Edison Electric Company of this city. But eastern engineers have been slow to adopt it, and are watching for the results of this Colorado undertaking by a Los Angeles man.

The line is to be built along the walls of Boulder Cañon, one of Colorado's famous resorts, at an altitude of 5000 feet. All the pipe will be made at the bottom in two-foot sections and hoisted into place by an aërial cable. Three crushing and mixing plants will be operated and 200 men employed continuously to complete the task within the given time.

RAILROADS ON DEFENSE.

Efforts Made by Them to Discredit Work of the Government Inspectors.

In an effort to discredit the reports of the inspectors of the Interstate Commerce Commission the railroads introduced a number of witnesses yesterday at the interstate commerce hearing on switching charges. The reports against which the railroads made attack yesterday were those of the inspectors for the week spent by the latter here in March when the inspectors kept particular watch on the switching of cars.

The railroads sought to show errors in the inspectors' reports. Engine foremen and others were examined to show the cost of the service reasonable. This was done by the railroads before closing their side of the case.

Final evidence in the San Francisco case, involving the same points, will be submitted June 15. After briefs are handed in the cases will be consolidated and heard by the full commission at Washington, probably within the next three months.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Thousands Have Kidney Disease and Do Not Know It.

Mr. Guy C. Clarkson, of Tampa, Fla., who suffered from Kidney Disease for some time, says he was much benefited by Warner's Safe Cure and Safe Pills.

Safe Cure is the only absolutely safe and certain cure for all these forms of kidney, liver and bladder diseases. It is purely vegetable, free from harmful drugs found in many so-called kidney cures, contains no sediment and is pleasant to take.

THERE were two brothers who were left orphans when quite young, and were compelled to work for their support and their limited education. A few years ago one of the boys, then growing into manhood, came to the office of the Los Angeles Investment Company to inquire about starting payments upon a home. As he had not saved from his earnings the amount necessary to make the small first payment, he decided to invest $10.00 a month in stock in this Co-operative Building Company and allow the quarterly dividends to be re-invested, thus compounding each quarter.

After a comparatively short time, the earnings from these stock investments, with the increased value of the stock, enabled him to handle a good sized payment upon a new home, by simply putting up his stock as security for this payment. He got married and took possession of the home. By saving from his salary, and making his regular monthly payments, he now has his home paid for, besides having a good block of stock paid for, from which he is drawing regular quarterly cash dividends.

The other brother could not see it that way, and said he would not buy a home until he had the money to pay cash, as did not like this payment plan. The result is that he has been paying rent all these years, and his surplus has been spent in other ways, so he is where he was when he began.

We offer this opportunity to every one. Invest your savings and have it make more money for you. You will be surprised at the results. Hundreds are doing this with us every month. No one has ever failed to get his money upon demand.

For more than 25 years they have been growing oranges, lemons, raisins, peaches, walnuts, chickens, pigs and in fact everything that grows in Southern California.

Adjoining Escondido, a city of some 1500 inhabitants, with schools, churches, banks, stores, packing-houses, etc., is an old Spanish grant, every acre of it fine citrus lands. THE OIL INDUSTRY.

FOR PRODUCER AND CONSUMER.

Both Should Profit by the Agency Selling.

Pipe Line Will Eliminate the Middlemen.

Brooks Contracts Its Oil to the Union.

Producer and consumer alike will be benefited if the plans to be submitted to the Independent Agencies, tomorrow, are adopted. The producer will market his own oil, thus absorbing the profit hitherto the middleman's, except such as competition destroys. The consumer will profit, with very little, or no loss to the producer as the latter is almost certain to get returns big enough to pay the transportation charges and leave as much for him as he gets from the Associated, on an average.

The proposed contract between the agency and the incorporators of the new company calls for 12½ cents for piping to Port Harford; for delivery at San Francisco Bay points, 10 cents; at Eureka, 30 cents; at San Diego, 12½ cents; San Pedro, 10 cents; Santa Barbara, 7½ cents; Huenome, 10 cents.

It is not thought that any very strong competition will be attempted—certainly not the "cut-throat" kind, once the rule. The Associated and Union have found that it does not pay and for some time have held prices up fairly well, though recently the latter company has made several 25-cent contracts on San Francisco Bay. They were small, however.

Of course, if competition becomes strong, the producers can take less than now and still get big profits, while, by being able to go to any market, what is lost in one may be made up in another.

In some quarters there is a disposition to take the pipe-line proposal as a "bluff" to force the Associated to terms. That it is not, is positively asserted by M. V. McQuigg, one of the principals interested.

Wild Cat to Work.

The Coalinga-McKittrick is to drill on 19-27-19, north of Temblor. Besides, it has eighty acres on 25-25-19 in the Devil's Den. The officers and directors are: F. J. Morris, president; Samuel Foltz, vice-president; A. G. Ockenden, A. A. Pedders and F. M. McGregor. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, with $650,000 in the treasury. It will sell stock. The land is near the proposed pipe line.

The West Side Oil and Development Company has been formed by Ion L. Clark of Los Angeles, who is president; R. W. Musgrave, M.D., is vice-president; C. W. Barrett, secretary, and P. R. Hight, treasurer. H. P. Brown is the other member of the company. All, except Mr. Clark, are from Oxford. The company will drill on 19-28, Devil's Den, within 100 yards of the Pluto well, in which, it is reported, oil has been found at 750 feet. No particulars are given and there is no confirmation. The West Side has 160 acres, mostly located ground.

Mr. Clark has also 10,000 acres in township 27-19, twenty miles north of McKittrick, which he will put into the companies.

Twenty miles south of Coalinga there is a well on 11-22-17, drilled years ago by the Baby King, a company of San Francisco and Hanford people, and later finished or pumped. Mr. Clark says it flows, today, a small quantity of oil from time to time that is of a very light gravity—about 38, it is said.

Standard's April Pipe Runs.

A steady increase month by month, is shown in the pipe-line runs of the Standard in California. For April these were 979,070 for the State, as against 910,127 for March and 803,041 for February. Itemized, the April runs were: Kern River, 147,538; Coalinga, 235,970; Santa Maria, 175,000; Kehail, 6056; Midway, 103,987; Los Angeles, 15,499.

By these figures, it will be seen that the Standard is handling 18 or 20 per cent. of the State's total production, all this goes to the Point Richmond refinery. The Standard has just refused to make new contracts at Midway, although taking daily runs.

Much has been written—and said of the enlarged market abroad for California crude—and much said about the Shell's and Associated's extending trade, but little heard of the nearly $1,000,000 worth of the manufactured products shipped annually from Point Richmond to China, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Spanish America and every country bordering on the Pacific, through the Standard's efforts. California refined oil products have practically driven all others out of Oriental markets.

Brooks Makes Contract.

The Brooks Oil Company has contracted to furnish 200,000 barrels to the Union at 50, 55 and 60 cents, according to gravity, from its well that is nearing completion in Cat Cañon, 20 miles east of the Palmer. The Union will extend its pipe line to the property. The Brooks well is below the Fox and has a fine rich sand. Indications are that there is quite a change in the strata east of the Palmer, although some miles farther, this does not seem to be the case—at least so the Foxen's experience seems to indicate.

E. E. Henderson, general manager of the Palmer, has acquired some 2000 acres on the Wickenden ranch, four miles east of the Brooks and near where the Dome is drilling, northeast of the Alamos.

Perseus Increases Dividend.

The Perseus Oil Company will pay two and a quarter cents a month dividends hereafter on its 178,000 issued stock, instead of three-fourths of one cent as heretofore. It is a Kern River company, owned chiefly in Los Angeles. Its property is leased to the Shell Crude.

Santa Fe on the Bluffs.

It develops that the Petroleum Department (Santa Fe) is backing the drilling scheme of F. R. Burrows of San Francisco, to drill a test well on the bluffs south of the Kern River and across the stream of the same. Material is reported to be already on the ground.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

'S TO FOUND AN ART SCHOOL.

OSTON BACKING IS SECURED BY BATCHELDER.

Property Overlooking the Arroyo Secured—Former Treasurer of Tobacco Company Purchases Tequesquite Rancho—Busch Offers to Open Sunken Gardens This Summer.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, May 23.—E. A. Batchelder is to found an art school on the bank of the Arroyo deco near Colorado street. Batchelder left Throop Polytechnic Institute, where he was head of the art department, on leave of absence about a year ago. After an extensive tour of Europe he went to Minneapolis where he is now engaged as the head of the summer school of the Handicraft Guild.

Batchelder has purchased property overlooking the Arroyo and has written friends here that as soon as he is at liberty he will return to Pasadena and carry his plans to completion. In addition to art and sculpture he intends to make a specialty of handicraft work.

He has interested patrons of art in Boston. The plan includes a special winter course to be made attractive to the large number of tourists who winter here. The investment will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

BUYS LARGE RANCH.

C. G. Emery of Orange Grove boulevard, formerly treasurer of the American Tobacco Company, has purchased the 10,000-acre Tequesquite rancho in the Santa Clara Valley for $75,000 cash.

The ranch is situated partly in San Benito county and partly in Santa Clara county. The Southern Pacific railroad passes through it and the station, Luzon, is on the holding. It is about six miles from Hollister. On the property are seventy-five miles of fence, fifty-two of ditches, many miles of turnpiked and graveled roads, twenty-two artesian wells and six farm houses. Emery bought as an investment.

ARROYO DRIVE SETTLED.

W. L. Green, appointed as arbiter in the Arroyo Drive matter, has staked out the route following closely the bank of the Arroyo Seco. Mayor Earley, Ernest H. Lockwood, representing Adolphus Busch and Attorney Crowbridge, representing H. Page Warden, accompanied Green to the foot of Madeline Drive where they looked over his plans and heartily assented to them. The road will pass through the Warden and Perkins properties a little west of the old highway that was traveled years ago and which was closed by the property owners.

The drive is to be fifty feet wide, including roadway, sidewalks and parkings. A feature of its construction will be niches which are to be made in the barbed-wire fence of Adolphus Busch on the west side of the drive. These will be for pedestrians to stand in in order to avoid traffic. The Grand-avenue matter was not touched upon.

BUSCH TO OPEN GARDENS.

Adolphus Busch has sent word to Mayor Earley that if the city will furnish a policeman to preserve order, he will open his famous sunken gardens to the public this summer. Mayor Earley has not yet stated whether the city will provide a policeman or not. It is believed that more people wish to visit these gardens than any other place in Pasadena. The public is ever clamoring for admittance. A gardener spends almost the entire day at present keeping the public out.

DR. ABBOTT ARRIVES.

Dr. C. S. Abbott, director of the astro-physical observatory of the Smithsonian Institute, is now hard at work on Mt. Wilson, fitting up his labratory and workshop. He has appointed Dr. Ingersoll, who was at Mt. Wilson two years ago, his assistant. Dr. Abbott's specialty is the determination of the heat of the sun in all its variations. His building is being fitted up with the latest scientific appliances brought out by him from Washington. Many were made at his order and according to his specifications. He states that conditions for his work are ideal on Mt. Wilson.

WRECKS RIG.

A runabout belonging to Walter C. Austin was wrecked, all the wheels were torn from the buggy of G. W. Clark, a laundry wagon, a bakery wagon and an automobile were damaged and a number of people bruised and frightened in a runaway mix-up on West Colorado street, yesterday morning. Deputy M. J. Connors and Mr. Begley, were in Austin's rig when the horse started on its wild career from the corner of Colorado and Pasadena avenue. Finally extricating itself with its harness practically torn from its body, the horse was stopped by Patrolman Palmer, at the corner of Fair Oaks and Colorado.

BEEF CONDEMNED.

J. Bert Perret, proprietor of the Summit avenue meat market, bought a cow that had suffered from a broken leg two days, and the beef was condemned entirely by Sanitary Inspector Huddleston yesterday. On advice of veterinaries it was held that beef killed under such conditions would be apt to cause ptomaine poisoning.

JUNIOR DANCE.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Staats of North Grand avenue and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Robbins of El Monte chaperoned a charming junior party, which was given at the Valley Hunt Club yesterday afternoon, and in the early evening hours by Misses Isabel and Clara Watson, daughters of Mrs. Staats, and Miss Theodore Robbins. The clubhouse was artistically decorated. The young hostesses were assisted in receiving their guests by Mme. Staats and Robbins, and at 5 o'clock supper was served in the reception hall and on the veranda. An orchestra furnished music for dancing and early in the evening a number of the parents of the young people came in to witness an exhibition of fancy dancing given by a professional danseuse. After this the youthful men and maids enjoyed a programme of waltzes and twosteps until 9 o'clock.

Besides parents of the young guests, there were present Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Libby, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hazard Halsted and others. The guest list numbered eighty of the junior set who have not yet been formally introduced into society.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Under orders of the county horticultural inspector, the city is exercising its right to remove trees not authorized in the city parkings. The object is twofold; to establish certain trees on certain streets, which will give a [illegible] to clear the city of scale and other parasites.

Dr. Snow will visit this city May 27 and 28 with his sanitation car. The public is urged to inspect it on the Southern Pacific siding, and also to attend lectures.

New members elected to the Board of Trade are E. H. Richter, H. J. Hardwick, Dr. T. B. Wright, Ernest Cowenhoven, B. E. Manigal, Johnston & Stranhan, Dr. A. P. Stocking, A. H. Thomas, Samuel D. Hinkin, O. L. Braddock, N. H. McCoy, D. L. Lynch, Charles D. Kelly, F. A. Banks, L. N. Merritt, Bye Bros., Monroe Hardware Company, Charles D. Hill and George B. Lyons.

Miss Oisa Tarbell's zoölogy class of the High School took a hay ride in the arroyo yesterday afternoon for the purpose of adding to their class collection as well as for pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartow Dwight, whose marriage took place last week, have returned from their wedding trip and are at their home on San Rafael Heights.

E. W. Knowlton, No. 395 South Orange Grove avenue, was the host at a barn dance given last night for his employés and their friends.

Eugene Nowland, president of the Los Angeles Music Society, spoke on the spirit of nationalism in Germany, at Throop yesterday.

Dr. W. E. Hibbard of East Colorado street sailed yesterday from San Francisco for Tahiti on a voyage of health.

A. Dunham and George Judd, two Throop juniors, were ducked at the masquerade ball given by the sophomores because they attended the festivities and meandered into the dance hall disguised as women.

Cablegrams received by relatives of former Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks tell of their pleasant stay in Honolulu and Japan, and they are well.

FOR SPECIAL ELECTION.

Consolidation Petition Will Be Circulated at Santa Monica and Ocean Park Tomorrow.

OCEAN PARK, May 22.—Monday is the date set by the managers of the city consolidation movement for the beginning of the circulation of the petition for a special election. The beach is being polled carefully, and the results encourage the friends of the greater city movement. They say the movement cannot fail.

The campaign of education has borne fruit, and many who were against consolidation a few weeks ago now freely line up with the forces of progress. C. F. Palmer, a resident of Santa Monica, who has made a searching investigation of the question and studied it deeply since the agitation was commenced, has published an open letter, in which he gives many strong reasons for favoring the merging of the two cities. He argues that a population of 50,000 within a very few years is certain to follow the forward step which he advocates.

DOWNEY.

DOWNEY, May 22.—Col. J. R. Gordon, proprietor of the Downey Light, Power and Water Company will commence work at once on the extension of his line to Rivera.

George W. Williamson has purchased the old Dr. Rowley cottage on Third street of E. B. Spencer of Los Angeles.

Dr. H. B. Gage, Presbyterian minister, is attending the National Presbytery at Denver.

Mrs. A. J. Copass of Texas is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tweedy.

Mrs. J. C. Rives and Mrs. S. S. Skidmore returned this week from a two weeks' outing at Elsinore.

Mrs. F. L. Church of Missouri is here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Church and family.

FLOWERS SURE FOR GRAVES.

NO DOUBT ABOUT THEM AT THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

General Orders Issued by Governor for Memorial Day Celebration Dispose of Erroneous Rumor That the Strewing of Floral Tributes Would Not Be Permitted.

SOLDIERS' HOME, May 22.—Flowers will on Memorial Day be strewed on the graves of veterans buried in the home cemetery. Through a misconception a report that floral tributes are not to be allowed as heretofore in the exercises on that day has gone abroad.

The general orders for the observance of the day (May 31) here, as issued by Gov. Cochrane, provide explicitly for the ceremony of the flowers. These orders furnish complete contradiction of the anti-floral rumor.

The false impression about flowers appears to have originated on Lincoln's birthday, when flags were placed on the veterans' graves but flowers were not. It is supposed that because no flowers were strewn on the graves then the wrong impression about no flowers on Memorial Day was spread.

Because of this erroneous impression resolutions, condemning the home authorities for action which they had not taken and did not intend to take, were adopted by one of the Woman's Relief Corps and by W. S. Rosecrans Camp of Sons of Veterans.

General orders No. 17 for this (Pacific) branch of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, providing for Memorial Day observance, were ordered May 1, before the resolutions were adopted, but have only just been issued. These orders are very much like those which have been issued from year to year for a good many years for the day of decoration.

The orders for this year's ceremonies as signed by Col. T. J. Cochrane, governor of this branch, designate Capt. Thomas A. McLaughlin as marshal of the day and name for his aids Captains Webster A. Whiting and George R. King. The orders provide for the formation of the procession for the march to the cemetery in the morning. They prescribe that "The Adjutant's call will sound at 8:15 o'clock, a.m. At the sound of assembly at 8:30 o'clock, the several organizations will take position on Brown boulevard, right resting at crossing at Los Angeles-Pacific Railroad."

The order of formation is given and then the order of march is specified thus: (1) The home band; (2) the Governor, staff and guests; (3) John A. Martin Post, W.R.C.; (4) Appomattox Circle, Ladies of the G.A.R.; (5) John A. Martin Post, G.A.R.; (6) Uncle Sam Post, W.R.C.; (7) Uncle Sam Post, G.A.R.; (8) Union Veteran Legion; (9) Home companies; (10) citizens in carriages.

After stating the order of march, as shown in the foregoing paragraph, the orders continue:

"At the cemetery, after formation has been perfected, members of home companies, at a signal from the trumpet, will place flags upon the graves; this service being completed, the line will reform and march to the circle around the flag, and the officers of the Grand Army of the Republic will read selections from their ritual; the ladies and children will decorate the monument and graves with flowers; the firing squad will fire three volleys to each of the cardinal points of the compass, and the bugler will sound "Taps." This will close the ceremonies at the cemetery, when the companies will march in order to their respective quarters and be dismissed."

In the afternoon there will be a literary and musical programme presented at Memorial Hall. Capt. Joseph Enderlin will be chairman. Among the fifteen numbers in the programme will be an address by County Recorder Logan, an oration by John S. McGroarty of Los Angeles, and solos by Miss Margaret Sontag and Miss Delphine Gillispie.

EARLY MEMBER PASSES.

The funeral of William A. McGarvey, late Co. A, Ninety-third New York Infantry, and Co. D, First New York Engineers, who died suddenly at the home of his family yesterday, took place at the home this morning, and was attended by members, by numerous friends, and neighbors from Los Angeles and elsewhere, and by John A. Martin Post, G.A.R., and members of the W.R.C.

McGarvey's number on the home register was 23, making him one of the pioneers of the Pacific branch, to which he was admitted in 1888. Throughout the twenty-one years of his membership he has been prominently associated with the various veteran social affairs. He was a charter member and Past Commander of John A. Martin Post, G.A.R.; a charter member of the one time flourishing Keeley Cure Club, and a promoter and interlocutor of the quite noted Home's Negro Minstrels, upon which the home, in its infancy and comparative isolation, depended for amusements.

For many years he conducted a barber shop here, whereat, through industry and frugality, he acquired sufficient to purchase a home; first in Santa Monica and later in Los Angeles, in which to establish his family, until then residing in New York City. Through his prominence in politics, McGarvey had obtained a place in the street department of Los Angeles a few years ago. On account of an ailment, from which he had long been a sufferer, he had recently returned for treatment at the hospital here. His death is ascribed to "diabetic coma." He leaves a widow, one son and five daughters. One of the latter is the wife of Capt. T. A. McLaughlin, commissary sergeant of this branch. He was a native of New York, and aged 69.

NEW CAPTAIN.

John Clark, former sergeant of home company D, is promoted to the captaincy of Co. A, made vacant through the death of Maj. W. D. Graham. Louis Brenneman, late Co. C, Eighth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, is appointed sergeant of home company D, vice Clark, promoted.

George Hark, late Co. K, Thirty-fourth Ohio Infantry, a native of Ohio, admitted on March 5, 1909, from Sparks, Ariz., died at that place while on furlough, April 27, aged 64.

John A. Martin Post, G.A.R., will attend in a body Memorial services to the nation's dead, to be held in the Catholic chapel, tomorrow morning. Similar services, to be attended by John A. Martin and Uncle Sam posts, and by the local encampment of the Union Veteran Legion, will be held in the Protestant chapel, commencing at 10 o'clock a.m., on Sunday, May 30.

LONG BEACH.

SCANDAL CLIMAX VERY GREWSOME.

MAN HANGED IN EFFIGY AND IS THOROUGHLY SCARED.

Warned to Beware Lest He Wear Rope Collar—Letters Threaten Tar and Feathers—Shipping Bathing Stockings Received—Boy Injured in Skating Rink—Death Record.

LONG BEACH, May 22.—William M. Neibel had a long conference with Chief of Police Williams this morning. Unknown parties hanged him in effigy last night, in front of his office at No. 225 East First street.

The dummy, which was artistically made of broomsticks and old clothing, stuffed with hay, startled pedestrians. On the breast was a note telling Neibel to take heed lest he share the same fate, as public opinion was determined justice should be done.

The effigy was cut down and taken to police headquarters. A laundry mark on the collar furnishes a possible clew to the identity of the perpetrators of the deed.

This morning Neibel showed the Chief a number of letters which he had received, all of a threatening character. He was warned to leave town, or take the consequences. Some of the epistles hinted at a dose of tar and feathers.

Neibel is thoroughly frightened, both for himself and his second wife. The family scandal covers a period of two years. There have been a mass of charges of wrongdoing on the part of both, including false affidavits, perjury, bigamy and adultery. All have been thrashed out in the courts, and in each case, Neibel was victorious.

Recently Mrs. Neibel No. 1 became demented as a result of her worry and the frequent sight of Neibel and his second wife, as they passed her house. She wandered away from home and was found, three days later, near Redondo. She was taken in charge by relatives and has now recovered. Her friends are bitter against Neibel, and they are believed to be responsible for the letters and the effigy.

Howard Metcalf, who was alleged to have made an effort, two days ago, to kidnap his little daughter from the Carroll Park school, was seen about the school grounds again yesterday, but when Prof. Huff telephoned for the police, he disappeared. He denies desiring to abduct his daughter, and says he only wants to see her. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf, who live in Los Angeles, are separated and the court has given the mother possession of the two children.

SILK HOSE—OH, MY!

Silk bathing suits and silk stockings to match, in striking colors, have arrived. They were first introduced at Atlantic City, last summer. The swimming season has opened and flags and pennants float from bath-house and Pike standards.

Wayne Harover, 18 years old, while skating at the rink, last night, plunged against the wall and his right shoulder was dislocated and his right wrist fractured. Three years ago he fell from the tower of the Baptist Church and was so severely injured that his life was despaired of. A year ago, while swimming in the plunge, his shoulder was dislocated, and he was nearly drowned.

NO MORE DELAY.

A committee of residents on the west beach visited Contractor Calkins in Los Angeles, this morning, and received assurances that work on the $100,000 improvements would begin next week. As 90 per cent. of the property owners have signed waivers to pay their assessments if the work is completed, the contractor said the wiring and lighting proposition not covered by the Vrooman law will not hold him back. Other technicalities have also been overcome and there will be no further delay.

Dr. John Wright, 83 years of age and a resident of Long Beach for three years, died last night at his home on Appleton street. He leaves a widow and two children.

Miss Cora S. Mansfield, a trained nurse of this city, died last night in a Los Angeles hospital. She was a native of Prince Edward Island and was 37 years old.

The committee that has been working to reopen the defunct Citizens' Savings Bank has struck another "snag." Attorneys have discovered that unanimous consent of the stockholders must be obtained and that the court cannot intervene. Owners of 6 per cent. of the stock are still holding out. Another effort will be made to win them over.

REDONDO BEACH.

RAPID WORK ON BIG STRUCTURE.

NEW BATH-HOUSE TO BE READY IN THREE WEEKS.

Will Be Open to the Public Fifteen Days Earlier Than the Contract Calls for—Is Striking Example of Graceful and Pleasing Architecture.

REDONDO BEACH, May 22.—The new bath-house is rapidly nearing completion, and will be thrown open to the public, June 15, fifteen days earlier than the contract called for.

Built to harmonize with the casino and pavilion as to exterior design and finish, the bath-house is a striking example of graceful, pleasing architecture. Two hundred and seventy-eight feet long by one hundred and seven feet wide, the building is of four stories, with basement. It contains a passenger and two freight elevators conveniently arranged for service.

The building and equipment cost approximately $160,000. In addition to the plunges there are sixty-two bath tubs and 1260 dressing-rooms elaborately fitted up.

The main plunge is 70x218 feet, the depth of water ranging from two to five feet. The deep plunge is 70x30 feet of 10 foot water, while in the baby plunge the same length, water is from 1 to 2 feet deep.

The framework is practically completed, and the stucco on the exterior is now being applied. In a few days the building will be turned over to the decorators. For several weeks load after load of flat cars has run out on the temporary trestle from which a huge mass of rock has been dumped into the ocean for the breakwater. Pile-driving is now in progress to continue this to pier No. 1.

SAN DIEGO.

PUCK SAVED BY STAGE HANDS.

SPRIGHTLY MAID'S AERIAL ACT NOT ON PROGRAMME.

Novel Incident in High School Students' Splendid Production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Finding of Gold in Sand in Business Session Causes Excitement.

SAN DIEGO, May 22.—A splendidly drilled cast of High School students, last night and Friday afternoon, gave an elaborate production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to large audiences at the Garrick Theater.

Fairies, represented by 100 young girls, danced delightfully.

Isabel Bailey, a sprightly maiden, was "Puck." While she was being whirled about the stage in her aërial swing, the supports caught on the scenery and she was held in a position neither graceful nor comfortable. She did not indulge in hysterics and stage hands soon released her.

Following is the cast of principal characters: Theseus, Lafe Shaull; Egeus, William Ashe; Lysander, Verne Bogard; Demetrius, Butler Ward; Philostrate, Paul Allen; Quince, Rossen Porter; Snug, Theodore Chambers; Bottom, Paul Keen; Flute, Jack Pineburgh; Snout, Ray Ireland; Starveling, Searle Spring; Hippolyta, Ruth Pope; Hermia, Marguerite Ermann; Helena, Adeene MacNeill; Oberon, Irene Jameson; Titania, Georgia Maxwell.

DIOCESAN SCHOOL.

Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal Church, sends word from his home in Pasadena that within two weeks the buildings for a diocesan school in this city will be in course of construction. They will occupy a site at First and Redwood streets. Money to finance the enterprise has been raised. This school will be for girls, but one for boys is to be established at La Jolla.

TWO OFFICERS LEFT.

A peculiar state of affairs exists at Ft. Rosecrans. By reason of recent transfers of officers, only two are left. First Lieut. R. H. L. Williams of the Twenty-eighth Artillery was yesterday ordered to report at West Point as military instructor. Capt. Wilbur was, some time ago, ordered to Honolulu, and Lieut. Lull has also been sent elsewhere. This leaves only the commanding officer, Maj. G. W. Mitchell and Capt. Koch of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Company.

CITY EXCITED OVER GOLD.

While excavating for the elevator shaft in the basement of the new Timken building, workmen encountered and containing traces of free gold. Considerable excitement has been created over the placer find. The sand was brought from a depth of twenty-eight feet, and in a clean-up in a pan this morning, the contractor declared he secured $3 worth of metal. The strike was made at Sixth and E streets, near the business center of the city.

PURE FOOD LAW.

Accusation made against San Diego firms charging violations of the pure food laws were dismissed by the State Board of Health today, but all others were sustained and were referred to the district attorneys of the various counties for prosecution, according to a dispatch from Sacramento. Sixty-eight wholesalers and druggists were named. The various charges include using coloring matters, preservatives in sausages and meats, adulterations in pepper, mustard, preservatives in catsups, short weight in packages of vermicelli and macaroni, selling putrid canned salmon, imitation honey and cotton seed oil in olive oil. The names were disclosed.

STATION IMPROVEMENT.

Ventura Will Put in Storm Drainage System at Ventura—Citizens Want New Depot.

VENTURA, May 22.—The Southern Pacific is putting in a system of concrete storm drains to carry off waste water from the depot grounds. The depot lies at a low elevation, and storm water from Kalorama, Main and Ann streets drains right down upon it. All last winter passengers had to ford a lake to get to the trains. This flood water will be provided for by the new system. After the drains are finished the depot grounds will be parked, and an electric fountain with the legend "Ventura, the Home City," put up. The citizens and Chamber of Commerce are moving to get the Southern Pacific to put up a new depot, designed after the mission style.

Rev. Charles Scott of the local Methodist church has gone to Los Angeles to engage speakers for the summer Chautauqua here.

J. B. Westwell, a well-known resident, died at his residence in town yesterday morning at the age of 78 years. He was a widow and nine children.

Former Judge Willis of Los Angeles and H. E. Smith, clerk of his court, have gone to the Seepe on a fishing trip, escorted by M. V. Bogart of this town. Attorney of Los Angeles was also of the party.

SANTA ANA WOMAN HONORED.

City School Superintendent's Secretary Awarded Scholarship in Mills College.

SANTA ANA, May 22.—Miss Myrtle Hall, for three years secretary of City School Superintendent Cranston, has been awarded a four-year scholarship in Mills College. A few weeks ago she made application and a member of the faculty and a representative of the alumni of the college came here to make their recommendation, she received the scholarship without the usual examinations. Miss Millward is a graduate of the Santa Ana High School. The scholarship is valued at $1000.

RURAL DELIVERY CHANGES.

There will be a general readjustment of rural delivery routes out of the local office on July 1. A new route will start out from Huntington Beach and a route out of Santa Ana, El Modena and Orange, hitherto served from this office to Orange. A part of the Huntington Beach route is in new territory. Santa Ana will take in the Irvine and Tustin district, extend a route to Red Hill, take in a part of the Irvine ranch, Berrydale, the Irvine Villa tract, and a small section of Gilbert, some of which has hitherto been served by rural mail carriers. The Santa Ana routes, which serve Orange, have been rearranged and each will be given new box numbers.

[illegible] a very far cry from the tree growing in a lot to polished floor and woodwork is proven in the new residence of A. D. Bishop. He planted the eucalyptus tree more than thirty years ago. Recently, he cut it down and had it converted into lumber and milled here. The floors, interior woodwork, buffet and bookcases of the house are constructed of the wood, which has a beautiful light tan finish. Mr. Bishop is one of the leading horticulturalists of the county.

The country schools will close June 4; the city grammar schools, on June 11, and the High School, on June 25.

OFFERS SITE FOR CITY HALL.

Redlands Capitalist Willing to Give City Property on Fourth and State Streets.

REDLANDS, May 22.—Since the proposition to purchase a site and erect a City Hall at an expense of $30,000 has fallen through, the opposition being so strong and general that it was certain the bond election would fail, there has become current a report that, on certain conditions, K. C. Wells, a local capitalist and president of the telephone company, will give, free, a site at the corner of Fourth and State streets.

Concerning this Mr. Wells said today: "I have been at work for a long time upon a proposition for providing the city a site for a municipal building without cost, providing the city would erect upon it a suitable building, but when the matter of purchasing the triangle came up, I concluded to wait until that was disposed of. The site which I offer is 130 feet square and is but one block from the center of town. It is in the immediate neighborhood of the proposed new Elks building. I will put the matter before the Trustees at their June meeting."

EARLY MORNING VERDICT.

Elsinore Man Found Guilty of Having Violated Liquor Ordinance—Detective Accused.

ELSINORE, May 22.—After two days' efforts a jury was secured last evening in the case of John Robinson, Jr., accused of having violated the liquor ordinance. Attorney Frank B. Daily of San Bernardino represented the defendant and Attorney W. C. Maloy the prosecution. A motion that the case be dismissed, on the ground that the complaint was not properly drawn, was overruled by Recorder Harrison.

The trial was a brief one and the jury retired at 9 o'clock last night. At 6:15 o'clock this morning a verdict of guilty was returned. Robinson will be sentenced Monday.

The body of an unidentified man was found yesterday about ten miles from Murietta. The cause of death has not yet been ascertained.

BRIBERY CHARGED.

The charge of bribery brought by Loyis Yung of the Mission Winery against A. J. McDonald, the city's hired detective in the liquor cases now pending, will come up for hearing Wednesday afternoon.

About $20 was netted last evening at the "Old-Fashioned Social" given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church in Bank Hall. A delightful musical programme was rendered by S. J. Powell, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Miss Hazel Owen of Pomona, Miss Ivy Yates and Mr. and Mrs. Gillispie.

GRANT SCHOOL WINS.

Proves Successful by Good Margin in Track and Field Meet at Riverside.

RIVERSIDE, May 22.—The Grant school won by a good margin in the first annual track and field meet of the Riverside grammar schools held yesterday afternoon at Evans Athletic Park. The boys of the grade schools practiced for the event for weeks, and the result was so successful that a meet will be an annual feature of school athletics.

Twenty events made up the programme, including 50-yard, 100-yard, 880-yard and 220-yard dashes, baseball throw, shot put, standing broad jump, high jump, running broad jump and relay races.

The points made by the schools were: Grant, 71½; Longfellow, 46; Arlington, 17; Palm Avenue, 16; Irving, 14½; Lincoln, 11; Bryant, 2.

For a consideration in the neighborhood of $10,000, the beautiful Mason residence on the corner of Walnut and Tenth streets has been purchased by C. J. Orrick. It is a large, modern house, surrounded by well-improved grounds. The sale was made through the agency of F. J. Bohr.

A marriage license was issued by the County Clerk today to John Tucker, aged 36, a native of Kansas, and Aldora Andrews, aged 25, a native of Alabama; both residents of Los Angeles.

A marriage license has been issued at Chicago to Samuel Havensfeld, aged 21, of Joy, Ill., and Grace Godpeg, aged 18, of Riverside.

ESCONDIDO.

ESCONDIDO, May 22.—The High School will gain forty pupils from the graduations of the grammar school, which closed the term yesterday, this being the largest entering class in the history of the High School. The graduating class from the latter numbers seventeen, also the biggest. It is hoped that by the opening of the fall term at least four of the rooms of the new $18,000 building will be completed, in order to accommodate the first four grades, the others continuing in the High School building.

In June, Prof. Everett, who taught in the High School last year, and Miss Laura Fermin, teacher in the grades, in the same building, will be married.

It is estimated that the cloudy, foggy mornings of the past week or two have meant at least 25 per cent. increase in the grain and hay crop returns of the Escondido country.

EL CENTRO.

GAS PLANT IS TO BE BUILT.

WILL SUPPLY MANY IMPERIAL VALLEY CITIES.

Construction to Be Begun at Once. Ninety-seven Thousand Dollars Paid Depositors in Bank Recently Closed—Farmers' Co-operative Association to Be Formed.

EL CENTRO, May 22.—Work is to be begun next week, on the plant of the Imperial Valley Gas Company, which is to be located here. W. F. Holt is backing the enterprise. Orders for equipment were placed with eastern mills some time ago and it is expected the machinery will be here as soon as the concrete foundations are completed. The plant, which will supply not only El Centro, but other Imperial Valley cities, will be directly east of the Holton Power Company's plant.

Most of the depositors in the Valley State Bank, which was closed about a month ago by the State Bank Commissioners, have been paid during the past two days, through the First National Bank. Thursday evening $97,000 of the $140,000 of the Valley State's indebtedness had been canceled. This large amount, with the exception of $3000, was deposited in other banks.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The first commencement of the Central Union High School will be held in Holt Operahouse on the evening of June 16. One student, Miss Fern Campbell, will be graduated. Dist.-Atty. Eshleman will deliver the commencement address. It is believed that the large number of pupils graduated from the eighth grades this spring, and the natural growth of the valley's population between this time and the opening of next school year, will bring the attendance at the High School up to the 300 mark.

A meeting of farmers of Imperial Valley will be held here, Saturday, to make plans for organizing a Farmers' Co-operative Association. Its object will be the improvement of facilities for marketing valley products. The committee in charge of organization is composed of Isaac Mayfield, C. E. Sprouse and W. F. Gillett.

DAIRY INTERESTS.

Many dairy cows have been brought into the valley during the past three months from coast points, and the movement still continues. It is probable that the local dairying interests have increased one-third this spring. F. S. Davis has gone to San Diego to bring in a large herd of dairy cattle next week.

Anaheim Property Owners Decide in Favor of Paving Proposition They Recently Rejected.

ANAHEIM, May 22.—A month ago the proposal to pave portions of the principal streets of this city was opposed by owners of the larger part of the property fronting on the streets. This action tied the work up for six months so far as the city was concerned. Since then a number of business men have been able to bring about changes of opinion and today it is announced that every holder owning frontage on Center street, between Claudina and Los Angeles streets, has signed to have the paving done by contract. Every property holder on Center street, between Los Angeles and Lemon streets, has also signed a like agreement with the exception of two.

MURDERED FOR MONEY.

Woodchopper Killed at Fallbrook After Being Robbed of His Wages. Officers Have Clew.

FALLBROOK, May 22.—Missing since last Monday, the body of Julio Toledo was found about three miles from this place yesterday. A wound in the back of his head, inflicted with some blunt instrument proved him to have been murdered, and he had been robbed of $175 that he was known to have with him at the time.

He worked here as a woodchopper, and saved the amount from his wages, and at the time of his death was on the eve of returning to Mexico, where he leaves a widow and family.

Other Mexicans knew of his plans, and it is thought the crime was committed by one of them. The county officials are working on a clew that is expected to land the murderer in jail.

IS DYING FROM KNIFE THRUSTS.

MYSTERIOUS STRANGER STABS CHINO RANCHMAN.

Sheriff Thinks Victim Does Not Tell All He Knows of Affair—Fight Follows Frequent Tipping of Flask. Angelens Fears for Mining Partner on Desert.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 22.—A. E. Sproul, a Chino ranchman, is dying tonight, from three knife wounds sustained in an encounter with a stranger. Much mystery surrounds the affair. Sheriff Ralphs believes that the victim has not told all he knows and this opinion is also held by his neighbors.

Sproul said that as he was driving home from town, about 10 o'clock last night, he overtook a stranger and invited him to ride. Both tipped a flask frequently, and became intoxicated and quarrelsome.

A fight ensued and Sproul says he thrashed the other fellow, but was stabbed while doing so. Two wounds are just below the heart, and the other is in the lungs.

At Chino, yesterday, George B. Frier, proprietor of the Prince Albert Inn here, was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with deserting his minor son. He was kept in the County Jail all night, and this forenoon, discharged by Justice of the Peace Thomas, and the complaint dismissed. In some manner, officers conceived the idea that Frier had deserted his child, whereas it appears that he merely left the boy at the hotel, intending to return here, Monday, and send him to an aunt in Michigan.

FOUL PLAY FEARED.

J. J. Bates, of Los Angeles, was here, today, seeking information concerning his mining partner, J. J. Nelson, who, he says, left here last March for the desert, to expert several claims. He was accompanied by an individual whose identity is unknown. Bates fears his partner has met with foul play. Nelson is said to be a Los Angeles man also.

BREVITIES.

Lovers of antique colonial furniture, Oriental rugs, oil paintings, water colors, etchings, engravings, china, bric-a-brac and works of art, you will be interested to learn that an eastern client of our company has recently shipped the entire contents of an old New England home, expecting to remove his family to Southern California. Unforeseen circumstances have arisen which to him seem to make such a change inadvisable, and rather than repack and reship he has asked us to dispose of the property at once. The property can be seen any day, including Sunday, between 10 and 5 o'clock, at No. 1051 Westlake avenue, corner of Eleventh street. We will be pleased to have you call and inspect the property and purchase at private sale if you see fit. Anything remaining unsold on Tuesday, May 25, will be offered at public auction on that day on the premises beginning at 10 o'clock a.m. and continuing until sold by Mr. A. W. Louderback. Union Finance Company, 400 Germain building, Los Angeles, Cal. Main 3421; A3401.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect, for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compared with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

The Ville de Paris, 317-325 S. Broadway, wish to direct attention to their extensive lines of new merchandise, especially adapted to the wants of the season's graduates. Whatever your need may be in wearing apparel for the commencement season the "Ville" can fill it with great satisfaction to you, both from an economical and style standpoint. Those who have graduation gowns to buy will be particularly interested in the "Ville's" sale Monday of 35c imported French cotton batiste at 25c yard and their 45c French lawn, 40 inches wide, at 25c yard. Their line of white gloves, in either kid or silk, is complete in all lengths.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 11, part II, of The Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers, under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

Mrs. L. T. Woods, 246 S. Broadway, beginning Monday, May 24, will have her semi-annual reduction sale of millinery. Most desirable summer models, both street and dress effects, are to be found. Through the efforts of the California Audubon Society the sale of aigrettes has been prohibited after June 17. This necessitates the disposal of all hats so trimmed at much less than cost.

Ladies' tailored suits made to your measure, $35, by Mr. Louis Brand. This is a great reduction and those who are aware of the skill and art of Mr. Brand will take advantage of this inducement. He is well known for making gowns up like "Parisian fashion plates." Patrons furnishing their own material will receive prompt attention. Louis Brand, 414½ So. Broadway.

Individuality and becomingness combined with reasonable prices are the chief features in Mme. Coe's (formerly of Minneapolis) hats. As Emerson said: "Do a thing incomparably well and the world will beat a path to your door, tho' you live in a forest." This is the reason ladies of discrimination go to Mme. Coe, 444 S. Broadway, room 613.

Farm Lands In San Pedro Harbor Country

Where Money Will Multiply

Secure the lands now, while the prices are low. Realize on the great value advances of the future. All past development in suburban and seaside places sinks into insignificance when compared with the progress certain at San Pedro. Millions of public, corporation and private capital will be spent in harbor, marine and municipal improvements. Every dollar of this vast investment will tend to enhance all surrounding values. Lomita farm lands will feel the impetus and respond with a rising tide of values. The lands, great already for all fruit, farm and vegetable purposes, will be greater still for commercial, mercantile or manufacturing purposes. Every purchaser will make big money on the advance.

Get In Now for Fine Farm Lands

$375 An Acre and Up

Terms very easy and inviting. Some single acres adjacent to the townsite for $375 and $400, at $10 down and $10 a month. Remember that Lomita is only 100 feet from the shoe-string strip only a short distance from the Bixby Slough and ship-canal, and has the electric line at Weston street. WITH SUPERFLUOUS HAIR ON THE FACE, ARMS, HANDS, NECK, EYEBROWS AND BUST.
We make a specialty of removing superfluous hair, moles, warts, birth marks and guarantee our work absolutely.
REMEMBER—We use the latest scientific FIVE NEEDLE method so extensively used in the East, and remove 250 to 300 hairs per hour, while no operator using only one needle can remove over 60 per hour and do good work. We have tried it for years.
REMEMBER—We guarantee to kill every hair we treat, and should any return we will gladly remove them FREE OF CHARGE and thank you for the privilege of doing so. Try it; it's your only hope.
REMEMBER—The same number of hairs we remove, costing you $15, would cost you $25 elsewhere. Treatment will convince you how quickly we do it. NO PAIN, NO SCAR—this we guarantee.
REMEMBER—Your face is getting worse daily. Pulling, cutting and depilatories only increase the growth. A talk with us will do no harm. Consultation free.

TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:
Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.
Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line is a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.
Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.
The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE LINERS—
Classified real estate advertisements for insertion in THE SUNDAY TIMES must be in the office not later than 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Other "want" advertisements for Sunday issue will be taken over the counter until 11:30 p.m.
The great volume of liners printed in The Sunday Times, supplying regularly over 77,000 separate announcements, makes this regulation absolutely necessary in order to get the big Sunday issue out on time.

PROF. W. E. KING, Los Angeles' celebrated psychic, is permanently located here. His honesty, test of time and 33 years' continuous practice as a psychic have proved beyond all doubt that PROF. W. E. KING is the leader of his profession.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.
Never before in the history of occult science has a man of PROF. W. E. KING'S professional standing consented to place his services at the disposal of the public for such a nominal consideration. Realising that this city has been overrun with pretenders and that many of its citizens are anxious to visit a genuine psychic PROF. W. E. KING has decided to place his consultation fee within the reach of all.

EXTRAORDINARY PSYCHIC POWER, combined with his superior knowledge of occult force, enables him to guide human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age; his powers are wonderful and indisputable; his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise and to the point; will tell you every hope, fear, ambition, better than you could tell it yourself.

"Arise! Throw off thy shackles!" Exchange sorrow for joy, darkness for light. "Be master of your own destiny."

SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS, pointed out to all. The grand results produced by those who have consulted W. E. King is positive proof of his superior power to reveal the mysteries of the future. When truth is revealed, as it always is when they consult the peer of all life readers, the universal expression is, I am satisfied and happy since I consulted W. E. King.

Call and he will guide you with certainty higher than human power; tells you the truth, good or bad.

FROM LILLIAN RUSSELL, THE WELLKNOWN ACTRESS.
I was greatly impressed with PROF. W. E. KING'S reading. His powers are truly marvelous. He develops in one some force that enables them to attract people, to interest them, and to please them to their good and to your advantage without the least effort on one's part. His advice and assistance have been of great benefit to me.

FROM A PROMINENT MINISTER.
I desire to bear evidence to the genuineness of PROF. W. E. KING'S work. God gives to us an intuition whereby we may guide our lives. That PROF. W. E. KING possesses this guiding power to a marvelous degree is evident. The fact that his clients are his warmest and truest friends is alone a tribute to his sincerity and honest methods in dealing with all. He has rendered me immeasurable assistance. Rev. W. C. Jessup.

FROM M. ROTHSCHILD, THE WELLKNOWN FINANCIER.
For the past five years PROF. W. E. KING'S advice and assistance has been of great benefit to me. I have tested nearly every psychic in this country, and find PROF. W. E. KING'S advice reliable and far superior to any that I have ever met.

To Whom It May Concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. W. E. KING, as a psychic of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental psychicship. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his services.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,
203½ S. SPRING, NEAR THIRD ST.
EXPERT ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST.
A resident of Los Angeles 25 years.
PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The HOROSCOPE, calculated from the PLANETS at your birth, will show what a powerful influence they have in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, domestic affairs, financial affairs, your environments; tells about children, when and where to travel; what to seek and what to avoid; when in danger of illness, accidents, death, losses, troubles, etc., and your good periods coming—GIVING DATES OF THESE EVENTS FOR THE FUTURE. In fact, the HOROSCOPE gives ACCURATE AND RELIABLE information on ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. He read E. H. Sothern, Frederick Wards, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, Lillian Russell, Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Madjeska, Nordica, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, Daniel Sully, and hundreds of others.
PROF. ALTHOUSE'S Perfect PALMISTRY, and WITH EACH PALM READING GIVES ALSO AN ASTROLOGICAL READING.
Puffnit, actress, writes and says: "Everything has turned out just as you predicted, when reading my hand and Horoscope. YOU ARE WONDERFUL, and I cannot express myself of what I think about your WONDERFUL TRUE READINGS."
MME. BALDWIN writes: "The Horoscope you wrote for me is absolutely CORRECT. My friend, MME. NORDICA, the singer, first showed me her Horoscope, and recommended your work to me. Inclosed find check for four more Horoscopes—all friends of mine."
PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of horoscopes and hand reading has brought him a large and successful practice. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances.
Highest grade of work that attention, skill and experience can produce; therefore, HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
Beware, however, of HUMBUG READERS. Daily and evening. Sunday 10 to 2.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,)
by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND-READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.
The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines, that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THE INFORMATION.
PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.
Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.
MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.
HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
(Daily and evenings; Sundays, 9 to 3.) 23

PERSONAL—TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS:
Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday.
Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.
Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.
The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

Danderine

EVERYBODY CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR NOW, and they don't have to wait weeks and months for results either. You will notice marked improvement after the very first application.

Danderine is quickly and thoroughly absorbed by the scalp and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities. It is pleasant and easy to use—simply apply it to the scalp and hair once a day until the hair begins to grow, then two or three times a week till desired results are obtained.

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from California writes in substance as follows:
I have been using your wonderful hair tonic for several months and at last I am now blessed with a wonderful suit of hair that measures over 45 inches in length; the braid is over 8 inches around.

Another from New Jersey:
After using sixth bottle I am happy to say that I have as nice a head of hair as anyone in New Jersey.

This Great Hair-Growing Remedy can now be had at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Cut This Out

Free To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

WISE TALKS
BY THE "OFFICE BOY"

This is my creed: To do some good,
To bear my ills without complaining,
To press on as a brave man should
For honors that are worth the gaining;
To seek no profits where I may
By winning them bring grief to others,
To do some service day by day
In helping on my toiling brothers.

This is my creed: To close my eyes
To little faults of those around me;
To strive to be when each day dies
Some better than the morning found me;
To ask for no unearned applause,
To cross no river till I reach it;
To always have a worthy cause,
To fearlessly and fairly preach it.

This is my creed: To wisely shun
The sloughs in which the foolish wallow,
To lead where I may be the one
Whom weaker men should choose to follow,
To keep my standards always high,
To find my task and bravely do it;
This is my creed—I wish that I
Could even live half way up to it.

New things come to him who wishes. All things come to him who works. I was just figuring it up the other day—when I go on my vacation June 1st, and my little "Wise Talk" goes in the papers on May 31st it will make just 456 that I have written in succession—one for each day for the past fifteen months without a miss or a hitch. The Old Man says I have a good vacation coming, so he's going to give me seven or eight weeks. I'm going to fish, sail, climb mountains and have all the fun I can crowd into those happy weeks and I expect to come back chock full of creative power and originality with a stock of brand new ideas. I'll miss my little visit with you every day and I hope you'll miss me. Any of the boys in the stores will tell you how I'm getting along and I want you to call in the stores often, because if there ever was a bunch of high-class fellows, they're the chaps in the Silverwood stores. A letter addressed to "Silverwood's Office Boy" will always reach me. Either store.

What Newbro's Herpicide has done for others it may do for you

CLARENCE HAMILTON

"Enclosed you will find a recent photograph of myself, showing the growth of my hair since beginning the use of your Herpicide. Before using Herpicide, the top of my head was completely bald, but the use of only two bottles has brought a new growth of hair. I had spent between $200 and $50 on other remedies, but failed to derive any benefit until using your Herpicide. I cannot commend this remedy too highly to any with dandruff, baldness or falling hair."
(Signed)
CLARENCE HAMILTON.
Atlanta Police Department, Atlanta, Georgia.

WHILE CHRONIC BALDNESS is incurable, many cases of primary or incipient baldness have been completely overcome with Newbro's Herpicide, the original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." Of course, the rational plan is to save the hair while there is hair to save, but even after it is gone there is a "fighting chance" if the hair follicles are not atrophied. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp instantly.

Send 10 cents in stamps to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 20, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet. One dollar bottles guaranteed. At Leading Stores. When you call for Herpicide, do not accept a substitute. Applications at prominent Barber Shops.

Millionaire Missourian Tries to Spite "Drys."

Serves Free Beer to All Who Come for Year.

Is Forced to Admit His Experiment a Failure.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLASGOW (Mo.) May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To spite the prohibitionists who carried this county "dry," John Morrison Fuller, a millionaire bank president, opened a personal liberty hall and for twelve months served free beer to all who came, and as much of it as they desired to drink at any time except Sundays.

Each week day for the past year his place was open. No restrictions were placed upon the consumption of the beer; it was as free as the water that flowed in the Missouri River past the town. As a lure for men to come and drink and as an enticement for them to linger long and drink more, the room where free beer flowed had an equipment of easy chairs and settees, and a long table with the late newspapers and magazines.

Two white men and a negro in white uniforms kept the beer mugs clean and tapped a fresh keg when the one in the ice box ran dry. In the whole year there was never a drought, never a lack of beer. After a year of this free dispensation of beer, Mr. Morrison Fuller has closed Personal Liberty Hall.

"I must admit my experiment was somewhat of a failure," the millionaire says. "I fancied I could educate the people to a spirit of resentment against the laws that were depriving them of their liberties to eat and drink what they chose. But I found that they did not care. They are spineless slaves."

For the rent of his Personal Liberty Hall, its furnishings, the beer and the service, Mr. Morrison Fuller paid something like $7000 in the year. The beer alone cost him $80 a week.

LONG NAME; GOOD PURPOSE.

Federation of State Provincial Societies of Southern California Formed. Its Objects.

"Federation of State and Provincial Societies of Southern California" was the official name chosen for the combined State societies of this section by leaders of the various organizations, who met in the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday afternoon. Officers will be elected on July 12, after the nominating committee, consisting of Newton J. Skinner, Mrs. J. Swigart, William D. Gould, Dr. G. B. Speer, E. E. Overholtzer, M. M. Davidson and J. A. Williams, has made its report.

The adoption of a constitution for the federation was one of the features of yesterday's session. The objects of consolidation are stated to be the furtherance of sociability, the obtaining of historical data, and the promotion of patriotism and fraternalism.

Each State society will be represented in the federation by five delegates, who shall hold annual, or semi-annual meetings for the welfare of the organization.

The offer of quarters in the Chamber of Commerce building for the use of the federation was accepted and tables will be placed in one corner of the exhibit room, where visitors from different States can register and locate former residents of their home towns who are now living in Los Angeles.

Waldo M. York presided yesterday, and C. H. Parsons acted as secretary.

BREACH IS BRIDGED.

EL PASO, May 22.—Official information has been received here that one of the more recent causes of friction between the republics of Mexico and Honduras, the violation of the Mexican Consulate at Tegucigalpa a few weeks ago by Honduran soldiers, has been smoothed over. President Davilla of Honduras has apologized to Mexico for the act of his soldiers, and no further trouble is anticipated. The Honduran troops invaded the Mexican Consulate to arrest a fugitive.

Sale of Furniture of Unusual Importance

Lovers of antique colonial furniture, Oriental rugs, oil paintings, water colors, etchings, engravings, china, bric-a-brac, and works of art will be interested to learn that an Eastern client of our company has recently shipped the entire contents of an old New England home, expecting to remove his family to Southern California. Unforeseen circumstances have arisen which to him seem to make such a change inadvisable, and rather than repack and reship he has asked us to dispose of the property at once. The property can be seen any day, including Sunday, between 10 and 5, at 1051 Westlake avenue, corner of 11th street. We will be pleased to have you call and inspect the property and purchase at private sale if you see fit. Anything remaining unsold on Tuesday, May 25th, will be offered at public auction on that day on the premises beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until sold by Mr. A. W. Louderback.

FIVE RECORDS ARE BROKEN.

Cornell Wins Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta.

Cuts One-fifth Second Off Time Made by Yale.

Weather Makes Conditions Very Unpleasant.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Five American records were broken in the annual regatta of the American Rowing Association that was held on the Schuylkill River course this afternoon.

Cornell won the two-mile intercollegiate race, covering the course in 6m. 26 4-5s., and beating by 1-5 of a second the record made by Yale last year.

The weather conditions were very unfavorable. When the first event was pulled off the wind was blowing twenty-five miles an hour and a heavy rain was falling. A temperature of forty-nine degrees added to the discomfort.

Durando Miller, of the New York Athletic Club, clipped two-fifths of a second off the record of 8m. 5s. for the single sculls made by himself last year. The crew of the Harlem A. C. won the first double-shells event in 7m. 14s., 13 1-5s. better than the time made by the New York A. C. boat last year.

The entries for the regatta were among the best ever received by the association. Despite the miserable weather, thousands of persons lined the course in crafts of various kinds. The banks were packed at the start and finish. The results:

First single sculls—Won by Durando Miller, New York A. C.; second, Walter Stokes, University Boat Club, Philadelphia; time, 8m. 4 2-5s. This breaks the record of 8m. 5s. made by Miller in 1908, and Jesse Williamson, second, Philadelphia, in 1905.

Quadruple sculls—Won by New York A. C. (Rivas, Tracey, Gibbons, Quinn;) second, Manayunk B. C., Philadelphia (Saith, Gillespie, Kelly, Santman;) time, 7m. 22s.

First four-oared shells—Won by Arundel Boat Club Baltimore (Hoos, Stoll, Oehrl, Packer,) second; New York Athletic Club; third, University Boat Club, Philadelphia; time, 7m. 5 2-5s. This lowers the record by 2 1-5s.

First double shells—Won by Harlem A. C., New York; second, New York A. C.; third, University B. C., Philadelphia; fourth, Dunham R. C., New Haven; time, 7m. 14s. The former record was 7m. 28 4-5s., made by New York A. C., in 1908.

Second eight-oared shells—Won by University of Pennsylvania freshmen (Bell, DeLong, Mulford, Barrett, Pryor, Shoemaker, Alexander, Reath, Williams coxswain;) second, Georgetown freshmen; time 6m. 42 1-5s. Two starters.

Second single sculls—Won by J. A. Miller, New York Athletic Club; second, Hayward (Nassau, B. C., New York;) third, Hoffman (University B. C., Philadelphia;) time 8m. 4 2-5s. Former record was 8:27 2-5, made by William Mehrhoff, New York, in 1908.

Second Octopeds—Won by Metropolitan B. C., New York; second, Crescent B. C., Philadelphia; time 6m. 45s. Two starters.

Second four-oared shells—Won by Harlem R. C., New York (Fuessell, McLaughlin, Sheppard, Steinkamp;) second, Ariel R. C., Baltimore; time 7m. 14 2-5s. Two starters.

Intercollegiate races—Won by Cornell; second, Harvard; third, University of Pennsylvania; time 6m. 26 4-5s. Cornell's time broke the record of 6m. 27s. made by Yale in the Association's regatta held last year. Cornell's crew was made up as follows: Seagrave, bow; Aitchison, Stimson, Kelley, Names, Day, Sutton, Weed, stroke; Wurst, coxswain.

Interscholastic eight-oared shells—Won by Central High School, Philadelphia; second, City College, Baltimore; time 6m. 52 2-5s.

First pair-oared shells—Won by Nonpareil Athletic Club, New York; second, Undine B. C., Philadelphia; time 7m. 7s.

First eight-oared shells—Won by Harvard University junior eight; second, Malta B. C., Philadelphia; time 6m. 26 3-5s.

DARTMOUTH WINNER.

BOSTON, May 22.—Dartmouth won today's New England intercollegiate track meet with 32½ points. Massachusetts Institute of Technology was second with 27 points; Williams third, 24 points; Bowdoin fourth, 20 points.

MANY PURCHASE NEW MOTOR CARS.

Based on the number of automobile licenses issued during the month of April more than twice as many autos were purchased in Los Angeles as in San Francisco. The list for Los Angeles totals 204 as against 95 for the Bay City. This record is remarkable.

All of the dealers in Los Angeles report brisk sales for last month. Their record for previous years is smashed in every instance and has been doubled by some of the agencies. The automobile industry was never on a sounder basis than it is at the present in Los Angeles.

Cars are being purchased by Angelenos, and representatives of all makes of machines are enjoying the prosperity. It is hard to distinguish between the high-priced and low-priced car sales.

Taking Bakersfield as a center there have been more automobiles sold in the northern field than in Southern California. This basis gives the North a much larger territory, however. There were 385 machines sold in Bakersfield and the North against 229 cars sold south of the Bakersfield line.

TAKE TO THE BRINY.

FAIR MAIDS ENTERED IN SWIMMING RACES.

THE longest race for women swimmers ever pulled off in Southern California is to be held about the middle of June over a course extending from the Long Wharf at Port Los Angeles to the Venice Pier, a distance of more than five miles.

This race is the longest that has as yet been scheduled for the summer season, but the programmes of women's aquatics planned at the various beach resorts are more extensive than ever before. Venice has scheduled at least ten water programmes, and on every card are included events for the women swimmers.

Opening day on June 20, Independence Day, Venice Elks' Day on July 17, Labor Day and Admission Day will be the dates of the more important Venice carnivals, while the regular annual aquatic carnival of the Southern California Swimming Association will take place at Naples on July 4.

The race from the Long Wharf to Venice is at present exciting the most interest among the women swimmers at the various beaches and already eight entries have been received, among the women who at present plan to negotiate the long distance is Mrs. Emma Newkirk Willis of Santa Monica, who won the prize as the most perfect woman at Madison Square Garden physical culture show two years ago. Since that time Mrs. Willis has made a considerable record as a walker, runner and swimmer.

Mrs. Willis's sister, Miss Dorothy Newkirk, will also enter the race and the rivalry between the two is keen. At present, Miss Dorothy has the better of her sister in the matter of records, but according to her own statement she is much afraid that her honors will be taken from her this year. Miss Newkirk won the race last year from the Bristol pier to the Venice breakwater, a distance of more than two miles, as well as capturing first in the fifty-yard dash at the Naples carnival on last Fourth of July. In addition to being an excellent swimmer, Miss Newkirk is a diver of no mean ability and has among her collection of medals several trophies won in this branch of aquatics.

Mrs. Avis Gordon of Santa Monica, who is second only to Miss Dorothy Newkirk as a swimmer, has also entered the long race. Miss Gordon was Miss Newkirk's companion in the Bristol Pier to Venice race last summer and finished but a few yards behind her companion. It has been the almost daily custom for these two girls to swim from the Venice bathhouse out around the breakwater and back to the shore.

The Sheffield sisters of Venice, Jean and Lyba, who have been noticeable during the last few seasons for their daring in the water, will also enter the "water Marathon," as will Miss Jean Lindsay of Venice, Miss Ruth Giffen and Miss Gladys Rodda of Ocean Park. Although none of these women have attained the racing fame of Miss Newkirk and Miss Gordon, they are well known to all the regulars at the Venice and Ocean Park beaches because of their showing in the various im-

HAMMER SLIPS; HITS PROFESSOR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) May 22.—In the hammer throw of the State High School meet here today, Conwell of Van Buren threw a hammer which struck Prof. B. M. Hoak of Purdue, one of the judges, in the abdomen. He was knocked down, and is in a serious condition.

NO GO.

Y. M.C.A. MEET IS CALLED OFF.

SOUTHERN TEAMS UNABLE TO GET TOGETHER.

Each Association Has Some Fear That Another May Have Advantage and Contests for Southern California Are Not to Be Held. Baseball Activities.

The annual gymnasium and indoor athletic competitions for the Y.M.C.A. State championships are not to be held this year. The original intention was to hold the contests at the annual State convention of the Y.M.C.A. at Sacramento, but the place was changed to Southern California and Physical Director Reynolds of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. was authorized to make arrangements for the tournament with the Y.M.C.A. branches in the south.

Reynolds tried to get the Pasadena, Long Beach and Orange branches to enter the championships, but there was "nothing doing." The lack of first-class gymnasts was the reason given by Long Beach and Pasadena for not agreeing to enter the proposed tournament. They claimed that five-man teams were out of the question, and that it would even be impossible to get together enough material for three-man competitions. Pasadena won the State championship last year, but two of the three members are not now in training.

Mastovich, who won the individual Y.M.C.A. State gymnasium championship last year, and Pereine, Van Fosen and Deets, have ben training in preparation for the State championships, and are to enter the Southern California championship tournament that will be held at the Y.M.C.A., June 5. Los Angeles High School and Polytechnic High School are to enter teams in this contest.

Physical Director Reynolds is to consult with Long Beach Y.M.C.A. and Pasadena Y.M.C.A. regarding a relay tournament carnival, which he hopes to pull off at Fiesta Stadium next month. He plans to have as a feature a Marathon race, in which twenty-seven teams will compete, and mile, two-mile and five-mile races are to be run. College and high-school athletes will be invited to enter the carnival if the Y.M.C.A. branches decide to promote it.

It is probable that the proposed basketball game between Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. and Orange Y.M.C.A. for the championship of the State will not be played. The local branch has refused to play on the Orange court on account of its small size and the State Basketball Committee has not issued further instructions.

The local Y.M.C.A. probably will enter a team in the amateur baseball league that is now being organized and which will be under the direct jurisdiction of the local commission of the Amateur Athletic Union. Physical Director Reynolds approves of the plan, if no Sunday games are played and if the sport is conducted on a strictly amateur basis.

Water polo is becoming popular among the Y.M.C.A. tank men, and next year a team probably will be formed for the purpose of competing with amateur teams. The lack of experienced players will make it impossible to organize a proficient team this year. Swimming also is coming to the front among the Y.M.C.A. athletes, and some entries may be made in the championship tournament in July.

RACES AT SALT LAKE.

Large Crowd of Suckers See First Day's Sport—Booger Red Wins Feature Event.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SALT LAKE, May 22.—Before a crowd of over 6000 persons the Utah Jockey Club instituted its spring meeting here this afternoon. There were fourteen bookmakers in line and the betting was spirited.

The big event of the programme was the Cullen Handicap, with four starters. Booger Red ran to form and was the winner, with Ethel Day contesting every foot of the way. Results:

Six furlongs: Billy Myers won, Galvanic second, Dollie Dollars third; time, 1:17. Spring Ban, Lassen, Coppers, Dorothy Ann, Velma C., Calahan and Phalanx also ran.

Four furlongs: Minnidocia won, Genova second, Graham third; time, 0:50 3-5. O. K., Horndon, Good Money, Lady Panchita, La Dextra, Grahame and Biased also ran.

Five furlongs: Hereafter won, John H. Sheehan second, Yaloski third; time, 1:02 2-5. Nagazam, La Reine Hindoo, Hazlett, Light Knight and Valencia also ran.

Cullen Handicap, six furlongs: Booger Red won, Ethel Day second, Blagg third. Boggs also ran.

Six furlongs: Gossiper II won, Bonton second, Martimas third; time, 1:17. Fred Bent, Toller, Elmdale and Esther M. also ran.

Mile: Buckthorne won, Workbox second, Aunt Kit third; time, 1:45 4-5. George Guyton, No Rule and Ak Sar Ben also ran.

MAROONS ARE WINNERS.

Chicago University Beats Engineers in Annual Dual Track Meet. Crawley Excels.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MARSHALL FIELD (Chicago) May 22.—Chicago defeated Purdue by the score of 72 to 54 in a well contested track meet today. Crawley of Chicago was the star of the afternoon, scoring 21 points.

Purdue won the 220-yard dash, discus throw, one-mile run, 440-yard run and the 100-yard dash.

Chicago won the 880-yard run, two-mile run, shot put, the 120-yard high hurdles event, the pole vault and the 220-yard low hurdles.

Lozier, Franklin, National Enter Big Event.

Small Car Race Should Prove Intensely Interesting.

For the first time in the history of automobile racing in the West six-cylinder cars are to be pitted against each other on a circular track. Three cars, entered in the six-hour automobile race at Ascot Park a week from tomorrow, have made better than sixty miles an hour on the course, the Franklin "Greyhound" with Ralph Hamlin as driver, the Lozier, entered by Marsh & Fennimore, and the National "Six" entered by the National Motor Car Company.

Charles Michener, a driver who has had experience in some of the greatest racing contests in America, will drive the Lozier. His driving should do much for this fast car. He will have to defeat the National and the Franklin as well as the other classy entries all of whom will try to better his time.

In the smaller event is the Cadillac entered by the Lee Motor Car Company; the Pope-Hartford, Ruess Motor Car Company; Mitchell, Greer-Robbins Company; Studebaker, Lord Motor Car Company; the Kisselkar, Leon T. Shettler; Auburn, Schwaebe-Atkinson Motor Car Company.

There will be handsome cups for both races and the struggle between the different cars should be thrilling. In the small car race the rivalry is to be particularly keen as the quintette of speedsters should make excellent time and all are fast.

In the big event the Lozier National and Franklin should make a race that will be worth going far to see. These fast cars will turn as high as a sixty-six mile clip on the turns and will make seventy miles on the straightaways.

The flyers will be sent away together for the dash over the course and the six-hour run should prove a thrilling spectacle as the drivers will send their cars through as fast as possible.

Two handsome trophies have been hung up for the two races. There will be cups for each event. The races will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and will finish at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The restrictions as to the two classes are for cars over $3000 and those selling for less than $3000.

There are to be no restrictions as to drivers or stripping of cars. The machines will roll unto the track tuned to racing pitch and ready for a speed demonstration that should satisfy the most ardent speed maniac.

SINSABAUGH IS ARRANGING FINAL DETAILS.

Summer Season to Open With Tournament at Venice in June. Weekly Practice Matches to Be Held by All Southern Players. Interscholastic Boys to the Front.

Final arrangements for the men's doubles tennis tournament for the championship of the Pacific Coast, which is to be held at Long Beach beginning July 1, probably will be completed this week.

S. M. Sinsabaugh, secretary of the Southern California Lawn Tennis Association, has written to the tennis authorities in the North regarding entries and the details of the tournament and he expects to be able to give full information before the end of this week.

The men's doubles competitions will be the most important tennis tournament ever held in the South. It is expected that all the crack players on the Coast will compete, and the winners will represent the Pacific Coast in the preliminaries of the national championships at Chicago in August.

The local summer tennis season is to open with a tournament at Venice, beginning June 21. Weekly practice matches of various kinds are being held by the local players for the purpose of getting in condition for the long series of competitions.

Gerald Young, who was one of the best players in the South three years ago, has returned from England and he will compete in the summer tournaments.

Winne Mace, Ward Dawson and the Rogers brothers are among the younger players who are expected to come to the front this season. They have about outgrown the junior class in which they were invincible as interscholastic players, and they undoubtedly will give the senior players a tussle.

FIVE RECORDS ARE BROKEN.

Cornell Wins Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta.

Cuts One-fifth Second Off Time Made by Yale.

Weather Makes Conditions Very Unpleasant.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Five American records were broken in the annual regatta of the American Rowing Association that was held on the Schuylkill River course this afternoon.

Cornell won the two-mile intercollegiate race, covering the course in 6m. 26 4-5s., and beating by 1-5 of a second the record made by Yale last year.

The weather conditions were very unfavorable. When the first event was pulled off the wind was blowing twenty-five miles an hour and a heavy rain was falling. A temperature of forty-nine degrees added to the discomfort.

Durando Miller, of the New York Athletic Club, clipped two-fifths of a second off the record of 8m. 5s. for the single sculls made by himself last year. The crew of the Harlem A. C. won the first double-shells event in 7m. 14s., 13 1-5s. better than the time made by the New York A. C. boat last year.

The entries for the regatta were among the best ever received by the association. Despite the miserable weather, thousands of persons lined the course in crafts of various kinds. The banks were packed at the start and finish. The results:

First single sculls—Won by Durando Miller, New York A. C.; second, Walter Stokes, University Boat Club, Philadelphia; time, 8m. 4 2-5s. This breaks the record of 8m. 5s. made by Miller in 1908, and Jesse Williamson, second, Philadelphia, in 1905.

Quadruple sculls—Won by New York A. C. (Rivas, Tracey, Gibbons, Quinn;) second, Manayunk B. C., Philadelphia (Saith, Gillespie, Kelly, Santman;) time, 7m. 22s.

First four-oared shells—Won by Arundel Boat Club Baltimore (Hoos, Stoll, Oehrl, Packer,) second; New York Athletic Club; third, University Boat Club, Philadelphia; time, 7m. 5 2-5s. This lowers the record by 2 1-5s.

First double shells—Won by Harlem A. C., New York; second, New York A. C.; third, University B. C., Philadelphia; fourth, Dunham R. C., New Haven; time, 7m. 14s. The former record was 7m. 28 4-5s., made by New York A. C., in 1908.

Second eight-oared shells—Won by University of Pennsylvania freshmen (Bell, DeLong, Mulford, Barrett, Pryor, Shoemaker, Alexander, Reath, Williams coxswain;) second, Georgetown freshmen; time 6m. 42 1-5s. Two starters.

Second single sculls—Won by J. A. Miller, New York Athletic Club; second, Hayward (Nassau, B. C., New York;) third, Hoffman (University B. C., Philadelphia;) time 8m. 4 2-5s. Former record was 8:27 2-5, made by William Mehrhoff, New York, in 1908.

Second Octopeds—Won by Metropolitan B. C., New York; second, Crescent R. C., Philadelphia; time 6m. 45s. Two starters.

Second four-oared shells—Won by Harlem R. C., New York (Fuessell, McLaughlin, Sheppard, Steinkamp;) second, Ariel R. C., Baltimore; time 7m. 14 2-5s. Two starters.

Intercollegiate races—Won by Cornell; second, Harvard; third, University of Pennsylvania; time 6m. 26 4-5s. Cornell's time broke the record of 6m. 27s. made by Yale in the Association's regatta held last year. Cornell's crew was made up as follows: Seagrave, bow; Aitchison, Stimson, Kelley, Names, Day, Sutton, Weed, stroke; Wurst, coxswain.

Interscholastic eight-oared shells—Won by Central High School, Philadelphia; second, City College, Baltimore; time 6m. 52 2-5s.

First pair-oared shells—Won by Nonpareil Athletic Club, New York; second, Undine B. C., Philadelphia; time 7m. 7s.

First eight-oared shells—Won by Harvard University junior eight; second, Malta B. C., Philadelphia; time 6m. 36 3-5s.

DARTMOUTH WINNER.

BOSTON, May 22.—Dartmouth won today's New England intercollegiate track meet with 32½ points. Massachusetts Institute of Technology was second with 27 points; Williams third, 24 points; Bowdoin fourth, 20 points.

MANY PURCHASE NEW MOTOR CARS.

Based on the number of automobile licenses issued during the month of April more than twice as many autos were purchased in Los Angeles as in San Francisco. The list for Los Angeles totals 204 as against 95 for the Bay City. This record is remarkable.

All of the dealers in Los Angeles report brisk sales for last month. Their record for previous years is smashed in every instance and has been doubled by some of the agencies. The automobile industry was never on a sounder basis than it is at the present in Los Angeles.

Cars are being purchased by Angelenos, and representatives of all makes of machines are enjoying the prosperity. It is hard to distinguish between the high-priced and low-priced car sales.

Taking Bakersfield as a center there have been more automobiles sold in the northern field than in Southern California. This basis gives the North a much larger territory, however. There were 385 machines sold in Bakersfield and the North against 229 cars sold south of the Bakersfield line.

TAKE TO THE BRINY.

FAIR MAIDS ENTERED IN SWIMMING RACES.

THE longest race for women swimmers ever pulled off in Southern California is to be held about the middle of June over a course extending from the Long Wharf at Port Los Angeles to the Venice Pier, a distance of more than five miles.

This race is the longest that has as yet been scheduled for the summer season, but the programmes of women's aquatics planned at the various beach resorts are more extensive than ever before. Venice has scheduled at least ten water programmes, and on every card are included events for the women swimmers.

Opening day on June 20, Independence Day, Venice Elks' Day on July 17, Labor Day and Admission Day will be the dates of the more important Venice carnivals, while the regular annual aquatic carnival of the Southern California Swimming Association will take place at Naples on July 4.

The race from the Long Wharf to Venice is at present exciting the most interest among the women swimmers at the various beaches and already eight entries have been received, among the women who at present plan to negotiate the long distance is Mrs. Emma Newkirk Willis of Santa Monica, who won the prize as the most perfect woman at Madison Square Garden physical culture show two years ago. Since that time Mrs. Willis has made a considerable record as a walker, runner and swimmer.

Mrs. Willis's sister, Miss Dorothy Newkirk, will also enter the race and the rivalry between the two is keen. At present, Miss Dorothy has the better of her sister in the matter of records, but according to her own statement she is much afraid that her honors will be taken from her this year. Miss Newkirk won the race last year from the Bristol pier to the Venice breakwater, a distance of more than two miles, as well as capturing first in the fifty-yard dash at the Naples carnival on last Fourth of July. In addition to being an excellent swimmer, Miss Newkirk is a diver of no mean ability and has among her collection of medals several trophies won in this branch of aquatics.

Mrs. Avis Gordon of Santa Monica, who is second only to Miss Dorothy Newkirk as a swimmer, has also entered the long race. Miss Gordon was Miss Newkirk's companion in the Bristol Pier to Venice race last summer and finished but a few yards behind her companion. It has been the almost daily custom for these two girls to swim from the Venice bathhouse out around the breakwater and back to the shore.

The Sheffield sisters of Venice, Jean and Lyba, who have been noticeable during the last few seasons for their daring in the water, will also enter the "water Marathon," as will Miss Jean Lindsay of Venice, Miss Ruth Giffen and Miss Gladys Rodda of Ocean Park. Although none of these women have attained the racing fame of Miss Newkirk and Miss Gordon, they are well known to all the regulars at the Venice and Ocean Park beaches because of their showing in the various im-

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) May 22.—In the hammer throw of the State High School meet here today, Conwell of Van Buren threw a hammer which struck Prof. B. M. Hoak of Purdue, one of the judges, in the abdomen. He was knocked down, and is in a serious condition.

Y. M.C.A. MEET IS CALLED OFF.

SOUTHERN TEAMS UNABLE TO GET TOGETHER.

Each Association Has Some Fear That Another May Have Advantage and Contests for Southern California Are Not to Be Held. Baseball Activities.

The annual gymnasium and indoor athletic competitions for the Y.M.C.A. State championships are not to be held this year. The original intention was to hold the contests at the annual State convention of the Y.M.C.A. at Sacramento, but the place was changed to Southern California and Physical Director Reynolds of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. was authorized to make arrangements for the tournament with the Y.M.C.A. branches in the south.

Reynolds tried to get the Pasadena, Long Beach and Orange branches to enter the championships, but there was "nothing doing." The lack of first-class gymnasts was the reason given by Long Beach and Pasadena for not agreeing to enter the proposed tournament. They claimed that five-man teams were out of the question, and that it would even be impossible to get together enough material for three-man competitions. Pasadena won the State championship last year, but two of the three members are not now in training.

Mastovich, who won the individual Y.M.C.A. State gymnasium championship last year, and Pereine, Van Fosen and Deets, have been training in preparation for the State championships, and are to enter the Southern California championship tournament that will be held at the Y.M.C.A., June 5. Los Angeles High School and Polytechnic High School are to enter teams in this contest.

Physical Director Reynolds is to consult with Long Beach Y.M.C.A. and Pasadena Y.M.C.A. regarding a relay tournament carnival, which he hopes to pull off at Fiesta Stadium next month. He plans to have as a feature a Marathon race, in which twenty-seven teams will compete, and mile, two-mile and five-mile races are to be run. College and high-school athletes will be invited to enter the carnival if the Y.M.C.A. branches decide to promote it.

It is probable that the proposed basketball game between Los Angeles Y. M.C.A. and Orange Y.M.C.A. for the championship of the State will not be played. The local branch has refused to play on the Orange court on account of its small size and the State Basketball Committee has not issued further instructions.

The local Y.M.C.A. probably will enter a team in the amateur baseball league that is now being organized and which will be under the direct jurisdiction of the local commission of the Amateur Athletic Union. Physical Director Reynolds approves of the plan, if no Sunday games are played and if the sport is conducted on a strictly amateur basis.

Water polo is becoming popular among the Y.M.C.A. tank men, and next year a team probably will be formed for the purpose of competing with amateur teams. The lack of experienced players will make it impossible to organize a proficient team this year. Swimming also is coming to the front among the Y.M.C.A. athletes, and some entries may be made in the championship tournament in July.

Purdue won the 220-yard dash, discus throw, one-mile run, 440-yard run and the 100-yard dash.

BODY BLOW.

START FIGHT FOR NEW LAW.

Motorists Protective Association Launched.

Gives Hard Rap to Existing Speed Ordinances.

Well-Known Men Chosen as Board of Directors.

BY LEON T. SHETTLER.

Well, the fight is on.

City Prosecutor Eddie has placed himself on record as advocating a jail sentence for any automobilist who is convicted of infringing the speed law the third time, and is looking up past records, so as to be well posted on the next batch of arrests.

Chief of Police Dishman tells me that he will enforce the law as it stands, without any favoritism to any one. This makes a combination hard to beat.

If the speed laws of this city are enforced to the letter, we may as well hire storage space for our cars until the trouble blows over. There isn't any automobilist, I don't care how careful he is or how good an operator, that can travel for one hour in the congested districts of Los Angeles without infringing the speed laws many times. This shows on the face of it that the speed laws are not proper and should be revised.

In my opinion the speed laws of this city were devised for the sole and only purpose of revenue. Our City Council knew very well that the automobile people, as a whole, would rather pay a fine than fight a case when arrested, and I believe that they made the automobile ordinances with a full knowledge that it was impossible for motorists to obey them, thus insuring a steady revenue from motorists each month. The object is to "stick" the motorist every chance they get, and they are surely doing it.

Last Sunday I promised to submit a plan for the protection of automobilists, but, in the beginning, I wish to go on record as saying that the "Motorists' Protective Association" is not being formed for the purpose of defending any "half-baked" speed maniacs. If they are deliberately and willfully tearing up and down our congested streets, endangering life and property, they will receive no recognition whatever from us; in fact, we want to coöperate with the police department in putting a stop to this kind of business.

JAIL BARS.

On the other hand, we do not propose to see any unfortunate automobilists railroaded into jail for a trifling infraction of our wholly inadequate speed laws by our over-zealous prosecutor, Guy Eddie, without a bitter fight. If this man is in earnest in his desire to do his city a service, there are many other abuses that need his attention more than the automobilist. If he is merely making a grand-stand play for political reasons, then we will show him up in his true colors. If we cannot reach him any other way, we ought to be able to reach him through his own game, politics. The quicker he appreciates the fact that he has no right to dictate the policy of our courts and that he is no better a man, mentally, physically, financially or morally than 90 per cent. of the automobilists, the better it will be for him.

It would not be surprising if his next step would be to have all automobilists who are arrested for violating the speed laws photographed and put in the rogues' gallery.

Now, if these facts do not convince the motorists that it is about time that we were "up and doing," then I will lose all my faith in human nature. If this man is allowed to carry out his crazy ideas, some of us will pass our vacations on the chain gang.

Any motorist who has been arrested in the last few years will appreciate how badly we need an organization, but to those who have not been arrested, I merely want to say that it is not up to you to swell up and tell your next door neighbor how careful a driver you are, for you know, right down in your heart, that the only reason that you have not been arrested was because you were lucky; and your turn may be next.

After a careful study of the situation and a consultation with my attorney, Mr. De Garmo, we have agreed that about the only relief for motorists in view of the present anti-automobile agitation, is to organize for our protection, and for the further purpose of demonstrating to the general public that the automobilists, as a class, are not to be walked over rough shod, and are not to be used as the "fall guy" for any rising young political office holders.

In order to make our organization an effective one, we think it best to incorporate under the name of Motorists' Protective Association. Incorporated, and are now preparing incorporation papers calling for a charter allowing us to interest ourselves in any movement, political or otherwise, that has any bearing on the automobile sport or industry.

The board of directors will consist of nine members, elected by popular vote, at a meeting called for the purpose.

The officers of the association will consist of a president, two vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer, and will serve without pay for one year.

An acting secretary will be employed by the board of directors, whose duty will be to carry out any work of a clerical nature required by the board of directors. His salary is not to exceed $100 per month for the first year.

LOOK UP RECORDS.

A suitable sum will be set aside as a retainer fee for a capable attorney, whose duties will be to investigate all automobile and traffic laws, ordinances, proposed laws, proposed ordinances, and to defend members of the association in cases of prosecution wherever, in his judgment and that of the board of directors, the circumstances warrant such action. He will also be required to keep in close touch with all legal matters pertaining to the rights of automobilists, and to draft proposed laws and ordinances as required by the board of directors.

The acting secretary will make a report at the end of each month, showing just what has been accomplished during the month and what moneys expended.

Several matters of importance to automobilists will be taken up at once. Among them the constitutionality of the law requiring motor vehicles to carry numbers, lamps and horn and be taxed for the privilege of using our highways and streets and allowing all other vehicles immunity.

An ordinance should also be drafted compelling private corporations who tear up our streets to repair them within a reasonable length of time and under the inspection of a city official appointed for that purpose.

Another scheme that might work very nicely would be to furnish each member of the Protective Association with a card signed by the secretary of the association, giving his address and the description of such member, also his signature; then make arrangements with the police department that whenever it is found necessary to arrest any member of the association, said member is to turn his card over to the policeman making the arrest, and the member is to notify our attorney of such arrest and abide by his advice in the matter.

OTHER IDEAS.

An idea that might work out all right would be to appoint a committee among the members of the association, whose duty would be to keep close watch on all moneys which are appropriated for the uses of our streets and highways.

Another thing that should be taken up at once is an ordinance regulating the width of tires on loaded wagons using our asphalt pavements.

We should use our influence toward having a certain set of streets declared boulevards and keep all heavy traffic off such streets.

A temporary board of directors will serve until we have received our charter from the Secretary of State, at which time a meeting of the members of the association will be held and a permanent board of directors elected for the first year.

Prominent men of affairs have consented to act on the board, and the organization is launched with a bright prospect of success. Those who will serve are: Frank A. Garbutt, one of the leading spirits of the Los Angeles Athletic Club; Robert Marsh, real estate dealer; G. G. Gillette, wealthy mining man; Herbert L. Cornish and Walter E. Brown, real estate men; W. OVER THE LINE.

TOUR OF TOURISTS TO LAND OF MANANA.

THERE will be a second annual "Tour of the Tourist" this year. The Auto Vehicle Company will conduct the outing the early part of July. The start will be on Saturday morning, July 3, and the cars will return Wednesday, July 7. It will be a 500-mile tour into Mexico.

The outing is one of the prettiest ever planned for an automobile tour in Southern California. Volney S. Beardsley, manager of the Auto Vehicle Company, has mapped the route.

Early on the morning of the start the cars will leave Los Angeles for Oceanside, where lunch will be served. Saturday evening Coronado will be reached and headquarters will be established at the Coronado Hotel. On Monday a 100-mile run will be made into Old Mexico to Ensenada, where a Spanish dinner will be served. The roads in Mexico are excellent and good time can be made from Tia Junana to Ensenada.

On Tuesday the tour will continue to Riverside by way of the inland route. Wednesday morning the party will enjoy a trip to Redlands, San Bernardino and up into San Antonio Cañon, where a picnic lunch will be served.

Special arrangements will be made at the hotels along the route. It is hoped to persuade at least 100 owners of Tourist automobiles to make the trip. The five days' tour should be of interest to every Tourist owner in Southern California.

Only Tourist cars will be eligible, as the tour will be an endurance run for home-made machines conducted strictly by the Auto Vehicle Company. There will be noon and night controls, and a maximum and minimum running time between the controls must be maintained in order to earn perfect scores. The time limit will be so arranged that speeding will be impossible.

A repair car, with all the necessary parts and with a crew of skilled mechanics will accompany the tourers. The Goodyear and Goodrich tire companies will send tire cars with the automobiles and those who have trouble en route will find help at hand.

There will be a pilot car to mark the route carefully. Confetti will be strewn liberally along the roads. The road marshal will see to it that no reckless driving is indulged in. The Tourist quartette will furnish the music.

Last year more than one hundred persons went to San Francisco and back on the tour arranged by J. S. Conwell. This was such a success that it has been decided to hold a second outing.

AUTO FIRE FIGHTER.

Fire Commissioners to Examine Fast Machine to Be Brought Here for Inspection.

An automobile fire engine will be brought to Los Angeles by the Welch Motor Fire Apparatus Company for inspection by the Fire Commissioners of this city. If it meets with their approval Los Angeles will have a Thomas gasoline engine, with a pumping capacity of 700 gallons a minute, added to her already good fire fighting force.

This big engine, the makers claim, has a speed of sixty miles an hour. The car will carry 1000 feet of hose and will accommodate seven men. The engine is rated at seventy horse power. This type of car is in use in several large cities in the East.

There are two three-gallon fire extinguishers on the car, a number of pickhead fire axes, a stiff suction hose, ladders, fire lanterns, and a chemical outfit. The fire engine is complete in almost every detail.

After the engine arrives it will be inspected by Fire Chief Lips and runs will be made to several corners of the city. The makers claim the engine to be one of the best made. Chief Lips is satisfied with the service he is now getting but if he can be convinced that an automobile service is better he says he will change.

OFF FOR CATALINA.

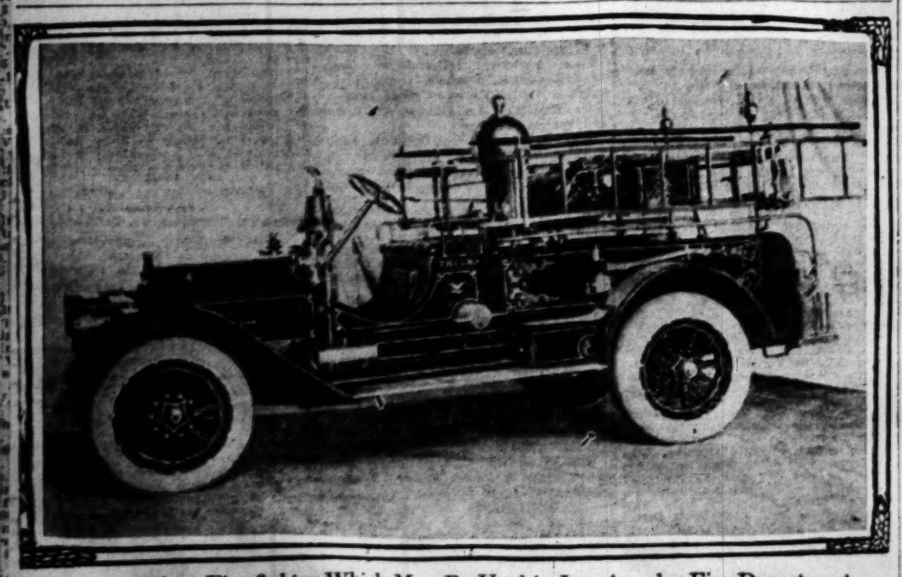
Rubber Men and Their Friends on the Magic Isle for Outing and Will Return Tonight.

More than 200 automobile and tire and accessory dealers left for Catalina last night for an outing of a night and a day. The auto dealers are the guests of the rubber men and they will be royally entertained. A second edition of "Honk Honk," a publication devoted to joshes on the autoists and their friends, was distributed among the voyageurs.

Headquarters will be established today at the Metropole. An enjoyable programme has been arranged. The outing has been carefully planned so that it takes the autoists and others away from their business at a time when they can well afford to rest.

Never before has so large a number attended an outing given by the rubber men. Last year the picnic was at Santa Monica Cañon and about 125 attended. This year has proven a record breaker.

E. A. Featherstone, the accessory dealer; F. O. Nelson of the Diamond Rubber Company; W. D. Newell, Goodyear tire agent; Joseph Ollier of Ollier & Worthington; Walter Seeley of Seeley, Van Zant & Crackel; Phil Lyon of Chanslor & Lyon and Eddie Julian and others will see to it that there is something doing all the time.



Thomas Flyer Fire-fighter Which May Be Used in Los Angeles Fire Department.
This car will be brought here for inspection by Chief Lips the latter part of next month. A speed of sixty miles an hour is claimed for this seventy-horse-power car.

WHERE TO DRIVE.

SHORT TRIPS FOR TOURISTS.

SIXTY MILES BY WAY OF PUENTE AND THROUGH AZUSA.

Jogs Among the Pretty Southern California Towns and Beautiful Orange Groves—Delightful Route Through Crown City to La Canyada, Back by Verduga Canyon.

BY HUGH M'DOWELL.

One of the shorter outings available for Los Angeles automobilists is a trip to Puente, thence to Azusa and back. The best route to take is to go via Huntington Drive to Alhambra, thence through San Gabriel, passing the old mission and turning to the left by the cemetery, then to the right on the main road leading eastward. Two and a half miles farther the road joins the more direct road from Los Angeles to Pomona, via Puente, the road which is receiving first attention by the Supervisors and the road commissioners under the new bonding scheme.

Another ancient cemetery is passed at the fork where the roads join. The passing of two cemeteries so early in the trip should put the driver in a frame of mind which will prompt him to avoid reckless speed.

Passing through Savannah and El Monte, Puente, twenty miles from Los Angeles, is reached. Turning to the left here, follow the main traveled road bearing to the right toward Covina. At four and three-fourths miles a road leading directly north is reached. Follow this one-half or three-quarters of a mile, then turn to the right and go one and a half miles to the center of Covina. The distance from Puente is about seven miles.

Follow the main road direct to the north out of Covina, three and one-fourth miles to the Foothill boulevard, one mile east of Azusa and twenty-eight miles east of Los Angeles.

Returning homeward through Azusa, Duarte and Monrovia, Baldwin's ranch and Lamanda, you can turn to the left at the junction just west of Lamanda and reach home by way of Huntington Drive; or, adding a little to the time and interest of the trip, follow East Colorado street into Pasadena, go north a mile or two on Marengo avenue, then, turning to the left, cross to North Raymond avenue and return on that street to Walnut, where Throop Polytechnic School is situated.

Then go west on Walnut as far as Orange Grove avenue, cross Orange Grove and follow Arroyo View Drive, where fine views may be obtained. Go through Colorado Court and Colorado street to Grand avenue, to Lockhaven, turning to the left there to Orange Grove avenue, thence west on Orange Grove avenue to the residence of Adolphus Busch, No. 1021, corner of Arlington. Turn in by the side of Busch's residence and see the sunken garden, an example of landscape gardening scarcely equaled by anything else on earth. Then return home by way of Orange Grove avenue, Mission street and Pasadena avenue.

The distance you will have covered when you reach Los Angeles will be about sixty miles, more or less, according to the route taken in returning. The roads are generally good.

Another pleasant trip not frequently taken, shorter than the one above described, is to go directly to Pasadena, visit the Busch gardens, Grand avenue and the Arroyo View Drive and such other points of interest as may be desired. From the center of Pasadena take Fair Oaks avenue north to Throop Polytechnic School, then take Lincoln avenue, bearing to the left. Follow this street until you pass under the railroad track, then take the first road turning to the right. There are signs here to indicate the road to Devil's Gate and Cañada.

Follow the main traveled road until just before you come to a railroad crossing, then turn to the left and follow the signs. Going down the hill past Devil's Gate, take the road to the left across the bridge, and this will bring you to La Cañada, a trifle over three miles distant. In La Cañada turn south and west, following the main road through Verdugo Cañon, Glendale, Verdugo, and striking the San Fernando road about four miles from Los Angeles.

SPEEDY RUN.

RUNS UP COAST IN FAST TIME.

SIX-CYLINDER PEERLESS MAKES EXCELLENT RECORD.

H. O. Harrison Drives Seven-Passenger Car With Quartette of Angelenos Over Coast Route to Bay City in Twenty Hours Running. Fine Roads in Good Shape.

After a remarkable run over the coast route, where the roads were found to be in fair condition, H. O. Harrison, driving a six-cylinder Peerless car, reached San Francisco Saturday night, having maintained a twenty-hour schedule for the entire distance. In the car besides the Peerless agent there were H. G. Krohn and wife and Dr. W. H. Spinks and wife of this city. The Peerless was never in its low gear during the entire journey.

The start was made from Los Angeles at 7 o'clock Friday morning and the first stop was at Santa Barbara for lunch. Paso Robles was reached that night. The following day the autoists were eating dinner at a San Francisco hotel by 7 o'clock in the evening. The ride was not tiresome to the women of the party who rode in the spacious tonneau of the big Peerless tourer.

When the autoists started from this city it was decided to make an attempt to run to the Bay City without dropping into the low gear. The car has sustained its reputation as a hill climber and Harrison has proved himself a consistent driver. The big machine behaved splendidly, and the third speed was sufficient whenever a hill was too severe for the high gear.

One of the most dangerous was from San Luis Obispo to Paso Robles by way of the Cuesta grade. The car has a long wheel base and the curves of the grade are particularly dangerous. Harrison drove fast but carefully. He took the grade approach on the high at about thirty-five miles an hour, then dropped back to his intermediate gear and rounded the dangerous summit, the big lights of the car showing him the way.

Through Santa Margarita, and over the excellent roads beyond, the car made sixty miles an hour, the run between the two towns being made in a little less than an hour.

After leaving Paso Robles good roads were passed for almost the entire distance to Oakland. Through Bradley and on to Soledad the going was excellent. The Peerless made the run from Paso Robles to Soledad in exactly four hours.

Beyond Soledad good time was made and the Oakland pier was reached soon after 5 o'clock. The trip, according to the tourers, was very enjoyable.

The Los Angeles-San Francisco roads are better at this time of the year than at any other part of the season. There is less dust and the highways have not yet been cut up by heavy teaming.

DARING.

MOTORCYCLISTS AFTER RECORDS.

DE ROSIER AND DERKUM TO MEET IN ONE HOUR TRIAL.

Track Faster Than Ever and Sensational Time Is Expected—Riders Expect to Go Like the Wind Over the Boards in Order to Secure Lower Marks Than Already Made.

Past motorcycle races at the Coliseum are carded for this afternoon. The meet of Sunday afternoon, when the track was reopened, was one of the best of the season, and this Sunday's programme promises much.

The chief event of the day is the one-hour motorcycle race, in which some of the best professionals are matched. The boys have given good exhibitions of racing and the crowd has not been disappointed.

Several holes in the track have been carefully patched and it is now as fast as ever. The records are becoming harder and harder to break because of the low marks already established. It takes a particularly daring rider to clip even a few seconds from the existing low marks.

Jake de Rosier, who will be seen in action today, is anxious to regain the few laurels he has lost. He will ride like a fiend, he says, and expects to defeat all comers. Paul Derkum will try again. He says the hoodoo which has seemed to hover over him has been dispelled. He has made remarkable time this week in practice.

On his specially built Reading-Standard, Derkum will try to lower all existing marks. His particular desire is to beat De Rosier. He knows the fast Frenchman will soon be called East by his factory. Derkum desires to trim the speedster before he leaves.

There are a number of other professional and amateur riders who will bear watching. The surprise of former meets has been the number of "dark horses" who have jumped into prominence unexpectedly. The track is always furnishing surprises, and it is believed there are more to follow.

Motorcycle racing has now become a recognized sport. Factories are building special racing machines for track work. Today almost every rider will be mounted on fast racing machines.

The list of entries and events is:

Amateur two-mile handicap, for machines of 27 cubic inches piston displacement or under: Charles Balke (Thor,) H. L. Kohl (Kohl,) Erwin Knappe (Indian,) George McIntyre (Thor,) John Farrell (Indian.)

Two-mile amateur match race, heats, for single-cylinder machines: Raymond Seymour (Reading-Standard,) Charles Balke (Thor.)

Amateur four-mile handicap, for machines of 61 cubic inches piston displacement or under: Raymond Seymour (Reading-Standard,) Charles Balke (Thor,) M. J. Graves (Indian,) H. Kohl (Kohl,) A. Ward (Indian.)

One-mile exhibition by "Dare Devil" Derkum (Reading-Standard.)

Professional eight-mile open, for machines of 61 cubic inches piston displacement or under: Jake de Rosier (Indian,) Paul Derkum (Reading-Standard,) Arthur Mitchell (N.S.U.,) Ed. Lingenfelder (N.S.U.)

Amateur ten-mile open, for machines of 61 cubic inches piston displacement or under: Raymond Seymour (Reading-Standard,) Charles Balke (Thor,) M. J. Graves (Indian,) A. Ward (Indian.)

Professional twenty-five-mile open, for machine of 61 cubic inches piston displacement or under: Jake de Rosier (Indian,) Paul Derkum (Reading-Standard,) Arthur Mitchell (N.S.U.,) Ed. Lingenfelder (N.S.U.)

FAVOR AUTOISTS.

It has been decided by the Indiana Appellate Court that a person driving an automobile across street car tracks has a right to presume street cars will be operated at a speed assuring the safety of citizens, either on foot or in vehicles.

TOO BAD.

AUTOFEST CALLED OFF; DEALERS SHY OF CARS.

THERE will be no autofest this year. At their meeting Tuesday night the Automobile Dealers' Association voted to call the affair off after it had been carefully planned out by J. S. Conwell, who originated the idea. The excessive cost of the fiesta is given as the excuse for dropping the idea when it seemed to have been brought to a working basis by the man who had been chosen to handle the open-air circus.

One of the most comprehensive reports ever given the dealers was presented by Mr. Conwell and after hearing the estimated cost of the open-air show the majority decided unfavorably. There were a number who were anxious to hold the circus, as they believed in its success.

Several of the dealers complained of the early date of the fiesta, as they said their cars will not be here as soon as September 18. One of the plans for the circus was to show the new 1910 cars. This it was believed would have been one of the most interesting features. The circus would have cost about $27,000 to have presented it in the way Conwell had mapped out. The dealers seemed reasonably certain of a profit of from $5000 to $9000.

Stunts for every make of cars had been provided by Mr. Conwell. There was to be a twenty-four-hour race, which should have brought out some of the fastest cars in the West. Hill climbs, obstacle races and unique stunts would have entertained.

Headquarters was to have been established at Ascot Park, where a tent city would have been laid out. The cars would have been shown moving instead of standing still, as is the custom at most of the shows.

Plans for the numerous events of this year have so crowded upon the dealers that many decided that it would be impossible to hold successfully an autofest of the magnitude outlined by Conwell.

Had Los Angeles decided to pull off the autofest it would have been the first of its kind ever held. Detroit is now planning to have an autofest something like that planned for Los Angeles, and the motorists of New York and of San Francisco are talking of open-air shows for the late summer of this year.

ONE OF A KIND.

DEALERS PLACE LIMIT ON BIG RACE ENTRIES.

THERE is every indication that the lists for the big automobile road race at Santa Monica on July 10 will be filled before the date of the closing of the entries which has been extended to June 15. The committee in charge will not give out the list of entries until after the closing date.

Rush work must be done on the course in order to get it ready for the race date. Several miles of road must be prepared, turns must be banked, culverts must be built in order to put the course into shape for speed work.

With the Orphan's Home race out of the way the autoists will jump into the work of preparing for the Santa Monica classic. This will be made the event of the year as the autoists intend to bend their energies in one direction now that it has been decided to postpone the date of the autofest. Money and much time must be spent before the Santa Monica course is put into racing condition. The committee will pass the time and the Automobile Dealers' Association the money in order to prepare for the big event.

One of the knotty questions is that of allowing more than two cars of one make in the big race. The dealers, at their meeting Tuesday, decided to allow only one of a kind in the race. This decision will be reconsidered at the next meeting.

This rule works a hardship on several autoists. The Stoddard-Dayton people had planned to enter two cars in the big race and a car in the small event. The Maxwell-Briscoe Company would enter the same number of cars.

A motion of L. T. Shettler's made at the meeting seems to hit the desire of a number. Shettler proposed that the entry of more than one car of a make be allowed, provided the lists were not filled.

The Road Race Committee has been changed. The name of Ralph J. Leavitt has been dropped from the lists and W. K. Cowan has been given the place of the Locomobile agent. D. M. Lee has been added to the committee which now includes R. C. Hamlin, chairman, Leon T. Shettler, the two named above and W. E. Bush. Frederic Pabst is secretary.

The course has again been carefully measured. The two races will be 205 miles each. The course is eight and three-tenth miles.

FRANKLIN WINS.

Economy Contest Goes to Air-cooled Car Which Makes Long Run on Gallon of Gasoline.

S. G. Averill, in a four-cylinder Franklin, has just received the handsome Willys cup for winning the one-gallon gasoline contest arranged by the Automobile Trade Association of New York. The Franklin was driven 36.6 miles on the one gallon of gasoline in the tank. This is considered a remarkable record. The car scored 105,408 points on the unique contest.

The second machine, a Cadillac, scored 98,115 points. A Brush single-cylinder took third place. The Franklin carried five passengers and pulled itself into a remarkable victory. Both the second and third place winners were one-cylinder cars.

The conditions of the contest stated that the distance in statute miles covered by a machine should be multiplied by the weight of the car to find the ton mileage points. Each machine was weighed at the start and the finish. Every drop of gasoline had to be drained from the tanks before the gallon allowance was given the driver.

The Cadillac made 42.6 miles, but lost in the weight carried. The Brush did even better than the Cadillac, but did not carry the Franklin's weight.

One of the topics for discussion at the convention of the International Association of Accident Underwriters at Niagara Falls in July will be the automobile hazard, which is growing in seriousness.

Personally conducted touring parties under the management of a motor car manufacturing concern are being organized in several sections of the country.

The Hermitage Automobile Club of Nashville, Tenn., and the Tampa Automobile Club of Tampa, Fla., have been elected as unfederated club members in the A.A.A.

The annual contest for the greatest mileage attained by members, has been inaugurated by the Long Island Motor Club. A cup will be awarded the winner when the contest closes, November 1.

The authorities of Hammond, Ind., have installed a water gun with a three-inch nozzle which will be trained on motor speeders who refuse to stop when ordered to by the police.

Gov. Pennewill of Delaware will receive the members of the Delaware Automobile Association at the southern terminus of their 100-mile run to be held May 29. The members will decorate their cars for the occasion.

OCEAN-TO-OCEAN RACE.

Arrangements have been completed with a telegraph company for the installation of wires to flash President Taft's signal to Maj. McClellan, in New York, to start the Guggenheim ocean-to-ocean race. The receiving instrument will be placed on the steps leading to the City Hall portico within a few feet of the spot where the Mayor will stand.

LONDON TO EDINBURGH.

Charles Klein, the playwright, is telling of how he enjoyed a taxicab ride from London to Edinburg. He says, while in London, feeling a bit blasé, he asked a taxicab driver to "please drive to Edinburgh and return." The driver phoned his family and manager and made the trip, about 950 miles. The bill was $325.

FISHING.

CASTING LINES FOR YELLOWTAIL.

THIRTY-THREE POUNDER BEST CATCH OF WEEK.

Balboa and Newport Report First Creels of Deep-Sea Fighters of the Season—Surf Fishing Shows Good Results at Most of the Beaches Croakers Also Caught.

The first yellowtail of the season were caught at Balboa during the week. All day Friday the fish were biting good, and several big ones were landed by Los Angeles anglers. W. A. Cornelius of Newport landed a thirty-three-pounder Friday afternoon, and several ranging from twenty-five to fifteen were caught. The bay fishing has been good all week and yellowfin and bass have been biting well.

Spotfin croakers are biting occasionally and a nine-pounder was landed by Dispatcher Bell of the Pacific Electric last Friday. Surf fishing is good and last Sunday at Rocky Point some large Calico bass were caught, Harvey Carson of Los Angeles landing a ten-pounder.

Surf fishing at the beaches started in strong last week, but choppy waves and drifts of seaweed, probably caused by a storm at sea, spoiled the sport until yesterday afternoon, when the fishing today only promises to be fair on the short piers, but the chances are better for good catches off the breakwater at San Pedro and the long piers.

Mackerel and jack smelt have been predominating on the south coast, and on the west coast pompano continue to run. The surf fishermen at Sunset Beach and Balboa report good hauls, and the reports from the other resorts south of Long Beach have not been so favorable. William Goff caught a nineteen-pound yellowtail off the wharf at Newport last week, the largest fish that has been landed there this season.

Jack smelt and mackerel were running well at Redondo before the water became ruffled, and on Friday good catches of turbot were made.

Striped bass, spotfin, croakers and yellowfin prevailed in the catches at San Pedro. The fishing from the breakwater was scarcely affected by the rough water and seaweed, as the anglers were able to cast their lines in quiet places.

A. L. Beebe, president of the Catalina Light Tackle Club, landed a forty-pound white sea bass at Catalina last week. The fishing at the island has been picking up during the last two weeks and the season promises to furnish plenty of good sport.

At Del Rey perch, tom cod, mackerel and a few smelts have been caught. One man caught a miscellaneous lot of thirty Friday morning in three hours.

Have Your Tops Made to Order

Touring Car Tops $50

Gentlemen, it is an easy matter to make a top for an automobile that will cost $50.00. But it is a different proposition when you can offer and make a first-class article, the price still remaining $50.00. It is only by applying up-to-date methods and eliminating some of the abuses that have followed in the wake of the automobile business that I am enabled to do so. To convince you that this can be done, call at the shop and I will show you this top set up and finished as it would look on your car. I have four or five different styles of goods that I am putting in this work, and I fully guarantee any statement that I make in this ad., as I will not allow any work to go out that isn't fully up to the standard. GOOD CONNECTIONS.

TWO HOMERS BEAT ANGELS.

Husky Beavers Smash Out Long Drives.

Harkness Holds Locals Down to Four Hits.

Daley Thrown Out of Game for Loud Roaring.

Portland, 3; Los Angeles, 2.

It took two home runs and a triple to beat Nagle yesterday in one of the best fielding games of the week, which was featured by some fine stunts, hard swats and bad decisions.

The largest Saturday crowd of the season looked at the game, and for the first time in several years a batsman was put out of the game before he had completed his time at bat. This was Daley, who was thrown out by the umpire in the eighth inning when he had two balls and two strikes called on him.

The star of the game was Ote Johnson, with a home run, a stolen base and seven chances accepted at third base, and his continued good work has made the fans believe that if it were not for him the Beavers would be a sorry bunch. With Nagle pitching, Johnson opened the second inning, with a swat that was probably the second longest ever hit on the local grounds, for it sailed far over the score board and landed well up on the rear part of the roof over the dance hall in Chutes Park. Several years ago Truck Eagan slammed the ball thirty feet farther away on the roof, but Johnson's poke was strong enough to convince the fans that Truck has nothing on the Swede when it comes to landing on the ball.

Umpire McCarthy had a bad day of it, if one may judge from the way the fans roasted him, and one of his rulings in particular looked very bad from all parts of the field. With two out in the sixth for Portland, Kennedy hit a grounder to Delmas, who threw the ball low to first. Dillon scooped it in fine style, waited a second for Kennedy to reach him, and then touched the runner four feet from first base. That is, every one of the 2000 fans thought Dillon touched Kennedy, but McCarthy said no, and for this decision Dillon receives an error. Mac was handed all kinds of left-handed compliments for his ruling, and was webby on balls and strikes for ten minutes after that.

ONLY WAY TO WIN.

While it seemed necessary for Portland to make home runs in order to win the game, the Beavers should have won, for Harkness held the locals to four hits, and but for his wildness in the first inning it is probable that but one run would have been made off him. He always appeared master of the situation, and was better the farther he went, for in the last three innings but nine men faced him. In the seventh he fanned two men, and in the eighth three men, and in the last five innings but one hit was made off him.

The best fielding stunt of the game was Beall's long, running catch of Harkness's foul in the seventh inning. He was playing deep right field, close to the fence, and when Harkness hit the ball back of first base Beall ran about 200 feet at top speed and when about to collide with the right bleacher fence, stuck out his left hand and grabbed the ball. Orendorff also shone with a hard running foul catch near the Portland players' bench.

The Beavers did not have much chance to show any speed, for Harkness was pitching too good for Texas league swats. Speas showed the strength of his arm with a throw-out at the plate from left field, and a double-play assist to first base. Wheeler took Daley's place at bat, and, with two strikes on him, let the next ball go by and was called out on strikes, and became very wrathy.

In the first inning Ryan hit a slasher to right field and by fast running got to third base before the ball could be returned to the infield. He easily scored on Olson's pretty sacrifice. The second inning brought Johnson, with his home run over the score board, and then Kennedy, who was the first man up in the ninth, hit a homer over the left fence.

In the first for the locals, after two were out, Beall and Howard were walked, and after Beall had stolen second he scored on Smith's hit to left. The other run resulted from Delmas's double to right and Dillon's single to center. This was the finish for the locals, for after Dillon's hit but one other man reached first base, and this was Beall on his single to center in the sixth.

The result:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

EVERY GAME CALLED OFF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 22.—Every game in the National League was postponed today, either on account of rain or wet grounds. Remarkable conditions prevailed—cold, dreary weather, which came with and stayed in the wake of a storm, making it appear more like spring or fall than mid-May.

Pittsburgh was unable to play in New York because of wet grounds and cold weather; similar conditions checked Cincinnati at Brooklyn, while rain prevented the Chicago game at Boston. Even worse conditions necessitated the postponement of the St. Louis-Philadelphia contest at Philadelphia.

STATE LEAGUE.

TRIPPET TOO WILD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN JOSE, May 22.—Trippet was wild again and errors of judgment by Eager, Reid and Roscoe Miller, the latter on the coaching line, resulted in Stockton's scoring practically every man passed by Trippet.

Infield hits and sacrifice flies in the sixth, after two had been passed, drove Trippet to the bench. Score:

Stockton, 6; hits, 5; errors, 0.
San José, 2; hits, 8; errors, 1.
Batteries—Owen and Hackett; Trippet, Logan and Broadbent.

COLLEGE BALL RESULTS.

COVINA IS BEATEN.

MONROVIA'S SURPRISE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MONROVIA, May 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Monrovia High School baseball team defeated Covina on the Monrovia grounds today by the score of 4 to 1.

Libby of Covina umpired. The batteries were: Monrovia—Crandall and Glenny. Covina—Hull and Allison. Crandall struck out eleven men to Hull's seven. Base hits, Monrovia, 5; Covina, 2; errors, Monrovia, 2; Covina, 7.

The game was witnessed by a large crowd from Covina and Monrovia. Much interest was attached to the game as the victory for Monrovia placed the team in line for the finals.

Monrovia will play Downey next Saturday. Covina will meet Compton on the same day and the winners of the two games are to play for the championship of the league. The Monrovia team has made marked improvement in team work during the last two weeks and the battery was in fine form.

Monrovia's victory today was a surprise to Covina for the boys from the valley town fully expected a win. To date the Covina team has been playing excellent ball, landing hard on all visiting twirlers and winning every game but the contest today.

Hull has done fine work in the box and has the best strike-out record of any pitcher in the Suburban League. He also possesses the power to hit hard and often, something that most pitchers cannot do. Riggins, the left fielder, leads the Covina batting list with an average of .600, while Sprotte in right field has been batting .410.

The Suburban League standings:

OLD TIMER SOLD.

FRANK OWEN GOES TO TOLEDO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Pitcher Frank Owen was sold yesterday by President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans, to the Toledo club in the American Association. The consideration for the deal was not announced, other than it was an out and out sale.

The sale of Owen removes another of the old-time players from the South Side Club. Last year he did not show much and this year was displaced when Comiskey secured Burns from Washington.

The Toledo club wired Owen to report to Toledo at once.

Alhambra Team Wins.

The Alhambra baseball team defeated the Woodill and Hulse nine yesterday afternoon by the score of 7 to 3, on the diamond at Alhambra. The feature of the game was the batting of Rowell, and the pitching of J. Dear. Rowell getting in one homer and one two-bagger, scoring two of the winning runs out of four times up. Dear fanned eight men. Next week the Alhambra team will meet the Globe Mills.

TEN TO NOTHING.

COMPTON BEATS CITRUS.

The Compton High School baseball team shut out the Citrus Union High School in a fast game yesterday afternoon by the score of 10 to 0, on the winner's diamond.

Jackson, the Citrus pitcher, only allowed the Compton boys six hits during the game, and had he received any backing at all would have cut the score to half. Gorton, the Compton man, fanned thirteen men, walked two and allowed six hits.

In the first inning Gorton fanned the Citrus boys one, two, three. A hit by Garrison, followed by a double steal, and an error by the Citrus shortstop, brought in the first run for Compton in the second. In the fifth, Walton hit safe, stole second and third, and was scored on a safe hit by Gorton. A safe hit, followed by two errors and a walk let in three men in the seventh. In the eighth, five errors, a walk and a safe, brought in four more, as it stood at the end of the game. Citrus put a man on third in the eighth inning, but could not bring him in.

The score:

Power at Rear Wheels

In the ordinary automobile much energy is wasted in transmitting power from the engine to the rear wheels through universal joints, or in other words around corners.

In the Rambler, the power is transmitted in a direct line from the crank shaft to the rear axle. This straight line drive insures the delivery of maximum power.

TARGET WORK FOR GUARDS.

Competition for State Team Set for June.

Schuetzen Jubilee Shoot to Be Big Affair.

Three Hundred Riflemen to Invade Germany.

The regimental rifle competition of the Seventh Regiment, N.G.C., will be held on Friday and Saturday, June 11-12, on the State range near Eastlake Park, with Col. W. G. Schreiber in command, when members of the regiment, non-commissioned staff, signal corps, band and Cavalry Troop D will endeavor to qualify for the State shoot in August, at which will be selected the "California State rifle team of 1909."

Nearly 100 marksmen may take part in the regimental contest, each of the twelve companies being entitled to seven representatives, the Signal Corps and troop to four each, and two may qualify from staff and band. The problem of competitively shooting such a list of men over the required ranges in two days is enough to stagger any commander, and Col. Schreiber considers the only solution lies in the possibility that the full complement may not qualify from the various organizations.

None are eligible for these competitions who have not performed 75 per cent. of military duty during the preceding year, and who have not qualified as sharpshooters on the indoor range. They must also sign an agreement that they will take part in the regimental and State competitions and, if selected, will become members of the State team and will remain such until the completion of the national match of 1909, which will be held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

MANY SHOOTERS.

But with the restrictions above mentioned the list will doubtless be large, from which the commander must select for the State tournament not to exceed thirteen competitors, each of whom must have made 65 per cent. of the possible of all scores, not less than 30 per cent. of the possible score in the two skirmish runs, and not less than 50 per cent. of the possible scores at each of the other ranges.

These restrictions will again eliminate many aspirants for team honors, but they cannot be applied until after failure at some range. The difficult "skirmish run" will crush the hopes of most, and would naturally lighten the tournament work if first undertaken, but Col. Schreiber wishes to reserve this work until last in order to give competitors from outside companies as nearly as possible the same acquaintance with the range as have the Los Angeles men. "Rapid fire" at 200 yards, however, will be shot early on the first day, and will prune a goodly number.

Each competitor will be required to fire twenty shots, and no more, at 200 yards and at 500 yards, slow fire; also at 200 yards, rapid fire, twenty seconds for each five shots. The position for all 200-yard scores to be standing, and at all other distances prone with head toward target. Two skirmish runs will also be completed by each competitor. Two sighting shots will be required at each range for slow fire.

The team of twelve men which will be selected at the State shoot in August will be sent East for the national match on their regular pay, at the expense of the government. California is handicapped by her distance from the field, as the time required in travel and competitions compels many of the best riflemen to forego the trip—thus lowering the standing of the team in comparison with other States, many of whose men can reach the national range within a few hours, and whose best material is thus available.

SCHUETZEN JUBILEE.

Valuable trophies and more than $30,000 in prizes will be distributed to winners in the grand shooting tournament which will be the principal feature of the Golden Jubilee celebration of the San Francisco Schuetzen-Verein at Shell Mound Park, Alameda county, Cal., August 29 to September 5, and which promises to equal in importance recent meetings of the National Schuetzenbund.

The jubilee target will be the regular ring target, divided into twenty-five rings, three-quarters of an inch apart, the black being twelve inches in diameter, containing rings 18 to 25, the outer rings, 1 to 17, being white. Three shots will be allowed on this target, but must be taken in conjunction with three shots on Stich Target Germania. Total scores count, the highest three in order taking prizes of $300, $250 and $150. Ties will be decided in favor of the shooter whose last shot is highest. Many other prizes will be given.

Target Germania has a black of twelve inches diameter, in the center of which is placed a bullseye of six inches diameter, the remainder of the target being white. None but bullseye shots count, that nearest the center taking first prize, others following in order. Three shots will be allowed, in conjunction with three on jubilee target.

Premiums of $5 will be given each marksman making all three bullseyes, and 100 other prizes, commencing with $50 for the highest, will be awarded. Marksmen who do not make a bullseye in the three shots may reënter until they make one bullseye.

ONLY THE BLACK.

The German ring target is the same as the jubilee target—twenty-five rings; on this three shots are made, with reëntries unlimited. The highest number of rings on one ticket takes first prize, ties being decided by next best ticket. Ninety-two prizes will be given, the first of $200.

The point target has a black of twelve inches diameter, divided into three parts, the inner of three inches diameter, constituting the bullseye and counting three points, the next circle of six inches diameter, two points, and the outer circle of black, one point. Shots out of black do not count. Shot nearest center takes first prize of $100, entries for the ninety prizes being unlimited.

The king will be the marksman making the most points in his first 200 shots on the above target, and he will be awarded the gold king's medal and $50 cash. A tie will be decided by ten additional shots. Other cash prizes to the number of twenty will be given succeeding scores of first 200 shots.

The American standard target has a black of eleven inches diameter, in which are rings 8, 9 and 10, the last being bullseye of nearly four inches diameter. Rings from 1 to 10 are white. Any rifle is allowed, and entries are unlimited. Twenty-four prizes from $100 down are to be given.

The Golden Jubilee medal target is like the Stich Target Germania, with six-inch bullseye, the shooter making the largest number of bullseyes in twenty shots receiving the gold festival medal, and $300 being divided between the twenty-five shooters next in order.

Premiums of $250 will be distributed between the shooters making the ten best tickets on point target, ten best on ring target and ten best on standard, combined—from $50 down.

Pistol prize shoot and revolver prize shoot, under match B conditions, U.S. R.A. rules, will call for $100 each in prizes from $25 down.

Telescopic sights on rifles are barred, but spectacles and simple glasses in globe sights may be used.

TO VISIT VATERLAND.

A shooting excursion is to commence on May 27, when about 300 riflemen and their ladies will sail from New York on the North German Lloyd steamer Main for three months of travel and shooting throughout Germany.

After visits in the fatherland, the party will meet June 22 at Berderkesa, Hanover, and participate in a three days' tournament, the seventy-fifth jubilee of the Berderkesa Schuetzen Society.

The entire party will then visit Oldenberg, Cologne, Koblenz, Rudesheim, Mainz, Heidelberg, Wiesbaden and other towns. On July 4 they will take part in a shooting festival on an island in the Rhein opposite Nierstein, afterward visiting Frankfurt and Berlin, arriving at Hamburg July 8.

The New York Schuetzen Corps voted an appropriation of $2000 for the expenses of its participating members. Experts from the Pacific Coast are expected to show well in the contests, many of them having been members of old country societies and contestants in their events.

RUGBY.

GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM EXPECTED.

CALIFORNIA HAS HOPES FOR WINNER NEXT YEAR.

Coach Jimmy Schaeffer Studying Fine Points of the Game in Australia and His Instruction of Veterans and Good Freshmen Should Turn Out Great Aggregation.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, May 21.—When Johnny Schaeffer returns from Australia in August to take up his work of turning out a winning California 'varsity football team he will not have to solve the problem that has faced ex-Coach Taylor in the last three years—developing a back field.

With the exception of Capt. Butler, who has graduated, every member of the backfield on last year's fifteen will return to college and will be out for football. This fact will mean much to the Blue and Gold, as a strong backfield is very essential for a winning Rugby team.

Schaeffer will be able to perfect the weak points of these veterans instead of having to break in green men for the positions as Taylor has had to do. The men who are scheduled to return are Capt. Cerf and Elliott at five-eighths, Webster, Watts, M. Harris and H. Johns at three-quarters, and Dwiggins at half. Swartz will return to play his old position of wing forward.

California will suffer her heaviest losses in the scrum, and a strong scrum has always been a hobby of Schaeffer's. Barnicott in the side rank, a veteran of two years; Budelman, at lock, who has played in three big games, and Sorenson in the rear rank, another two-year veteran, have graduated. As a nucleus for a new scrum, Jimmy will have four veterans, Markwart and Phleger in the front rank, Pauly of San Diego, at the side, and Freeman in the back rank. Freeman is a veteran of three 'varsity games, while the other men made their letters last November.

Present indications are that Schaeffer will have an abundance of material to draw from to fill the missing places. Without a strong freshman class, there will be enough men in college who have played Rugby, to turn out an excellent team, but with the added strength that a freshman class always brings, the 'varsity next fall should be very strong, indeed.

Lawton, freshman fullback last fall, at present seems to be the logical candidate to fill the position of 'varsity full, left vacant by the graduation of Capt. Butler.

The class of 1912 will probably supply the 'varsity lock man next fall for it will only be a phenomenal find that can displace Hanson, who played lock in the last freshman game, subbed in the position during the 'varsity season, and was in the center of the scrum when the 'varsity met the Australian Wallabies.

For the other two vacant positions in the scrum there will be an abundance of material, but Carpenter of Pomona, McFie of Los Angeles, Swim and Fairbanks, the latter a veteran of the game of 1906 and 1907, will make the strongest fight.

The veterans on the team will have no cinch on their positions, for there are enough men of 'varsity or near 'varsity caliber, to make the race for the team exceedingly close.

LENNOX IS RE-ELECTED.

To Captain U.S.C. Track Team—Tom Clay Re-elected Athletic Manager for Year.

Howard M. Lennox, captain of the 1909 track team of the University of Southern California, has been chosen unanimously to again lead the cinder athletes for the season of 1910.

Lennox was the star of the squad for the season just closed, and won more points for his college than any other athlete. His performances in the hurdle events and the quarter-mile sprint were consistently fast. He established a new university record in the high hurdle event, making a new mark of 26s.

Prospects for the track season of 1910 are excellent. A majority of the men of this year's champion squad will be on hand, and a number of the strong performers of local prep school teams have signified their intentions of entering the freshman class of the university in the fall.

Thomas L. Clay, athletic manager during the last year, has also been re-elected. No change will be made in the coaching staff. Dean Cromwell has given satisfaction, and especially in track activities has made more progress with raw material than any coach the university ever had. Plans for the enlargement of training quarters and the fitting up of Bovard Field are being considered, and athletics will be placed on a stronger footing next season than heretofore.

Walker Reaches England.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 22.—R. E. Walker, the sprinter, arrived here today from South Africa. He will compete in a number of summer meetings in the United Kingdom and will leave in August for the United States. His first race is at Abergavenny next week.

Miss Dorothy Newkirk and Mrs. Avis Gordon, who are entered in all the swimming races for women to take place in Southern California this summer.

SWIMMING GIRLS.

promptu races and diving contests that are always being pulled off.

In addition to competing in the race from the Long Wharf all these women are expected to be participants in the various dashes and diving contests that will be held during the summer at Venice.

The Southern California Swimming Association will hold its southern championship races for women at the Bimini plunge on the evening of June 18, while it will also have charge of the coast championship races at Naples on July Fourth. Miss Dorothy Newkirk, who won the Naples championship last summer, is expected to enter both the Bimini and Naples tournaments this year, as are Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Willis and several others.

The July races will probably be the only tournament that will take place this summer at Naples.

In accordance with the custom of former years, no races have been scheduled for the Catalina season, and the only matches that seem likely to occur will be the usual impromptu events between the various summer visitors. Many of the athletic girls who make Catalina their summer home are unsurpassed as swimmers, but none of them have ever entered either the Venice or Naples championships.

Many of the High School girls of Southern California are taking a very active interest in swimming, and already clubs have been formed at Long Beach, Santa Monica and Los Angeles high schools. The plunges at the beaches furnish ample room for the races and other contests that the beach maidens plan to pull off, while the Los Angeles girls will swim at Bimini. For the present none of the high school clubs will compete against one another, but eventually the Long Beach and Santa Monica teams hope to decide their relative superiority.

The Long Beach club contains several women who are not only good swimmers, but who have made a name for themselves in other branches of women's athletics. Among these are Miss Verna Tinkiepaugh and Miss Lilie Kingcaide, both members of the Southern California champion basketball squad. Miss Helen Perkins is the president of the Long Beach club and has the reputation of being one of the best women swimmers at the seaside town. Last summer Miss Perkins took several prizes at the Alamitos tournaments.

The department of physical culture at the University of California has recently ruled that no woman may take part in the co-ed boat races or even try out for the crews who does not know how to swim. Swimming has for several years been one of the regularly recognized branches of women's athletics at the State University, but the recent mandate from the physical culture department has given it a decided impetus. Although the campus at Berkeley is at some distance from any suitable swimming place, the women's club has managed to meet at least once a week at some one of the resorts on the east shore of San Francisco Bay. Co-ed swimming parties are one of the favorite "rushing stunts" of the university sororities.

SULLIVAN IS AGREEABLE.

Reported as Being Willing to Recommend New Division of A.A.U.

The organization of a separate branch of the Amateur Athletic Union in Southern California, that will be independent of the Pacific Athletic Association, is to be recommended by President Sullivan at the annual meeting of the Executive Committee of the A.A.U. in New York next fall. Sidney S. Peixotte, president of the P.A.A., the jurisdiction of which the local commission is now under, has written to George W. Braden, saying that at his suggestion President Sullivan has decided to advocate the forming of the new organization.

The national association decided some time ago that a Southern California association might be formed as soon as fifteen institutions had signified their intention of entering the organization, but Peixotto has had this requirement removed and unless more members are received before October, the six or seven clubs and colleges that now form the membership will be the charter members.

The Ball-Bearing Motor

Friction in the all-ball-bearing National motor is reduced to a minimum.

This results in less engine wear, less fuel, and less need of repairs and more power than in other motors of the same size.

Few other cars—either American or foreign have this feature—and those few cost much more than the National.

The National is built throughout on the principle that character is more important than price.

E. M. F. Glidden Pathfinder arrived six thirty o'clock finishing journey of 2637 miles covering thirty eight days continuous driving driver passengers and car fresh as daisies and ready for another trip.

ROBERT W. SPANGLER

If you have followed in the papers the experiences of this car and crew you can well appreciate what Dal Lewis, who was the official pathfinder, says: "It has been the hardest trip that I have ever experienced, and I have been on all of them." And when you further consider the fact that the car was not laid up one day for repairs, as is proven by the record of the days' runs, it marks this as one of the most remarkable and strenuous tests ever put to any automobile. We have 24 of these cars in transit and can deliver two Tourabouts and one Touring Car within one week. Price 1400 f.o.b. Los Angeles. Equipped with magneto, batteries, 5 lamps, generator and complete tool equipment.

REVOLVER SHOTS SCORE HIGH.

LOS ANGELES TEAM ONE OF THE BEST IN COUNTRY.

Douglas Boys Shoot Good Scores and Five-Man Total Is Best Ever Shot in Competition in Los Angeles. St. Louis Team Twenty-five Points Behind Mark.

The excellent work of Los Angeles experts with the revolver is well illustrated by the scores made last Sunday, May 16, in the shooting of a telegraphic match between the Los Angeles Revolver Club and the Colonial Revolver Club of St. Louis, Mo., in which the local team of five men scored a total of 2117 points out of a possible 2500, while the noted Colonial team made 2092—a victory for the Los Angeles men by a margin of 25 points. Though the matches of the local club have resulted in an almost unbroken series of successes against the foremost organizations of the United States, especial gratification is felt by the members over this last event on account of the righ records and undoubted ability of the St. Louis experts against whom they were pitted. These included Sidney E. Sears, Charles Dominic and C. C. Crossman, and all were men of national reputation as revolver and pistol shots.

Sears holds the indoor revolver championship trophy as his personal property by virtue of having won it for three successive years, in 1904, 1905 and 1906, a record which conclusively proves its quality. Crossman holds the world's record at indoor shooting with revolver at twenty yards, 100 out of a possible 100—a perfect score of ten shots. He has also shown his mettle in many contests and on various targets, and is rated as one of the greatest shots living.

The conditions governing Sunday's match were fifty shots per man at fifty yards, on the Standard American target, under the rules of the United States Revolver Association. Each string of shots gave a possible 100 points, with a possible total of 500 for each contestant in his fifty shots. The performance of the Los Angeles men was as follows:

A. B. DOUGLASS—444.

I. C. DOUGLASS—443.

H. D. THAXTER—441.

W. A. WRIGHT—437.

C. W. LINDER—412.

Record Scores

shot by the team of the Los Angeles Revolver Club.

Target No. 1 was made by young Arthur B. Douglass, club champion, with a .38-caliber Smith & Wesson military target revolver, equipped with Partridge sights and using special hand-loaded ammunition. Score 444.

Target No. 2, with a score of 443, was made by Irving C. Douglass, using similar equipment and ammunition.

Target No. 3 was done by H. D. Thaxter, with similar equipment and ammunition, score 441.

Target No. 4 was made by Will A. Wright, with a .22-caliber hand-made revolver, using .22 Stevens-Pope armory cartridges, score 437.

Target No. 5, with a score of 412, was done by [illegible] cylinder, using a .44-caliber Smith & Wesson special revolver equipped with Partridge sights and hand-loaded ammunition.

To properly appreciate the high character of this marksmanship it is borne in mind that making a good score of fifty consecutive shots is vastly more difficult than a string of ten. The strain of a long match against an invisible opponent is also a factor weighing much against perfect scores.

¶ When a factory has two buyers for every car they build it means something

Ever since 1905 we have been able to sell more Elmores than we could build. Now you can fool the buying public once, but not more than that. Why does every user of an Elmore boost, and when he is ready for a new car buy another Elmore? There is a reason, and that reason is that he gets satisfaction from the car he is running and from the people that handle it.

Get the confidence of a four-cycle owner—get him talking about his car—and you will find him telling you more of its shortcoming than its merits.

He may tell you he has a good car, but—

Then follows a line of explanations and excuses.

It is the same with every four-cycle car.

Though the machine may be honestly built, staunch and strong and speedy, nothing can overcome the fact that it is a four-cycle car, and therefore liable to troubles that the contented Elmore owner blithely avoids, one and all. The very fact that the car is a four-cycle loads it down with a mass of mechanism you will not find on the Elmore—valves, cams and cam shafts, little springs and rollers, lifts and what not.

It is reasonable to suppose that this mechanism, adjusted to a hair, as it must be, cannot stand up for long under the terrific pounding it receives. The moment its efficiency begins to suffer, the moment its delicate adjustment is destroyed, that moment the four-cycle owner's troubles begin. If you drive an Elmore you know nothing of all this.

Your responsibility practically begins and ends with providing sufficient fuel and lubricant. Out of an allotment of 60 cars we have left:

One 40-H.P., fully equipped with Atwater Kent ignition, lamps, top, slip covers, extra seats, Warner clock and speedometer, glass front, $3100.

Four 30-H.P., equipped with lamps, Atwater Kent ignition, 4-inch tries, $1900.

GOOD SPORT.

ATTEMPT TO REVIVE GAME OF LACROSSE.

LACROSSE is once more to have its place among the amateur sports of Southern California, if the plans of several veteran Canadian players now residing here do not go amiss. Through the efforts of D. Ross Minshall, an old Winnipeg player, the Southern California Lacrosse Association has been organized and at present has five clubs under its supervision. These teams include two in this city, the Los Angeles and the Shamrocks; Riverside, Redlands and Ontario.

About two years ago there were clubs at all these cities, as well as at Santa Barbara, and the Los Angeles and Riverside High Schools. Through lack of interest and sufficient material the sport died out, but the coming of new players to this part of the country has resulted in its present revival.

The reorganized lacrosse association has the backing of many of the prominent British and Canadian business men of the city, C. White Mortimer, the British Vice-Consul, being the honorary president. Dr. A. J. McNaughton, the president of the association, is an old University of Toronto player, while the secretary-treasurer, D. Ross Minshall, has played in Winnipeg and New York.

Among the members of the teams in this city are several Canadian university men who have achieved fame on their college clubs. The chief of these are Dr. J. Brennan and W. S. McKay, two of the best lacrosse players who ever wore the colors of the University of Toronto. E. E. Caister, who is cover-point of the Los Angeles team, formerly played on the great Cornwall team of Eastern Canada.

Lacrosse, which is primarily a game of the northern Indians, has virtually become the national game of Canada. The Atlantic States have also adopted it to a considerable extent, and the best lacrosse teams in the country are found at the noted eastern colleges. Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Johns Hopkins are the leaders in the intercollegiate league.

The game, which is played by teams of twelve men on a field 125 yards in length and of any desired width, has few equals as a developer of quick judgment, coolness and endurance. A regular match consists of four quarters of twenty minutes each, and during each period of play the contestants are on the run practically all the time. Each player has a stick about five feet in length, the end of which is curved, and has an attached net of rawhide. The object of a match is to cage the sponge rubber ball of a diameter of one and three-fourths inches in the goal nets, which are six feet square. The success of lacrosse depends upon the team work, and how surely and swiftly the players pass to each other. To touch the ball with the hands constitutes a foul, all the passing being done with the nets on the ends of the clubs.

The ball is put in play in the center of the field by the referee in practically the same manner as in hockey. The positions of the twelve players are center, first defense, second defense, third defense, cover-point, a goal, first home, second home, third home, outside home and inside home.

The Los Angeles and Shamrock clubs will practice at the Fiesta Stadium at 9 o'clock this morning, and definite arrangements for the summer season will then be made. At present there are enghteen active members in each of the two clubs, but H. C. Seymour, an old University of Manitoba athlete, who is the association manager, says that there is room for as many more as desire to play.

Regular practice will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 5 o'clock and on Saturday mornings at 9. The Los Angeles team will wear purple jerseys and white knickers, while the Shamrock jerseys will be green, with a white shamrock leaf on the breast.

TO SWIM AT NAPLES.

Arrangements Complete for Championship Tournament of the South, July Fourth.

Arrangements have been completed to hold the Pacific Coast swimming championships at Naples, July 4. Les Henry, secretary of the Southern California Swimming Association, has been conducting the negotiations. All the large beach resorts were desirous of securing the tournament, but Naples offered the best inducement to the swimmers.

Henry has received assurances from the Olympic Club of San Francisco that it will send at least four representatives to compete in the championships, and the Piedmont Athletic Club of Berkeley is to enter two representatives. It is probably that Wilbur Kyle, the crack swimmer of San Diego, also will compete. Frank Holborow, who holds the Southern California records in the sprint races; Walter Abegg, the 440-yard champion; Jack Watlington, and practically all the lesser lights in the local amateur ranks are to enter the tournament.

It is practically certain that the south will be represented in the national swimming and water polo championships at Seattle in August. The receipts of the indoor swimming tournament for the championships of Southern California that is to be held at Bimini on three consecutive Friday nights, beginning June 4, and of the water polo game next Friday night, are to be used in defraying the expenses of the men.

The L.A.A.C. water polo team is to play another game with the Bimini sextette at Bimini Friday night. Henry has given up the hope of organizing another amateur water polo league on account of several of the beach town players having been delared professionals by the local commission of the Amateur Athletic Union, but the two local teams will stay in the amateur ranks and play between themselves if the other sextettes turn professional.

LONDON, May 22.—The Meadowbrook, Long Island, polo team suffered a bad defeat this afternoon at the hands of Hurlingham players, the latter winning by 8 to 2.

M. Waterbury explained that the Americans' defeat was largely due to the fact that most of their best ponies were resting and that the animals they rode today were borrowed.

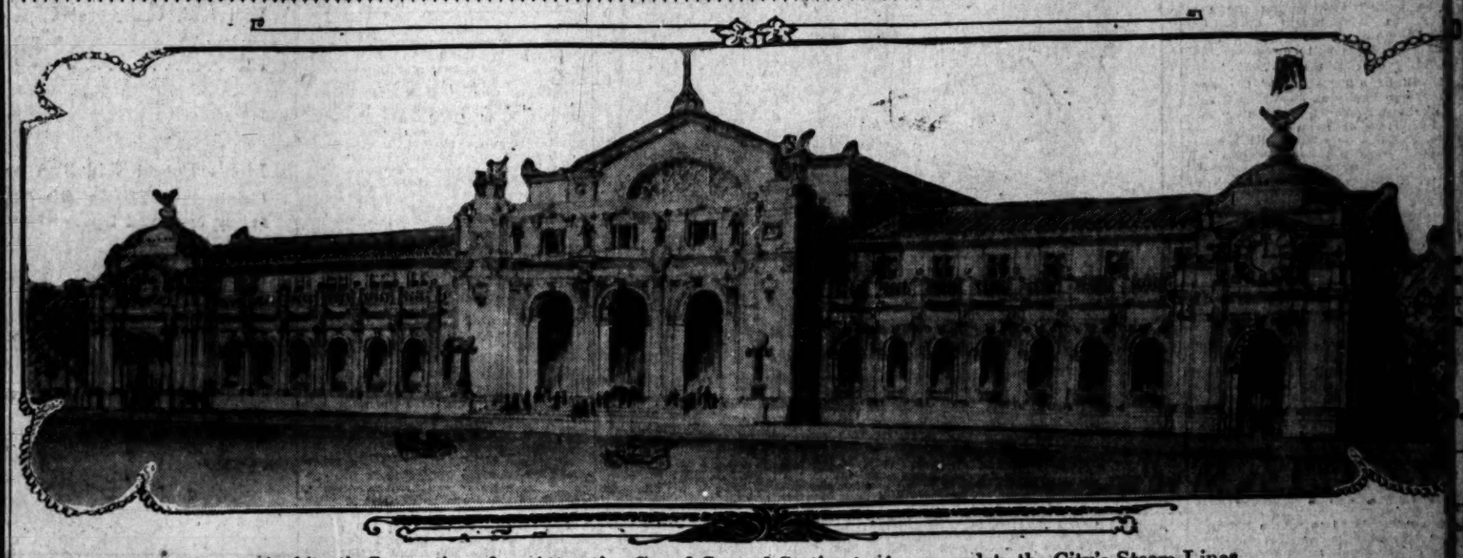
STEAM UP, AND GO-AHEAD SIGNAL AWAITED, FOR GRAND LOS ANGELES UNION STATION

Formation of Holding Company Is Discussed, Hitherto Unthought-of Site Proposed and Design Suggested by Architect.

PLANS for a Union Station holding company, to build and maintain the depot. Discovery of a central depot site that would meet the wishes o all lines concerned. Draft of plans for a station conforming with the latest ideas in the construction of such buildings. These are the big deve opments of the first week's work of the Los Angeles Union Station Association, organized for the purpose of securing adequate passenger termin facilities for this city. Only a start has been made, however, and all projects now under consideration may be dropped at any minute in favor of thing of greater promise. Certain it is, though, that the Union Station bee is buzzing busily and that results will follow the agitation. Many schemes a under consideration for booming the project; one of the first is the enlistment of public interest. This looks easy, but it takes much work—more tha the members of the association are yet prepared to give it.



Architect's Conception of an Attractive Grand Central Station to Accommodate the City's Steam Lines.

Ideal of Lyman Farwell, of Dennis & Farwell, for a beautiful terminal to occupy the site of Arcade Station. In his tentative plans he has embodied some of the latest improvements know builders of such structures as those in Washington and Chicago.

Secrecy prevails as to the details of the formation of the proposed holding company. There can be no such organization without the cooperation of the interested railroad companies. They will have to pay most of the bills. The railroad presidents have not yet signified more than a casual interest in the proposition.

In connection with the proposed holding company, which would handle the funds for building the station, it has been suggested that the Wells-Fargo Express Company, baggage transfer companies, a restaurant proprietor, and others who would make headquarters in the station might be induced to invest largely in the project and lessen the cost to the individual railroads.

The main intention, of course, is that the steam railroads shall carry on the enterprise from its inception; it may be that they would prefer to have no outsiders connected with the ownership of the building.

One thing that encourages the members of the Union Station Association is the fact that neither President Harriman of the Southern Pacific nor President Ripley of the Santa Fé has declared the building of a central depot impractical or impossible.

On the other hand, neither of these magnates has indicated his intention to enlist in the movement.

IDEA TAKING ROOT.

As a matter of fact, though, both Mr. Harriman and Mr. Ripley, on recent visits to Los Angeles, paid some attention to the question, and when it comes before them later, as it is bound to do through local efforts, they will be more ready to give it consideration.

Now that Los Angeles has awakened to the necessity for the improvement, and will push the campaign with characteristic energy, something seems bound to drop in the headquarters of the big railroad systems.

If constant dropping wears away a stone, constant boosting by a city of 300,000 ought to build a railroad station.

In Mr. Harriman's talk while here he referred principally to a Southern Pacific depot to replace the historic Arcade, and only casually to a union station. With its large property interests at and adjoining the present station, the Southern Pacific is inclined to stay where it is; forsooth, Mr. Harriman is said to have remarked while in the dingy old depot, a few weeks ago: "Why, this is a pretty good station."

And for revenue purposes, it probably is. There are people living on electric lines, where a signboard is the only evidence of a station; the people pay their way to the signboard just the same, lured by the climate and other things.

WHERE BUILD IT?

Discussion of a site for a union station has usually centered on or near the Arcade grounds, possibly because this location is best known.

Santa Fé officials are known, however, to be opposed to this location. If they must go into a union depot they would prefer to have it on the grounds now occupied by their station. This desire is supposed to be due principally to the spirit of rivalry that exists between the roads. The objection is not considered seriously by promoters of the project. Some of the deadliest rivals among eastern roads have joined in the building of union stations in St. Louis, Cleveland, Kansas City and Omaha. Now they're glad they did.

Salt Lake officials have said it would increase the cost of handling their trains if they were to join in a union station, as the trains would have to be hauled to and fro across the river, the company's roundhouses and yards being on the east bank. Of course the convenience to the public and the prospect of getting more business carry no weight!

NEW SITE IN VIEW.

Another site that has been suggested is that the additional land needed in that vicinity for the accommodation of three roads instead of one would cost a tremendous sum.

But members of the Union Station Association have heard from a source that cannot be divulged of an admirable site, convenient to all lines, where needed land can be obtained at low cost.

If the location of this site were to be divulged there would be an immediate jump in the price, so the association members are extremely guarded in referring to the matter.

Lyman Farwell, of Dennis & Farwell, architects, who has made a long and careful study of railroad station building, has prepared for The Times a sketch of such a building as he believes would meet the needs of Los Angeles. He also has written a description of the station designed by him. This description will be found in other columns of this issue.

PUBLIC MUST HELP.

As an indication of the general desire for a new central depot, Gilbert S. Wright, president of the Union Station Association, says he has been besieged daily by the public to hasten the movement. So great has been the demand on his time in connection with the movement that he has been compelled to neglect his private business. He even has had calls from negroes who wished jobs as porters in the depot.

"We cannot accomplish anything in a day, a week, or a month," said Mr. Wright yesterday, "but we can get the movement started and by using the right means we are quite certain to attain our end. There will be meetings of the association from time to time, and ideas will be worked out as rapidly as possible.

"It must be understood that no slap-bang methods can be employed in a movement of this kind. We cannot send a demand to the railroads that they join in building a union depot and expect them to give us any attention. There are other ways to go about it.

PROVE THE NEED.

"In the first place, the railroads must be shown that the public wants better station facilities. It is the duty of the public to make known this want. Letters from this association to President Harriman of the Southern Pacific, President Ripley of the Santa Fé, and President Clark of the Salt Lake are all right, but business men and the public generally should let the officials know their desires.

"Then, too, there are the local officials of these railroads; they should not be overlooked in the appeals.

"For the purpose of getting the matter before all the people I should suggest the printing of union station sentiment on envelopes and letter-heads. 'We Want a Union Station,' for instance, or some catchy line that would attract attention.

"But I am not building the station, and must absolutely decline to consider any more applications from persons who want jobs in the depot, or who desire the contract for its construction. Other people will take up that work at the proper time."

AT PROCESSION'S TAIL.

No agitation is needed to prove to the people of Los Angeles and to tourists that Los Angeles is away behind probably all other cities of its size in the matter of station accommodations, both as to accessibility of the depots, and as to condition of the buildings.

Hotel proprietors declare they are mortified many times a week through the failure of guests to make connection with trains, often because of confusion as to the location of different stations, or through delay in reaching them by street car, not to mention remarks about the classic structures themselves.

Only a few days ago a wealthy guest missed an overland train and was obliged to spend one more day in Los Angeles, simply because he went first to the wrong station, then reached the right one after his train had departed.

What he said about Los Angeles and its railroad arrangements is unprintable.

With a union station there could be no confusion. All the depot cars would have that destination. Now, unless strangers are exceedingly careful they are likely to land at the Salt Lake station when they wish to go to the Southern Pacific, or at the latter station when they wish to go to the Santa Fé.

ONLY A MILLION?

Members of the Union Station Association—or some of them—believe that an adequate station can be built for $1,000,000. Kansas City roads are spending $25,000,000 on a central station in that city. But it is to accommodate more than twenty roads, and its location is in a part of the city where real estate values are very high.

Agitation for the Kansas City union station began five years ago.

In other cities no larger than Los Angeles stations have been built at a cost of from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

A million dollars for Los Angeles appears small by comparison. Maybe we can have more.

GOOD IDEA.

ARCHITECT SUGGESTS UNION STATION PLAN.

BY LYMAN FARWELL.

AT A time when there is so much discussion and agitation concerning the proposed new union station for this city, it is interesting to look back over the experiences of other and even larger cities than our own. Some have solved the problem most creditably, not only to themselves, but more particularly for the railroads directly interested in the projects. Most of the cities have had to go through their ordeals of agitation and waiting before success crowned their efforts.

Possibly the most important, if not the most expensive item involved, is the question of elevated tracks and the elimination of the attendant dangers at all street crossings.

The railway tracks of Boston are crossed or spanned by bridges and viaducts. New York City's trains come in, practically, through tunnels, while most of the other large cities of the country have had to elevate their station at what might be called the second story.

If it were not for the question of real estate values and the attendant expense, Los Angeles might say that nature had already helped her solve the problem, at least as far as the business center of the city is concerned, for the grade between Main and Los Angeles streets would very materially assist in that direction. However, as there should certainly be a large space, or plaza in front of such a building, anywhere on Main street seems to be out of the question.

THE FINEST STATION.

Probably the grandest and most beautiful, as well as costly building of this class, in the world today, is the recently completed union station at Washington, D. C. (D. H. Burnham & Co., architects.) It cost $26,000,000, of which $5,000,000 was for the station building itself, and $15,000,000 was spent on grading up the surrounding streets,

SAFETY.

CAR COMPANY SEEKS TO PROTECT WOME

IN FACE of a general decrease in the number of injuries from accidents on its lines, the Los Angeles Railway Company is opening a new campaign for the instruction of women in the art of alighting from cars. In every car on the system there will be posted this week a picture card, illustrating the proper manner for a woman—or a man, for that matter—to step from the coach.

Despite repeated cautions, women continue to "get off backward," and the hurts resulting therefrom are among the largest in the company's personal-injury list.

Aside from this, the millennium seems almost to have been reached for disastrous street car wrecks in Los Angeles.

Street railroad officials are loath to discuss the situation; most of them are in a way possessed of the superstition that to boast of freedom from accidents will bring about a string of them.

Nevertheless, there is a feeling of satisfaction among all local officials over the fine showing that has been made by their lines, especially since the beginning of the present year.

Records show that from January 1 to May 1 of this year there have been fewer fatalities and a far smaller number of grave injuries than during the same months last year.

THE REASONS WHY.

Superintendent J. J. Akin of the Los Angeles Railway Company, which operates by far the largest number of cars in the city, attributes the present pleasing situation to the care exercised by the men in charge of the cars, to never-ending improvements in equipment, and to ever-watchful eyes that note even the slightest defect in car or track.

The "near-side" stop of all cars is a wonderful safeguard against accident, in the opinion of Mr. Akin; the new style of fender also has saved many lives, and has prevented serious injury to pedestrians.

President E. P. Clark of the Los Angeles-Pacific is of the opinion that the public is becoming more careful; that more persons "stop, look and listen" before crossing railroad tracks.

The reports do not show that there have been fewer personal injuries or a smaller number of instances in which property has been damaged, but they do show that the results of accidents have been more trivial.
